³ Elected to count the vote for President and Vice President, which was done Apr 6, 1789, a quorum of the Senate then appearing for the first time. John Adams, Vice President, appeared Apr 21, 1789, and took his seat as President of the Senate.

CAPITOL BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

THE CAPITOL

This building is situated on a plateau 88 feet above the level of the Potomac River and covers an area of 153,112 square feet, or approximately $3\frac{1}{2}$ acres. Its length, from north to south, is 751 feet 4 inches, its width, including the porticoes, is 350 feet, and its location is described as being in latitude $38^{\circ}53'$ north and longitude $77^{\circ}00'35''$ west from Greenwich. Its height above the base line on the east front to the top of the Statue of Freedom is 287 feet 6 inches. The dome is built of iron, and the aggregate weight of material in its construction is 8,909,200 pounds.

The Statue of Freedom surmounting the dome is entirely of bronze and weighs 14,985 pounds. It was modeled by Thomas Crawford, father of Francis Marion Crawford, the novelist, in Rome, Italy, and the plaster model shipped to this country. It was cast in bronze at the shops of Clark Mills, on the Bladensburg Road, not far from the city of Washington. The cost of the bronze casting and the expenses in connection therewith were $20,796.82, and, as the sculptor Crawford was paid $3,000 for the plaster model, the entire cost of the statue is $23,796.82. It was erected and placed in its present position December 2, 1863.

SELECTION OF A SITE FOR THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

It may seem strange that, in the selection of the 10 miles square for the territory in which the National Capital should find a home, a locality was selected which had but a meager population. It may have been the intent to found a capital which should develop its own particular surroundings instead of attempting to coexist with conditions then existing. But the principal reason was the lesson learned from European experiences, where the location of the country's capital in a city offered an opportunity for the coercion of legislators by the citizens. The capital. From the inception of the Continental Congress, either through necessity or voluntarily, it had moved from Philadelphia to Baltimore, Lancaster, Princeton, Annapolis, Trenton, and New York City. Philadelphia seems to have been the favorite location, and it was from this city that the Federal Government organized in New York City, took up its abode until its removal to Washington in the year 1800.

The original 10 miles square was formed from territory donated by Virginia and Maryland, and the cornerstone was erected and fixed on April 15, 1793, at Hunters Point, just south of Alexandria, Va. This area remained intact until the year 1846, when the Congress transferred to Virginia the portion furnished by that State.

PLANS FOR THE CAPITOL BUILDING

Following the selection of a site for the Capital, some little time elapsed before advertisements appeared offering a prize of $500, or a medal of the same value, to be awarded for the "most approved plan" for a Capitol Building. Some 14 plans were submitted—some writers claim 16—but of these plans none was particularly satisfactory. In October 1792, Dr. William Thornton, a versatile physician, of Tortola, West Indies, requested by letter an opportunity to present a plan within the terms of the original advertisement. The request was granted and his plan accepted by the commissioners on April 5, 1793.

Affairs seemed to move rapidly in those days, for on September 18, 1793, the cornerstone was laid with Masonic ceremonies in the southeast corner of the central section of the building. Thornton's plan provided for a central section 100 feet square in area, surmounted by a low dome, this central section to be flanked on the north and south by rectangular buildings, with a length of 126 feet and a width of 120 feet. The northern wing was the first completed, and in this small building the legislative and judicial branches of the Government, as well as the courts of the District of Columbia, were accommodated at the time of the removal of the Government from Philadelphia in the year 1800.

BUILDING OF THE CAPITOL

In the development of the accepted plans of Dr William Thornton in the erection of the first unit of the building—the previous Supreme Court section—three architects were employed—Stephen H Hallett, George Hadfield, and James Hoban, the architect of the White House. The erection of the southern section of the Capitol, which is now occupied by Statuary Hall, was under the charge of B H Latrobe, and in 1807 the House of Representatives, which had previously met in the former Supreme Court section of the Capitol and in a temporary brick building within the walls of the southern wing, known as the Oven, commenced the occupancy of this new legislative chamber. The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811. A wooden passageway connected the two buildings. This condition existed when the interior of both buildings was burned by the British on August 24, 1814.

The work of reconstruction of the damaged interiors was commenced by B H Latrobe, who continued the work of restoration until December 1817, when he resigned, and Charles Bulfinch, a prominent architect of Boston, Mass., continued the work of restoration and the erection of the central portion of the building, commencing in 1818 and continuing until its completion in 1827.

During the period of restoration and completion the Congress met, for its first session after the fire, in Blodget's Hotel at Seventh and E Streets, and soon thereafter in a building erected for that purpose on First Street NE, occupying a portion of the site now occupied by the United States Supreme Court Building. They continued this occupancy until 1819, when the Capitol was again ready for occupancy.

The original Capitol as completed was built of Aquia Creek (Va.) sandstone, procured from quarries owned by the Government. This structure was 352 feet 4 inches in length and 229 feet in depth. The central portion was surmounted by a low dome, and the sandstone interior was unchanged when the new dome was erected in a later period. The cost of this original building, including the grading of the grounds, repairs, etc., up to the year 1827, was $2,433,844 13.

Following the completion of the old Capitol in 1827, and the termination of the services of the architect, Charles Bulfinch, in 1830, such architectural services as were needed were performed by different architects until the year 1851, when the building of the present Senate and House wings was commenced, the plans of Thomas U. Walter having been selected in preference to others submitted. On July 4, 1851, the cornerstone of the extensions was laid in the northeast corner of the House wing. The oration was delivered by Daniel Webster, and his prophetic utterances on that occasion have been quoted many times. In the building of the Senate and House wings the exterior marble came from the quarries of Lee, Mass., and the columns from quarries of Cockeysville, Md.

This work was prosecuted under the architectural direction of Thomas U. Walter from 1851 to 1865 during his tenure as Architect of the Capitol, and thereafter certain uncompleted details were supervised by his successor, Edward Clark, whose term ran from 1865 to 1902. The present House Chamber was occupied for legislative purposes December 16, 1857, and the Senate Chamber January 4, 1859.

The addition of the Senate and House wings made the construction of a new dome necessary for the preservation of architectural symmetry. The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, covered with copper. This was replaced in 1856 by the present structure of cast iron, completed in 1865. The greatest exterior diameter of the dome is 135 feet 5 inches. The rotunda is 97 feet in diameter, and its height from the floor to where the dome closes in at the base of the lantern is 180 feet 3 inches.

The Capitol has a floor area of 14 acres, and 430 rooms are devoted to office, committee, and storage purposes. There are 17,376 square feet of skylights, 679 windows, and 550 doorways. The dome receives light through 108 windows, and from the architect's office to the dome there are 365 steps, one for each day of the year.

CAPITOL GROUNDS

The original Capitol grounds were at one time a part of Cern Abby Manor, and at an early date occupied by a subtribe of the Algonquin Indians known as the Powhatans, whose council house was then located at the foot of the hill.

These grounds, part of original reservation 2, were acquired under President Washington's proclamations of 1790 and 1797, for use as a site for the United States Capitol Building. These proclamations authorized the appropriation of all of reservation 2 which, in its entirety, included the "Capitol Square and the Mall east of Fifteenth Street West."

Additional ground (squares 687-688) was acquired under appropriations provided by Congress in 1872 and 1873 in order to obtain a better landscape surrounding in keeping with the Senate and House wings which had been added to the building since the acquisition of the original site. The purchase of this additional property completed the acquisition of the area known as the old section of the Capitol Grounds, totaling, in all, 58.8 acres.

In the immediately ensuing years, under a plan developed by Frederick Law Olmstead of New York, the terraces were built on the north, west, and south sides of the building and the entire grounds developed and improved.

During the period 1910-35 the Capitol Grounds were further enlarged and improved by the purchase, annexation, and development of 61.8 additional acres, and the addition of this new area to the 58.8 acres comprising the old grounds section gives a present total grounds area of 120.6 acres.

HOUSE OFFICE BUILDINGS

OLD BUILDING

An increased membership of the Senate and House resulted in a demand for additional rooms for the accommodation of the Senators and Representatives, and on March 3, 1903, the Congress authorized the erection of a fireproof office building for the use of the House Members as office and committee rooms. The first brick was laid July 5, 1905, in square No. 690, and formal exercises were held at the laying of the cornerstone on April 14, 1906, in which President Theodore Roosevelt participated. The building was completed and occupied January 10, 1908. A subsequent change in the basis of congressional representation made necessary the building of an additional story. The entire cost of the building, including site, amounted to $4,860,155.71. This office building contains 690 rooms, and was considered at the time of its completion fully equipped for all of the needs of a modern building for office purposes.

NEW BUILDING

Under legislation contained in authorization act of January 10, 1929, and in the urgent deficiency bill of March 4, 1929, provisions were made for an additional House Office Building, to be located on the west side of New Jersey Avenue (opposite the first House Office Building).

The cornerstone was laid June 24, 1932, and the building was completed and ready for beneficial occupancy April 20, 1933. It contains 251 two-room suites, 16 committee rooms, each suite and committee room being provided with a storeroom. Eight floors are occupied by Members, the basement and sub-basement by shops and mechanics needed for the proper maintenance of the building. The cost of this building, including site, furnishings, and equipment, was $7,805,705.

SENATE OFFICE BUILDING

The demand for a new building to be used for offices was greater for the Representatives, on account of the large number forming the membership of that body, and because the Members of the Senate were supplied with additional office space by the purchase of the Maltby Building, located on the northwest corner of B Street and New Jersey Avenue NW. However, the acquisition of this building supplied but a temporary purpose, and its condemnation as an unsafe structure created on the part of the Senators a desire for safer and more commodious quarters. Accordingly, square 686, on the northeast corner of Delaware Avenue and B Street NE, was purchased as a site for the Senate Office Building, and the plans for the House Office Building were adapted for the Senate Office Building, the only change being the omission of the fourth side of the building fronting on First Street NE, this being planned for but not completed. The cornerstone of this building was laid without special exercises on July 31, 1906, and the building was occupied March 5, 1909. In June 1934 the building was completed by the erection of the First Street wing, construction of which was commenced in 1931, together with alterations to the C Street facade, and construction of terraces, balustrades, and approaches. The cost of the completed building, including site, furnishings, and equipment, was $8,429,357.

CAPITOL POWER PLANT

During the development of the plans for fireproof office buildings for occupancy by the Senators and Representatives, the question of heat, light, and power was considered. The Senate and House wings of the Capitol were heated by separate heating plants. The Library of Congress also had in use a heating plant for that building, and it was finally determined that the solution of the heating and lighting, with power for elevators, could be adequately met by the construction of a central power plant to furnish all heat and power, as well as light, for the Capitol group of buildings.

Having determined the need of a central power plant, a site was selected in Garfield Park, bounded by New Jersey Avenue, South Capitol Street, Virginia Avenue, and B Street SE. This park being a Government reservation an appropriation of money was not required to secure title. The determining factors leading to the selection of this site were its nearness to the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad and its convenient distance to the river and the buildings to be cared for by the plant.

The dimensions of the Capitol power plant, which was completed and placed in operation in 1910, are 244 feet 8 inches by 117 feet, with a height over the boiler room of 81 feet to accommodate the coal bunkers. A recent additional building, for accommodation of shops and storerooms, is located near the power plant and is built of selected red brick, it being 90 feet long, 50 feet wide, and 2 stories high. The building is located upon concrete foundations resting upon 790 simplex reinforced concrete piles, the superstructure is of red brick. There are 2 Alphonse Custodis radial brick chimneys 212 feet in height and 11 feet in diameter at the top.

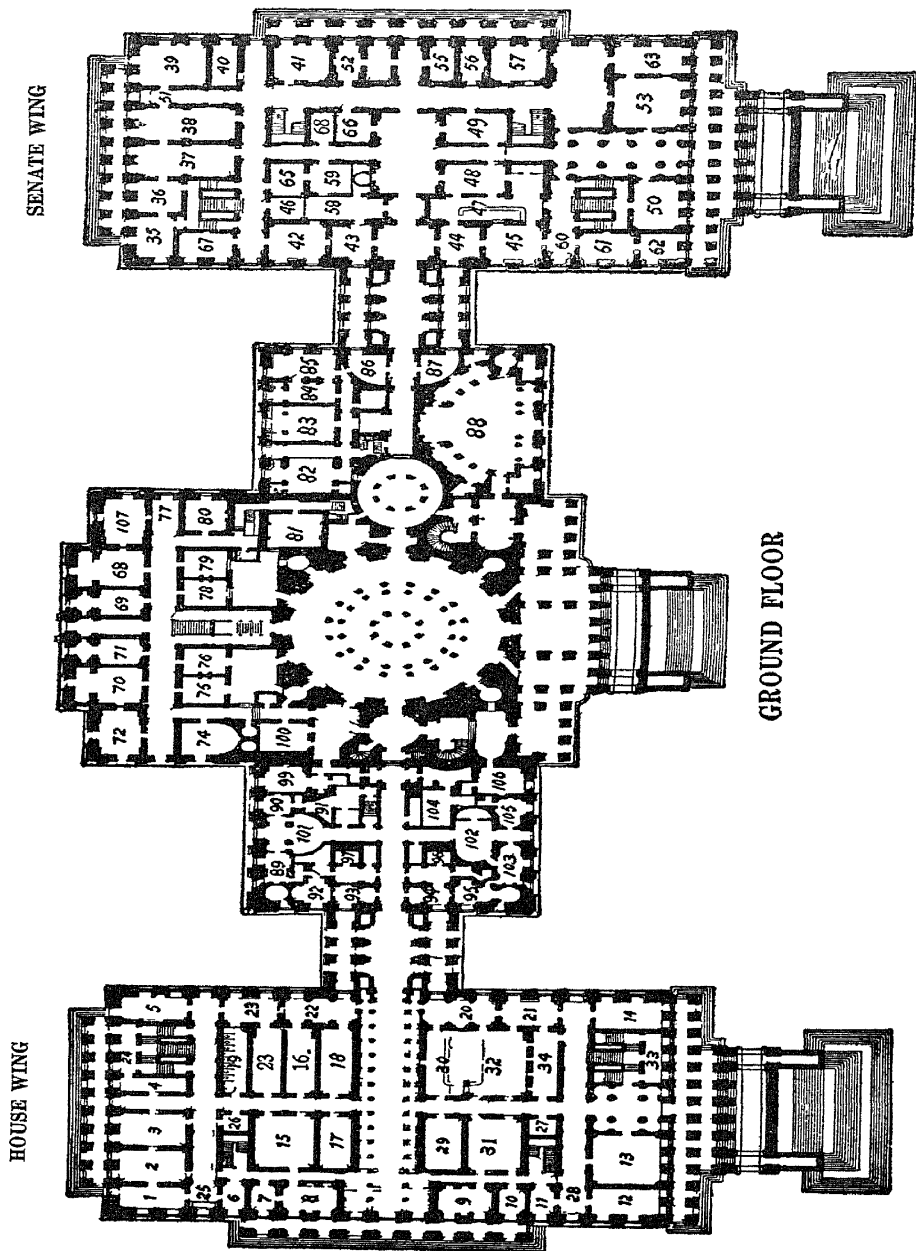

The buildings served by the power plant are connected by a reinforced-concrete steam tunnel 7 feet high by 4½ feet wide, with walls approximately 12 inches thick. This tunnel originally ran from the power plant to the Senate Office Building, with connecting tunnels for the House Office Building, the Capitol, and the Library of Congress, and has since been extended to the Government Printing Office and the Washington City Post Office, with steam lines extended to serve the new House Office Building, the Supreme Court Building, the Annex to the Library of Congress, and the relocated Botanic Garden.

In 1935 Congress authorized the air conditioning of the Capitol, Senate, and House Office Buildings and provided therefor an appropriation of $2,550,000 and, in 1937, an additional amount of $1,672,000, including authorization for construction of a central refrigeration plant to serve the systems. An addition to the power plant building, 123 feet 2 inches long, 79 feet 6 inches wide, with a height of 37 feet 10 inches, was constructed to house the refrigeration plant. This plant was placed in operation May 3, 1938, and was, at that time, the largest central station water-cooling plant ever constructed. Its huge pumps carry chilled water through large supply mains to the four buildings served. The refrigerating capacity of the plant may best be described in terms of the melting of a block of ice 50 feet by 50 feet and the height of a seven-story building every 24 hours.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

ORIGIN AND FORM OF GOVERNMENT

The District of Columbia was established under the authority and direction of acts of Congress approved July 16, 1790, and March 3, 1791, which were passed to give effect to a clause in the eighth section of the first article of the Constitution of the United States giving Congress the power—

“To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States and the Acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the erection of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings,—”

The States of Maryland and Virginia made cessions contemplated by this clause in the years 1788 and 1789, respectively. From the cessions tendered by the two States was selected the territory for the permanent seat of the General Government. This territory was 10 miles square, lying on either side of the Potomac River at the head of navigation. Later, 1846, Congress retroceded to Virginia that portion ceded by it. The Maryland or retained portion is approximately 70 square miles.

The seat of government of the United States was first definitely named by the clause in the act entitled “An act providing a permanent form of government for the District of Columbia,” approved June 11, 1878, as follows: “That all territory which was ceded by the State of Maryland to the Congress of the United States, for the permanent seat of government of the United States, shall continue to be designated as the District of Columbia” (20 Stat. 102), although it had been incidentally mentioned as such in several preceding statutes.

The land within the ceded territory was owned by a number of people. In Georgetown, President Washington negotiated with the proprietors or landowners of that portion of the ceded territory selected as the site of the city of Washington, which comprised about 10 percent of the area of the present District of Columbia. On the second day, March 30, 1791, he concluded an agreement which was put in writing and signed by the proprietors. By it the President was given sole power to lay off streets as he pleased. These proprietors conveyed their holdings to trustees named by the President to hold title to the same during the laying out of the Federal city and then convey as agreed to the United States and the proprietors, respectively. Under this agreement the proprietors donated to the United States all of the lands for the streets and one-half of the city lots throughout the entire city. Sites reserved by the United States for the public buildings, parks, and other public purposes were paid for by the United States in Maryland money the equivalent to $66 66 per acre. Such payment, amounting to $36,099, was made out of the proceeds from the sale of some of the lots which these proprietors had donated to the United States. This was the only purchase price paid by the United States for any part of the entire acquisition of 5,128 acres for the purpose of building the Capital City.

The land within the original city of Washington comprised a total of 6,111 acres and was divided to the United States 4,147 acres—3,606 acres for streets and 541 acres for public purposes. The remaining 1,964 acres was divided into squares and the squares into lots. The whole number of lots was 20,272—10,136 to the United States and the same number to the proprietors.

Thomas Jefferson, then Secretary of State, declared the liberality of the proprietors was “noble.”

The United States lots were sold from time to time, chiefly before 1800 and up to 1835, and brought $741,024 45 (S. Doc. 247, 64th Cong., 1st sess., p. 23). This was a considerable sum as compared with the average annual income of the Federal Government during the 12 years from 1789 to 1800, it being about 13 percent of that average of about $5,600,000. The lots which still remain the property of the United States after gifts of them to charitable and literary institutions were sold about September 1865 for a moderate sum.

The proceeds from the sales of the Government lots were largely applied to the erection of the original Government buildings and improvements in their immediate neighborhood. The funds for these buildings were supplemented by grants of $120,000 by the State of Virginia and $72,000 by the State of Maryland (H R Report 269, 21st Cong., 1st sess., Doc No 5, p 47). Both President Washington and President Jefferson expected the sale of these lots, if properly conserved, would not only provide ample funds for the erection of the public buildings without charge upon the lean Federal Treasury but would leave what Jefferson termed "the residuary interest of the city" which was intended to be used for streets and other city improvements. The failure of the Government to make these expected improvements so retarded the appreciation of values of the lots that the Government's prospective income from this source fell far short of expectations. The landowners who had so generously given their land to the Government as well as those who had been induced to purchase failed to realize the enhancement of value of their lots because of the failure of expected abutting and community improvements. The faith of Mr Jefferson and the proprietors matched, but their fond hopes were not realized. The original proprietor of the land whereon is the Capitol Building, Daniel Carroll, of Duddington, in 1837 wrote "that the unfortunate proprietors are generally brought to ruin," who "were so wild as to suppose that the donation was so great the Government might pave the streets with ingots of gold or silver."

The city was planned and partly laid out by Maj Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a French engineer. This work was perfected and completed by Maj Andrew Ellicott. The building of the city and the erection of the public buildings was in charge of three commissioners selected by the President and subject to his direction.

When the Government establishment was moved in 1800 there existed within the 10 miles square two municipal corporations, the corporation of the city of Alexandria, incorporated by Virginia, and the corporation of the city of Georgetown incorporated by Maryland.

The act of February 27, 1801, was the first legislation by Congress for the government of the District of Columbia following the removal to the permanent seat of government. While this act failed to set up a complete local government, it declared all of the laws of the States of Maryland and Virginia as then existing to be in force in the parts of the District ceded by the respective States. It created two counties, Washington County being the area outside of the cities of Washington and Georgetown on the Maryland side of the river and Alexandria County being the area beyond the limits of the city of Alexandria on the Virginia side of the river. It also created the circuit court, the office of marshal of the District, the office of United States attorney for the District, justices of the peace for the two counties, a register of wills, and a judge of the orphan's court (2 Stat 103).

The first government of the city of Washington consisted of a mayor appointed by the President of the United States and a city council elected by the people of the city. This was in 1802. The act chartering the city of Washington also created the levy courts, consisting originally of the justices of the peace of the respective counties (2 Stat 115, 2 Stat 773, 3 Stat 195, 9 Stat 230, 12 Stat 384). The levy courts were given broad administrative powers over the counties of Washington and Alexandria, but had no judicial functions. At a later date the levy court of Washington County was composed of nine members appointed by the President (12 Stat 799). Thus, there were within the 10 miles square five distinct local administrative units, namely (1) the corporation of Washington, (2) the corporation of Georgetown, (3) the county of Washington, (4) the corporation of Alexandria, and (5) the county of Alexandria. These were reduced to three units in 1846 with the retrocession of Alexandria city and county to the State of Virginia (9 Stat 35, 9 Stat 1000). The members of the city councils of the three municipalities were elected as were the mayors of Georgetown and Alexandria. In 1812 the city council was permitted to elect the mayor of Washington and in 1820 and thereafter the mayor was elected by the people (3 Stat 583). The term of the mayor of Washington was for 2 years. This government continued until 1871.

By an act of Congress of February 21, 1871, the corporation of Washington, the corporation of Georgetown, and the levy court for Washington County were abolished and the administration consolidated into a so-called territorial form of government. This government consisted of a governor, a board of public works, and a legislative assembly. This legislative assembly consisted of a council of 11 members and a house of delegates of 22 members. The District then also had a Delegate in the House of Representatives of the United States. The Governor, the board of public works, and council were appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The 22 members of the house of delegates and the Delegate in Congress were elected by the people. The District had a Delegate in Congress until March 4, 1875.

This form of government lasted for 3 years, until June 20, 1874, when Congress provided that the District should be governed by three commissioners, appointed by the President. This was known as the temporary form of government and lasted until July 1, 1878, when the present permanent commission government was set up (18 Stat 116). In the creation of the temporary commission form of government in 1874 and the permanent form in 1878 no provision was made for the franchise, and for the first time in three-quarters of a century no part of the District exercised the right of suffrage. The present form of government was created by act of Congress approved June 11, 1878 (20 Stat 102).

The District of Columbia has an area of 69 245 square miles, of which 60 1 square miles are land. The river boundary is high-water mark along the Virginia shore of the Potomac River.

The local government of the District of Columbia is a municipal corporation having jurisdiction over the territory which was "ceded by the State of Maryland to the Congress of the United States for the permanent seat of the Government of the United States" (20 Stat 102). This government is administered by a board of three Commissioners having general equal powers and duties (20 Stat 103).

Two of these Commissioners, who must have been actual residents of the District for 3 years next before their appointment and have during that period claimed residence nowhere else, are appointed from civil life by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate for the term of 3 years each and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

The other Commissioner is detailed from time to time by the President of the United States from the Corps of Engineers of the United States Army, and shall not be required to perform any other military duty (ib). This Commissioner shall be selected from the captains or officers of higher grade having served at least 15 years in the Corps of Engineers of the Army of the United States (26 Stat 1113).

Three officers of the same corps, junior to said Commissioner, may be detailed to assist him by the President of the United States (26 Stat 246). The senior officer of the Corps of Engineers of the Army, who for the time being be detailed to act as assistant (and in case of his absence from the District, or disability, the junior officer so detailed), shall, in event of the absence from the District or disability of the Commissioner, who shall for the time being be detailed from the Corps of Engineers, perform all the duties imposed by law upon said Commissioner (26 Stat 1113).

One of said Commissioners shall be chosen president of the Board of Commissioners at their first meeting and annually and whenever a vacancy shall occur (20 Stat 103).

The Commissioners are in a general way vested with jurisdiction covering all the ordinary features of municipal government and are also members of the Zoning Commission (37 Stat 974).

The expenditures of the District of Columbia are based upon estimates prepared annually by the Commissioners and submitted by them to Congress through the Bureau of the Budget. To the extent to which it shall approve of said estimates, Congress shall appropriate a portion out of the Treasury of the United States. The remainder of the amount of such approved estimates shall be levied and assessed upon the taxable property and privileges in said District other than the property of the United States and of the District of Columbia (act approved June 11, 1878, 20 Stat, 104). "All taxes collected shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States, and the same as well as the appropriations to be made by the Congress as aforesaid shall be disbursed for the expenses of said District, on itemized vouchers, which have been audited and approved by the auditor of the District of Columbia, certified by said Commissioners or a majority of them" (ib 105). This act also provided that the cost of operation, development, and maintenance of the District of Columbia should be borne jointly by the United States and the District of Columbia upon a 50-50 basis. This ratio was in 1922 changed to a payment of 60 percent from the revenues of the District of Columbia and 40 percent by the United States and this provision was repealed by act of Congress approved May 16, 1938. For several years this legal ratio has been superseded in practice by an annual lump sum appropriation of from $9,000,000 to $9,500,000 and for the fiscal year 1939, $5,000,000 by the United States, and for the fiscal year 1940, $6,000,000 by the United States, the remainder of the local expenses being borne by the revenues of the District of Columbia derived from taxation of private property and privileges. For the past several years the Federal contribution has been approximately from 22 to 18 percent of the total District budget, while the money raised through local taxation represents approximately from 78 to 82 percent.

Congress has by sundry statutes empowered the Commissioners to make building regulations, plumbing regulations, to make and enforce all such reasonable and usual police regulations as they may deem necessary for the protection of lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of all persons, and the protection of all property within the District, and other regulations of a municipal nature.

While the District has a municipal form of government, Congress by various statutory enactments has treated it as a branch of the United States Government by including it in legislation applying to the executive departments, such as the Budget and Accounting Act, the act classifying the salaries of Federal employees, and the act providing for retirement of Federal employees.

All legislation affecting the District of Columbia must be passed by Congress under the provisions of the Constitution. The advice of the Commissioners is usually asked before such legislation is enacted.

OFFICIAL DUTIES

LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL

The Architect of the Capitol, acting as an agent of the Congress, has charge of the structural and mechanical care of the United States Capitol Building, together with arrangements in cooperation with the proper authorities, for ceremonies and ceremonies held in the building and on the grounds, is responsible for the care, maintenance, and improvement of the Capitol Grounds, the old and newly enlarged arcas comprising in all 120 2 acres, as well as the care of the grounds, walks, and driveways about the buildings in the legislative group, has the structural and mechanical care of the Library of Congress Buildings, United States Supreme Court Building, Courthouse of the District of Columbia, Court of Appeals Building, Court of Claims Buildings, and Columbia Hospital for Women and Lying-In Asylum

In addition to these activities, the duties and responsibilities of the Architect include the following

Under the direction and approval of the House Office Building Commission, the structural, mechanical, and domestic care and maintenance of the House Office Buildings, including the maintenance and operation of the mechanical equipment, and the care, maintenance, and operation of the Capitol power plant, which supplies heat, light, power, and air conditioning refrigeration for the Capitol, Senate and House Office Buildings, heat, light, and power for the Library of Congress Buildings, United States Botanic Garden, United States Supreme Court Building, and the legislative garage, and steam heat for the Government Printing Office and Washington City Post Office,

Under the direction and approval of the Senate Committee on Rules, the structural, mechanical, and domestic care and maintenance of the Senate Office Building, including the maintenance and operation of the mechanical equipment,

Subject to the joint action of the Vice President of the United States and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the jurisdiction and control including the care and maintenance of the legislative garage

In addition to these maintenance and repair activities, the Architect of the Capitol is charged with the planning and construction of such buildings as may be committed to his care by Congress from time to time

Over and above these functions, the Architect of the Capitol serves as a member of the Joint Commission to Acquire a Site and Additional Buildings for the Library of Congress, of the Commission for the Enlarging of the Capitol Grounds, of the District of Columbia Zoning Commission, and of the Alley Dwelling Authority

JOINT COMMITTEE ON INTERNAL REVENUE TAXATION

The Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation was established in 1926, under section 1203 of the Revenue Act of 1926 This section is codified in chapters 47 and 48 of the Internal Revenue Code

The duties imposed upon the committee by statute are as follows

(1) To investigate the operation and effects of the Federal system of internal-revenue taxes

(2) To investigate the administration of such taxes by the Bureau of Internal Revenue or any executive department, establishment, or agency charged with their administration

(3) To make such other investigations in respect of such system of taxes as the Joint Committee may deem necessary

(4) To investigate measures and methods for the simplification of such taxes, particularly the income tax

(5) To publish from time to time for public examination and analysis proposed measures and methods for the simplification of such taxes, and

(6) To report from time to time to the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Ways and Means and, in its discretion, to the Senate or the House of Representatives, or both, the results of its investigations, together with such recommendations as it may deem advisable

To the above, section 710 of the Revenue Act of 1928 added the duty of examining refunds in excess of $75,000 of income, war-profits, excess-profits, estate, and gift taxes and of making annual reports thereof to the Congress. A similar provision had theretofore been enacted in the first deficiency act, fiscal year 1927, approved February 28, 1927 (44 Stat 1254). Section 3777 of the Internal Revenue Code, derived from section 710 of the Revenue Act of 1928, reads as follows

"Sec 3777 Reports of refunds and credits in excess of $75,000

"(a) By Commissioner to Joint Committee. No refund or credit of any income, war-profits, excess-profits, estate, or gift tax in excess of $75,000 shall be made until after the expiration of 30 days from the date upon which a report giving the name of the person to whom the refund or credit is to be made, the amount of such refund or credit, and a summary of the facts and the decision of the Commissioner is submitted to the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation

"(b) By Joint Committee to Congress. A report to Congress shall be made annually by such committee of such refunds and credits, including the names of all persons and corporations to whom amounts are credited or payments are made, together with the amounts credited or paid to each "

The statute confers upon the Joint Committee certain powers necessary for the performance of its duties

The committee is composed of 10 members, of whom 5 are members of the Committee on Finance and 5 of the Committee on Ways and Means. The Committee on Finance and the Committee on Ways and Means each elects its membership on the Joint Committee, 3 from the majority and 2 from the minority party. It has been the custom to elect ranking members

The committee was organized in 1926 and functions with the aid of a permanent staff. It is the custom of the Joint Committee to elect a chairman and vice chairman annually, alternating these offices between the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means and the chairman of the Committee on Finance

JOINT COMMITTEE ON PRINTING

The Joint Committee on Printing, consisting of three Members of the Senate and three Members of the House of Representatives, was created by the act of August 3, 1846, and its principal duties are set forth in the Printing Act approved January 12, 1895. That act gave the committee authority "to remedy any neglect or delay in the public printing and binding." This authority was extended by section 11 of the Legislative Appropriation Act for 1920, empowering the committee "to adopt and employ such measures as, in its discretion, may be deemed necessary to remedy any neglect, delay, duplication, or waste in the public printing and binding and the distribution of Government publications."

The act of 1895 provides that the committee "shall have control of the arrangement and style of the Congressional Record, and, while providing that it shall be substantially a verbatim report of proceedings, shall take all needed action for the reduction of unnecessary bulk." The committee is also authorized to provide for the publication of semimonthly and session indexes to the Record and has general authority over the forms and style of congressional printing and binding

THE CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTORY, memorial addresses on deceased Senators and Members, statute proceedings, and similar publications are compiled and prepared under the direction of the committee. The Superintendent of Documents publishes the index of public documents upon a plan approved by the committee and indexes such single volumes as it shall direct

The committee is directed by law to establish rules and regulations for the printing of documents and reports in two or more editions. Orders for subsequent editions after 2 years from date of original order must receive its approval

The committee directs whether extra copies of documents and reports shall be bound in paper or cloth, and prescribes the arrangement and binding of documents for depository libraries

The cost of printing any document or report which cannot be properly charged to any other appropriation may, upon order of the committee, be charged to the congressional allotment

The committee may order additional copies printed of any Government publication within a limit of $200 in cost in any one instance

The act of 1895 also provides that the committee shall exercise the following functions in regard to the purchase of paper for the public printing and binding: Fix upon standards of quality, receive proposals and award contracts therefor, appoint a member of the board of paper inspection, determine differences of opinion as to quality, act upon defaults, and authorize open-market purchases

The Legislative Appropriation Act for 1925 authorizes the Public Printer to procure under the direction of the Joint Committee on Printing in accordance with the act approved January 12, 1895, and furnish, on requisition, envelopes (not including envelopes printed in the course of manufacture) in common use by two or more departments, establishments, or services of the Government in the District of Columbia

The Public Printer is required by law to advertise for bids for material, other than paper, under the direction of the committee, and to make a return to it on all such contracts awarded by him. The committee may authorize the Public Printer to make certain open-market purchases of material, and, by resolution, it has required him to obtain its approval on all purchases of machinery and equipment in excess of $1,000 in any one instance

Maps and illustration plates for Government publications are purchased under the direction of the committee whenever the probable cost exceeds $1,200, or, whenever the exigencies of the public service do not justify advertisement, the committee may authorize immediate contracts for lithographing and engraving

Printing for the Patent Office is required by law to be done under such regulations and conditions as the committee may prescribe

Section 11 of the Legislative Appropriation Act for 1920 requires all printing, binding, and blank-book work for the Government to be done at the Government Printing Office, except such classes of work as shall be deemed by the Joint Committee on Printing to be urgent or necessary to have done elsewhere than in the District of Columbia for the exclusive use of any field service outside of said District

JOINT COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY

The Joint Committee on the Library was established by law, in 1809 the two Houses by concurrent action supplemented the law, and in 1843 recognized it by joint rule. The joint rules having ceased to exist in 1876, the rules of the House recognized the committee in 1880. In 1902 a law increased the membership of the committee to five in each House

The statutes confer on the joint committee certain executive functions, such as the acceptance or purchase of works of art for the Capitol, the assignment of the same to such place in the Capitol as they may deem suitable, and control of the Botanic Garden, and provide that its powers shall reside in the Senate portion in the recess after the expiration of a Congress

Aside from the executive functions of the joint committee, the House branch exercises functions as a standing committee of the House, and has a jurisdiction covering construction and care of the building of the Library of Congress, management of the Library, purchase of books and manuscripts, erection of monuments to the memory of individuals, and in some instances on battlefields, and the removal of the remains of distinguished persons. The general affairs of the Smithsonian Institution and the incorporation of similar institutions are also within the jurisdiction of the House branch of the committee

Neither the joint committee nor the House branch reports appropriation bills

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Under authority of the Reorganization Act of 1939 and in accordance with the President's Reorganization Plans No I and No II, the Executive Office of the President comprises the following major divisions: The White House Office, Bureau of the Budget, National Resources Planning Board, Office of Government Reports, and Liaison Office for Personnel Management. Executive Order No 8248 of September 8, 1939, established the divisions and defined their functions.

THE WHITE HOUSE OFFICE

The functions and duties of the White House Office, as defined in Executive Order No 8248 of September 8, 1939, are as follows:

In general, to serve the President in an intimate capacity in the performance of the many detailed activities incident to his immediate office. To that end, the White House Office shall be composed of the following principal subdivisions, with particular functions and duties as indicated:

(a) The Secretaries to the President—To facilitate and maintain quick and easy communication with the Congress, the individual Members of the Congress, the heads of executive departments and agencies, the press, the radio, and the general public.

(b) The executive clerk—To provide for the orderly handling of documents and correspondence within the White House Office, and to organize and supervise all clerical services and procedure relating thereto.

(c) The administrative assistants to the President—To assist the President in such matters as he may direct, and at the specific request of the President, to get information and to condense and summarize it for his use. These administrative assistants shall be personal aides to the President and shall have no authority over anyone in any department or agency, including the Executive Office of the President, other than the personnel assigned to their immediate office. In no event shall the administrative assistants be interposed between the President and the head of any department or agency, or between the President and anyone of the divisions in the Executive Office of the President.

BUREAU OF THE BUDGET

The Bureau of the Budget was created by the Budget and Accounting Act of June 10, 1921. Prior to its transfer to the Executive Office of the President under authority of the Reorganization Act of 1939 the Bureau was in the Treasury Department but under the immediate direction of the President.

The functions of the Bureau are:

1 To assist the President in the preparation of the Budget and the formulation of the fiscal program of the Government.

2 To supervise and control the administration of the Budget.

3 To conduct research in the development of improved plans of administrative management and to advise the executive departments and agencies of the Government with respect to improved administrative organization and practice.

4 To aid the President to bring about more efficient and economical conduct of Government service.

5 To assist the President by clearing and coordinating departmental advice on proposed legislation and by making recommendations as to Presidential action on legislative enactments.

6 To assist in the consideration and clearance and, where necessary, in the preparation of proposed Executive orders and proclamations.

7 To plan and promote the improvement, development, and coordination of Federal and other statistical services.

8 To keep the President informed of the progress of activities by agencies of the Government with respect to work proposed, work actually initiated, and work completed, together with the relative timing of work between the several agencies of the Government

The Director of the Bureau of the Budget is vested with authority to make, waive, or modify apportionments of appropriations, and to approve the use of printing and binding appropriations for the printing of publications

CENTRAL STATISTICAL BOARD

Under Reorganization Plan No. I, the Central Statistical Board and its functions, as well as those of the Central Statistical Committee, which was abolished, were transferred to the Bureau of the Budget

The Board was organized on March 11, 1936, in conformity with an act of Congress approved July 25, 1935. It succeeded the Board organized August 9, 1933, under authority of the National Industrial Recovery Act of June 16, 1933.

The Board performs its work of planning and promoting the improvement, development, and coordination of Federal and other statistical services through the following functions:

- 1 Review and advice upon plans for the collection and tabulation of data and upon statistical publications and releases

- 2 Investigations of the methods and organization of statistical work of the various Federal statistical agencies in order to promote economy and efficiency and to eliminate unnecessary duplication

- 3 Assistance in planning and developing new services needed to fill gaps in available information

- 4 Preparation of information designed to keep the various Federal statistical agencies in touch with one another

- 5 Preparation of an annual report to be submitted to Congress by the President

NATIONAL RESOURCES PLANNING BOARD

Provision for the creation of the National Resources Planning Board was made by the President's Reorganization Plan No. I, effective July 1, 1939, pursuant to the Reorganization Act of 1939. Plan No. I abolished the National Resources Committee and the Federal Employment Stabilization Office in the Department of Commerce and transferred their functions to the new Board. The former National Resources Committee was the successor to the National Resources Board, which, in turn, succeeded the National Planning Board of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works.

The functions of the Board are:

- 1 To collect, prepare, and make available to the President such plans, data, and information as may be helpful to a planned development and use of national resources, and related subjects referred to it by the President, and to recommend to the President and the Congress long-time plans and programs for the wise use and fullest development of such resources

- 2 To advise the President from time to time of the trend of employment and business activity, and of the existence or approach of periods of business depression and unemployment in the United States or in any substantial portion thereof, and to recommend measures leading to the improvement and stabilization of economic conditions

- 3 To collect information concerning advance construction plans and estimates by all Federal agencies, the States, municipalities, and other public and private agencies, and to list for the President and the Congress all proposed public works in the order of their relative importance with respect to (a) the greatest good to the greatest number of people, (b) the emergency necessities of the Nation, and (c) the social, economic, and cultural advancement of the people of the United States

- 4 To receive and record all proposed Federal projects involving the acquisition of land (including transfer of land jurisdiction) and land-research projects, and, in an advisory capacity, to provide the agencies concerned with such information or data as may be pertinent to the projects

- 5 To consult and cooperate with agencies of the Federal Government, with the States and municipalities or agencies thereof, and with any public or private planning or research agencies or institutions, in carrying out any of its duties and functions, and to act as a clearing house and means of coordination for planning activities, linking together various levels and fields of planning

Through nine field offices, under the direction of regional chairmen and counselors, the National Resources Planning Board cooperates with 42 State planning boards and with regional or other planning agencies

OFFICE OF GOVERNMENT REPORTS

The Office of Government Reports is an administrative unit created pursuant to the President's Reorganization Plan No. II, effective July 1, 1939. The office replaced the National Emergency Council, which was abolished by Reorganization Plan No. II.

It assists the President in dealing with special problems requiring the clearance of information between the Federal Government and State and local governments and private institutions. It keeps the President currently informed of the opinions, desires, and complaints of citizens and groups of citizens and of State and local governments with respect to the work of Federal agencies. It reports to the President, on the basis of the information it has obtained, possible ways and means of reducing the cost of the operation of the Government.

It collects and distributes information concerning the purposes and activities of executive departments and agencies for the use of Congress, administrative officials, and the public. It compiles and publishes the United States Government Manual, a reference book of factual information concerning the functions and organization of Government agencies.

DIVISION OF PRESS INTELLIGENCE

The Division of Press Intelligence was established in August 1933 as a division of the National Recovery Administration in order to provide Government officials with a prompt and comprehensive press service. On July 10, 1935, it became a division of the National Emergency Council.

It makes available to Members of Congress and Federal officials a daily bulletin presenting news and editorial discussion of governmental, economic, and related subjects compiled from a list of 350 newspapers, a weekly report comprising abstracts of articles and editorials relating to public affairs, a daily newspaper-clipping service, and a special daily service involving requests for research and reports gathered from the permanent files of newspaper clippings.

UNITED STATES INFORMATION SERVICE

The United States Information Service was established in March 1934 as a division of the National Emergency Council, to function as a central clearing house for information on all phases of governmental activity. It serves both the Government and the general public by furnishing, upon request, factual information on the structure and operations of the various Federal departments and agencies and by directing inquiries into proper channels.

LIAISON OFFICE FOR PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

The Liaison Office for Personnel Management assists the President in the execution of the duties imposed upon him by the Constitution and by legislation with respect to personnel management, and in maintaining closer contact with all Federal departments and agencies in their relation to personnel-management policies.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

SECRETARY OF STATE

The Secretary of State, who is the highest ranking Cabinet member, is charged, under the direction of the President, with the conduct of negotiations of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States, and has charge of the correspondence with the diplomatic and consular representatives of the United States and with the representatives of foreign powers accredited to the United States. The Secretary of State grants and issues passports to nationals of the United States. Exequaturs to foreign consuls in the United States are issued through his office. He prescribes, promulgates, and administers regulations under treaties and laws governing international traffic in arms. He has custody of the seal of the United States, of current records relating to presidential electors, and of the originals of acts and resolutions of Congress subsequent to the Sixty-seventh Congress, and treaties, conventions, and other international agreements of the United States subsequent to August 14, 1906, and proclamations thereof by the President. He certifies the adoption of amendments to the Constitution of the United States. He publishes the acts and resolutions of Congress, Territorial papers, treaties and other international acts of the United States, and papers relating to the foreign relations of the United States.

UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE

The Under Secretary of State is one of the two principal assistants to the Secretary of State in the discharge of his various functions, aiding in the formulation and execution of the foreign policy of the Government and the reception of representatives of foreign governments and in other work of a highly responsible character. He gives especial attention to political relations with foreign governments. In the absence of the Secretary of State he becomes Acting Secretary of State.

COUNSELOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE

The Counselor of the Department of State is one of the two principal assistants to the Secretary of State in the discharge of his various functions, aiding in the formulation and execution of the foreign policies of the Government and the reception of representatives of foreign governments and in work of a highly responsible character. He gives especial attention to such important phases of our foreign relations as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of State. In the absence of the Secretary of State and the Under Secretary of State he becomes Acting Secretary of State.

One assistant to the Counselor is charged, under the Counselor, with assisting in the formulation of policy and with unifying and coordinating action within the Department on international aspects of fisheries problems, with the duty of effecting coordination of the work of the Department with the work of international fishery commissions which are under the administrative jurisdiction of the Secretary of State, and liaison officer between the Department of State and other branches of the Government in matters relating to fisheries problems which fall within the field of joint interest and authority.

One assistant to the Counselor is charged, under the Counselor, with the performance of research studies in matters relating to the formulation and execution of the foreign policies of the Government falling within the jurisdiction of the office of the Counselor, with particular reference to matters of neutrality, with providing the Secretary of State and the Counselor with information pertaining to current questions arising from civil and international armed conflicts, with matters pertaining to certain historical and constitutional questions and the ascertainment of presidential electors, and with assisting the Counselor, generally, in the work of his office.

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF STATE

One Assistant Secretary of State is charged with such duties as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of State.

One Assistant Secretary of State is charged with economic, financial, tariff, and general trade questions and such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of State.

One Assistant Secretary of State is charged with the administration of the Department of State and the Foreign Service and with supervision of matters relating to personnel and management. He is chairman of the Board of Appeals and Review. He is legislative, budget, and fiscal officer, charged with the supervision and preparation of estimates of appropriations of the Department and its several activities, their presentation to the Congress, and the allotments and expenditures of appropriations when made. He has supervision also over all matters pertaining to consular affairs, passports, visas, Foreign Service buildings, and international conferences. He is chairman of the Board of Foreign Service Personnel, the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, and the Foreign Service Officers' Training School Board.

OFFICE OF THE LEGAL ADVISER

Drafts and interprets treaties, conventions, protocols, and other international agreements, deals with questions of municipal, foreign, and international law, and handles diplomatic claims of American citizens against foreign governments and claims of foreigners against the Government of the United States, including the preparation and presentation of the former class of cases to international arbitral tribunals and the defense of the United States before such tribunals in cases of claims made by foreign governments, questions of personal and private rights of aliens in the United States and of American citizens in foreign countries, such as acquisition, inheritance, and transfer of property, arrest, detention, fines, imprisonment, personal injury, acts of insurgents, taxation, breach or annulment of concessions or other contracts, failure to pay interest or principal on Government obligations, sequestration or confiscation of property, complaints regarding action of executive, legislative, judicial, or military authorities, questions concerning the rights and privileges of American diplomatic and consular officers abroad and of foreign diplomatic and consular officers in the United States, and concerning the rights and immunities of sovereigns and public property, questions relating to the jurisdiction over and control of public or private vessels, questions relating to citizenship, naturalization, expatriation, extradition, and extraterritoriality, questions relating to the acts and rights of belligerents, neutrals, and insurgents on land or sea, and a large number of miscellaneous legal questions not included in the above classification

ADVISERS ON POLITICAL RELATIONS

The two Advisers on Political Relations are charged, under the Secretary of State, the Under Secretary, and an Assistant Secretary, with the supervision of such divisions having general charge of relations with foreign states as may be assigned to them, and with giving advice and assistance in connection with special questions in the fields of foreign policy and diplomatic action and performing other duties of a supervisory or advisory nature

ADVISER ON INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC AFFAIRS

Is charged, under the Secretary of State, with analytical and advisory duties in regard to the economic relations between this Government and foreign governments, assisting in the formulation of policy, unifying and coordinating action on economic matters within the Department, and acting as liaison between the Department of State and other branches of the Government on international economic matters falling within the field of joint interest and authority of several branches

DIRECTOR OF PERSONNEL

Is charged, under the Secretary of State and the Assistant Secretary of State and budget officer, with the development and administration of the personnel programs prescribed by Executive Order No 7916. As head of the Division of Personnel Supervision and Management supervises the functions of appointment, assignment, classification, service rating, and training of employees in the Department of State, exclusive of the Foreign Service, supervises the establishment of means for the hearing of grievances of employees, and presents appropriate recommendations for the settlement thereof to the Secretary of State, makes recommendations to the Assistant Secretary of State and budget officer with respect to expenditures for personnel, and supervises the maintenance and service functions of the Department. Has custody of the seal of the United States. Is a member of the Council of Personnel Administration, liaison officer with the Civil Service Commission, the Central Statistical Board, and with other executive departments, establishments, and agencies of the Government in all matters relating to the functions of his Division, and contact officer with exposition commissions

BOARD OF FOREIGN SERVICE PERSONNEL

In the absence of the Secretary, the Under Secretary acts as Secretary of the Treasury. In the absence of both the Secretary and the Under Secretary the Senior Assistant Secretary present acts as Secretary.

THE UNDER SECRETARY

To the Under Secretary are assigned matters relating to the finances, and the supervision of the office of the Commissioner of Accounts and Deposits, office of Commissioner of the Public Debt, and the various divisions subject to their jurisdiction, the Bureau of the Comptroller of the Currency, the office of the Treasurer of the United States, and the Division of Savings Bonds. He maintains contacts with departments, boards, corporations, and other branches of the Government with respect to their financial operations and the coordination of such operations with those of the Treasury. He represents the Secretary in such contacts in a liaison capacity, keeping the Secretary fully informed at all times.

The Under Secretary has supervision over the preparation of periodical estimates of the future cash position of the Treasury for use of the Department in connection with its financing, and the preparation of calls for the withdrawal of funds from special depositaries to meet current expenditures, directs the transfer of Government funds between the Federal Reserve banks when necessary, and directs fiscal agency functions in general, including deposits of gold certificates in the gold certificate fund for credit with Federal Reserve banks.

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES

To the Assistant Secretary in Charge of Coast Guard, Narcotics, and Secret Service is assigned the general supervision of those respective activities.

To the Assistant Secretary in Charge of Internal Revenue is assigned the supervision of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the Division of Tax Research, and the Office of the Legislative Counsel, in charge of revenue matters.

THE GENERAL COUNSEL FOR THE TREASURY

To the General Counsel is assigned the general supervision of the legal staffs in all branches of the Department.

THE ASSISTANTS TO THE SECRETARY

To the assistant to the Secretary in Charge of Customs is assigned the general supervision of the Bureau of Customs.

To the assistant to the Secretary in Charge of Procurement, Engraving and Printing, and Mint is assigned the general supervision of the Procurement Division, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and the Bureau of the Mint.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT TO THE SECRETARY

To the Administrative Assistant to the Secretary is assigned all matters of administration, including personnel and Budget matters, and the supervision of the Office of the Chief Clerk, the Office of the Director of Personnel, the Division of Appointments, the Division of Printing, the Secretary's Correspondence Division, and the Office of Superintendent of Treasury Buildings

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY, OFFICES UNDER THE IMMEDIATE SUPERVISION OF

GENERAL COUNSEL FOR THE TREASURY

The General Counsel is the chief law officer of the Department, is in charge of all of its legal activities, and performs such duties relating thereto as may be prescribed by the Secretary or required by law

DIVISION OF RESEARCH AND STATISTICS

The Division of Research and Statistics in the Office of the Secretary serves as a research staff for the Secretary and other Treasury officials on matters relating to fiscal operations and policies, the estimated volume of future revenues, actuarial considerations involved in certain Treasury functions, and various general economic problems arising in connection with Treasury activities

DIVISION OF MONETARY RESEARCH

The Division of Monetary Research in the Office of the Secretary was established on March 25, 1938. The Division provides information, economic analyses, and recommendations for the use of the Secretary of the Treasury and other Treasury officials to assist in the formulation and execution of the monetary policies of the Department in connection with the stabilization fund and other operations under the Gold Reserve and the Silver Purchase Acts. Analyses are made pertaining to gold, and silver the flow of capital funds into and out of the United States, the position of the dollar in relation to foreign currencies, monetary, banking, and fiscal policies of foreign countries, exchange and trade restrictions abroad, and similar problems. Analyses are also prepared relating to the customs activities of the Department and to the duties of the Secretary of the Treasury under the Tariff Act and on other matters pertaining to international trade, including the trade-agreement program

FEDERAL ALCOHOL ADMINISTRATION

The Federal Alcohol Administration was created by an act of Congress, approved August 29, 1935, entitled "Federal Alcohol Administration Act" (Public, No 401, 74th Cong.) "to further protect the revenue derived from distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages, to regulate interstate and foreign commerce and enforce the postal laws with respect thereto, to enforce the twenty-first amendment and for other purposes." It is organized as a division of the Treasury Department and is headed by an Administrator who is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate

It is the duty of the Administrator to enforce the provisions of the act which prohibit exclusive outlets, "tied houses," commercial bribery, and consignment or conditional sales, to promulgate and enforce regulations relating to misbranding and advertising of distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages, to enforce the provisions of the act prohibiting the sale of distilled spirits in bulk, except to certain qualified persons, and to prevent the combination through interlocking directorates of business enterprises engaged in the production, importation, or distribution of distilled spirits, wine, or malt beverages, where such combinations tend to burden interstate commerce

The act requires that all distillers and rectifiers of distilled spirits, producers and blenders of wine, and importers and wholesalers of distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages secure permits authorizing them to engage in such operations. The Administrator is charged with the duty of issuing permits to properly qualified persons, and is given the authority to revoke or suspend such permits for violation of any of their conditions, which include compliance with the provisions of the act, with the twenty-first amendment, and with all other Federal laws relating to distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages. Violators of the statute, including brewers who are not required to hold permits, are subject to criminal prosecution and imposition of the penalties provided. It is the Administrator's purpose, through use of the authority conferred upon him by the act, to minimize, insofar as may be possible, the social evils generally associated with the production and sale of distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages

An annual report is made to Congress by the Administrator at the beginning of each regular session

THE UNDER SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY, OFFICES UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF ACCOUNTS AND DEPOSITS

The Office of the Commissioner of Accounts and Deposits has administrative supervision over the Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants and its relations to the office of the Treasurer of the United States, over the Division of Disbursement, the Division of Deposits, and the Section of Surety Bonds. It supervises collections of principal and interest on foreign obligations, keeps the accounts, and handles generally matters relating to the indebtedness of foreign governments to the United States, including matters arising under funding agreements, supervises collections of railroad obligations owned by the Government and keeps the accounts relating thereto, handles the collection of other obligations owned by the United States which are turned over to the Treasury by other departments for collection, makes payments, keeps accounts, and handles matters generally relating to awards under the settlement of War Claims Act of 1928, under the claims agreement of October 25, 1934, between the United States and Turkey, and under the act of April 10, 1935, covering claims against the Republic of Mexico. The Commissioner likewise has control of the investment accounts of the Government and is responsible for the proper custody of investments and securities held by the Treasurer of the United States and the Federal Reserve banks for which the Secretary is responsible, other than those related to public debt operations. The Commissioner has supervision over the procedure for the maintenance of the system of accounts and disbursements under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Acts of 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939.

The Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants is by law the official bookkeeping organization of the Government in regard to the receipt, appropriation, and expenditure of public moneys. The accounts and records of disbursements in this Division are on a basis of warrants issued, and differ somewhat from the actual cash expenditures as shown in the daily Treasury statement prepared in the Office of the Treasurer of the United States. This Division makes analyses of acts of Congress carrying appropriations and opens up the necessary appropriation accounts on its ledgers, it issues warrants for placing disbursing funds to the credit of disbursing officers, for the payment by the Treasury of claims settled by the General Accounting Office, and for covering into the Treasury the revenues and receipts of the Government. It handles the work involved in the Secretary's special deposit accounts, including alien property trusts and offers in compromise. It compiles, for submission to the Bureau of the Budget, the estimates of appropriations for the service of the Treasury and also estimates of appropriations required to meet the payment of judgments rendered against the Government by United States district courts and the Court of Claims, and of claims certified by the General Accounting Office as payable from appropriations which have expired by limitation of law. It approves the issuance of duplicates of checks drawn by officers or agents of the United States and maintains a record and handles claims for the proceeds of checks which are outstanding more than 1 year after the fiscal year in which issued. It maintains budgetary accounts relating to apportionments and obligations of funds pertaining to all departments and establishments of the Government, including governmental corporations operating on public funds, pursuant to the provisions of the Executive order of July 27, 1933.

In addition to the above this Division compiles and publishes an annual digest of the appropriations made by Congress and an annual combined statement of the receipts, expenditures, and unexpended balances under each appropriation account.

The Division of Disbursement was created under the Executive Order No. 6166 of June 10, 1933, which provided that the function of disbursement of moneys of the United States exercised by any agency of the Government is transferred to the Treasury Department and consolidated in that Division. The military services of the War and Navy Departments were exempted from the provisions of Executive Order No. 6166 by a subsequent Executive order. The function of disbursement of moneys of the United States in the other departments and agencies in Washington, and in the field, has been taken over and consolidated in this Division with the exception of the Postal Service and United States marshals. Nineteen regional offices have been established in the several Federal Reserve districts for the purpose of performing the disbursing functions outside of Washington for the regular departments and agencies. There have also been established offices in each State to provide disbursing facilities under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Acts of 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939.

The Division of Deposits is charged with the administration of matters pertaining to designation and supervision of Government depositories and the deposit of Government funds in such depositories, i. e., the Federal Reserve banks, general and limited member bank depositories, and special depositories under the Liberty Loan acts, foreign depositories, Territorial depositories, Federal land banks, and the Philippine treasury, matters pertaining to the qualification of Federal savings and loan associations and Federal credit unions as fiscal agents of the United States under Treasury Circular 568, and matters pertaining to the functions of the Treasury under the Government Losses in Shipment Act.

The Commissioner of Accounts and Deposits has administrative control over surety companies authorized to transact business with the Government, fixes the qualifying power of each company, supervises the audit of the financial statements of the companies quarterly, notifies the companies of the settlement of fiscal officers' accounts under fidelity bonds, and has custody of official bonds running to the Government except those for post-office employees and for certain officials of Federal courts.

PUBLIC DEBT SERVICE

The Public Debt Service, under the Commissioner of the Public Debt, is charged with the conduct of transactions in public debt and paper currency issues of the United States. As agent it also conducts transactions in the interest-bearing issues of the Philippine and Puerto Rican Governments, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, the Federal Housing Administration, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Commodity Credit Corporation, the United States Housing Authority, and in the consolidated issues of the Federal farm loan banks. In addition to the Office of the Commissioner, the Service includes the Division of Loans and Currency, the Office of the Register of the Treasury, the Division of Paper Custody, and the Division of Accounts and Audit.

New security issues — When a new issue of public debt securities is to be offered for subscription, the Public Debt Service prepares the necessary documents incident to the offering, and directs the handling of subscriptions for and allotments of the securities to be issued.

The Division of Loans and Currency is the issuing branch. It receives securities from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, makes original issues, and thereafter conducts exchanges, transfers, conversions, and replacements. It maintains accounts with holders of registered bonds, and prepares checks for payment of interest thereon. It audits redeemed United States paper currency and mutilated work of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

The Office of the Register of the Treasury is the retiring branch. This Office receives, examines, and has custody of securities retired for any account, including paid interest coupons.

The Service is charged with the procurement of distinctive paper required for printing currency and public debt securities and for other purposes, and in connection with its manufacture maintains a field force at the mills of the contractors. The Division of Paper Custody receives the distinctive paper from contractors and issues it to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing as required.

The Division of Accounts and Audit maintains administrative control accounts over all transactions with which the Public Debt Service is charged, and related transactions conducted by the Office of the Treasurer of the United States, and by the Federal Reserve banks acting in their capacities as fiscal agents of the United States. Similar accounts are maintained over transactions in distinctive and nondistinctive paper used in printing public debt and other securities, currency, stamps, etc. It also makes administrative examinations and audits of transactions so conducted and the securities involved. It maintains control accounts over reserve stocks of currency, and conducts administrative examinations and physical audits of such stocks, cash balances in the several divisions of the Treasurer's Office, and collateral securities held in trust by the Treasurer.

BUREAU OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY

The most important functions of the Comptroller of the Currency are those relating to the organization of new national banks, the general supervision over the national banks in operation, the administration, through receivers, of national banks which have failed

Reports of condition of national banks are required to be made to the Comptroller by the banks not less than three times a year upon a date fixed by the Comptroller. Under the direction of the Comptroller, national-bank examiners make regular examinations of the affairs of the national banks, showing their condition with reference to solvency and observance of the provisions of the National Bank Act. In case of deliberate violation, suit may be brought in the name of the Comptroller against any such bank for the forfeiture of its charter. If it appears to the Comptroller that any national bank is in an insolvent condition he is empowered to appoint a receiver.

The Comptroller of the Currency is an ex officio member of the Board of Directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and sits regularly with the Board.

The Comptroller of the Currency is required by law to report directly to Congress annually and to recommend to Congress amendments to the national banking laws.

OFFICE OF THE TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES

The Treasurer of the United States is charged with the receipt and disbursement of public moneys that may be deposited in the Treasury at Washington and in the other depositories authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to receive deposits of Government funds for credit in the account of the Treasurer of the United States. Funds advanced to disbursing officers for the use of Government departments and establishments under the appropriation of Congress are credited in the accounts of such disbursing officers on the books of the Treasurer, and disbursements therefrom are made by checks drawn on the Treasurer. In his Office are prepared and issued, for the Secretary of the Treasury, the daily Treasury statement of the United States, the monthly preliminary statement of the public debt, and the monthly preliminary statement of classified expenditures of the Government, the monthly statement of the outstanding paper currency of the Government is also published. The Treasury general ledger accounts of the trust fund, the reserve fund, the gold certificate fund, and the general fund, and other important accounts are maintained in his Office. He prepares an annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury. The Treasurer is fiscal agent for the issue and redemption of United States paper currency, for payment of principal and interest on the public debt on obligations the principal and interest of which are fully guaranteed by the United States, for payment of principal and interests on bonds of the Puerto Rican and Philippine governments (of which the Secretary of the Treasury is the transfer agent), and for the redemption of national-bank notes, Federal Reserve notes, and Federal Reserve bank notes. He is treasurer of the board of trustees of the Postal Savings System, trustee for bonds held to secure public deposits in national banks and bonds held to secure postal savings in banks, and custodian of miscellaneous securities and trust funds.

There are in the Office of the Treasurer six divisions: Accounting Division, Cash Division, Currency Redemption Division, Division of Chief Clerk, Division of General Accounts, and Division of Securities.

DIVISION OF SAVINGS BONDS

This Division is charged with the promotion of the sale of United States savings bonds. All advertising material, booklets, posters, sales letters, etc., are created and designed within the Division.

The Division collects information on a monthly basis from all sales agencies. From these reports complete statistical information is compiled so that the Secretary of the Treasury and others are informed at all times as to the facts concerning distribution. The Division carries on a large correspondence with the investing public in connection with the sale, registration, and safekeeping of savings bonds.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY IN CHARGE OF COAST GUARD, NARCOTICS, AND SECRET SERVICE, OFFICES UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

COAST GUARD

The United States Coast Guard was established as a part of the military forces of the United States by the act of January 28, 1915, which amalgamated the Revenue-Cutter and Life-Saving Services, and was further enlarged by the transfer of the Lighthouse Service on July 1, 1939, as a result of the President's Reorganization Plan No. II. It is charged with enforcing law, saving and protecting life and property, and safeguarding navigation on the high seas and navigable waters of the United States.

The duties of the Coast Guard are as follows:

(a) The prevention, detection, and suppression of violations of the laws of the United States on the high seas, in harbors, bays, sounds, roadsteads, and other like bodies of water along the coasts of the United States, its territories and possessions, and shores of the Great Lakes, and on the Great Lakes and connecting waters thereof, securing the collection of duties imposed on articles imported into the United States, the enforcement of navigation laws, the enforcement of neutrality laws and regulations, the enforcement of the rules and regulations governing the movement of vessels in the St. Marys River, the enforcement of rules and regulations in relation to the anchorage grounds, the enforcement of the Oil Pollution Act, the patrol and enforcement of provisions of conventions into which the United States has entered into with other nations, such as the patrol in the waters frequented by the seal and the sea otter, a patrol for the preservation of the halibut fisheries of Northern Pacific Ocean and Bering Sea, and the enforcement of the provisions of the act giving effect to the convention for the regulation of whaling.

(b) Affording aid to distressed mariners, the saving of life and property from shipwreck, the construction, operation, maintenance, repair, illumination, and inspection of aids to navigation, the enforcement of the regulations to promote the safety of life on navigable waters during regattas and marine parades, patrolling the trans-Atlantic steamship tracks endangered by icebergs, extending medical and surgical aid to the crews of American vessels engaged in deep-sea fisheries, rescuing lives and property and distributing food and clothing to marooned people during flood times on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers and their tributaries, the collection of statistics of marine disasters, the investigation of circumstances connected with shipwreck attended with loss of life, with a view of ascertaining the cause of the disaster, the destruction of derelicts, the training of citizens of the United States to serve as licensed and unlicensed personnel on American merchant vessels.

(c) The Coast Guard constitutes a part of the military forces of the United States, operating under the Treasury Department in time of peace and as a part of the Navy in time of war or when the President shall so direct.

To assist the Commandant, who is charged by law with the administration of the Coast Guard, there are established at Headquarters Divisions of Engineering, Inspection, Operations, Finance, Aviation, Personnel, Communications, Intelligence, Procurement and Supplies, Maritime Training, and a Permanent Board.

An annual report, covering the activities of the Coast Guard, is made to the Secretary of the Treasury.

BUREAU OF NARCOTICS

The Commissioner of Narcotics, under the direction and supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury, has general supervision of the enforcement of the Harrison Narcotic Act, the Marihuana Tax Act of 1937, and related statutes, including the administration of the permissive features of the Narcotic Drugs Import and Export Act, and cooperates with the Customs Bureau in the enforcement of the prohibitive features of the latter act. The Commissioner also cooperates (1) with the State Department in the discharge of the international obligations of the United States concerning the traffic in narcotic drugs and (2) with the several States in the suppression of the abuse of narcotic drugs in their respective jurisdictions.

The duties of the Bureau include the investigation and the detection and prevention of violations of the Federal narcotic laws (including the Marihuana Tax Act of 1937), the determination, with the cooperation of the Public Health Service, of quantities of crude opium and coca leaves to be imported into the United States for medical and legitimate uses, and the issuance of permits to import the crude narcotic drugs and to export drugs and preparations manufactured therefrom under the law and regulations. An annual report is made to Congress which also serves the purpose of the special report heretofore prepared in the Bureau on behalf of the Government for transmittal through the State Department to the nations signatory to the International Drug Conventions of 1912 and 1931.

SECRET SERVICE DIVISION

This division, under the Chief of Secret Service, is charged with the protection of the President of the United States, his family, and the President-elect at all times and under all conditions. The White House police force is also under the control and supervision of the Chief of the Secret Service. A major function is the detection, arrest, and delivery to the marshal having jurisdiction of persons engaged in counterfeiting, forging, or altering of any of the obligations or other securities, as well as coins, of the United States or of foreign governments.

A staff of trained investigators is maintained for the purposes described above and to investigate violations of the Federal Farm Loan Act, Federal Farm Credit Act of 1935, War Finance Corporation Act, section 704 of the World War Adjusted Compensation Act, Gold Reserve Act of 1934, offenses against the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation named in section 12-B of the Banking Act of 1935 and covered by sections 112-117 of the Criminal Code (U. S. C., title 18, secs. 202 to 207), counterfeiting of Government transportation requests (act of December 11, 1926), and of liquor revenue stamps in violation of the Liquor Taxing Act of 1934, forgery of Government checks, thefts of Government property, investigations to establish responsibility of bidders on Government contracts, losses of insured shipments of Government securities, and certain investigations in connection with the Works Progress Administration. In addition, other crimes against the laws of the United States relating to the Treasury Department and the several branches of the public service under its control are investigated by the Secret Service, as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct. A uniformed force safeguards the paper currency and other Government securities and obligations during the process of manufacture at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, its transportation to other Government departments in Washington, and in the vaults of the money-handling divisions of the Treasury Department. The force also assists in the enforcement of the rules and regulations of the Department, and has police powers of arrest within the Treasury Buildings and on Government property. An agent of the Secret Service is detailed to supervise this uniformed force.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY IN CHARGE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, OFFICES UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has general supervision of the assessment and collection of all internal-revenue taxes and other miscellaneous taxing acts of Congress, the enforcement of internal-revenue laws, and the preparation and distribution of instructions, regulations, forms, blanks, stamps, etc. An annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury covering the activities of this service is made by the Commissioner.

For the purpose of efficient and effective administration of the internal-revenue laws the duties of the Bureau are assigned to various units as follows: Commissioner and Miscellaneous Unit, Income Tax Unit, Miscellaneous Tax Unit, Accounts and Collections Unit, and Alcohol Tax Unit.

The Commissioner and Miscellaneous Unit includes the immediate Office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the Assistant to the Commissioner, the Office of the Special Deputy Commissioner, the Technical Staff, the Intelligence Unit, Personnel Division, Administrative Division, Training Division, and Public Relations Division.

The Income Tax Unit is the agency of the Bureau of Internal Revenue for administering the Federal income and profits tax provisions of the revenue laws. Its duties are to prepare regulations for the administration of such provisions, to receive, audit, and verify the returns covering such taxes, to review and dispose of claims for refund, and to compile statistics from these returns. This unit also administers section 501 (title III) of the Revenue Act of 1936, Unjust Enrichment Tax.

The Miscellaneous Tax Unit is charged with the administration of all internal-revenue tax laws except income and profits taxes, employment taxes, and alcohol taxes, and is also responsible for adjusting and closing cases involving repealed miscellaneous internal-revenue taxes. This unit is also charged with the administration of taxes imposed under the Silver Purchase Act of June 19, 1934, the Bituminous Coal Conservation Act of 1937, approved April 26, 1937, the Sugar Act of 1937, approved September 1, 1937, and the Marihuana Tax Act of 1937, approved August 2, 1937.

The Accounts and Collections Unit is charged with the administration of matters having to do with the organization and management of the offices of collectors of internal revenue, including their field forces, with the administration of the laws relating to employment taxes, and with the administrative audit of revenue and disbursing accounts in the Internal Revenue Bureau and Service. It also issues stamps to collectors of internal revenue.

The Alcohol Tax Unit is charged with the administration of the internal-revenue laws relating to supervision of production and warehousing, and the tax payment of distilled spirits, alcohol, wines, fermented liquors, cereal beverages, and denatured alcohol. This Unit is also charged with the duty of detecting and prosecuting persons violating the statutes relating to these articles.

There are four main divisions of the Field Service, as follows: The Collection Service, the Field Audit Service, the Supervisory Field Service of Alcohol Tax Unit, and Field Divisions of the Technical Staff.

In addition to the four aforementioned major field activities, there are the following field forces whose activities are supervised from Washington: Intelligence Agents, Supervisors of Accounts and Collections, Miscellaneous and Sales Tax Agents, and Field Inspection Service.

DIVISION OF TAX RESEARCH

The Division of Tax Research analyzes taxes and tax systems and prepares studies on the economic aspects of tax matters for the use of the Secretary, the Under Secretary, and other Treasury officials and, upon request, for the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. The Division is responsible for the assembly and publication of all statistical information pertaining to Federal taxation and in this connection exercises general supervision over the work of the Statistical Section of the Income Tax Unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

OFFICE OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL, IN CHARGE OF REVENUE MATTERS

The Office of the Legislative Counsel, in charge of revenue matters, assists the Secretary, the Under Secretary, and the Assistant Secretary in Charge of Internal Revenue in planning and coordinating the Treasury Department's legislative program respecting the internal revenue, and in representing the Department on such matters before the appropriate congressional committees. The Office assists in the consideration of the legal aspects of Treasury Regulations and rulings dealing with the interpretation of internal-revenue laws.

ASSISTANT TO THE SECRETARY IN CHARGE OF CUSTOMS, OFFICE UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

CUSTOMS SERVICE

The Customs Service was established by the First Congress under the act of July 31, 1789, and subsequently districts and ports were established from time to time by acts of Congress. The act of August 24, 1912 (19 U S C 1), authorized the President to reorganize the Customs Service, abolish ports, and abolish or consolidate districts, and under this authority the present form of field organization was effected by Presidential proclamation of March 3, 1913. The act of August 1, 1914, authorizes the President to arrange the several customs collection districts, abolish ports of entry, and establish new ports as may appear necessary from time to time, provided that the total number of districts and ports, or either of them, does not exceed the number which existed on the date of the passage of the said act.

There are at present 46 customs collection districts, including Puerto Rico but excluding the Virgin Islands, and each district is in charge of a collector of customs. There are seven comptroller districts, with a comptroller of customs at the head of each. The comptrollers check and verify all customs transactions. The customs investigative branch is designated the Customs Agency Service, and its activities are divided into 14 customs-agency districts—10 in the United States and 4 in foreign countries. Each district in the United States is under the direction of a supervising customs agent, and each foreign district is under the direction of a Treasury attaché.

The Customs Service is under the direction of the Commissioner of Customs, which office was established by the act of March 3, 1927. This act also created the Bureau of Customs in lieu of the former divisional organization. Under the authority of that act the Secretary of the Treasury has conferred upon the Commissioner of Customs, subject to the general supervision and direction of the Secretary, the powers and duties in regard to the importation and entry of merchandise into or the exportation of merchandise from the United States vested in or imposed upon the Secretary of the Treasury by the Tariff Act of 1930 or any other law, except that regulations and certain classes of decisions require the approval of the Secretary

The principal functions of the Service are to enter and clear vessels and supervise the discharge of cargo, enter, appraise, classify, and ascertain the quantities of imported merchandise, and assess and collect the duties thereon, or warehouse the merchandise, inspect international traffic by vessel, highway, railway, and air, and patrol the international borders for the purpose of enforcing the customs laws, review and allow or disallow protests by importers against rates or amounts of duties, determine the drawback due on the exportation of articles in the manufacture of which duty-paid imported materials are used, and certify such drawback for payment, prevent the smuggling of contraband, including narcotics, the introduction of prohibited articles, and prevent and detect undervaluations and other frauds on the customs revenue, and apprehend violators of the customs laws, enforce the antidumping act, the neutrality laws, and perform certain duties under the Foreign Trade Zones Act (19 U S C, ch 1A, 1934 ed)

Collectors of customs are field officers of the Department of Commerce in the enforcement of the navigation and shipping laws, and in this capacity document vessels of the United States, collect duties on tonnage, and admeasure American vessels for registry, enrollment, or license The Customs Service also cooperates with other services in the Treasury Department and other executive departments in the enforcement of the preventive, sanitary, and other laws under their respective administrations relating principally to articles brought to this country and in some cases to articles sent out of the country

He advises the Secretary in regard to the military features and design of all new ships and as to any alterations of a ship which may affect her military value, as to the location, capacity, and protection of navy yards and naval stations, including all features which affect their military value, also, as to matters pertaining to fuel reservations and depots, the location of radio stations, visual signal stations, reserves of ordnance and ammunition, fuel stores, and other supplies of whatsoever nature, with a view to meeting effectively the demands of the fleet

He advises the Secretary of the Navy on all business of the Department in regard to insular governments and foreign relations. All correspondence in regard to these matters is presented for the Secretary's action through the office of the Chief of Naval Operations

He is charged with the preparation, revision, and record of regulations for the government of the Navy, general orders, tactical instructions, drill books (except such as are issued by the Bureau of Navigation for the individual instruction of officers and enlisted men), signal codes, and cipher codes

In preparing and maintaining in readiness plans for the use of the fleet in war, he freely consults with and has the advice and assistance of the various bureaus, boards, and offices of the Department and the Marine Corps Headquarters in matters coming under their cognizance. After the approval of any given war plans by the Secretary it is the duty of the Chief of Naval Operations to assign to the bureaus, boards, and offices such parts thereof as may be needed for the intelligent carrying out of their respective duties in regard to such plans and their maintenance in constant readiness

In carrying out his duties he utilizes the facilities of the appropriate bureaus and offices of the Navy Department

The Chief of Naval Operations from time to time witnesses the operations of the fleet as an observer

During the temporary absence of the Secretary and the Assistant Secretaries of the Navy the Chief of Naval Operations is next in succession to act as Secretary of the Navy (acts Mar 3, 1915, and Feb 11, 1927)

ASSISTANT TO THE CHIEF OF NAVAL OPERATIONS

An officer on the active list of the Navy is detailed by the Secretary of the Navy as Assistant to the Chief of Naval Operations

In case of the death, resignation, absence, or sickness of the Chief of Naval Operations, the Assistant to the Chief of Naval Operations, unless otherwise directed by the President, performs the duties of the Chief until his successor is appointed or such absence or sickness shall cease

The Assistant to the Chief of Naval Operations is next in authority to the Chief. He does not administer the details of any division but coordinates the activities of all divisions

The Assistant to the Chief of Naval Operations is a member of the Joint Army and Navy Board

CENTRAL DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

This division of the office of the Chief of Naval Operations has cognizance of the following

(a) Organization

(b) Budget matters, legislation, Navy Regulations and General Orders, bureau manuals, courts and boards, honors and ceremonies, annual and special reports from naval forces, annual and special reports made by the Chief of Naval Operations

(c) Administration of places under naval occupation

(d) International affairs, including relations and contacts of naval forces, afloat and ashore, with governments or forces of other nations, liaison with State Department regarding naval forces in foreign waters or territory, and matters pertaining to treaties and conventions

(e) Matters not clearly within the cognizance of any other office, or requiring central coordination, and such other matters as the Chief of Naval Operations may designate

This division is charged with the duties of the Office of Island Government

WAR PLANS DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The War Plans Division is charged with the preparation and maintenance of basic war plans for the development and maintenance of the naval forces in state of readiness for war and for operating in war

The Director of the War Plans Division is a member of the Joint Army and Navy Board. Three or more officers of the War Plans Division are detailed for Navy membership of the Joint Army and Navy Planning Committee, an agent of the Joint Army and Navy Board. One officer of the War Plans Division is assigned as a member of the Aeronautical Board. Through membership on the boards and committees the War Plans Division assists in the coordination of the plans and policies of the War and Navy Departments.

One officer of the War Plans Division is assigned as a member of the Shoal Station Development Board.

SHIP MOVEMENTS DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Director of Ship Movements Division is responsible to the Chief of Naval Operations for

(a) The organization assignment and operating plans of the United States Naval Forces in accordance with the policy of the Navy Department

(b) The coordination, within the Office of Naval Operations, of the United States Fleet employment plans, and the movements of all naval craft

(c) The preparation of the annual fuel estimates for all naval forces and the allocation of this fuel to vessels

(d) The coordination and preparation of all Training Cruises made in naval craft

(e) The assignment of home ports

(f) The operation of the Naval Transportation Service

(g) The preparation and dissemination of appropriate information pertinent to the above

INTELLIGENCE DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Intelligence Division is charged with the collection and classification of information for the Department and for other naval activities which require it. It publishes and disseminates such information to the Navy and to Government officials requiring it. It cooperates with the other executive departments of the Government in discovering and bringing to justice persons engaged in activities against the United States. It maintains all naval attachés abroad and is the official channel of communication for all foreign naval attachés in the United States. It is the Department's medium of communication to the press and public of items of naval interest.

It is the duty of the Office of Naval Intelligence to keep in close touch with all naval activities, both in and out of the Navy Department.

In time of war the Office of Naval Intelligence has charge of the censorship of cables and radio.

The Office of Naval Records and Library, in addition to maintaining a technical library for reference purposes, collects and classifies, with a view to publication, naval records of historical value.

COMMUNICATION DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Director of Naval Communications is charged with the administration, organization, and operation of the entire radio, telegraph, telephone, and cable systems of communications within the naval service, including the operation of the Navy overseas radio system and all communications between merchant ship and naval shore stations in the United States and its possessions. The foregoing includes the services rendered by shore direction-finder stations and commercial accounting. The Director of Naval Communications handles all matters pertaining to naval communications in any manner whatsoever, except those relating solely to purchase, supply, test, and installation of apparatus.

The Communication Office of the Navy Department (a section of the Communication Division) is responsible for the handling of all telegraphic and radio communications to and from the Navy Department.

FLEET MAINTENANCE DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Director, Fleet Maintenance Division, is charged with and is responsible to the Chief of Naval Operations for

Anticipating the material needs of the service and advising the Chief of Naval Operations accordingly

The coordination of the efforts of the material bureaus in the maintenance of the material readiness of the fleet

The regulation of maintenance work to meet the approved plans and operating orders for all naval vessels

Liaison with the Shore Establishments Division with a view to regulating the flow of ships' maintenance work into the several navy yards in a manner as will least interfere with fleet operations and aid in the maintenance of stable work loads at the yards

Coordination of procurement of material to meet the operative needs of the fleet and the military requirements of the Navy in an emergency

The Director of the Fleet Maintenance Division is senior member of the District Craft Development Board and is a member of the Shore Station Development Board and the Army and Navy Munitions Board

NAVAL DISTRICTS DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Naval Districts Division has cognizance of the following in connection with naval districts: Routine central administrative work, matters of policy, the military administration of the districts as a whole, and the supervision of plans for local defense in time of war. It handles matters in connection with the sale of naval vessels, and the loan of vessels to States, and their transfer to other Government departments

The Shore Establishment Section is charged with matters pertaining to shore-station development, including the acquisition and disposal of shore properties

The Joint Merchant Vessels Board is under the cognizance of the Naval Districts Division

INSPECTION DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

(Board of Inspection and Survey)

The Board of Inspection and Survey is charged with inspections and trials of newly constructed naval vessels and, at intervals specified by law, with the material inspections of all vessels of the Navy. It is in close coordination with the Fleet Maintenance Division of the Office of Naval Operations

FLEET TRAINING DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

This Division of the Office of Naval Operations is charged with the following

(a) The general direction of tactical, gunnery, engineering, damage-control, chemical-warfare, and communications training of the fleet

(b) Coordinating study, research, and experiment in all bureaus pertaining to fleet training

(c) The preparation of the war instructions, tactical instructions, manuals, and instructions governing the military activities of the fleet in war and in training for war

(d) The collection, analysis, and review of all data in regard to fleet training and compilation of the same into suitable reports for the information and guidance of the service

INTERDEPARTMENTAL COMMUNICATION LIAISON DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Interdepartmental Communication Liaison Adviser to the Chief of Naval Operations represents the Navy Department in matters of communication legislation, and communication matters under the Federal Communications Commission and other offices and departments of the Government concerning the frequency assignments and matters affecting naval radio technique, and at interdepartmental conferences, when such does not pertain exclusively to or directly involve purely naval communications

Represents the Navy Department at, and in preparation for, international communication conferences, and on Interdepartmental Radio Advisory Committee

Is the Naval Operations representative on the National Research Council

NAVAL RESERVE POLICY DIVISION, NAVAL OPERATIONS

The Naval Reserve Policy Division is charged with general Naval Reserve policies, including those relating to the size, location, organization, administration, training, and mobilization of the Naval Reserve and its growth and development as provided by law, coordination of Naval Reserve matters with other offices and bureaus of the Navy Department, planning in connection with the procurement, allocation, upkeep, and overhaul of vessels and power boats for the training of the Naval Reserve, coordination of Naval Reserve cruises and schedules with the Ship Movements Division and other interested agencies, preparation and issue of Merchant Marine Reserve warrants and Naval Reserve yacht certificate policy regarding and liaison with State Nautical Schools, the Sea Scouts America, etc

The Director of the Naval Reserve Policy Division acts as the "coordinator of Naval Reserve matters" for the Navy Department

BUREAU OF NAVIGATION

1 (a) The Bureau of Navigation is charged with, and responsible for, the procurement, education, training, discipline, and distribution of officers and enlisted personnel of the Navy, including the Naval Reserve and the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, except the professional education of officers, nurses and enlisted men of the Medical Department

(b) It is charged with the supply of ships' navigational outfits, including instruments, and with their maintenance and repair, except those specifically assigned to other cognizance, with ocean and lake surveys, with the collection of foreign surveys, with the publication and supply of charts, sailing directions, and nautical works, and the collection and dissemination of all nautical, hydrographic and meteorological information to ships and aircraft, with pilotage, and with libraries

(c) It is charged with the upkeep and operation of the following, and with their repair

- Naval Academy
- Postgraduate School
- Naval War College
- Schools for the training of enlisted men
- Training stations
- Naval Home
- Naval Observatory
- Hydrographic Office,

and with the direction of receiving ships and stations

2 It issues, records, and enforces the orders of the Secretary of the Navy to the individual officers of the Navy and of the Naval Reserve

3 It has under its direction recruiting stations, and supervises the enlistment and discharge of all enlisted persons

4 It has under its direction the organization and administration of the Naval Reserve, and provides for the mobilization of all these Reserves

5 It has cognizance of transportation for all naval personnel except the Marine Corps

6 It establishes the complements and allowances of ships

7 It keeps the records of service of all officers and men, and prepares an annual Navy Register for publication

8 It is charged with all matters pertaining to application for appointment and commissions in the Navy and with the preparation of such appointment and commissions for signature

9 It is charged with the preparation, revision, and enforcement of all regulations governing uniforms, and with the distribution of general orders and regulations

10 Questions of naval discipline, rewards, and punishments are submitted to this Bureau for the action of the Secretary of the Navy. The records of all general courts-martial and courts of inquiry involving the personnel of the Navy are, before final action, referred to this Bureau for comment and recommendation as to disciplinary features

11 It receives all reports of services performed by individual officers or men

12 It is charged with the enforcement of regulations and instructions regarding naval ceremonies and naval etiquette

13 It is charged with the supervision of the welfare and recreational activities of the Naval Service except those under the cognizance of the Marine Corps

NAVAL OBSERVATORY, BUREAU OF NAVIGATION

The Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C., broadcasts time signals 24 times daily. Signals are broadcast every hour. In addition to establishing standard time for the country and making it possible for the navigator at sea to determine his chronometer error and position, these signals are used by surveyors, engineers, scientific workers, and mining and petroleum engineers for the determination of position, measurement of gravity, and radio frequencies and other purposes requiring exact time. In order to meet the needs of all who may have use for them a number of different frequencies are used in broadcasting the signals via the naval radio stations at Arlington and Annapolis. Six of the daily signals are also retransmitted by the station at Mare Island, Calif., and the noon signals are also distributed by telegraph. Naval radio stations at Honolulu and in the Canal Zone transmit time signals which are based on Naval Observatory time.

The administration for the development, supply, upkeep, repair, and inspection of navigational, aeronautical, and aerological instruments for the ships and aircraft of the Navy is performed at the Naval Observatory.

The Naval Observatory maintains continuous observations for absolute positions of the fundamental stars, and the independent determination, by observations of the sun, of the position of the ecliptic and of the Equator among the stars, and of the positions of the stars, moon, and planets, with reference to the Equator and equinoxes, in order to furnish data to assist in preparing the American Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac and improving the tables of the planets, moon, and stars. Information is also furnished to foreign countries in accordance with international agreement.

The Nautical Almanac Office of the Naval Observatory computes and prepares for publication the American Ephemeris and its supplements and the Nautical Almanac. In addition, there is carried on the essential research work of deriving improved values of the fundamental astronomical elements and embodying them in new tables of the celestial motions.

One of the many scientific duties of the Naval Observatory is the determination and promulgation of information in connection with all solar and lunar eclipses. For many years it has been the practice to distribute pamphlets containing all of the astronomical data in connection with coming total solar eclipses.

HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE, BUREAU OF NAVIGATION

The Hydrographic Office is charged with the execution of hydrographic surveys in foreign waters and on the high seas, the collection and dissemination of hydrographic and navigational information and data, the preparation and printing by its own personnel and with its own equipment of maps and charts relating to and required in navigation, including confidential, strategical, and tactical charts required for naval operations and maneuvers, the preparation and issue of sailing directions (pilots), light lists, pilot charts, navigational manuals, periodicals, and radio broadcasts for the use of all vessels of the United States and for the benefit and use of navigators generally, the furnishing of the foregoing to the Navy and other public services, and the sale to the mercantile marine of all nations and to the general public, at the cost of printing and paper. It maintains intimate relations with the hydrographic offices of all foreign countries and with the International Hydrographic Bureau, Monaco, and (through branch hydrographic offices and sales agents) with mariners and the general public.

The Hydrographic Office is charged with the publication and supply of naval air pilots, aviation charts and publications for special naval purposes, as well as the collection and dissemination of timely information which will contribute to the safe navigation of aircraft over sea.

The Hydrographic Office cooperates with the National Academy of Sciences by conducting research work in oceanography, especially in soundings and in the collection of the temperatures of the surface of the sea.

BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS

The duties of the Bureau of Yards and Docks comprise all that relates to the design and construction of naval public works, such as drydocks, marine railways, building ways, harbor works, quay walls, piers, wharves, slips, dredging, landings, floating and stationary cranes, power plants, coaling plants, heating, lighting, telephone, water, sewer, and railroad systems, roads, walks, and grounds, bridges, radio towers, and all buildings, for whatever purpose needed, under the Navy and Marine Corps.

It is charged with annual inspection and all major repairs of such public work and public utilities, and provides for their general maintenance, except at ordnance stations, radio stations, air stations, training stations, hospitals, marine posts and the Naval Academy

It designs and makes the estimates for the public works after consulting as to their operating features with the bureau or office for whose use they are primarily intended

It has charge of all means of land transportation, such as locomotives, locomotive cranes, cars, derricks, shears, motor trucks, and all vehicles, horses, teams, and necessary operators and teamsters in the navy yards and naval stations

It has charge of the operation and maintenance of all power plants and distribution systems at navy yards and stations

It provides the furniture for all buildings (except at ordnance stations, hospitals and the Naval Academy, and marine posts)

It has custody of all naval real estate not in active use

In general, the work of the Bureau is carried out by commissioned officers of the Corps of Civil Engineers, United States Navy, whose major duties comprise the construction and maintenance of the public works of the Navy

THE BUREAU OF ORDNANCE

The Bureau of Ordnance is charged with and responsible for the design, manufacture, procurement, maintenance, issue, and efficiency of all offensive and defensive arms and armament (including armor, torpedoes, mines, depth charges, pyrotechnics, bombs, ammunition, war explosives, war chemicals, and defensive nets, buoys, and net appliances) and, except as specifically assigned to other cognizance, optical and other devices and material for the control of guns, torpedoes, and bombs

It is charged with the upkeep and operation of the following naval ordnance establishments and with their repairs, within the capacity of the force employed

- (a) Naval gun factories
- (b) Naval ordnance plants
- (c) Naval torpedo stations
- (d) Naval proving grounds
- (e) Naval powder factories
- (f) Naval ammunition depots
- (g) Naval magazines on shore
- (h) Naval mine depots

BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR

The Bureau of Construction and Repair is charged with and responsible for the general design, the structural strength, stability, and seaworthiness of all ships of the Navy, except airships

It is charged with and is responsible for all that relates to details of designing, building, fitting out, and repairing of hulls of vessels, district craft (except those of the Bureau of Yards and Docks), and small boats, the provision and installation of all permanent fittings and (except as specifically assigned to other bureaus) auxiliaries, appliances, and articles of equipment on its approved allowance list

It prepares and submits outline preliminary plans, or approximate data, or both, showing the designs of the new ship in accordance with the military characteristics recommended by the General Board and approved by the Secretary of the Navy. For the purpose of preparing the outline preliminary plans it consults the other bureaus of the Navy Department with regard to the features under their respective cognizance

The outline preliminary plans, when completed, and the approximate data necessary for an understanding thereof, are forwarded by the Bureau, together with such comment and recommendation as may appear necessary, to the Secretary of the Navy, who refers them to the General Board for consideration and recommendation

During the preparation of the final designs of a new vessel, each bureau prepares a detailed statement of all objects under its cognizance which it is proposed to install during construction and fitting out, complete for sea, of the vessel. A copy of such statement is furnished to the Bureau of Construction and Repair, when requested by that Bureau, together with such itemized estimates of weight and positions of centers of gravity as may be required. This statement and the estimates of weights and positions of centers of gravity are to be furnished in sufficient time before the final plans are submitted to the Secretary of the Navy for approval to permit the Bureau of Construction and Repair to prepare the plans without delay and to determine fully the matters of displacement, trim, stability, and strength

Within 3 months after the commissioning of a new vessel, a detailed statement, itemized as above, is furnished the Bureau of Construction and Repair by each other bureau concerned. In these statements the actual weights and revised estimates of the positions of centers of gravity are given where necessary.

It provides ship keepers for the care of vessels and district craft (except those of the Bureau of Yards and Docks) not in commission.

The Bureau is responsible for the provision of facilities and arrangements for salvage of vessels.

It has administrative supervision of the drydocking of all vessels and district craft and of the operating and cleaning of drydocks and marine railways.

It is charged with the design, development, and procurement of materials and appliances for defense against gas attacks (except as specifically assigned to other bureaus), for diving gear and experimental diving units, respiratory protective devices, paravanes, and mine-sweeping gear.

The Bureau is charged with the upkeep and operation of the experimental model basin and wind tunnel and the materials laboratory, Navy Yard, New York (joint control with the Bureau of Engineering), and with such repairs as are under cognizance of the bureau.

BUREAU OF ENGINEERING

The duties of the Bureau of Engineering comprise all that relates to the designing, building, fitting out, repairing, and altering of machinery and its related equipment used for the propulsion of naval ships. It has the same cognizance and responsibility over the following machinery not associated with propulsion equipment: Pumps (except motor-driven pumps for drainage and for distribution of fresh water for ship's use), distilling apparatus, refrigerating apparatus for cold storage, air conditioning, and process water cooling (except for small self-contained units), steam and electric heaters, all air compressors (except those required for adjusting and diving on submarines and those for galley use), all steam connections and piping on ships, and all small power-boat machinery.

It has cognizance of all that relates to electric generating sets and storage batteries, the generation and distribution of electric power on board ship for all purposes, all means of interior communication, including telephones and telegraphs of all description, the location of voice-tube outlets, all electrical methods of signaling, internal and external, all other electrical apparatus on board ship, except the following: Gyrocompass and anemometer equipment (Bureau of Navigation), fire-control instruments (Bureau of Ordnance), galley ranges and ovens (Bureau of Construction and Repair), and motors and control appliances used to operate machinery under the specific cognizance of other bureaus.

It is charged with the design, manufacture, installation, and maintenance of all radio and sound equipment, ashore and afloat, including all appliances used by the Naval Communication Service, except such material as is assigned to other cognizance.

It inspects all fuel for the fleet. It prepares recommendations for the purchase on annual contracts of consumable engineering supplies and conducts tests for determining the quality which these supplies must meet. It prepares the specifications for the yearly contract under which lubricating oil is purchased by the Navy and by all other Federal activities.

It has supervision and control of the Engineering Experiment Station, Annapolis, Md., the Naval Boiler Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., and jointly with the Bureau of Construction and Repair of the material laboratory, Navy Yard, New York, N. Y., and employs these activities for conducting necessary tests and investigations to obtain suitable apparatus and material for naval purposes.

It prepares specifications and prescribes tests for material and machinery under its cognizance. It is represented on many of the national standardization and engineering bodies.

It maintains, in the field, offices of inspectors of machinery who are directly under the administrative control of the Bureau of Engineering, and also maintains jointly with the Bureaus of Ordnance, Aeronautics, and Construction and Repair the offices of the inspectors of naval material. In the offices of inspectors of machinery a force of trained naval and civilian experts is maintained for the inspection of machinery and engineering materials generally entering into the construction of new vessels, this force interprets and enforces strict compliance with the engineering specifications for the construction of vessels as regards the characteristics of the material used and the method of installation of completed parts. The offices of the inspectors of naval material, which are also composed of trained naval and civilian experts, are maintained for the purpose of inspecting and insuring strict compliance with the specifications of materials purchased for the maintenance of the Naval Establishment. These offices are available to and frequently used by other Federal departments for the inspection of material purchased for Government use.

It nominates to the Bureau of Navigation specially qualified officers for engineering duties at sea and on shore, including those for duty as inspectors of machinery and materials.

It compiles and issues instructions for the care, operation, and maintenance of engineering equipment and prepares and issues bulletins of official engineering information.

With the Bureau of Construction and Repair it has a joint supervision and control over the appropriations "Replacement of naval vessels, construction and machinery," and "Alterations to naval vessels."

BUREAU OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery is charged with and responsible for the maintenance of the health of the Navy, for the care of the sick and injured, for the custody and preservation of the records, accounts, and properties under its cognizance and pertaining to its duties, and for the professional education and training of officers, nurses, and men of the Medical Department.

It is charged with the management and control of all naval hospitals, medical supply depots, medical laboratories, the Naval Medical Center, and of all technical schools established for the education or training of members of the Medical Corps, Dental Corps, Nurse Corps, and Hospital Corps, and with their upkeep and operation.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery provides for inspection of the sanitary condition of the Navy, and recommends with respect to all questions connected with hygiene and sanitation affecting the service, it advises with the Department and other bureaus in reference to the sanitary features of ships under construction and in commission, regarding berthing, ventilation, and location of quarters for the care and treatment of the sick and injured, provisions for the care of wounded in battle, and, in the case of shore stations, with regard to health conditions depending on location, the hygienic construction and care of public buildings, especially of barracks and other habitations, such as camps. It also advises concerning matters pertaining to clothing and food, to water supplies used for drinking, cooking, and bathing purposes, and to drainage and disposal of wastes, so far as these affect the health of the Navy. It safeguards the personnel by the employment of the best methods of hygiene and sanitation, both afloat and ashore, with a view to maintaining the highest possible percentage of the personnel ready for service at all times, and adopts for use all such devices or procedures developed in the sciences of medicine and surgery as will in any way increase military efficiency.

It is the duty of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery to provide for the physical examination of officers, nurses, and enlisted men, with a view to the selection or retention of only those whose physical condition is such as to maintain or improve the military efficiency of the service if admitted or retained therein, it passes upon the competency, from a professional standpoint, of all men of the Hospital Corps for enlistment, enrollment, and promotion by means of examinations conducted under its supervision or by such forms as it may prescribe.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery recommends to the Bureau of Navigation the complement of Medical Department personnel for hospitals and hospital ships, and also recommends and has information as to the assignment and duties of medical officers, dental officers, and Hospital Corps men. It is charged with the administration of the Nurse Corps, and has power to appoint and remove all nurses, subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Navy.

It requires and has control of the preparation, reception, storage, care, custody, transfer, and issue of all supplies of every kind used in the Medical Department for its own purposes, and has charge of the civilian force employed at naval hospitals, medical supply depots, medical laboratories, the Naval Medical Center, and at all technical schools for the education or training of Medical Department personnel.

It approves the design of hospital ships in relation to their efficiency for the care of the sick and wounded, and provides for the organization and administration of the medical department of such vessels.

The arrangements for care, transportation, and burial of the dead are under the jurisdiction and control of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery

BUREAU OF SUPPLIES AND ACCOUNTS

The Bureau of Supplies and Accounts is charged with and responsible for the procurement, purchase, receipt, custody, warehousing, issue, and shipment of all supplies, fuel, and other materials for the Navy, except supplies for the Marine Corps, and except the procurement of certain special items of ordnance material, and the storage and issue of medical stores, ammunition, projectiles, mines, and explosives

It has control of the Naval Supply Account Fund, the Naval Working Fund, the Clothing and Small Stores Fund, and the stocks procured from these funds

It has charge of the upkeep and operation of the Naval Clothing Factory and the coffee roasting plants

It exercises administrative supervision over fuel plants, commissary activities, supply depots, and storehouses at navy yards and stations

It authorizes and has jurisdiction over the transportation of Navy property and household effects of Navy personnel. It has charge of the procurement of cargoes and the loading and discharging of supply ships, colliers, and tankers, and when necessary, charters merchant vessels for the transportation of supplies

It handles the sale of condemned, salvaged, and scrap materials, and of condemned vessels

It prepares and submits estimates of the funds required for freight, fuel, clothing, pay, allowances, subsistence, and transportation of Navy personnel, and has supervision of the allotments of funds from its appropriations and the accounting for allotments granted ships under all appropriations

It recommends the necessity for, and the location, type, size, and interior arrangements of, storehouses ashore, and the equipment and arrangement of supply activity spaces afloat

It has charge of the procurement and disbursement of funds for the payment of naval and civilian pay rolls and for all articles and services procured for the Navy

It is charged with the keeping of the money and property accounts of the Naval Establishment, including accounts of all manufacturing and operating expenses at navy yards and stations, the direction of naval cost accounting, and the audit of property returns from ships and stations

It originates the details to duty of officers of the Supply Corps

BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS

The Bureau of Aeronautics is charged with matters pertaining to naval aeronautics as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy (sec 8, act of Congress July 12, 1921)

The Bureau of Aeronautics is charged with and responsible for all that relates to the design, construction, fitting out, testing, repair, and alteration of naval and Marine Corps aircraft and, except as specifically assigned to other cognizance, instruments, equipment, and accessories pertaining thereto

It provides aircraft in accordance with approved operating plans

It is charged with the upkeep and operation of all aeronautic shore establishments of the Navy and Marine Corps, exclusive of aircraft operations, and with their repairs, within the capacity of the force employed

It makes recommendations covering all aeronautic matters as to operations, personnel, and material to the appropriate bureaus and offices of the Navy Department and the Headquarters, Marine Corps

When not prescribed by the United States Navy Regulations, specific assignment of cognizance is as stated in the Manual of the Bureau of Aeronautics

OFFICE OF THE JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL OF THE NAVY

The Judge Advocate General of the Navy has cognizance of all matters of law arising in the Navy Department and performs such other duties relating thereto as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of the Navy

Legal aspects of the administration of justice in the naval service come under the cognizance of the Judge Advocate General. Instructions for naval courts and boards are prepared and furnished to the service and court-martial orders and bulletins are issued from time to time to serve as guides. The proceedings of all courts martial, courts of inquiry, and boards of investigation are reviewed to insure that there are no prejudicial errors. Charges and specifications for courts martial and necessary orders convening courts martial ordered by the Secretary of the Navy are prepared in this office. Naval prisons and prisoners are administered under the direction of the Judge Advocate General.

Boards for the selection of officers for promotion, boards for the examination of officers for promotion and retirement, and boards for the examination of candidates for appointment as officers in the naval service, other than midshipmen, are reviewed after the necessary convening orders have been prepared in this office for the Secretary of the Navy.

All legislation proposed by the Navy Department is drafted with necessary explanations of the existing law and statements of the purposes of the proposed legislation. An examination and report is also made upon all bills and resolutions introduced in Congress and referred to the Department for report.

International law and admiralty cases and claims for damages involving vessels and aircraft are reviewed and necessary action taken. Decisions and opinions on questions of law are prepared on a variety of subjects falling under the general heads of appointment, rank, precedence, promotion, retirement, pay, misconduct, line of duty, neutrality, and other miscellaneous matters. Official bonds for supply officers and navy mail clerks are examined and approved.

Contracts for naval vessels and public utilities are prepared and all payments and questions arising under these contracts are reviewed. All public building and service contracts are approved and claims arising thereunder are reviewed. The Judge Advocate General approves and retains on file all insurance policies, effects settlement thereunder, and passes on legal matters relative thereto. He handles matters in valuation, purchase, sale, rentals, permits, and licenses relating to real estate, legal matters relating to petroleum reserves, condemnation proceedings and defense of suits involving real estate, compromising settlements on war property, reviews and files muniments of title, adjusts claims for injury to private property through damage by Government automobiles, disposal of surplus material, sales of vessels, administration of public contracts act, and the act limiting profit on constructing naval aircraft and naval vessels.

The Office of the Judge Advocate General acts in the interest of the Government and of inventors by securing letters patent on a large number of inventions made yearly by personnel of the Naval Establishment. It is a further function of this office to investigate the scope and validity of patents either in connection with allegations of infringement or in connection with offers of assignments or licenses to determine their value to the Government. Cooperation is furnished the Department of Justice in gathering evidence for use in connection with the defense of suits relating to patents in the Court of Claims. Copyrights and trade-marks are also handled.

No oral or informal opinions are rendered. Formal opinions or decisions in writing are rendered only when directed by the Secretary of the Navy, and such opinions or decisions are the basis of official action by any bureau or office or officer of the Navy Department or Marine Corps only after the approval of such opinion or decision by the Secretary of the Navy.

HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS

The Major General Commandant of the Marine Corps is charged with and responsible for the procurement, discharge, education, training, discipline, and distribution of officers and enlisted personnel of the Marine Corps, including the Marine Corps Reserve, and their administration and general efficiency. The headquarters is organized as the office of the Major General Commandant and three staff departments.

In the office of the Major General Commandant—

The assistant to the Major General Commandant is his principal assistant and adviser, performs the duties of a chief of staff and assists in coordinating the work of the several departments and divisions at Marine Corps Headquarters, conducts the business of the office of the Major General Commandant in the latter's absence.

The director of plans and policies has cognizance of military intelligence, education, operations, training, matériel and aviation.

The director of personnel has supervision over assignments and complements of officers and enlisted men.

The director of Marine Corps Reserve has supervision over the procurement, training, organization, promotion, and distribution of officers and enlisted men of the Marine Corps Reserve.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR

The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the supervision of public business relating to the General Land Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Geological Survey, Bureau of Indian Affairs, National Park Service, Bureau of Mines, Bureau of Biological Survey, Bureau of Fisheries, Bituminous Coal Division, Grazing Service, Division of Investigations, Division of Territories and Island Possessions (see Executive order of May 29, 1934), the Bonneville Project (act of Aug. 20, 1937, Public, No. 329, 75th Cong.), the Commission to investigate the financial, economic, and other conditions of the various United States and Indian reclamation projects (act of Aug. 21, 1937, Public, No. 331, 75th Cong.), and certain hospitals and eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia. By authority of the President, the Secretary of the Interior has general supervision over the Government railroad in the Territory of Alaska. He exercises certain powers and duties in relation to the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii. Executive order of February 27, 1931, placed the administration of the government of the Virgin Islands under his supervision. Executive order of May 29, 1934, transferred to the Department of the Interior all functions of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, Department of War, pertaining to or connected with the administration of the government of Puerto Rico. Under the Reorganization Act of April 3, 1939, the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department and its functions were transferred to the Department of the Interior, effective July 1, 1939. Executive order of November 14, 1936, placed the administrative acts of the Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration under the control and supervision of the Secretary of the Interior. He was designated custodian of the records and files of the United States Fuel Administration and the Bituminous Coal Commission by Executive orders of July 22, 1919, March 24, 1920, and June 16, 1920, and those of the United States Coal Commission by Executive order of September 13, 1923. Executive order of April 17, 1934, transferred the functions of the United States Geographic Board to the Department of the Interior. The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the adjustment of claims filed under the War Minerals Relief Act (sec. 5, act of Mar. 2, 1919, 40 Stat. 1274) for losses incurred in producing or preparing to produce manganese, chrome, pyrites, or tungsten during the war, and with the supervision of all matters pertaining to the Alaska Road Commission. The Bureau of Mines was transferred from the Department of Commerce to the Department of the Interior by direction of the President in Executive order of February 22, 1934.

The act of April 26, 1937 (Public, No. 48, 75th Cong.), established in the Department of the Interior a National Bituminous Coal Commission to regulate interstate commerce in bituminous coal, and for other purposes. Pursuant to the Reorganization Act of April 3, 1939, and the President's Plan No. II, the functions of the Commission were transferred to the Secretary of the Interior to be administered as a Division, effective July 1, 1939. The Bituminous Coal Division was established as of that date.

By Executive Order No. 6979, dated February 28, 1935, and by Executive Order No. 7756, dated December 1, 1937, the President designated the Secretary of the Interior as his agent to execute all powers and functions vested in the President, except those vested in him by section 4, by the act of February 22, 1935 (49 Stat 30), generally known as the Connally Act, as amended by the act approved June 14, 1937 (50 Stat 257) and the act approved June 29, 1939 (53 Stat 927). Pursuant thereto, the Secretary of the Interior exercises those powers and functions through the Petroleum Conservation Division.

He is a member also of the District of Columbia Permanent System of Highways Commission under act of Congress approved March 2, 1893 (27 Stat 532), and of the Smithsonian Institution under act of March 12, 1894 (28 Stat 41). Executive order of June 10, 1933, transferred the functions and personnel of the following agencies to the Department of the Interior: Arlington Memorial Bridge Commission, Public Buildings Commission, Public Buildings and Public Parks of the National Capital, National Memorial Commission, Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway Commission, and the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

Pursuant to the Reorganization Act of April 3, 1939, and the President's Plan No I, the Federal Board for Vocational Education was transferred with the Office of Education to the Federal Security Agency and the Branch of Buildings Management (public buildings) to the Federal Works Agency, both effective July 1, 1939.

Under the Reorganization Act and the President's Plan No II the following agencies were transferred to the Department of the Interior effective July 1, 1939: Functions of National Bituminous Coal Commission and functions of Consumers' Counsel, Bureau of Insular Affairs from War Department, Bureau of Fisheries from Department of Commerce, Bureau of Biological Survey from Department of Agriculture, and Mount Rushmore National Memorial Commission.

This includes the economic development of the Indian, both tribally and as an individual, the organization of Indian tribes, including credit organizations, Indian education in boarding schools, day schools, and community centers operated by the Government, and in public schools and other nongovernmental institutions, the health, medical, and sanitation activities, the land program, involving land acquisition and adjustment, tribal enrollment, land sales, and contracts, forestry, involving forest management, fire protection, grazing, the furtherance of an agricultural extension program, irrigation, both construction and maintenance and operation, the construction and upkeep of buildings at field units, and the construction and maintenance of roads and bridges on Indian lands, Indian emergency conservation work and other emergency activities, also health, education, and other activities in behalf of the natives of Alaska.

INDIAN ARTS AND CRAFTS BOARD

The Indian Arts and Crafts Board was created by the act of Congress approved August 27, 1935, and is composed of five members appointed by the Secretary of the Interior. Executive officers and other personnel are employed by the Board. The function of the Board is "to promote the economic welfare of the Indian tribes and the Indian wards of the Government through the development of Indian arts and crafts and the expansion of the market for the products of Indian art and craftsmanship." Broad powers are given the Board in the execution of this function, among which are the powers to engage in marketing and technical research, to engage in experimentation, to correlate activities of various governmental and private agencies in the field, to create Government trade-marks of genuineness and quality for Indian products, to establish standards and regulations for the use of such trade-marks, to license groups or individuals to use them, and to charge a fee for their use.

DIRECTOR OF THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

The organic act of the Geological Survey, approved on March 3, 1879 (20 Stat 377), established the office of Director of the Geological Survey under the Interior Department Under this act it is provided that the Director shall have the direction of the Geological Survey, the classification of the public lands, and the examination of the geological structure and the mineral resources and products of the national domain. In conformity with its organic act and later legislation the Geological Survey is engaged in the preparation and publication of reports upon the geology and mineral resources of the United States and Alaska, and in the chemical and physical research incident to this work, in the preparation, publication, and sale of topographic maps of the United States and its dependencies, in investigating and reporting upon water resources, both surface and underground, in classifying the public lands as to their mineral and power value and in supervising the technical phases of mineral leasing on lands in which the title to the mineral resources remains in the United States.

COMMISSIONER OF RECLAMATION

The Bureau of Reclamation was established as an agency of the Federal Government under the Department of the Interior by the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902. This act established the "reclamation fund" from the sale of public lands "to be used in the examination and survey for and the construction and maintenance of irrigation works for the storage, diversion and development of waters for the reclamation of arid and semiarid lands in the States and Territories * * *". The Commissioner, under the supervision of the Secretary, is in administrative charge of all the activities of the Bureau of Reclamation, including preliminary surveys and investigations of proposed projects, the preparation of plans, the construction of irrigation works, power development, the administration of funds provided for reclamation, the operation and maintenance of complete projects, the settlement and development of project areas, and repayments from irrigation districts and water users associations of the cost of the irrigation works.

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

Under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, administers the national park system in accordance with the act of August 26, 1916, as amended, the act of June 8, 1906, the Executive order of June 10, 1933, the act of August 21, 1935, and the act of June 23, 1936, formulates policies and directs protective work from standpoint of preservation and utilization and enjoyment of visitors, directs construction from engineering, architectural, and landscape viewpoints, including sanitation facilities, directs public educational service in natural sciences, history, and archeology, and provides for museum developments, and is responsible for the investigation of national park, monument, and historic site projects. The Director is charged with the supervision of the Civilian Conservation Corps work on Federal and State park lands and with the supervision of park, parkway, and recreational areas, and historic sites and buildings surveys.

DIRECTOR OF THE BUREAU OF MINES

The Director of the Bureau of Mines is charged with the investigation of methods of mining, especially in relation to the safety of miners, the appliances best adapted to prevent accidents, and the possible improvement of conditions under which mining operations are carried on, the treatment of ores and other mineral substances, the use of explosives and electricity, the prevention of accidents, the prevention of waste, the improvements of method in the production of petroleum and natural gas, and other inquiries and technological investigations pertinent to such industries. He has charge of tests and analyses of ores, coals, lignites, and other mineral fuel substances belonging to or for use of the United States, has charge of the collection of statistics on mineral resources and economic studies of metals and minerals produced or consumed in the United States and of statistical and other economic information pertaining to world production, distribution, and consumption of all mineral commodities, supervises all work relating to the production and conservation of helium, in case of war he has charge of issuance of licenses covering the manufacture, distribution, storage, use, or possession of all explosives and their ingredients and the issuance of licenses covering the sale, possession, and use of platinum, iridium, and palladium and compounds thereof. Under the provisions of section 7 (a) of the Strategic Materials Act (Public, No 117, 76th Cong., approved June 7, 1939) he is directed to investigate the extent and mode of occurrence, the development, mining, preparation, treatment, and utilization of ores and other mineral substances found in the United States or its Territories or insular possessions, which are essential to the common defense or the industrial needs of the United States and the quantities or grades of which are inadequate from known domestic sources, in order to develop domestic sources of supply, and to determine the extent and quality of deposits of such minerals, the most suitable methods of mining and beneficiating them, and the cost at which the minerals or metals may be produced

BITUMINOUS COAL DIVISION

The Bituminous Coal Division under the charge of a director administers the provisions of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 (except that the power to appoint and fix the compensation of personnel and to make contracts for personal services is exercised by the office of the Secretary of the Interior). The purposes of the act are to conserve the bituminous coal resources of the United States, to stabilize the bituminous coal mining industry, to promote interstate commerce in bituminous coal, to promulgate a bituminous coal code, and to study and report upon the problems confronting the bituminous coal industry.

As provided by the act, a bituminous coal code was promulgated on June 21, 1937. It contains provisions dealing with fair trade practices in the industry and also empowers the Division to establish minimum and maximum prices for all bituminous coals moving in commerce subject to the act. Further authority is conferred upon the Division to prescribe due and reasonable discounts to be made by code members to purchasers of coal for resale under conditions set forth in the act. To provide statistical data required for administration of the law, the Division is directed to establish for each district a statistical bureau to receive reports from producers and make necessary compilations therefrom. Section 9 (a) of the act sets forth the public policy of the United States on employer-employee relations in the bituminous coal industry and the Division is authorized to hold hearings on complaints for the purpose of determining whether coal producers are complying with the provisions of the section and the policy of the act, and, upon the finding of noncompliance, is directed to proceed to secure cancellation of contracts with the United States or any of its agencies involving coal from mines of offending producers.

In addition to authority to require producers of coal to furnish information needed in the administration of the act, the Division is empowered to require producers to maintain uniform standards of accounting and is also directed to make detailed studies of various phases of the bituminous coal industry. Voluntary cooperative associations formed by coal producers for the marketing of coal, commonly known as marketing agencies, are brought under the jurisdiction of the Division and are required to be organized and to function in accordance with regulations for which definite standards are laid down in the act.

The Division is vested with authority to file complaints with the Interstate Commerce Commission with respect to rates, charges, tariffs, and practices relating to the transportation of coal, to prosecute the same, and to intervene in any proceeding before the Interstate Commerce Commission affecting the interests of the bituminous coal industry.

The Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 by its terms is limited in operation to a period of 4 years from April 26, 1937, the date of its enactment.

BUREAU OF BIOLOGICAL SURVEY

The Bureau of Biological Survey, the "wildlife service" of the Federal Government, studies the habits, needs, and utilization of the Nation's wild mammals, birds, reptiles, and amphibians and makes the results available for practical application in wildlife management, including preservation in the wild and on refuges, propagation in captivity, local control, and protection by conservation-law administration.

The Bureau's organization embraces nine divisions, concerned with (1) research, (2) Federal aid to States in wildlife restoration, (3) land acquisition, (4) refuge administration, (5) construction and C C C operations, (6) wildlife conservation-law enforcement, (7) predator and rodent control, (8) business administration, and (9) disseminating information developed through wildlife research and management and facilitating law enforcement by acquainting the public with the nature and need of regulatory action. Most of the Bureau's field work other than research and land acquisition is conducted through a regional organization under ten regional directors.

Established in the Department of Agriculture in 1885 for research purposes, the Survey has since been charged with (1) wildlife protection by the Lacey Act of 1900, by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of 1918, as amended in 1936, and by other Federal laws, (2) refuge administration and restoration, by Executive orders beginning in 1903 and by the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of 1929, (3) cooperative control of species injurious to agriculture and stock raising, by congressional legislation in 1915 and subsequently, and (4) cooperation with the States under the Federal Aid to Wildlife Restoration Act of 1937. The early functions in economic and biological investigations and game protection have been expanded to meet changing conditions and to care for added responsibilities in cooperating with States and with farmers', sportsmen's, and other organizations interested in or affected by wildlife. The Biological Survey became a bureau of the Department of the Interior on July 1, 1939, by transfer from the Department of Agriculture in accordance with the President's Reorganization Plan No. II, submitted pursuant to the provisions of the Reorganization Act of 1939.

Research by the Survey, independently and in cooperation with State and Federal Government agencies and with educational and other institutions, includes (1) investigations concerned with the identification, classification, geographic distribution, and migration of species and their life history, ecology, and habitat, (2) studies of cover and food requirements in the wild and as influenced by the encroachment of agricultural and other economic interests on faunal ranges, (3) experiments in perpetuating the valuable wildlife resources through restoration of natural habitat, propagation on game and fur farms, and conservation on bird refuges, game preserves, forests, water areas, and elsewhere, and (4) investigations of control methods and of wildlife diseases that affect fur, game, and livestock production and human health.

The wildlife-management work, in the broad sense, embraces (1) refuge acquisition, restoration, development, patrol, and maintenance, (2) law enforcement, including the drafting of regulations for carrying out international obligations in the conservation of migratory species and the regulation of interstate shipments and importations of wild animals or parts thereof, (3) cooperative work with State and other organizations for the restoration and conservation of valuable species and for the control of predators, rodents, and other destructive forms of wildlife, and (4) through the Alaska Game Commission, related management of the wildlife resources of the Territory of Alaska.

BUREAU OF FISHERIES

The functions of the Bureau involve the promotion of trade and commerce in fishery products, as well as the conservation of fishery resources. This includes the inquiry into the causes of fluctuations in abundance of food fishes in the lakes, rivers, and coastal waters of the United States, the development of methods of husbanding these resources, including improvements in methods of fish culture and investigation of important fisheries of the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts, with a view to determining the condition of these resources, the propagation and distribution of food fishes, the rescuing of fishes from overflowed lands and the distribution of such fishes to suitable waters, the study of the methods of the fisheries and of the preservation, utilization, and merchandising of fishery products, the collection and compilation of statistics of the fisheries, the protection and conservation of the salmon and other fisheries of Alaska, the administration of the fur-seal herd of the Pribilof Islands, and the care of the natives of those islands, the enforcement of the act of July 2, 1930, regulating the interstate transportation of black bass, the administration of the Whaling Treaty Act of May 1, 1936, and the administration of the act authorizing associations of producers of aquatic products, and the conduct of a fishery market news service.

THE ALASKA RAILROAD

The Alaskan Engineering Commission was created under the act of March 12, 1914, which empowered, authorized, and directed the President to locate, construct, operate, or lease a railroad, or railroads, to connect one or more of the open harbors on the southern coast of Alaska with the navigable waters in the interior, and a coal field or fields, and agricultural lands. Authority was also granted to purchase existing railroads, to construct, maintain, and operate telegraph and telephone lines, and to make reservations of public lands in Alaska necessary for the purposes of the railroad.

For the execution of this work a commission of three engineers was appointed by the President to make the necessary surveys. They were directed to report to the Secretary of the Interior, under whom the President placed the general administration of the work After the completion of the preliminary surveys, the President, by Executive order, selected the route for the railway from the coast to the interior Construction of the railway was begun in 1915 under the general supervision of the Secretary of the Interior

The railroad was completed in the spring of 1923 and is now under operation By Executive order of June 8, 1923, the President placed the operation of the railroad under the Secretary of the Interior, and by order of the Secretary of the Interior of August 15, 1923, the designation of the Alaskan Engineering Commission was changed to The Alaska Railroad, and a general manager was appointed in October of 1923, whose headquarters are at Anchorage, Alaska, with a purchasing office at Seattle, Wash., and a freight, passenger, and general business office at 333 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill Reports and miscellaneous correspondence in relation to the railroad are handled in the Division of Territories and Island Possessions

ALASKA ROAD COMMISSION

The Board of Road Commissioners in Alaska was created by the act of Congress approved January 27, 1905 (sec 2), amended by the act approved May 14, 1906 By act approved June 30, 1932, the duties of the board were transferred from the jurisdiction of the Secretary of War to the Secretary of the Interior Funds for the work are derived from a tax fund collected in Alaska and from special appropriations made by Congress

The board is charged by law with the construction, repair, and maintenance of roads, tramways, ferries, bridges, and trails in the Territory of Alaska

Under the act of June 30, 1921, there was authorized to be received from the Territory of Alaska or other source, funds contributed for the construction, repair, and maintenance of roads, bridges, trails, and related works, said funds to be deposited in the United States Treasury and expended in accordance with the purpose for which they were contributed

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

The Secretary of Agriculture is charged with the work of promoting agriculture in its broadest sense He exercises general supervision and control over the affairs of the Department and formulates and establishes the general policies to be pursued by its various branches

The Under Secretary and Assistant Secretary act for the Secretary in his absence and assist in the general direction of the work of the Department

DIRECTORS

Each of the directors of extension work, marketing and regulatory work, research, personnel, finance, operation, and information, reporting directly to the Secretary, has general supervision over all the work of the Department of the type which the title of his position implies

OFFICE OF LAND USE COORDINATION

The Office of Land Use Coordination directs the coordination of land-use activities as they relate to the work of the Department as a whole, including the integration of land policies and the clearance of land acquisition projects, the establishment of uniform standards for surveys relating to land use and the correlation of survey projects, the coordination of land use phases of credit policies and programs, coordination of the Department's farm forestry program, the formulation of policies relating to water utilization, water conservation, and water facilities programs, and the coordination of the Department's flood control program, the coordination of administrative and procedural phases of the land-use programs, integration of the Department's land-use programs with those of State agencies The Office cooperates with the Director of Research and chiefs of bureaus in coordinating land-use research with the survey and detailed planning work of the action agencies and also cooperates with heads of action agencies in coordinating basic land-use policies and programs On behalf of the Secretary, staff members of the Office represent the Department on the National Resources Planning Board and in other interdepartmental activities relating to land use

OFFICE OF PERSONNEL

This Office has general direction and supervision of the personnel, salary classification, organization, placement, safety work, training, and related operations of the Department as a whole. It conducts the business of the Department with the Civil Service Commission and, where personnel matters are concerned with other agencies doing business with the Department of Agriculture.

OFFICE OF BUDGET AND FINANCE

This Office exercises general direction and supervision of the budget, fiscal purchasing, accounting, and related work of the Department. It conducts the business of the Department with the Bureau of the Budget, the General Accounting Office, the Treasury Department, the Appropriations Committees, and other agencies of the Government concerned with fiscal and related matters.

OFFICE OF PLANT AND OPERATIONS

This office has general direction and supervision of the housing of Department activities, development of standards in connection with selection, use, maintenance, and repair of equipment, departmental service and management functions of the Beltsville Research Center, communications service and administrative services for the internal operation of the office of the Secretary. It conducts the business of the Department, as it pertains to the above functions, with Government and other agencies.

OFFICE OF EXPERIMENT STATIONS

The Office of Experiment Stations administers Federal funds provided by the Hatch, Adams, Purnell, and supplementary acts, and the Bankhead-Jones Act for the support of research in agriculture and home economics by experiment stations in the several States and Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, and has immediate supervision of the experiment station of the Department of Agriculture in Puerto Rico. The Office examines in detail the work and expenditures of the State experiment stations to ascertain whether the Federal funds for their support are used and accounted for in accordance with the Federal acts and rulings, and reports annually on the work and expenditures of the experiment stations, as required by law.

The Office aids in coordinating the research work of the Department of Agriculture and in coordinating the research work of the Department with that of the State, Alaskan, Hawaiian, and Puerto Rican agricultural colleges and experiment stations. It collects and disseminates information and gives such advice and assistance as will best promote the efficiency of the stations and the effective coordination of their work with that of the Department, including the issuance of Experiment Station Record which gives a current review of progress and results of scientific research conducted by the stations and other agencies for the improvement of agriculture and rural life.

The Office is responsible for the administration of the "Special research fund Department of Agriculture," including the planning and coordination of the research program of the Department under this fund which is authorized by the Bankhead-Jones Act of June 29, 1935. The Chief of the Office, as Director of Research, with the cooperation of the bureaus involved, is responsible for the planning and coordination of the programs of the four utilization of farm products regional research laboratories authorized by section 202 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

EXTENSION SERVICE

The Extension Service cooperates with State agricultural colleges, under the Smith-Lever and supplementary acts, in making available to rural people information on agriculture and home economics. Its workers assist adults and young people in the application of the results of research to meet local conditions and to the individual farm and home enterprises. The Extension Service acts as an agency for coordinating the extension activities of the several bureaus of the Department with similar work conducted by the State agricultural colleges. It also has charge of the Department's activity in the preparation, distribution, and display of agricultural exhibits and motion pictures. Through these educational activities extension work serves to aid in maintaining and stimulating the interests of farm families in a progressive agriculture.

OFFICE OF FOREIGN AGRICULTURAL RELATIONS

The Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations is responsible for the collection, through the Foreign Service of the United States, the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, and other sources, of information on foreign agricultural production, foreign markets, foreign trade and related matters of significance to American agriculture, and the dissemination of this information. A limited number of commodity specialists is available for investigation of foreign market conditions affecting particular groups of American agricultural products, including studies of competitive foreign production.

The Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations coordinates the relations of the Department of Agriculture in respect to foreign trade and allied problems and policies with the Department of State and other Departments and agencies of the Government, and with foreign governments and private agencies.

OFFICE OF INFORMATION

The Office of Information supervises the publication, press, and radio activities of the Department. It has general supervision of all editing, illustrating, indexing, printing and binding, and distributing of publications. It cooperates with the bureaus in the accurate recording of the results of scientific agricultural research and in the printing of these results in technical publications, and then assists the scientists and the bureaus to popularize this information in publications that are available to farmers, homemakers, and others interested in the practical use of the facts. Such publications serve to facilitate the Department's voluminous correspondence and reduce its cost. Through newspapers, farm journals, and other periodicals, this Office also secures the circulation in popular form of the discoveries and recommendations of the scientists, specialists, and field workers of the Department, thus enlarging the Department's service by placing facts about improved practices in the hands of greater numbers who can benefit by this information. The Office serves as a departmental clearing house for reports of the provisions of and the progress made in programs involving direct cooperation between farmers or groups of farmers and units of the Department, it correlates such information and serves to promote efficiency in its dissemination for use by farmers and the general public. This Office also furnishes daily to 430 radio stations, in all parts of the country, authentic, timely information of practical use to farmers and others. Radio stations donate the broadcasting time as an aid in disseminating facts about the important discoveries made by the Department, the farm and home practices recommended by it, and the program of its work involving direct cooperation between farmers or groups of farmers and units of the Department.

LIBRARY

The Department library, with its branch libraries in the various bureaus, contains approximately 300,000 volumes on agriculture, the related sciences, and economics, exclusive of the collections in the Weather Bureau library, which comprise more than 50,000 volumes. It receives currently approximately 5,000 periodicals.

The dictionary card catalog of the main library, containing three-quarters of a million cards, is a record of the book resources of the whole Department. It is supplemented by several extensive special indexes which are maintained by the branch libraries in the various bureaus. These together form the most comprehensive bibliography of agriculture and the related sciences available in the United States. Various current lists of accessions are also issued by the main library and the branch libraries.

The library lends its books for purposes of research to other libraries and institutions throughout the country, especially to the State agricultural colleges and experiment stations, and through cooperation with the Bibliofilm Service of the American Documentation Institute is also able to supply film copies of scientific articles when desired, particularly those contained in periodicals. It also furnishes bibliographical assistance and endeavors in various other ways to serve as the national agricultural library.

OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR

The Solicitor is the legal adviser of the Secretary and the heads of the several branches of the Department. He directs and supervises all law work of the Department.

AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ADMINISTRATION

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is established within the Department of Agriculture to carry out certain provisions of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and related legislation

Broadly speaking, the objectives of the Administration's program are threefold. Provision for an adequate and stable supply of food and fiber, conservation of the Nation's soil resources, which in many cases have been mined and destroyed by erosion and overcropping, and assistance to farmers in obtaining a fair share of the national income

In order to carry out its purposes, the amended Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act empowers the Secretary of Agriculture to make payments to producers who, on their individual farms, adopt specific soil-building practices or increase the proportion of their land devoted to crops which restore and conserve the fertility of the soil

In determining such payments, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to consider (1) producers' treatment or use of their land for soil restoration or conservation, or prevention of erosion, (2) changes in the use of their land, (3) their equitable share of the normal national production required for domestic consumption, (4) their equitable share of the national production required for domestic consumption and exports, adjusted to reflect their conformity to conservation farming practices, or (5) any combination of these considerations

Interest of domestic consumers is taken into account through provisions in the act that (1) no action shall be taken under it which will discourage production of a supply of any agricultural commodity equal to the domestic consumption of that commodity during the years 1920-29, as adjusted in view of changes in population and shifts in marketing and consumption of the commodity, and (2) that due consideration shall be given to the maintenance of a continuous and stable supply of agricultural commodities adequate to meet consumer demands at prices fair to both producers and consumers. The Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act authorizes the appropriation of not more than $500,000,000 annually for carrying out the purposes of sections 7 to 17 inclusive of the act, and the Secretary of Agriculture is commissioned to use the organization and personnel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and local and State farmer-committees in effectuating those purposes

The amended Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, among other things, strengthens and continues the provisions of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act which authorize the agricultural conservation program, and provides for regulation of interstate and foreign commerce in cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, and rice, so as to maintain adequate reserves and to minimize fluctuations in supplies, marketings, and prices of these commodities, thereby assisting farmers in obtaining a fair share of the national income and assisting consumers in obtaining an adequate and steady supply of these commodities at fair prices. The act authorizes parity payments to producers of the five specified commodities whenever appropriations are made available therefor, and provides Federal crop insurance for wheat, beginning with the crop harvested in 1939. Stocks of wheat collected as premiums, and supplies of agricultural commodities on which loans are made through facilities of the Commodity Credit Corporation constitute the Ever-Normal Granary, the creation and maintenance of which is one of the chief principles underlying the whole Agricultural Adjustment Administration program

BUREAU OF AGRICULTURAL CHEMISTRY AND ENGINEERING

The Bureau of Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering is a research organization engaged in investigations and experiments in the fields of chemistry, physics, engineering, and other sciences with the objective of improving agriculture and developing new and wider uses for agricultural products

Under the broad subject of the application of the science of chemistry to the improvement of agriculture, the Bureau is engaged in investigations concerning the technology, manufacture, utilization, and preservation, including freezing, of agricultural products and byproducts, in the biological, chemical, physical microscopical, and technological investigation of foods, feeds, drugs, and substances used in the manufacture thereof, including studies of their physiological effects on the human organism, experiments on the utilization of agricultural and other raw materials for industrial purposes, and development of improved processes in the production of rosin and turpentine. The four regional research laboratories, buildings for which are now under construction, will soon begin investigations to develop new and wider uses for agricultural commodities.

The Bureau conducts investigations of farm machinery, farm buildings, rural electrification, and other engineering phases of agriculture. The investigations include land-clearing methods, planning farm operations, equipment, and layout for more efficient production, mechanical equipment for producing and processing farm products, including seed-bed preparation, planting, cultivating and harvesting, fertilizer placement, hay drying, cotton ginning, fiber flax processing machinery, and control of insect pests, development of means to prevent dust explosions and agricultural fires, and the planning and construction of farm buildings, including heating, lighting, insulation, sanitation and water supply for farm houses, crop storages, and animal shelters, and facilities for the transportation and storage of perishable fruits and vegetables. Service is rendered other bureaus of the Department in the design and construction of structures outside the District of Columbia, and the purchase of engineering equipment.

BUREAU OF AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, as reconstituted by the departmental reorganization of October 6, 1938, is the economic research and planning agency of the Department of Agriculture. Its research involves the economics of agricultural production, transportation and marketing, farm organization and management, farm prices and income, supply of and demand for farm products, land economics and land use, farm financial problems, statistical and historical data relating to agriculture, farm population movement, tenancy, farm labor, and the immediate situation regarding specific products as well as the year-ahead outlook for agriculture, and other problems of rural welfare. The results of this research are both reported to the public and utilized in the formulation and development of programs of action administered by other agencies of the Department.

Formulation and development of programs of action takes place in cooperation with the action agencies of the Department, and begins out in the county in the local planning process, in which farmers not only participate but are called upon to make decisions of policy. Programs of action as finally executed, after approval at necessary county, State, and Federal levels, are thus the joint product of farmers and technicians.

General programs are planned for the administration of title III of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, the Water Facilities Act, the Flood Control Act as amended, the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act (secs. 1 to 6), and the Sugar Act of 1937.

Plans and programs formulated regarding land use include forestry, wildlife conservation, farm tenancy, rural rehabilitation, and use of other agricultural or grazing lands.

Other research studies aid in shaping programs relating to the marketing services and marketing regulatory work of the Department and in formulating plans and basic adjustments in rates, charges, tariffs, and practices in the transportation of farm products under section 201 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE

The Agricultural Marketing Service is a service and regulatory agency concerned with the various phases of marketing farm products. Its five broad fields of service are (1) the collection and dissemination of crop and livestock production and other agricultural statistics, (2) the daily reporting of market information from terminal markets, shipping points, and producing sections, (3) standardization and inspection of farm products and a number of food products, (4) research and demonstration in standardization, grading, preparation for market, and other related phases of marketing, and (5) the administration of "rules of fair play" in the merchandising of farm commodities.

Estimates of acreage, yield, production, farm utilization, and sales are reported for more than 100 crops. Timely information is provided on the progress of all major crops during the growing season. Current reports also are issued on livestock production, milk and egg production and consumption, on prices received and paid by farmers, on farm wages and farm labor, etc.

Market information is disseminated daily on movement, supplies, quality, and prices of livestock, meats, wool, fruits, vegetables, dairy and poultry products, grains, cotton, tobacco, and miscellaneous products. Much of the information is gathered and released at terminal markets and transmitted over a leased wire system to other markets. During the heavy shipping season, temporary field stations are maintained in major producing areas.

The standardization activities of the Service provide an understandable and uniform yardstick for measuring gradations in quality of farm and food products. Official standards have been formulated for most of the important farm products. Some of these standards, such as for grain and cotton, are mandatory if the products are sold by grade and are shipped in interstate or foreign commerce. For most of the other commodities, the use of the standards is permissive.

A market inspection service is available in many of the principal producing and receiving centers of the country for grains, fruits and vegetables, meats and meat products, cotton, tobacco, hay, beans, butter, cheese, eggs, and poultry. Mandatory and free inspection of tobacco is provided at more than 35 designated auction markets. Free cotton classification is provided, upon request, to groups of producers organized for the improvement of their cotton.

As a basis for these services, research is conducted on standardization and inspection, packing, packaging, labeling, transporting, storing, market reporting, and crop and livestock estimating. Extensive research deals with the problems of grading and with the grade factors that make for variations in quality of farm products. Laboratory studies include milling and baking tests with grains, spinning and ginning tests with various types and grades of cotton, wool shrinkage tests, etc. Demonstrations and schools are held among the growers and consumers for the purpose of acquainting them with the grades for individual commodities and with the marketing practices that help to maintain high quality.

These various activities of the Service involve the administration of a number of specific laws: United States Grain Standards Act, United States Warehouse Act, United States Cotton Futures Act, United States Standard Container Acts, Federal Seed Act, Dairy Exports Act, Packers and Stockyards Act, United States Cotton Standards Act, Produce Agency Act, Cotton Grade and Staple Statistics Act, Wool Standards Act, Tobacco Stocks and Standards Act, Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act of 1930, Export Apple and Pear Act, Tobacco Inspection Act, Peanut Statistics Act.

BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY

The Bureau of Animal Industry is primarily concerned with the protection and development of the livestock and meat industries of the United States. It conducts scientific investigations of the causes, prevention, and treatment of diseases of domestic animals, investigates the existence of communicable diseases of such animals, and aids in their control or eradication, and carries on investigations and experiments in animal husbandry, and in the feeding and breeding of animals. It also is charged with the administration of the Meat Inspection Act, the Animal Quarantine Acts, the 28-hour law, the Diseased Animal Transportation Acts, and the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act.

COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION

Commodity Credit Corporation was created as an agency of the United States, under the laws of the State of Delaware, on October 17, 1933, pursuant to Executive Order No. 6340, dated October 16, 1933. Its functions were first extended by the act of January 31, 1935 (Public, No. 1, 74th Cong), to April 1, 1937, and were subsequently extended to June 30, 1941, or such earlier date as may be determined by the President, by the act of January 26, 1937 (Public, No. 2, 75th Cong), as amended by act of March 4, 1939 (Public, No. 3, 76th Cong). Reorganization Plan No. I, approved by the Congress of the United States pursuant to the act of April 3, 1939 (Public, No. 19, 76th Cong) provided for the transfer of Commodity Credit Corporation and its functions and activities, together with its personnel, records, and property to the Department of Agriculture to be administered in such Department under the general direction and supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Commodity Credit Corporation has an authorized and paid-in capital of $100,000,000. Under the provisions of the act of March 8, 1938 (Public, No. 442, 75th Cong), the Secretary of the Treasury is required to make an appraisal of all of the assets and liabilities of the Corporation, as of March 31 each year, for the purpose of determining its net worth, and in the event such appraisal establishes a net worth of less than $100,000,000, the Secretary of the Treasury is required, on behalf of the United States, subject to appropriation of funds therefor which is authorized by the act, to restore the amount of such capital impairment. In the event the net worth of the Corporation, as of March 31 of any year, is in excess of $100,000,000, such excess is required to be deposited in the Treasury by Commodity Credit Corporation to be credited to miscellaneous receipts

Under the act of March 8, 1938, the Corporation is authorized, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to issue and have outstanding at any one time, bonds, notes, debentures, and other similar obligations in an aggregate amount of not exceeding $500,000,000 which was subsequently increased to $900,000,000 by act of March 4, 1939 (Public, No 3, 76th Cong) Such obligations, when issued pursuant to the act, are fully and unconditionally guaranteed, both as to principal and interest, by the United States, and the income therefrom is exempt from Federal, State, municipal, and local taxation (except surtaxes, estate, inheritance, and gift taxes)

Commodity Credit Corporation is essentially a lending institution, making loans principally to producers to finance the carrying and orderly marketing of agricultural commodities Section 302 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 authorizes the Corporation, upon the recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture, with the approval of the President, to make loans on agricultural commodities (including dairy products) and, except as otherwise provided therein, the amount, terms, and conditions of such loans shall be fixed by the Secretary of Agriculture, subject to the approval of the Corporation and the President Under its charter the Corporation is empowered, among other things, to buy and sell, lend upon, or otherwise deal in commodities, agricultural or otherwise

COMMODITY EXCHANGE ADMINISTRATION

The Commodity Exchange Administration is charged with the enforcement of the Commodity Exchange Act This involves Federal regulation of all commodity exchanges which conduct a futures market in any of the following commodities: Wheat, cotton, corn, oats, barley, rye, rice, flaxseed, grain sorghums, millfeeds, butter, eggs, Irish potatoes, and wool tops Such exchanges are required to qualify under the act as contract markets and be so designated by the Secretary of Agriculture

This Administration is engaged in the continuous and systematic observance of futures trading and speculative activity in the above-named commodities with a view to (1) Preventing manipulation and corners, and excessive speculation, causing unreasonable and unnatural price fluctuations, (2) preventing the dissemination of false or misleading crop and market information affecting prices, (3) preventing cheating, fraud, and deceit in connection with the execution of customers' orders, (4) insuring proper treatment and handling by commission firms of moneys belonging to their customers, (5) preventing bucketing and fictitious transactions, and (6) registration of futures commission merchants and floor brokers handling orders for others Reports are compiled and released daily concerning volume of trading and amount of open futures contracts in various commodities, complaints are investigated, and general studies are made concerning the operations of contract markets, which are published from time to time for the information of Congress and the general public The Administration cooperates with other governmental agencies in obtaining factual data and in providing information of interest and value in connection with supply and demand factors affecting prices

BUREAU OF DAIRY INDUSTRY

The Bureau of Dairy Industry conducts investigations of the various problems of dairy production and of the manufacture of dairy products and byproducts These include studies in the breeding, feeding, and management of dairy herds, effect of minerals in feed in maintaining milk yield, animal growth and reproduction, and other nutritional problems, and the efficiency and economy of production through the operation of dairy-herd improvement associations, sanitary methods for the improvement of city milk supplies, efficiency of dairy machinery, milk-plant operation and milk transportation, and factors affecting the commercial value of milk, bacteriology and chemistry of milk, factors concerned in the manufacture of various dairy products and byproducts, and the development of new or improved processes of manufacture and their introduction into creameries and factories The Bureau is also charged with the enforcement of regulatory laws pertaining to the sanitary inspection of renovated-butter factories

BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY AND PLANT QUARANTINE

The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine is concerned with investigations on insects and their economic relations, the development and application of methods for their eradication or control, the carrying out, in cooperation with the States, of necessary work to prevent the spread and to control or eradicate insect pests and plant diseases that have gained more or less limited foothold in the United States, and the utilization of those species that are beneficial. These activities include investigations on and direction of control campaigns against the species injurious to agriculture and forestry, investigations on the species affecting the health of man and animals, or infesting human habitations or injurious to industries, the culture and use of honeybees and beekeeping practices, investigations on the natural enemies of insects and plant pests and the possibility of using these as aids for control, the taxonomy, anatomy, physiology, and responses of insects, chemical and other problems relating to the composition, action, and application of insecticides, and the development of methods of manufacturing insecticides and materials used with them.

To aid in carrying out these assignments and to protect agriculture from plant pests and diseases, the Bureau is responsible for the enforcement of the following acts and restrictive orders promulgated thereunder: The Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended, the Insect Pest Act of 1905, the act of 1922 governing the importation of adult honeybees, the act providing for the Mexican border inspection and control service, the act providing for export certification to meet sanitary requirements of foreign countries for plants and plant products, the Terminal Inspection Act of 1915, as amended (in cooperation with the Post Office Department).

FARM SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

The Farm Security Administration, successor to the Resettlement Administration, is engaged in carrying out the tenant purchase and rural rehabilitation programs authorized by titles I and II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act of July 22, 1937. It also is completing and managing resettlement projects started by the Resettlement Administration and prior agencies.

Under the tenant purchase program, the Farm Security Administration is authorized to make loans to competent tenants, share-croppers, and farm laborers to enable them to become farm owners. Congress appropriated $10,000,000 for this purpose for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938, $25,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, and $40,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940. Funds are distributed among the States and Territories on the basis of farm population and the prevalence of tenancy. Loans are made at 3-percent interest for periods not exceeding 40 years.

The rural rehabilitation program is designed to enable farm families on relief or near relief to become permanently self-supporting. Loans are made from emergency relief appropriations to low-income farm families, who are unable to obtain reasonable credit from any other source, for the purchase of farm supplies, equipment, and livestock, and for family subsistence. Each loan is accompanied by a farm and home management plan providing for sound farm operation and soil-conserving practices. As an aid to rehabilitation, the Farm Security Administration makes loans to groups for more expensive services and equipment, and medical aid loans where group health programs exist.

Emergency loans and grants are made in cases of extreme distress in farm areas devastated by drought, flood, and similar catastrophes.

Through its voluntary debt-adjustment committees, the Farm Security Administration helps debt-burdened farmers adjust their financial obligations. These committees help arrange agreements between the farmer and his creditors, thus enabling the debtor to retain his property and the creditors to obtain some payment of otherwise frozen assets.

In an attempt to relieve the misery and sickness suffered by the migratory agricultural workers who have been pushed off their farms by increased mechanization, drought, and foreclosure, the Farm Security Administration is building and operating camps in the areas where these workers and their families congregate because of the need for part-time agricultural workers. The camps consist of tent platforms, sanitary units, clinics, isolation units, and utility buildings.

FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE CORPORATION

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation administers the Federal crop insurance program of the Department of Agriculture. At the present time, crop insurance is available only to wheat farmers. Investigations are, however, being made to determine the possibility of offering crop insurance with respect to cotton, corn, and fruit.

FEDERAL SURPLUS COMMODITIES CORPORATION

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation was organized on October 4, 1933, under the laws of the State of Delaware, as the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation, a nonprofit membership corporation without capital stock. On November 18, 1935, the charter of the Corporation was amended to change the name to the present title, "Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation." The membership of the Corporation has been changed so that it consists of those persons who from time to time may occupy the positions of the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, the Under Secretary of Agriculture, and the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

With the passage of Public, No. 165, Seventy-fifth Congress, approved June 28, 1937, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has become the principal agency of the Secretary of Agriculture for the removal of surplus agricultural commodities and their diversion from the normal channels of trade to the needy and underfed. The Corporation purchases, exchanges, processes, transports, handles, stores, and distributes surplus agricultural commodities pursuant to the directions of the Secretary of Agriculture on a noncommercial basis and finds outlets for these commodities through State relief agencies, who make the commodities available to relief families in addition to, rather than in substitution for, other forms of direct relief. The Corporation administers the food stamp and cotton stamp programs for removing surpluses of agricultural products through increasing the consumption of these commodities by relief and low-income families.

FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION

The Food and Drug Administration enforces the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, Insecticide Act, Tea Act, Naval Stores Act, Import Milk Act, Caustic Poison Act, Filled Milk Act, and Section 10A of the Food and Drugs Act of 1906.

This administration inspects and analyzes samples of the various products coming under its jurisdiction, both at its field stations and in its laboratories at Washington, to the end that it may detect and cause to be removed from the channels of trade all those products which fail to comply with the terms of the regulatory acts which it administers. It assists manufacturers to keep their products in compliance with these acts and institutes legal action against those who violate the law. Its primary function is to protect the consuming public against misbranded or adulterated foods, drugs, naval stores, insecticides, and fungicides, and honest manufacturers against unfair competition with such goods.

FOREST SERVICE

The Forest Service administers the national forests, cooperates with States in maintaining organized protection of forest lands against fire, and in distributing planting stock to farmers for windbreaks, shelterbelts, and farm woodlands, conducts investigations in the entire field of forestry, including industrial research and research in forest economics and taxation, furnishes information relating to the best uses of forests and forest products, and, in short, seeks to promote the application of forestry throughout the country on both public and privately owned lands, together with efficient and economical use of the yield.

In the continental United States, except for Alaska, we now have 630,000,000 acres of forest land, but only 462,000,000 acres are commercial. The best three-fourths of these are in private ownership, only 215,000,000 acres grow trees now large enough for saw timber, and, with minor exceptions, most private operations are still conducted on a quick-liquidation basis. On June 14, 1938, Congress authorized establishment of a Joint Committee on Forestry to investigate the forest situation, hold hearings, and submit a report to Congress.

The national forests contain nearly 176,000,000 acres of Government-owned land and approximately one-third of the timber in the United States, besides forage and recreational resources of great public value. The administration of the national forests is by a decentralized organization that provides close and constant touch with local, State, and regional conditions and problems. Its aim is to coordinate and develop to the utmost the use of national forest resources in the best public interest. Technical methods of forestry are applied to the growing and harvesting of timber. Livestock grazing is scientifically regulated so as to obtain range conservation along with full use of the annual growth of forage. Sustained and, where possible, increased yields of timber and forage are obtained. Water from the protected watersheds is made available for power, irrigation, and municipal and domestic supply. Recreational opportunities are developed and maintained, scientific management is applied to the development and maintenance of its wildlife resources. Provision is made for many other forms of national-forest land use under regulation. Systematic protection is provided against fire and other destructive agencies. Supervision is given to the emergency relief work performed on the national forests by the Civilian Conservation Corps and the Works Progress Administration. General supervision is given to the emergency conservation work on State and private lands.

NORTHEASTERN TIMBER SALVAGE ADMINISTRATION

The hurricane of September 1938 throughout the New England area brought unprecedented disaster to the forests and woodlands of that region, without regard to boundaries or ownership. In the neighborhood of 2 billion feet of standing timber was blown down. The Northeastern Timber Salvage Administration, supervised by the Forest Service, and cooperating with the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation and the Disaster Loan Corporation, conducts a program of purchasing this wind-thrown timber, storing it in water or otherwise, sawing into lumber or other forms of fabrication, and marketing the timber products.

THE NEW ENGLAND FOREST EMERGENCY ORGANIZATION

The 1938 hurricane in New England left the most widespread forest fire hazards the region has ever known. Human lives as well as property were threatened. The President designated the Chief of the Forest Service to act in this emergency. He immediately set up the New England Forest Emergency Organization. Except on national forests, where work is done by forces that protect and administer them, this organization handles hazard reduction and timber salvage in New England, in cooperation with State and town authorities. One objective of temporary organization is to reduce forest fire hazards to normal, so that they may thereafter be handled by the regular State organizations. Another is to help farmers and other forest owners salvage their hurricane-damaged timber, of which more than 623,000,000 feet board measure had been delivered to the organization as of December 31, 1939.

BUREAU OF HOME ECONOMICS

The Bureau of Home Economics conducts research to determine qualities of agricultural products from point of view of consumer needs and satisfactions, needs of families for food, clothing, housing, equipment, and other goods and services as guides to production and consumption, guides for standards for consumers' goods and other aids to homemakers in their problems of household buying, adequacy of diets of farm, village, and city families as guides to agricultural production and to improved national food consumption habits, use of home-produced food by farm families to provide guides to land use, bases for estimates of family income from this source, and to help families with their home farm-management plans, and ways of raising levels of living of farm families through improvement of rural housing, better family food plans, and spending programs.

Research results are made available through technical and popular bulletins, radio talks, and exhibits. The Bureau works closely with the Extension Service, Farm Security Administration, the Office of Education, and other agencies in their programs of educating homemakers toward improving their dietary habits and ways of spending, and otherwise using their resources more effectively in family living.

BUREAU OF PLANT INDUSTRY

The activities of the Bureau of Plant Industry are devoted to plant research and related problems, such as the growing, harvesting, storing, and transporting of plants or their parts, and particularly the removing of the hazards of production and the improving of the quality of all crops. The research includes fundamental studies of the soil in relation to plant production, the examination, classification, and mapping of soils as an aid in using them intelligently, soil tillage and management in preparation for crops, crop rotations and sequences, crop fertilization, liming, use of animal and green manures, weed control, irrigation, methods of propagating and planting, time of planting, harvesting, transportation, storage, diseases and their control, including seed treatment, spraying, etc., improvement by breeding to remove hazards and to improve quality through more desirable composition for various purposes and for resistance to diseases, insects, heat, cold, drought, or other deleterious factors, studies of inheritance for use in breeding, studies on the relation of temperature, light, humidity, soil moisture, soil nutrients, soil organisms, and other environmental factors on the growth, composition, and quality of plants, the classifying of plants and the study of their characters as a basis for use and improvement, the assembling and testing of both domestic and foreign plants to determine their use and value in the origination of new and improved varieties and crops. The regulatory activities are limited to the control of quality of plant and soil inoculants.

The administrative activities of the Bureau, and certain laboratory investigations, are conducted in Washington. Fully three-fourths of the Bureau's research, however, is conducted in laboratories or at field stations located in practically all the major cropping regions of the United States, mostly in cooperation with the State agricultural experiment stations.

The National Arboretum, established under the act of March 4, 1927 (Public, No 799, 69th Cong), is administered by the Bureau of Plant Industry, with the assistance of an Advisory Council appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with the act establishing the National Arboretum.

ADVISORY COUNCIL OF THE NATIONAL ARBORETUM

The appointment by the Secretary of Agriculture of an advisory council in relation to the planning and development of the National Arboretum was authorized by section 4 of the act authorizing the Secretary to establish a national arboretum (Public, No 799, 69th Cong), approved March 4, 1927.

This act authorizes and directs the Secretary to establish and maintain a national arboretum for purposes of research and education concerning tree and plant life.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION ADMINISTRATION

The Rural Electrification Administration administers a Federal program designed to get electric service to persons in rural areas who are not now served in as large a number as possible and as soon as possible in accord with the provisions of the governing statute. This program is conducted under the provisions of the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 which established the Rural Electrification Administration as an independent branch of the Federal Government superseding the agency of the same name created by Executive Order on May 11, 1935. On July 1, 1939, pursuant to the President's Second Reorganization Plan, the Rural Electrification Administration became part of the Department of Agriculture.

The principal activity of this Administration is the lending of funds for the construction of electric distribution lines. A limited number of loans are made for generating plants. The Administrator is required to give preference to loan applications from public agencies, cooperative associations, and other nonprofit or limited-dividend associations.

Loans are also made for the purpose of financing the wiring of the premises of persons in rural areas and the installation of electrical and plumbing appliances. Such loans are not made to the individual consumer but to the agency which owns distribution lines financed by the Administration. In a few instances the Administration has financed the construction of refrigerated locker storage plants to take power from Government financed electric lines and to serve members of the cooperatives owning and operating such lines.

Loans for building electric power systems cover the full cost of such construction. They bear interest at the average rate paid by the United States on its long-term obligations issued during the fiscal year preceding that in which the loans are made and are to be liquidated within a period not to exceed 25 years. Loans for financing wiring, plumbing, and electric appliances and refrigerator plants cover 80 to 90 percent of the total cost and in the practice of the Administration are to be repaid over a shorter period.

In connection with its loans the Administration assists borrowers in organization, legal, engineering, operating, and other matters. The Administration is also charged with the collection and dissemination of information dealing with rural electrification.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

The function of the Soil Conservation Service is to carry out upon all lands except national forests, wildlife refuges, and certain other federally administered lands, a comprehensive program of readjustment and treatment adequate to conserve and put to beneficial use the land and water resources of the country.

The Service is equipped to approach this objective through direct action in the fields of soil conservation, flood control, land acquisition and development, farm forestry, and water facilities development in arid and semiarid areas.

In all fields of activity, the Service relies wholly on the principle of cooperation, insisting that those most concerned take an active part in each undertaking. It conducts soil conservation demonstrations in cooperation with farmers in selected areas and assists legally organized groups of farmers in planning and putting into effect necessary land treatment programs. Likewise, it works hand in hand with local, State, and Federal agencies in purchasing submarginal land for purposes of readjusting the land-use pattern so as to conserve soil and water resources, reduce flood hazards, and stabilize agriculture generally. Other bureaus in the Department as well as interested State, local, and Federal agencies outside the Department take part in the planning and execution of all programs.

At present, the Service is carrying on work in approximately 900 research, demonstration, land utilization, and watershed projects, service nurseries, Civilian Conservation Corps camps, water facilities areas, and soil conservation districts. These work areas are located in 47 States, Puerto Rico, and the Hawaiian Islands, and cover more than 200 million acres. In these projects, camps, areas, and districts, more than 22 million acres in private ownership—or under lease to farmers and ranchers—is covered by cooperative agreements, and the owners are using operations plans prepared by service technicians. On an additional area of 26 million acres of public land, the Service has working agreements relating to land treatment for conservation and better use. Approximately 82 million cooperators are represented in the Service operations on private land.

As part of its program, the Service is assisting 182 soil conservation districts, involving approximately 100 million acres, in 27 States, by providing technical personnel to help plan and execute local conservation and land-use programs.

In the field of flood control, the Service cooperates with other bureaus of the Department of Agriculture in preparing watershed surveys and investigations. It also assists State and local agencies with the execution of land-treatment work designed to retard surface water run-off and minimize flood hazards. Such work also reduces the amount of silt and other erosional debris deposited in stream channels, downstream reservoirs, and over lowlands.

The Service encourages farmers to develop farm woodlands by helping them obtain proper planting stock and assisting with the propagation and management of farm woodland areas.

In sections where the continued use of submarginal land is uneconomic or a menace to adjoining good land, the Service buys the land and develops it for timber production, grazing, recreation, or other uses to which it is best suited.

Cooperating with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Farm Security Administration, it aids farmers in arid and semiarid regions with the development of small water facilities. Work of this kind includes the opening of new wells, development of springs, construction of stock ponds, and the installation of windmills, pumping systems, water spreading devices, and small irrigation works.

SUGAR DIVISION

The Sugar Division administers the Sugar Act of 1937. This act empowers the Secretary of Agriculture to determine the consumption requirements of sugar for the United States and to fix marketing quotas for the United States, insular territories and possessions, and foreign countries, to allot such quotas among persons who market or import sugar, and to make conditional payments to cooperating producers.

WEATHER BUREAU

The Weather Bureau has charge of the forecasting of the weather, issuance and display of weather forecasts, and storm, cold-wave, frost, forest-fire-weather, and flood warnings, gaging and reporting of river stages, collection and transmission of marine intelligence for the benefit of commerce and navigation, collection and furnishing of meteorological information and forecasts, including upper-air observations, for the benefit of air navigation, reporting of temperature and rainfall conditions for agricultural interests, and the taking of such meteorological observations as may be necessary to determine and record the climatic conditions of the United States.

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION

The Farm Credit Administration was created by an Executive Order of the President, No. 6084, which was submitted to Congress on March 27, 1923, and became effective on May 27, 1933. It provided for the consolidation within one organization of substantially all the powers and functions of Federal agencies dealing primarily with agricultural credit. These included the functions of the Federal Farm Loan Board and Federal Farm Loan Bureau, including those of the Farm Loan Commissioner, whose title was changed on June 16, 1933, to Land Bank Commissioner, the functions of the Federal Farm Board, except those relating to stabilization operations which were virtually abolished, the functions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation pertaining to the management of the regional agricultural credit corporations, and the functions of the crop production and seed loan offices of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Executive order transferred these functions to the jurisdiction and control of the Farm Credit Administration, and vested in its Governor all the powers, authority, and duties of the officers, executive agencies, and heads of the units whose functions were transferred to the Farm Credit Administration, or relating to the functions transferred.

As a result of this Executive order, the Federal land banks, the national farm loan associations, the Federal intermediate credit banks, the regional agricultural credit corporations, the emergency crop and feed loan offices, the Agricultural Marketing Act revolving fund, and the joint stock land banks were placed under the jurisdiction of the Farm Credit Administration. To this group, the production credit corporations, the production credit associations, the Central Bank for Cooperatives, and the district banks for cooperatives were added by the Farm Credit Act of 1933, approved June 16, 1933, and the Federal credit unions by the Federal Credit Union Act, approved June 26, 1934.

Reorganization Plan No. I, which became effective July 1, 1939, transferred the Farm Credit Administration to the Department of Agriculture, so that the Governor now reports to the Secretary of Agriculture rather than to the President concerning the exercise of his powers as Governor.

In the Farm Credit Administration the operations of the Federal land banks and the national farm loan associations and the making of Land Bank Commissioner loans are under the supervision of the Land Bank Commissioner. He also has general supervisory authority over the joint stock land banks, appoints receivers of joint stock land banks, and approves, in his discretion, acts of such receivers. The Federal intermediate credit banks, the production credit corporations and associations, and the banks for cooperatives are under the supervision of the Intermediate Credit Commissioner, the Production Credit Commissioner, and the Cooperative Bank Commissioner, respectively. The Farm Credit Administration is authorized to make such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, and to exercise such incidental powers as it deems necessary or requisite to fulfill the duties vested in it by law.

Land Bank Commissioner loans are made under the provisions of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended. During 1933, 1934, and 1935 they were used principally for refinancing farm indebtedness either on security of second mortgages as a supplement to first-mortgage loans from the Federal land banks or other lenders or on security of first mortgages in cases where special risks were involved. However, since the passage of the Farm Credit Act of 1935, many young farmers and tenants have obtained these loans to aid them in purchasing farms.

The Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation was created by an act of Congress approved January 31, 1934, to aid in financing the lending operations of the Land Bank Commissioner and the Federal land banks in connection with the farm debt refinancing program begun in the spring of 1933. With the passing of the emergency the Federal land banks since January 1, 1936, again have been able to obtain necessary funds from the sale of their bonds directly to investors. The Corporation has its principal office in Washington, D. C., and is managed by a board of directors consisting of the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration as chairman, the Secretary of the Treasury or a Treasury officer designated by him, and the Land Bank Commissioner. To carry out its provisions of assisting in financing the lending operations of the Land Bank Commissioner and the Federal land banks, the Corporation was authorized to issue and have outstanding at any one time bonds in an amount not exceeding $2,000,000,000. These bonds are guaranteed fully and unconditionally as to principal and interest by the Government of the United States and the guaranty is expressed on the face of the bonds. The Corporation has a capital of $200,000,000 and its resources include the consolidated bonds of the Federal land banks obtained by purchase or in exchange for the Corporation's bonds and the farm mortgages obtained in connection with Land Bank Commissioner loans. All assets of the Corporation, of course, are available for the payment of the bonds.

The emergency crop and feed loan offices administer the emergency crop loans which have been made under various acts of Congress. These loans are available only to farmers who cannot obtain loans from other sources and who need funds with which to produce their crops or provide feed for their livestock. These offices also administer the drought feed loans made under provisions of an act of Congress approved June 16, 1934.

The original 12 regional agricultural credit corporations were chartered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in accordance with section 201-e of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932. They were created as temporary emergency institutions to meet the unusual demand for short-term credit during a period of serious credit stringency. They have been in liquidation since May 1, 1934, when the production credit associations were ready to handle permanently this type of credit. On September 30, 1937, the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, acting pursuant to authority contained in the Farm Credit Act of 1937, approved August 19, 1937, consolidated six of the original corporations to form the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Washington, D. C., which acquired all the assets and assumed all the liabilities of the six constituent corporations. The number of regional agricultural credit corporations was further reduced by the merger, on August 31, 1938, of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Fort Worth, Tex., with the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Washington, D. C., and by the merger, on June 15, 1939, of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Spokane, Wash., with the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The Agricultural Marketing Act of June 15, 1929, authorized the establishment of a revolving fund of $500,000,000 for use by the Federal Farm Board in making loans to cooperative associations and to stabilization corporations. Active lending operations from this fund were curtailed after the establishment of the banks for cooperatives.

The joint stock land banks are privately capitalized institutions organized under the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act. Prior to the approval of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933 on May 12, 1933, these banks were authorized to make long-term first-mortgage loans on farms from funds obtained primarily from the sale of bonds to the investing public. This act, however, provided that after that date none of these banks should issue any tax-exempt bonds or make any farm loans except such as are necessary and incidental to the refinancing of existing loans or bond issues, or to the sale of real estate owned by the banks.

The Governor of the Farm Credit Administration is authorized to charter and supervise Federal credit unions which are cooperative associations, organized in accordance with the Federal Credit Union Act for the purpose of promoting thrift among their members and providing a source of credit for provident or productive purposes.

In each of the 12 farm credit districts into which the continental United States is divided, a Federal land bank, a Federal intermediate credit bank, a production credit corporation, and a district bank for cooperatives are located. Throughout each district are located national farm loan associations and production credit associations, the local organizations through which farmers borrow. In addition, there is a Central Bank for Cooperatives in Washington, D. C., and a branch of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore in Puerto Rico.

These central, district, and local organizations were established as permanent units of a complete farm credit system under the supervision of the Farm Credit Administration. The Federal land banks and the national farm loan associations provide long-term farm mortgage credit for farmers while the production credit associations, production credit corporations, and Federal intermediate credit banks comprise a short-term credit system for them. The district banks for cooperatives and the central bank for cooperatives are a source of both long- and short-term credit for farmers' cooperative associations. Thus, this farm credit system provides a complete credit service for farmers and farmers' cooperative business organizations having a sound basis for credit.

This permanent system is essentially one for obtaining funds in the investment markets of the Nation and making them readily available to farmers and their cooperative business organizations. All loan funds of the organizations comprising the system, except for the limited amounts provided by their capital, are obtained through the sale of bonds and debentures.

The four district institutions are located in the same city and have the same directors. Each organization has its own officers. In order to coordinate the activities of these four district credit units, however, the Farm Credit Act of 1937 created a "farm credit board" in each district. The members of each farm credit board are ex-officio the directors of the four credit units of the district. In each district there is an executive known as the general agent, who is responsible for coordinating day-to-day activities and has supervision over certain personnel and facilities, with the authority to direct the legal, accounting, informational, statistical, and field activities of the agencies.

The location of the district offices, with the States served by each, are as follows:

Farm Credit Administration of Springfield, Springfield, Mass—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, and New Jersey.

Farm Credit Administration of Baltimore, Baltimore, Md—Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

Farm Credit Administration of Columbia, Columbia, S C—North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida.

Farm Credit Administration of Louisville, Louisville, Ky—Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Farm Credit Administration of New Orleans, New Orleans, La—Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana.

Farm Credit Administration of St Louis, St Louis, Mo—Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas.

Farm Credit Administration of St Paul, St Paul, Minn—Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota.

Farm Credit Administration of Omaha, Omaha, Nebr—Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming.

Farm Credit Administration of Berkeley, Oakland, Calif—Utah, Arizona, Nevada, California.

Farm Credit Administration of Spokane, Spokane, Wash—Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

The Secretary of Commerce is charged with the work of promoting the commerce of the United States and its manufacturing, shipping, and transportation interests. His duties also comprise the taking of the census and the collection and publication of statistical information connected therewith, the making of coast and geodetic surveys, the collecting of statistics relating to foreign and domestic commerce, the inspection of steamships, and the enforcement of laws relating thereto for the protection of life and property, the jurisdiction over merchant vessels, their registry, licensing, measurement, entry, clearance, transfer, movement of their cargoes and passengers, and laws relating thereto, and to seamen of the United States, the custody, construction, maintenance, and application of standards of weights and measurements, the gathering and supplying of information regarding industries and markets for the fostering of manufacturing, the supervision of the Patent Office, and the administering of the Inland Waterways Corporation. The Secretary of Commerce is chairman of the Foreign-Trade Zones Board, chairman of the United States Golden Gate International Exposition Commission, ex officio general chairman of the Business Advisory Council for the Department of Commerce, and a member of the following: Board of directors of the Textile Foundation, Council of National Defense, Federal Board for Vocational Education, Smithsonian Institution, Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, Foreign Service Buildings Commission, National Munitions Control Board, United States New York World's Fair Commission, United States Colorado Exposition Commission, Export-Import Bank of Washington, National Archives Council, Commodity Exchange Commission, Committee on Regulations, Pure Food and Drugs Act, and the Committee on Regulations, Insecticide Act. The Secretary of Commerce is authorized to call upon other departments for statistical data obtained by them. It is his further duty to make such special investigations and furnish such information to the President or Congress as may be required by them on the foregoing subject matters, and to make annual reports to Congress upon the work of said Department

UNDER SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

Under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce, the Under Secretary performs such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law To him is assigned the general supervision and direction of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and Census, and the Patent Office In the absence of the Secretary he acts as the head of the Department

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

Under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce, the Assistant Secretary performs such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law To him is assigned the general supervision and direction of the National Bureau of Standards, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, and the Inland Waterways Corporation In the absence of the Secretary and Under Secretary he acts as head of the Department

SOLICITOR

The Solicitor is the chief law officer of the Department of Commerce and his duties are to act as legal adviser to the Secretary of Commerce, the Under Secretary, the Assistant Secretary, and the chiefs of the various bureaus

THE ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT TO THE SECRETARY

As the chief executive officer of the Department the Administrative Assistant to the Secretary has the responsibility for all matters of administration, including personnel and budget matters, and for coordinating the functions of the various bureaus of the Department He has supervision of the office of the Chief Clerk, the Division of Personnel Supervision and Management, the Division of Publications, the Division of Purchases and Sales, and the Division of Accounts

INDUSTRIAL ECONOMICS DIVISION

Under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce, conducts research and studies of major economic problems of business with a view to promoting commerce and industry, and makes appropriate recommendations to the Secretary

CHIEF CLERK

As the administrative head of the divisions of the office of the Secretary, the Chief Clerk has supervision over the clerks and other employees of the Department, enforces the general regulations of the Department, and has administrative supervision of the buildings occupied by the Department, has general supervision of expenditures from the appropriations for contingent expenses, the care of all vehicles under the office of the Secretary, the receipt, distribution, and transmission of the mail, the custody of the Department's seal and the records and files of the Secretary's office, the answering of calls from Congress and elsewhere for copies of papers and records, and the discharge of all business of the Secretary's office not otherwise assigned During the temporary absence of the Secretary, the Under Secretary, and the Assistant Secretary he may be designated by the Secretary to sign official papers and documents

DIVISION OF PERSONNEL SUPERVISION AND MANAGEMENT

The Director of the Division of Personnel Supervision and Management is charged with the supervision of the functions of appointment, assignment, service rating, and training of employees, the initiation and supervision of programs of personnel training and management including the establishment of a system of service ratings for departmental and field forces, the direction of programs of employee relations, the establishment of means for the hearing of grievances of employees and presenting appropriate recommendations for the settlement thereof to the Secretary, serves as a member of the Council of Personnel Administration, acts as liaison officer in personnel matters between the Department and the Civil Service Commission, makes recommendations to the departmental budget officer with respect to estimates and expenditures for personal services, establishes and administers an equitable system of promotions and transfers, administers the regulations regarding removals, classification, retirement, and leaves of absence, conducts correspondence and prepares recommendations connected with applications for positions, and performs such other functions as may be prescribed by the Secretary

DIVISION OF ACCOUNTS

The Chief of the Division of Accounts is charged with the duty of preparing all requisitions for the advance of public funds from appropriations for the Department of Commerce to disbursing clerks and special disbursing agents charged with the disbursement of public funds, the keeping of appropriation ledgers relating to the advance and expenditure of all items of appropriations, the preparation of official bonds and custody of records pertaining thereto, and the general accounting of the Department

DIVISION OF PUBLICATIONS

The Chief of the Division of Publications is charged with the conduct of all business the Department transacts with the Government Printing Office, the general supervision of printing, including the editing and preparation of copy, illustrating and binding, the distribution of publications, and the maintenance of mailing lists. The advertising done by the Department is in his charge. He also approves all vouchers in payment for the publishing work of the Department, keeps a record of all obligations and expenditures in connection therewith, and conducts the correspondence it entails.

DIVISION OF PURCHASES AND SALES

The Chief of the Division of Purchases and Sales has personal supervision of all the work incident to the purchase and distribution of supplies for the Department proper and for the services of the Department outside of Washington, and of the keeping of detailed accounts of all expenditures from the appropriation for contingent expenses of the Department. He receives, verifies, and preserves the annual returns of property from the offices and bureaus of the Department which are supplied from the contingent appropriation, and examines and reports on the property returns of all other bureaus and services.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

The Bureau of the Census takes the decennial census of the United States, which in 1940 will cover the following principal subjects: Population, agriculture, mines, business (retail and wholesale trade, service establishments, construction, etc.), housing, unemployment, irrigation, and drainage. A census of manufactures is taken every 2 years—1939 census will coincide with the decennial census. Censuses of agriculture and of electrical industries—covering electric light and power plants, electric railways, telephones, and telegraphs—are taken every 5 years, and censuses of churches or religious bodies, of the dependent, defective, and delinquent classes in institutions, and of financial statistics of State and local governments, every 10 years.

Annually the Bureau collects statistics of births and deaths, financial statistics of States and of cities having a population of 100,000 or over, statistics of prisoners in State prisons and reformatories, and of patients in hospitals for mental disease and in institutions for epileptics and feeble-minded, and judicial criminal statistics.

At monthly or more frequent intervals the Bureau publishes statistics of cotton mined, imported, exported, consumed, and held, also statistics relating to cottonseed and its products. It also collects monthly or quarterly data regarding the reduction or supply of many other commodities, including boots and shoes, clothing, wool, animal and vegetable fats and oils, etc., and compiles from various sources current data regarding production, orders, shipments, stocks, etc., for numerous lines of trade and industry.

The Bureau's file of original population census records provide legally acceptable evidence concerning age and other personal facts needed by applicants for old-age pensions, annuities, working papers, passports, etc. This service is available by personal application to the Bureau.

BUREAU OF FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC COMMERCE

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is charged with the promotion and development of the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States. It serves as the direct liaison between American business interests and the Government

Foreign commerce—The Bureau's purpose is to furnish American business interests with all the data essential to the sound conduct of trade with foreign countries. This includes, primarily, such facts and facilities as will help American industry to place its goods in foreign markets and, secondarily, the providing of information as to foreign sources of supply of raw materials indispensable to American enterprise. The data which the Bureau collects, analyzes, and disseminates may be grouped into two broad classifications: (1) those of a general economic character, such as reviews of broad trends and developments, (2) those of a concretely practical and specific nature, of immediate assistance in actual business transactions.

The Bureau familiarizes American businessmen with trade tendencies abroad, the operations of foreign competitors, the conditions affecting foreign purchasing power, and the commercial aspects of foreign governmental measures. It furnishes data on all foreign legal enactments that restrict or otherwise affect American business interests. It supplies facts concerning commercial treaties, foreign tariffs and other conditions of importation, the documents required and fees imposed, and many related matters. It keeps Americans intimately in touch with public and private finance abroad, fiscal projects, foreign exchange, trade financing, and foreign banking and currency problems. Statistics of the foreign commerce of the United States are made available by the Bureau, which also issues a comprehensive annual study of the whole Balance of International Payments.

The Bureau brings specific foreign trade opportunities to the attention of American businessmen and has available detailed facts regarding more than 600,000 individual foreign firms, including prospective buyers and agents. It makes studies of foreign transportation and communications and furnishes information to shippers regarding freight rates and facilities, so as to enable them to route shipments economically and advantageously. The Bureau furthers, also, the amicable adjustment of commercial disputes and misunderstandings. It aids in the protection abroad of American "industrial property" such as trademarks and patents. It investigates world stocks of raw materials and is constantly in touch with the course of prices. Foreign businessmen visiting this country are aided by the Bureau in establishing profitable contacts with appropriate American firms.

Still another of the Bureau's functions involves the administration of the China Trade Act—a law authorizing the creation and assistance of corporations engaging in business within China.

Foreign trade statistics—Statistical information showing the articles imported and exported as well as the countries from which imported and to which exported are received by the Bureau from the Collectors of Customs. These documents are received and tabulated by the Section of Customs Statistics in New York and the results forwarded to Washington for analysis, summary, and publication.

Field service—The Bureau maintains regional, district, and cooperative offices in the more important commercial centers of the country. These offices are maintained to bring the Bureau into closer contact with the business public. They enable businessmen to utilize more fully the services of the Bureau and provide the Bureau with facilities for obtaining important data regarding business developments in various sections of the nation.

Domestic commerce—In the field of domestic commerce the Bureau serves as the principal liaison between the policy makers in business and Government. The Bureau's facilities are directed toward three major ends, namely, (1) assembling, analyzing, and reporting current business information of assistance to businessmen and other Government agencies, (2) conducting factual studies designed to create a better understanding of the national economy, (3) promoting closer and mutually cooperative relationships between leaders in business and Government.

In this work the Bureau's objectives and methods are determined largely by conferences with numerous industries, trade associations, and advisory groups, and by the expressed and projected needs of other Government agencies.

The Bureau's activities embrace broad surveys of general business conditions, analyses of current trade problems, and research in basic economic factors such as national income and consumer spending power, distribution costs, and construction problems.

The Bureau undertakes to provide American manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers with accurate and specific data upon which to base efficient merchandising methods. Comprehensive surveys of credit problems and bad debt losses for vital aspects of the work.

The Bureau prepares and publishes scientific indexes of industrial and consumer markets, examines the relative behavior of individual trades during prosperity and depression, and analyzes relations between volume, costs, and prices.

The periodicals and publications of the Bureau comprise a wide variety of statistical and factual material of assistance to business generally and particularly to small businesses which do not have the resources necessary to preparation of similar material. The general information service of the Bureau collects and disseminates material of interest and help to all sectors of business and Government.

NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS

The National Bureau of Standards was established by act of Congress approved March 3, 1901. Its functions are the development, construction, custody, and maintenance of reference and working standards and their intercomparison, improvement, and application in science, engineering, industry, and commerce. Under the Air Commerce Act of 1926, the Secretary of Commerce is authorized "to advise with the Bureau of Standards and other agencies in the executive branch of the Government in carrying forward such research and development work as tends to create improved air navigation facilities." By act of Congress approved May 14, 1930, there was established a national hydraulic laboratory at the Bureau for "the determination of fundamental data useful in hydraulic research and engineering."

The Bureau's functions are exercised for the National Government, State governments, and, subject to reasonable fees, the general public. Its unique research and testing facilities are used to discover and evaluate material standards and to solve basic technical problems. In connection with its work on standards of measurement, the Bureau assists in size standardization of containers and products, in promoting systematic inspection of trade weights and measures, and facilitates research in science and technology through the standardization of measuring instruments. The establishment of more precise values for the standard constants furnishes an exact basis for scientific experiment and design and makes possible the efficient technical control of industrial processes. It cooperates with tax-supported purchasing agencies, industries, and national organizations in developing specifications and facilitating their use, it encourages the application of the latest developments in the utilization and standardization of building materials and in the development of engineering and safety codes, simplified practice recommendations, and commercial standards of quality and performance. The Bureau's work on standards of quality sets up attainable standards to assure high utility in the products of industry and furnishes a scientific basis for fair dealing by promoting truthful branding and advertising. Standards of performance are usually specifications for the operative efficiency of machines or devices, their ultimate purpose is to make exact knowledge the basis of the buyer's choice and to clarify the understanding between the manufacturer, distributor, retailer, and consumer. To establish standards of practice the Bureau collates data and formulates codes of practice for public utilities and other services. This work makes possible a single impersonal standard of practice mutually agreed upon by all concerned and clearly defined in measurable terms.

The following are typical examples of work now in progress. Determination of the absolute values of the electrical units, testing of electrical measuring instruments, transformers, and batteries, studies of the magnetic properties of new alloys, surveys to determine the corrosive action of soils on buried pipe lines, aid to State governments on technical details of weights and measures inspection service, standardization and testing of gages, screw threads, and other length standards required in manufacturing, investigation of railroad track scales, mine scales, motor truck, and other large scales used principally for interstate shipments, investigations of methods of high temperature measurements and temperature control in manufacturing processes, promotion of economy and efficiency in automotive transportation by land and air through investigations of the basic principles underlying the design, performance, operation, and testing of automotive power plants, development of color standards and methods of color measurement, studies of basic factors underlying distance range of radio signals, dissemination of national standards of frequency, and investigation and standardization of methods and instruments used in radio communication, investigation of principles of sound transmission and absorption and their application, preparation, analysis, and certification of the composition of technical materials, either of typical composition or of high purity, for checking the accuracy of scientific and industrial analysis and for testing measuring instruments, investigation of the fire resistance of building materials, determination of the properties of stone, clays, cement, and other structural materials, and the formulation of building codes and researches to promote, improve, and make possible less expensive building construction, development of improved standards for dental materials, investigations of methods for the control of active acidity in industrial processes, development of standards of quality and methods of measurement of textiles, paper, leather, rubber, and organic plastics, tests of paint, varnish, soap, ink, and other supplies for the Government services, study of ceramic materials and the processes used in their manufacture, investigation of problems involved in the production of optical glass, researches in metals, including melting, heat treatment, mechanical working, chemical, and optical properties, and effects of corrosion, use of testing machines in the determination of physical constants and properties of materials and the behavior of structures under load, determination of technical specifications for all grades of sugars, involving their standardization and methods of manufacture, and study of technical problems relating to the collection of revenue on sugars, investigation of radium, radium compounds, and other radioactive materials, and the development of standard specifications for X-ray equipment and for the operation of X-ray machines, formulation of standards of performance for instruments, equipment, tools, and other devices, development of test methods to insure compliance with specifications, and simplification of varieties of products, solution of problems in connection with standards for public utilities, such as gas, electric light and power, technical cooperation with manufacturers upon fundamental research to promote industrial development and to assist in the permanent establishment of new American industries, the standardization of mechanical appliances, and the investigation of problems of flowing water in rivers, canals, and pipes, and of the design of hydraulic structures

UNITED STATES COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY

The Coast and Geodetic Survey is charged with (1) the survey of the coasts of the United States and its possessions, to insure the safe navigation of coastal and intracoastal waters, (2) the determination of geographical positions and elevations in the interior of the country, to coordinate the coastal surveys and provide a framework for mapping and other engineering work, (3) the investigation of tides and currents, to furnish datum planes to engineers and tide and current tables to mariners, (4) the compilation and publishing of nautical charts to meet the needs of marine commerce, (5) the compilation and publishing of aeronautical charts for use in air navigation, (6) observations of the earth's magnetism in all parts of the country, to furnish magnetic information essential to the mariner, aviator, land surveyor, radio engineer and others, and (7) seismological observations and investigations, to supply data required in designing structures to reduce the earthquake hazard

These duties require hydrographic, topographic, and air-photographic surveys along the coasts, including the rivers to the head of tidewater, for determining the depths of the waters and the configuration of the adjacent land, tide observations for determination of basic datum planes for elevations and for prediction of high and low waters in tide tables, current observations for determining water movements and for prediction of slacks and strengths in current tables, base measurements, determination of latitudes, longitudes, and azimuths by astronomical observations, triangulation, and traverse, determination of elevations by spirit leveling or by vertical angles, magnetic surveys in all parts of the country, including the operation of magnetic observatories, the operation of instruments recording building vibrations and strong earthquake motions, and cooperation with non-Federal agencies engaged in this work, and gravity measurements throughout the country

The results of these surveys and studies are analyzed in the Washington office and published as nautical and aeronautical charts, annual tables of predicted tides and currents, charts showing magnetic declination, annual lists of United States earthquakes, publications of geographic positions and elevations, Coast Pilots, and as annual and special publications covering all of its other activities, including comprehensive manuals prescribing the methods which obtain for its various classes of surveying

BUREAU OF MARINE INSPECTION AND NAVIGATION

The Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, comprising the administrative office at Washington, D C , 7 offices of supervising inspectors, 48 offices of local inspectors and their assistants, and 14 shipping commissioners throughout the United States, its Territories and possessions, is charged with the administration and enforcement of all navigation and marine inspection laws and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

Resident with the administration office in Washington is the Law Enforcement and Review Division, charged with vessel penalties and fines, casualty investigation review, motorboat fines and penalties, and the patrol fleet.

The determination of violations and the assessment of penalties, the operation of the patrol fleet and the review of casualty investigations as carried on by the A, B, and C marine investigation boards are all handled through this Division.

The Technical Division, headed by the technical assistant to the Director and composed of naval architects, marine and electrical engineers, together with their draftsmen and necessary assistants, examines for approval all plans covering arrangement details and equipment concerning the design and construction of new vessels, repairs and alterations to existing vessels, the approval of the design and construction of boilers and unfired pressure vessels, and the approval of fire protection and detection installations, supervises the assignment and carrying into effect the acts of Congress relating to the placing of load lines on vessels, and the admeasurement of vessels to determine the gross and net tonnages.

The Ship Personnel Division, with its 14 offices of shipping commissioners in the field, handles the records of the licensed officers and certificated ship personnel. They sign the crew members on and off the ships, witness the paying off of crew, and administer assistance to the ship's personnel as required by law.

Changes in the law, with respect to ship's personnel, has placed directly upon the Bureau the work of classifying such personnel below the grade of licensed officers, providing for such examinations as are necessary and authorized by statutes to insure that proper qualifications are held by men who seek employment in the merchant marine, the preparation of forms of certificates and continuous discharge books now required by law to be issued to seamen, and setting up and maintaining a special division in the Bureau for the purpose of keeping the records of seamen in accordance with statutory requirements.

The Vessel Inspection Division at Washington, D C , prepares uniform examination questions for licensed officers and rates the examination papers of prospective applicants for original licenses or raises in grades, supervises the Field Inspection Service. Included therein are principal traveling inspectors who under the direction of the Director, make frequent visits to the field in the interest of securing a high degree of uniformity in the applying of the general rules and regulations. They perform reinspections on vessels, investigate reported deficiencies, and conduct fire drills and life boat drills on board ship. They carry on investigations under the direction of the Director upon all matters concerning the regulations and sit as members of marine investigation boards in the investigations and trials relating to marine casualties.

The supervising inspectors are field division heads charged with the duty of establishing such rules and regulations, subject to the approval by the Secretary of Commerce, that may be necessary to put into effect the laws of Congress for safety to life and protection of property in the operation of ships. They also watch over all of the territory assigned to them, visit, confer with, and examine, into the doings of the local boards of inspectors, within their assigned districts, instruct the local boards in the proper performance of their duties, and, with the principal traveling inspectors, sit on the marine investigation boards in the investigations and trials relating to marine casualties.

Located throughout the United States are resident inspectors and assistant inspectors especially detailed to test and supervise, at the mills of manufacturers, all material used in the construction of boilers and unfired pressure vessels to determine their physical characteristics for approval or rejection, according to the test determinations.

The local and assistant inspectors throughout the United States, its Territories and possessions, carry out the inspections of vessels annually and quarterly, inspections, and dry dock examinations to insure safety to passengers and crews and the efficiency of machinery and equipment required for safe navigation.

Foreign passenger vessels calling at United States ports are regularly inspected and certificated by the local boards of inspectors. These inspectors also conduct at regular quarterly intervals fire drills and life saving drills on these foreign vessels and examine into the condition of the life saving and fire fighting equipment on board

The local boards of inspectors inspect and examine tank vessels and barges for the carrying of liquid cargoes in bulk, and of dangerous cargoes. They conduct fire drills and life saving drills on all types of vessels at quarterly intervals.

They issue to all vessels annually certificates of inspection, stating thereon the number of officers and crew necessary for the safe navigation of the vessel, the number of passengers allowed to be carried, the route or waters over which the vessel may operate, the life saving and fire fighting equipment necessary, and the steam pressure allowed carried on the boilers.

They conduct examinations and issue licenses to masters, mates, pilots, and engineers and carry into effect the laws, rules, and regulations on board ship for the safety to life and the protection of property.

The Bureau also maintains and operates a patrol fleet which is charged with the duty of making special inspections of vessels of all classes to see that the requirements of law are being complied with, and to report all instances involving any violation of law or failure to comply with the Bureau's requirements to the Director for submission to collectors of customs for the imposing of such penalties as may be determined by the Secretary of Commerce.

PATENT OFFICE

The Commissioner of Patents is charged with the administration of the patent laws and supervision of all matters relating to the granting of letters patent for inventions, and the registration of trade-marks.

INLAND WATERWAYS CORPORATION

The Inland Waterways Corporation is charged with the duties incident to the development of national inland waterway transportation as delegated to the Secretary of War, under the Transportation Act of 1920 and by Public, No 185, approved June 3, 1924, as amended by Public, No 601, Seventieth Congress, approved May 29, 1928, as amended by the President's Reorganization Plan II pursuant to the provisions of the Reorganization Act of 1939, approved April 3, transferring delegation of duties to the Secretary of Commerce. This Corporation supervises the maintenance of barge lines operated by the Government on several important water routes, investigates types of floating and terminal equipment suitable for various waterways, as well as tariff and interchange arrangements between rail and water carriers and other matters tending to promote and encourage waterway traffic, and in general functions as the official governmental inland waterways bureau.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

THE SECRETARY OF LABOR

The Secretary of Labor is charged with the duty of fostering, promoting, and developing the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, improving their working conditions, and advancing their opportunities for profitable employment. The Secretary has power under the law to act as mediator and to appoint commissioners of conciliation in labor disputes whenever in the Secretary's judgment the interests of industrial peace may require it to be done. The Secretary has authority to direct the collecting and collating of full and complete statistics of the conditions of labor and the products and distribution of the products of the same and to call upon other departments of the Government for statistical data and results obtained by them and to collate, arrange, and publish such statistical information so obtained in such manner as may seem wise. The Secretary's duties also comprise the gathering and publication of information regarding labor interest and labor controversies in this and other countries, the supervision of the immigration of aliens, and the enforcement of the laws relating thereto, and to the exclusion of Chinese, the direction of the administration of the naturalization laws, the direction of the work of investigating all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life, and to cause to be published such results of these investigations as may seem wise and appropriate.

The law creating the Department of Labor provides that all duties performed and all power and authority possessed or exercised by the head of any executive department at the time of the passage of the said law, in and over any bureau, office, officer, board, branch, or division of the public service by said act transferred to the Department of Labor, or any business arising therefrom or pertaining thereto, or in relation to the duties performed by and authority conferred by law upon such bureau, officer, office, board, branch, or division of the public service, whether of an appellate or advisory character or otherwise, are vested in and exercised by the head of the said Department of Labor. The Secretary of Labor is also given authority and directed to investigate and report to Congress a plan of coordination of the activities, duties, and powers of the office of the Secretary of Labor with the activities, duties, and powers of the present bureaus, commissions, and departments, so far as they relate to labor and its conditions, in order to harmonize and unify such activities, duties, and powers, with a view to additional legislation to further define the duties and powers of the Department of Labor, and to make such special investigations and reports to the President or Congress as may be required by them or which may be deemed necessary, and to report annually to Congress upon the work of the Department of Labor.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF LABOR

The Assistant Secretary performs such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law. He becomes the Acting Secretary of Labor in the absence of the Secretary.

SECOND ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF LABOR

The Second Assistant Secretary performs such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law.

ASSISTANTS TO THE SECRETARY OF LABOR

The assistants to the Secretary perform such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary.

SOLICITOR

The Solicitor is the chief law officer of the Department of Labor, and his duties are to act as legal adviser to the officials of that Department, to prepare and examine all contracts and bonds entered into or acquired by said Department, to assist in the drafting of departmental regulations and bills affecting the activities of the Department, to supervise the predetermination of prevailing rates of wages on Federal contracts pursuant to the Davis-Bacon law, and to render such legal services as may be required in connection with the administrative work of the Department.

UNITED STATES CONCILIATION SERVICE

The United States Conciliation Service is charged with the duty of using its good offices, through the director or the commissioners of conciliation, to seek peaceful settlement in any trade dispute arising between employers and employees in industry. The authority for this service is found in section 8 of the act creating the Department, wherein the Secretary is authorized to act as a mediator or appoint commissioners of conciliation whenever the interests of industrial peace may require it to be done.

DIVISION OF LABOR STANDARDS

To develop desirable labor standards in industrial practice, labor law administration, and labor legislation, to make specific recommendations concerning methods and measures designed to improve the working conditions and the economic position of wage earners, in so doing to make directly available to interested organizations and persons the existing resources of the Department of Labor and pertinent material obtainable from public or private sources.

DIVISION OF PUBLIC CONTRACTS

It administers Public Act No. 846 (Walsh-Healey Act), Seventy-fourth Congress, approved June 30, 1936, which requires Government supply contracts to contain certain maximum hour, minimum wage, child labor, safety, and health stipulations, and charges the Secretary of Labor with the duty of promulgating these standards and supervising their enforcement. The Division is headed by an administrator and contains a public contracts board which holds hearings to determine minimum wages, the imposition of penalties, and other quasi-judicial matters arising under the act.

WAGE AND HOUR DIVISION

Under the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (act of June 25, 1938, Public, No. 718, 75th Cong.) this Division was established in the Department of Labor to enforce the wage and hour provisions of the act. The Division is headed by an Administrator appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Its duties are to see that employers engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce conform to the wage and hour standards. It is authorized to enjoin manufacturers who do not meet these standards from shipping goods in interstate or foreign commerce. Employers subject to the statute must conform to a maximum work week of not more than 44 hours the first year of its operation, 42 hours the second year, and 40 hours thereafter, and must pay minimum wages of not less than 25 cents an hour the first year and not less than 30 cents an hour the next 6 years. During the interim the Administrator is authorized to appoint industry committees in which employers, labor, and the public are to be represented. These committees have authority to recommend higher minimum wages for their respective industries, provided such rate does not exceed 40 cents an hour. These recommendations have the effect of law if approved by the Administrator.

CHIEF CLERK

The Chief Clerk is charged with the general supervision of the clerks of the Department, the interpretation of the general regulations of the Department, the superintendency of all buildings occupied by the Department in the District of Columbia, general supervision in connection with expenditures from the appropriations for contingent expenses, printing, and binding and rents, and the receipt, distribution, and transmission of the mail.

LIBRARIAN

The duties of the librarian are to obtain and circulate currently to the staffs of the different bureaus such books and periodicals as they need in their investigations, to supply reference material and bibliographical assistance in connection with special inquiries, to prepare selected annotated bibliographies on special subjects, and to aid students of labor problems through reading-room service and correspondence.

DIVISION OF BUDGETS AND ACCOUNTS

The Chief, Division of Budgets and Accounts, supervises the establishment and maintenance of the central control accounts maintained in the Division, and the auditing, transportation control, and budget record operations conducted by the Division. He assists in planning, organizing, and coordinating all financial activities and procedures of the Department, including accounting, auditing, and budgetary activities of the bureaus of the Department.

DIRECTOR OF PERSONNEL

The Director of Personnel is in charge of all matters relating to personnel within the Department of Labor. He is the liaison officer for the Department with the Civil Service Commission, and with other departments and agencies of the Government on matters relating to personnel administration.

DIVISION OF PUBLICATIONS AND SUPPLIES

The Chief of the Division of Publications and Supplies is charged by the Secretary of Labor with the conduct of all business the Department transacts with the Government Printing Office, the general supervision of printing, illustrating, and binding, the distribution of publications, and the maintenance of mailing lists. All blank books and blank forms and the printed stationery used by the Department are supplied by him. The advertising done by the Department is in his charge. Under the direction of the Chief Clerk he has supervision of all the work incident to the purchase and distribution of supplies for the Department, and of the keeping of detailed accounts of all expenditures from the appropriations or contingent expenses and printing and binding of the Department. He receives, verifies, and preserves the semiannual returns of property of the Department supplied from the contingent appropriation, and examines and reports on the semiannual property returns of all bureaus and services.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

The statutory functions of the Bureau of Labor Statistics are "to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor, in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and especially upon its relation to capital, the hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity." Other specific continuing duties have been added from time to time by acts or resolutions of Congress, by Executive order, and by the Secretary of Labor.

The Bureau makes and publishes current reports, usually on a monthly basis, on employment, pay rolls, earnings, and hours of labor in manufacturing, trade, public service, building construction, and other industries, union wages, industrial accidents and accident rates, labor turnover, industrial disputes, wholesale and retail prices, and changes in cost of living of workmen's families in the principal cities of the United States. Federal and State legislation and court decisions affecting labor are closely followed, and digests and analyses thereof published. Special studies are made from time to time on the wage situation in particular industries, on productivity of labor, on consumers' cooperation, and on a large number of other subjects bearing on the welfare of labor.

Dissemination of the information acquired by the Bureau in the discharge of its duties is through the publication of special bulletins on specific subjects, and through the Monthly Labor Review and Labor Information Bulletin.

IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

Under the act of March 3, 1933 (Public, No. 428, 47 Stat. 1517), and the Executive order issued pursuant to the statute, dated June 10, 1933 (6166/sec. 14), the Immigration and Naturalization Service was formed through the consolidation of the former Bureaus of Immigration and Naturalization, effective August 10, 1933.

The functions of the consolidated Service are the administration of the laws relating to the admission, exclusion, and deportation of aliens, and the naturalization of aliens lawfully resident in the United States, to investigate alleged violations of said laws, and when prosecution is deemed advisable to submit evidence for that purpose to the appropriate United States district attorneys.

Under the provisions of the act of June 29, 1906, naturalization jurisdiction was conferred upon certain specified United States and State courts. The Service exercises administrative supervision over the clerks of these courts in naturalization matters, and requires an accounting for all naturalization fees collected by them. Through its field officers, located in various cities in the United States, the Service investigates the qualifications of candidates for citizenship and represents the Government at the hearings of petitions for naturalization.

CHILDREN'S BUREAU

The act establishing the Bureau provides that it shall investigate and report upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life among all classes of our people, and shall especially investigate the questions of infant mortality, the birth rate, orphanage, juvenile courts, desertion, dangerous occupations, accidents, and diseases of children, employment, and legislation affecting children in the several States and Territories. The Bureau is also empowered to publish the results of these investigations in such manner and to such extent as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

Under the Social Security Act of 1935 the Children's Bureau was given responsibility for administration of parts 1, 2, and 3 of title V of the act, containing provisions for maternal and child-health services, services for crippled children, and child-welfare services.

WOMEN'S BUREAU

This Bureau was established as a statutory bureau under act of June 5, 1920, "An act to establish in the Department of Labor a bureau to be known as the Women's Bureau " Its functions are to formulate standards and policies to promote the welfare of wage-earning women, to improve their working conditions, increase their efficiency, and advance their opportunity for profitable employment The Bureau has authority to investigate and report to the Department upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of women in industry The Director of the Bureau publishes the results of these investigations in the manner and to such extent as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe

This Bureau, formerly known as the Women in Industry Service, organized in July 1918, was established by an appropriation in the act providing for the sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, its function being to serve as a policy-forming and advisory body during the war emergency, whose special duty was to develop in the industries of the country policies and methods for the most effective use of women's services in production, and safeguarding such employment from injurious conditions This service was continued by appropriation during the following year and until it became a statutory bureau by the act of Congress above quoted

INDEPENDENT OFFICES, AGENCIES, AND ESTABLISHMENTS

ALLEY DWELLING AUTHORITY FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, THE

The Alley Dwelling Authority is the public housing agency for the District of Columbia. As such, it reclaims slums and provides dwellings for families of low income whose housing needs are not adequately met by private enterprise.

The Authority was established under the terms of the District of Columbia Alley Dwelling Act, approved June 12, 1934 (48 Stat. 930), amendments to this act were approved on June 25, 1938 (Public Law No. 733, 75th Cong.).

Members of the Authority were designated, and their duties generally outlined, in Executive Order No. 6868, October 9, 1934, which was amended by Executive Order No. 7784-A, January 5, 1938, and by Executive Order No. 8033, dated January 11, 1939. The Authority consists of the chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the Architect of the Capitol, and the director of planning of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The Authority's operations originally were restricted to squares containing inhabited alleys, so that these hidden communities—the characteristic slums of Washington—could be eliminated and their sites reclaimed. Amendments to the Alley Dwelling Act enlarge the alley slum reclamation program and permit the Authority to acquire sites in the District elsewhere than in “alley” squares, for the purpose of providing dwellings for persons or families substantially equal in number to those whose houses the Authority may demolish.

The amendments to the act were necessitated by the Authority's past and prospective demolitions of slum dwellings on sites unsuitable for residential redevelopment. In such instances, the Authority has reclaimed the cleared sites for nonresidential uses in harmony with the character of their neighborhoods, but a serious housing shortage would be caused if the Authority were unable to build compensatory housing in other areas.

The Authority may acquire sites by purchase, gift, or condemnation. It is authorized to replat land so acquired, to install public services, and to make such use of the sites as may be necessary, to lease, rent, maintain, equip, manage, exchange, sell, or convey any of its holdings—land or buildings—for such amounts and on such terms and conditions as it may determine.

The Authority may transfer to the Federal Government or the District government for public use any of its holdings on the payment to the Authority of their reasonable value. The Authority also may make loans to limited-dividend corporations or to home owners to enable them to acquire and develop sites on the property.

For the purposes of slum reclamation, the Authority is empowered to borrow an aggregate of $5,000,000 from the Treasury of the United States in five equal annual installments, beginning with the fiscal year 1939, such loans to bear interest at the going Federal rate. The Authority also may accept gifts of money from private sources, and may borrow funds from individuals or private corporations on the security of property and assets acquired under the act.

The act also permits the Authority to receive financial assistance from the United States Housing Authority to construct low-rent housing projects in accordance with the provisions of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

In addition to the foregoing, the United States Housing Act authorizes the President to make allocations of United States Housing Authority funds to the Alley Dwelling Authority for the purposes of the District of Columbia Alley Dwelling Act.

AMERICAN BATTLE MONUMENTS COMMISSION

The American Battle Monuments Commission was created by act of Congress approved March 4, 1923. It derives its authority from this and subsequent acts and Executive orders (U S C, title 36, ch 8, 48 Stat, pp 284-285, Executive Orders Nos 6614 and 6690).

The principal duties of the Commission are (1) To commemorate the services of the American forces in Europe during the World War by the erection of suitable memorials, by the preparation and publication of historical information and in other ways, (2) to administer and maintain the American national cemeteries and memorials in Europe, and (3) to exercise control over the erection of memorials in Europe by American citizens, States, municipalities, or associations.

The Commission's construction program, which is now completed, included the following (a) The erection of a memorial chapel in each of the 8 American cemeteries in Europe and the construction of service buildings, caretakers' houses, and masonry walls at the cemeteries where needed, (b) the improvement of the landscaping in these cemeteries, (c) the erection of 11 memorials outside of the cemeteries, and (d) the placing of 2 bronze memorial tablets.

The Commission is responsible for the administration, supervision, and maintenance of the national cemeteries in Europe, containing the graves of 30,907 American dead, and of the chapels and other memorial features referred to above.

The Commission has prepared and published a book entitled "American Armies and Battlefields in Europe". This book, which was issued in April 1939, is a revision and elaboration of "A Guide to the American Battlefields in Europe" published by the Commission in 1927. It is the result of many years' effort and is a combined guide to the American World War battlefields in Europe and a concise history and reference work covering the activities of the American forces overseas during the period 1917-19. The book has 547 pages and is profusely illustrated, containing 561 official photographs from American, German, and Allied sources, 120 small maps and sketches, of which 27 are in color, 9 colored insert maps and charts, and 3 large-scale colored maps covering the operations of American divisions in the Aisne-Marne, St Mihiel, and Meuse-Argonne offensives. It is being sold by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D C, and by bookstores at $2.75 a copy. Other historical data are now in preparation, covering operations of American divisions during the World War. It is planned to publish these data during 1940. The Commission has taken numerous photographs showing the terrain of the various battlefields where American forces were engaged during the World War. These photographs, when assembled, will be of wide interest and of great value to historians.

Under agreements with the French and Belgian Governments, no World War memorials may be erected in those countries by Americans without the advance approval of the American Battle Monuments Commission. Although many reasons make it apparent that the number of such memorials should be restricted, the Commission's policy does not prevent it from approving such memorials if they are utilitarian in nature and meet other required standards.

BOARD OF TAX APPEALS, UNITED STATES

The Board of Tax Appeals was created by the Revenue Act of 1924 (Public, No 176, 68th Cong, June 2, 1924), and continued by the Revenue Act of 1926 (Public, No 20, 69th Cong, Feb 26, 1926).

It is an independent agency in the executive branch of the Government, with principal office at Washington.

Its function is to redetermine, after hearing, deficiencies determined by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in income, profits, estate, gift, and unjust enrichment taxes, and personal holding company surtaxes. It also adjudicates controversies relating to excess profits on Navy contracts, under the Vinson Act, and on Army aircraft contracts under the National Defense Act, April 3, 1939. Proceedings are public and are conducted judicially, in accordance with its rules of practice and the rules of evidence applicable in the courts of equity of the District of Columbia. A fee of $10 is prescribed for the filing of a petition. Hearings are held at Washington and, for the convenience of taxpayers, at other places within the United States. Practice is limited to practitioners enrolled under the rules.

The Board's published reports are printed and bound by the Government Printing Office and are available, separately or in bound volumes, as public documents, at listed prices

Decisions are subject to review by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the prescribed circuit, or, by agreement, by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, and thereafter by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari

The Board is composed of 16 members, each of whom comprises a division to hear and decide cases, division decisions being reviewable by the full board at the chairman's direction. The chairman is designated by election of the members. Members are appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for 12 years, in groups of four. They are removable by the President, after public hearing, for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office, but for no other cause

CIVIL AERONAUTICS AUTHORITY

The Civil Aeronautics Authority was created by the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, approved June 23, 1938, "to promote the development and safety and to provide for the regulation of civil aeronautics"

The act provided for the transfer to the new agency of the personnel, property, and unexpended balances of appropriations of the Bureau of Air Commerce of the Department of Commerce and of the Bureau of Air Mail of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This was accomplished by Executive order on August 22, 1938

PURPOSE

The declaration of policy found in section 2 of the act directs the Civil Aeronautics Authority, in exercising its powers, to "consider the following, among other things, as being in the public interest and in accordance with the public convenience and necessity—

"(a) The encouragement and development of an air-transportation system properly adapted to the present and future needs of the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States, of the Postal Service, and of the national defense,

"(b) The regulation of air transportation in such manner as to recognize and preserve the inherent advantages of, assure the highest degree of safety in, and foster sound economic conditions in, such transportation, and to improve the relations between, and coordinate transportation by, air carriers,

"(c) The promotion of adequate, economical, and efficient service by air carriers at reasonable charges, without unjust discriminations, undue preferences or advantages, or unfair or destructive competitive practices,

"(d) Competition to the extent necessary to assure the sound development of an air-transportation system properly adapted to the needs of the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States, of the Postal Service, and of the national defense,

"(e) The regulation of air commerce in such manner as to best promote its development and safety, and

"(f) The encouragement and development of civil aeronautics"

ORGANIZATION

The Authority is composed of five members, appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. One is annually designated by the President as chairman and one as vice chairman. The first appointees are named for 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 years, their successors to be named for 6 years. Not more than three members may be of the same political party.

The Administrator is appointed in the Authority by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The three members of the Air Safety Board are appointed within the Authority by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, initially for 2, 4, and 6 years, and thereafter for 6 years. The Board annually chooses its chairman. One member of the Board must be "an active airline pilot and shall have flown not less than 3,000 hours in scheduled air transportation"

ACTIVITIES

Economic regulation—The Authority issues certificates of convenience and necessity to air carriers and permits to foreign air carriers, receives tariffs filed by air carriers, regulates rates for the carriage of passengers and property, prescribes rates of compensation for the carriage of mail, regulates accounts, records and reports, mergers, loans and financial aids, and interlocking officers and directors.

Safety regulation—This involves the issuance of safety certificates and other aeronautical documents, maintenance of records of persons and things subject to regulation, investigation incident to certificate denial, suspension, revocation, and penalties, enforcement of rules and regulations, conformity of aircraft engineering data with airworthiness requirements, examination and inspection of interstate, overseas, and foreign scheduled airline operations, examination of persons and matériel for rating and certification, and the prescribing of air traffic rules and other regulations relating to safety in air commerce. A special division has been created for private flying development through the prescribing and supervision of courses for pilot training in established educational institutions, the study of regulations in their application to private flying and the encouragement of private flying in general.

Pilot training—Under mandate of the Civilian Pilot Training Act of 1939, the Authority is presently conducting at some 437 colleges throughout the United States a program for the training of more than 9,000 young men and women students as private pilots. In addition, ground-school training has been furnished by the Authority to several thousand noncollege Americans, from among whom nearly 800, selected on a strictly competitive basis, are receiving the identical flight training as the college students.

Statistics and information—Collection and dissemination of information relative to the development of air commerce and the aeronautical industry and trade and other aeronautical activities, compilation and publication of statistics and other data pertinent to aviation development, compilation and distribution to airmen of current information pertaining to airports and air navigation facilities on civil airways, and general correspondence.

Federal airways—This activity involves the preparation of plans for aids to air navigation, obtaining sites therefor, negotiation of contracts for electric, telephone, and other utility services, planning and supervision of construction of navigational aids, radio engineering of a nonexperimental character, and maintenance of navigational aids, supervision of airway communications, including establishment of schedules, teletype circuits, radio frequency allocations, and station complements, supervision of air traffic control, procedures, techniques, operations stations, and station complements. A technical development division conducts research and special studies in perfecting a program of long range development of civil aeronautics, air transport operation studies, including pilot and crew efficiency, passenger comfort and safety, and ground control, studies in power plant, accessories, and instrument development, with particular emphasis on radio air navigational facilities, and lends technical assistance in the development of airports.

AIR SAFETY BOARD

The activities of the Air Safety Board have to do with the investigation of accidents and reporting to the Authority on the facts, circumstances, and probable causes thereof, recommendations to the Authority of measures to prevent recurrences of such accidents, the making public of its reports and recommendations in such manner as it deems to be in the public interest, and assisting the Authority when requested, by investigating complaints and conducting special studies and investigations to reduce accidents and prevent their recurrence.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

The purpose of the Civil Service Act (Jan 16, 1883), as declared in its title, is "to regulate and improve the civil service of the United States." It provides for the appointment of three commissioners, not more than two of whom shall be adherents of the same political party, and makes it the duty of the Commission to aid the President, as he may request, in preparing suitable rules for carrying the act into effect. The act requires that, as nearly as the conditions of good administration will warrant, the rules shall provide, among other things, for open competitive examinations for testing the fitness of applicants for the classified service, the making of appointments from among those passing with highest grades, and apportionment of appointments in the departments at Washington among the States and Territories, and a period of probation before absolute appointment. It prohibits the use of official authority to coerce the political action of any person or body. The act also provides for investigations touching the enforcement of the rules, and forbids, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both, the solicitation by any person in the service of the United States of contributions to be used for political purposes from persons in such service, or the collection of such contributions by any person in a Government building.

The Retirement Act of May 22, 1920, as amended, places under the Commission the entire administration of that act. The Commission also administers the Canal Zone Retirement Act and the Alaska Railroad Retirement Act.

The Commission was organized on March 9, 1883. The first classification of the service applied to the departments at Washington and to post offices and customhouses having as many as 50 employees, embracing 13,924 employees. On June 30, 1939, there were 920,310 employees holding formal appointments in the Federal executive civil service. Of this number 123,364 were employed in the District of Columbia. On June 30, 1939, there were 622,832 positions in the classified service subject to competitive examination.

Examinations are held in the principal cities throughout the country through the agency of local boards of examiners, of which there are approximately 5,000. The members of these boards are detailed from other branches of the service.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939, the Commission examined 501,456 applicants, and 69,705 appointments were made.

The Commission also holds examinations in the Canal Zone, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Under the rules, the Commission is required to render all practicable assistance to the Philippine Civil Service Bureau, and it may, if required, announce examinations for positions in the Philippine Islands.

Appointments of unskilled laborers in the departments at Washington and in all branches of the service in certain other cities and certain branches of the service in all cities are required to be made in accordance with regulations promulgated by the President, restricting appointments to applicants who are rated highest in physical condition. This system is outside the Civil Service Act and is auxiliary to the civil-service rules.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR AND CHIEF EXAMINER

Serves as the chief technical and executive officer of the Commission, plans, directs, controls, and is responsible for the technical and administrative work of the various divisions, field offices, and local boards of examiners, and the Commission's business and fiscal operations, serves as the principal consultant to the Commissioners and formulates and develops matters of policy, interpretation, and procedure.

maintenance of stocks and distribution, supervision of matters pertaining to quarters of the Commission in Washington, D. C., in cooperation with the National Park Service, operation of duplicating and photostat machines

BUDGET AND PLANNING DIVISION

Has charge of the over-all planning activities, conduct of all budgetary matters, and the responsibility for the correlation of the various planning programs of the Commission

INFORMATION AND RECRUITING DIVISION

Prepares and revises all information material, prepares newspaper releases, edits forms and examination announcements, conducts programs for recruitment of applicants, prepares correspondence on pending examinations and topics of general civil-service interest, maintains public information rooms, handles public relations

COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS

By act approved May 17, 1910, Congress created as a permanent body the National Commission of Fine Arts. The Commission is "composed of seven well-qualified judges of the fine arts," who are appointed by the President and serve for a period of 4 years each, and until their successors are appointed and qualified

Under the provisions of this organic act Congress directs that "It shall be the duty of the Commission to advise upon the location of statues, fountains, and monuments in the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia, and upon the selection of models for statues, fountains, and monuments erected under the authority of the United States and upon the selection of the artists for the execution of same. It shall be the duty of the officer charged by law to determine such questions in each case to call for such advice. The foregoing provisions of this act shall not apply to the Capitol Building of the United States and the building of the Library of Congress. The Commission shall also advise generally upon questions of art when required to do so by the President or by any committee of either House of Congress."

By Executive order dated October 25, 1910, the President directed that "Plans for no public building to be erected in the District of Columbia for the General Government shall be hereafter finally approved by the officer duly authorized until after such officer shall have submitted the plans to the Commission of Fine Arts created under the act of Congress of May 17, 1910, for its comment and advice."

On February 2, 1912, the President directed the Commission to advise the officer in charge of public buildings and grounds in regard to the improvement of any of the grounds in the city of Washington under his charge whenever such advice is asked for by that officer. That officer now uniformly consults the Commission regarding details of the development of all the parks and reservations under his control.

On November 28, 1913, the President issued the following Executive order: "It is hereby ordered that whenever new structures are to be erected in the District of Columbia under the direction of the Federal Government which affect in any important way the appearance of the city, or whenever questions involving matters of art and with which the Federal Government is concerned are to be determined, final action shall not be taken until such plans and questions have been submitted to the Commission of Fine Arts designated under the act of Congress of May 17, 1910, for comment and advice."

On July 28, 1921, the President issued the following Executive order: "It is hereby ordered that essential matters relating to the design of medals, insignia, and coins produced by the executive departments, also the design of statues, fountains, and monuments, and all important plans for parks and all public buildings, constructed by the executive departments or the District of Columbia, which in any essential way affect the appearance of the city of Washington, or the District of Columbia, shall be submitted to the Commission of Fine Arts for advice as to the merits of such designs before the executive officer having charge of the same shall approve thereof."

In order that the development of the District of Columbia may proceed harmoniously both under Federal and District jurisdictions, the President has requested the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia to consult the Commission of Fine Arts on matters of art falling under their jurisdiction and control

The duties of the Commission, therefore, now embrace advising upon the location of statues, fountains, and monuments in the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia, upon the selection of models for statues, fountains, and monuments erected under the authority of the United States, and the selection of the artists for their execution, also for medals, insignia, and coins, upon the plans and designs for public structures and parks in the District of Columbia, as well as upon all questions involving matters of art with which the Federal Government is concerned. In addition the Commission advises upon general questions of art whenever requested to do so by the President or any committee of Congress.

The creation of the National Commission of Fine Arts in 1910 was the outcome of the Senate Park Commission of 1901, which presented plans for the development of the park system of the District of Columbia and the location of future Government buildings and memorials. These plans of 1901 were based on the plan of the National Capital prepared by Pierre Charles L'Enfant in 1792 under the direction of President Washington. The Commission of Fine Arts has been guided by the fundamental plan of 1901, which aims to secure the progressive development of Washington as the well-ordered, unified, and grand capital of a great nation.

The height, color, and design of private buildings facing public buildings and public parks in certain mapped areas in the District of Columbia are subject to the advice of the Commission, as provided in the act of May 16, 1930, known as the Shipstead-Luce Act.

The advice of the Commission of Fine Arts must be requested in the selection of lands to be acquired, under the act of Congress approved June 6, 1924, as amended, by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission for the park, parkway, and playground system in the District of Columbia and adjacent areas in Maryland and Virginia.

In the will of Charles L. Freer, giving the Smithsonian Institution the building for the Freer Gallery, together with his collections of far eastern art, and an endowment for the increase thereof, it is stipulated that purchases shall have the approval of the National Commission of Fine Arts.

The Congress in various legislation has required the advice of the Commission on the design and location of special monuments, memorials, and other works of commemorative art.

COMMITTEE FOR RECIPROCITY INFORMATION

The Committee for Reciprocity Information was created by Executive order in June 1934 to carry out the provisions of section 4 of the act entitled "Promotion of Foreign Trade," under which the President is authorized to enter into trade agreements with foreign countries. This section provides that before any foreign-trade agreement is concluded public notice of the negotiations shall be given in order that any interested person may have the opportunity of presenting his views to the President or to such agency as the President may designate.

The President designated the Committee for Reciprocity Information as the body to receive the views of interested parties. This Committee is composed of representatives from those Government departments or agencies concerned with the operation of the Trade Agreements Act. Its chairman is one of the members of the Committee and is named by the Executive Committee on Commercial Policy. Under the rules promulgated by the Committee for Reciprocity Information, those wishing to present information or requests for consideration in connection with announcements as to proposed negotiations may file their material with the Committee, and may request permission to present supplementary information at the hearing which the Committee holds on each trade agreement.

The Committee also receives information on any phase of the trade agreements program, whether relating to the operation of an agreement already made or to one under consideration, and such views may be presented verbally or by letter.

COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE, UNITED STATES

The Council of National Defense, composed of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor, was charged by the act of August 29, 1916, among other things, with the "coordination of industries and resources for the national security and welfare" and with the "creation of relations which will render possible in time of need the immediate concentration and utilization of the resources of the Nation." No appropriations have been made for nor any meetings held by the council since the fiscal year 1921. The Assistant Secretary of War is charged by law (act of June 4, 1920) with the "assurance of adequate provision for the mobilization of matériel and industrial organizations essential to wartime needs." The records of the Council of National Defense, as well as those of the War Industries Board and the Committee on Public Information, are now under the jurisdiction of the Archivist of the United States.

COURT OF CLAIMS OF THE UNITED STATES

This court was established by act of Congress February 24, 1855 (10 Stat. L. 612). It has general jurisdiction (36 Stat. L. 1135) of all "claims founded upon the Constitution of the United States or any law of Congress, except for pensions, or upon any regulations of an executive department, or upon any contract, express or implied, with the Government of the United States, or for damages, liquidated or unliquidated, in cases not sounding in tort, in respect of which claims the party would be entitled to redress against the United States, either in a court of law, equity, or admiralty, if the United States were suable, except claims growing out of the late Civil War and commonly known as war claims," and certain rejected claims.

It has jurisdiction also of claims of like character which may be referred to it by the head of any executive department involving controverted questions of fact or law. In all the above-mentioned cases the court, when it finds for the claimant, may enter judgment against the United States, payable out of the Public Treasury.

Under section 3 of the act of February 13, 1925, the Court of Claims may certify to the Supreme Court any definite and distinct questions of law concerning which instructions are desired for the proper disposition of the cause, and also in any case the Supreme Court upon the petition of either party may require by certiorari that the cause be certified to it for review and determination.

It also has jurisdiction of the claims of disbursing officers of the United States for relief from responsibility for losses of Government funds and property by capture or otherwise, without negligence, while in the line of duty.

There is a statute of limitations which prevents parties from bringing actions on their own motion beyond 6 years after the cause of action accrued, but the departments may refer claims at any time if they were pending therein within the 6 years.

By the act of March 2, 1919 (40 Stat. 772), known as the Dent Act, the Court of Claims is given jurisdiction of the class of war claims therein specified. In these cases the action of the Secretary of War upon the claim, or his failure to act thereon, is a condition precedent to the right of the claimant to commence an action in the Court of Claims.

The court also has jurisdiction of actions provided for by certain statutes passed during the last war permitting the seizure of property by the Government.

By section 151, Judicial Code (36 Stat. L. 1135), whenever any bill, except for a pension, is pending in either House of Congress providing for the payment of a claim against the United States, legal or equitable, or for a grant, gift, or bounty to any person, the House in which such bill is pending may, for the investigation and determination of facts, refer the same to the Court of Claims, which shall proceed with the same in accordance with such rules as it may adopt and report to such House the facts in the case and the amount, where the same can be liquidated, including any facts bearing upon the question whether there has been delay or laches in presenting such claim or applying for such grant, gift, or bounty, and any facts bearing upon the question whether the bar of any statute of limitation should be removed or which shall be claimed to excuse the claimant for not having resorted to any established legal remedy, together with such conclusions as shall be sufficient to inform Congress of the nature and character of the demand, either as a claim, legal or equitable, or as a gratuity against the United States, and the amount, if any, legally or equitably due from the United States to the claimant. Provided, however, That if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court upon the facts established that under existing laws or the provisions of this chapter, the subject matter of the bill is such that it has jurisdiction to render judgment or decree thereon, it shall proceed to do so, giving to either party such further opportunity for hearing as in its judgment justice shall require, and it shall report its proceedings therein to the House of Congress by which the same was referred to said court.

Section 5, act of March 4, 1915 (38 Stat. 996), provides "That from and after the passage and approval of this act the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims shall not extend to or include any claim against the United States based upon or growing out of the destruction of any property or damage done to any property by the military or naval forces of the United States during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, nor to any claim for stores and supplies taken by or furnished to or for the use of the military or naval forces of the United States, nor to any claim for the value of any use and occupation of any real estate by the military or naval forces of the United States during said war, nor shall said Court of Claims have jurisdiction of any claim which is now barred by the provisions of any law of the United States.

By act of March 3, 1891, chapter 538 (26 Stat. L. 851, and Supplement to R. S., 2d ed., p. 913), the court is vested with jurisdiction of certain Indian depredation claims.

The act of June 25, 1910, chapter 423 (36 Stat. L. 851-852), "An act to provide additional protection for owners of patents of the United States, and for other purposes," conferred a new jurisdiction.

There are five judges, who sit together in the hearing of cases, the concurrence of three of whom is necessary for the decision of any case.

All claims are prosecuted in the Court of Claims by an action commenced by the filing of a petition and prosecuted in accordance with the rules of the court, copies of which rules can be obtained upon application to the clerk of the court.

The court is located at Washington, D. C., in the old Corcoran Art Building, Seventeenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue. The term begins on the first Monday in December each year and continues until the Saturday before the first Monday in December. Cases may be commenced and entered at any time, whether the court be in session or not.

EMPLOYEES' COMPENSATION COMMISSION, UNITED STATES

The United States Employees' Compensation Commission was created by the act of Congress approved September 7, 1916 (U. S. C., title 5, ch. 15). This act assures compensation, including reasonable medical and hospital treatment, to all civil employees (unclassified as well as classified) of the Federal Government, employees of the District of Columbia except firemen and policemen, and officers and enlisted men of the Naval Reserve and members of the Officers' Reserve Corps and of the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Army on authorized training duty in time of peace, who sustain personal injuries while in the performance of their duties, but no compensation is paid if the injury is caused by the wilful misconduct of the employee or by his intention to bring about the injury or death of himself or of another, or if intoxication of the injured employee is the proximate cause of the injury or death. This compensation law, subject to certain modifications limiting the measure of benefits, has been made applicable to enrollees in the Civilian Conservation Corps, employees of the Civil Works Administration, personnel employed as civil employees of the United States on projects financed by funds provided by the Federal Emergency Relief Appropriation Acts of 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939 and certain persons receiving assistance from the National Youth Administration. To obtain the medical and hospital treatment, the employee shall be sent to the nearest United States medical officer or hospital, but if this is not practicable, to the nearest physician or hospital designated by the United States Employees' Compensation Commission, or when neither of these is available, to the nearest physician or hospital.

The monthly compensation for total disability shall not be more than $116.66 nor less than $58.33, unless the employee's monthly pay is less than the latter amount, in which case his compensation shall be the full amount of his monthly pay. Beneficiaries receiving compensation under an award for permanent total disability, which renders them so helpless as to require the constant services of an attendant, may receive additional compensation at a rate not in excess of $50 per month. The maximum monthly compensation for persons employed on work-relief projects was increased from $25 to $30 on June 29, 1937, and to $50 on June 21, 1938.

Payment shall be made for partial disability equal to 66⅔ percent of the difference between the employee's monthly pay and his earning capacity after the disability. Employees on work-relief projects are entitled to compensation in accordance with a special schedule covering specific injuries.

In case of death the compensation shall be paid the widow or widower, to dependent children under the age of 18 years, to dependent parents or grandparents, and to other dependents under certain conditions. All claims for compensation must be filed within 1 year.

By Executive orders the administration of the Compensation Act so far as it relates to the Panama Canal employees and employees of the Alaska Railroad has been placed under the heads of those organizations. Decisions of the manager of the Alaska Railroad are subject to review by the Commission upon appeal.

The Commission also administers the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, approved March 4, 1927. This act covers employees in private industries engaged in maritime employment on the navigable waters of the United States (including drydocks) who sustain injury or death arising out of, and in course of, employment. These employees are mostly longshoremen and men engaged in repair work on vessels. It does not include the master or members of the crews of vessels, nor persons engaged by the master to load or unload or repair vessels under 18 tons. The compensation features of the act were effective July 1, 1927. Compensation is paid by the employer and the cost of administration by the United States.

On and after July 1, 1927, every employer having employees coming under the provisions of the act is required to secure payment of compensation by insurance in a company authorized by the Commission or self-insurance authorized by the Commission. A heavy penalty is provided for failure to secure compensation. A severe penalty is also provided for the employing of any stevedoring firm which does not present a certificate of compliance.

The Commission is required to make the rules and regulations under this act, prescribe forms, establish compensation districts, and appoint and assign Deputy Commissioners to such districts. The Deputy Commissioners are required to issue certificates of compliance with insurance provisions, enforce requirements as to reports and penalties, regulate medical and legal fees, hold hearings when necessary or demanded by either party, make investigations, allow or disallow claims, examine settlements when hearings are not required to see that the injured employee has received the benefits of the law, take action in case of default in payment, and certify records upon appeal to the courts. Appeal to the Federal courts from the decision of the Deputy Commissioner may be had upon questions of law.

Compensation for total disability is two-thirds of the average weekly pay, not to exceed a maximum of $25 per week, with a minimum of $8 per week. There is a schedule of benefits for permanent partial disability. Death benefits are payable to the widow until remarriage and to children until they reach the age of 18, also to other dependents under certain circumstances. Reasonable funeral expenses not to exceed $200 are provided. The total compensation payable for injury or death in any one case shall not exceed the sum of $7,500.

The act approved May 17, 1928, which became effective July 1, 1928, made applicable to employers and employees in the District of Columbia the provisions of the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, thus extending the principles of workmen's compensation to employment in the District of Columbia.

The act excludes from its benefits the master and a member of a crew of any vessel, such men having the rights known as maintenance and cure and the rights given by the Federal Employers' Liability Act, the employees of railroads when engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, who are also specifically provided for by the Federal Employers' Liability Act, and employees engaged in domestic service or agriculture, and those engaged in casual employment not in the usual course of the trade, business, occupation, or profession of the employer.

Compensation is paid by the employer through an insurance carrier authorized by the Commission or direct as a self-insurer under conditions prescribed by the Commission.

FEDERAL BOARD OF HOSPITALIZATION

It is the duty of the Board to give consideration to, and make recommendations on, questions which may arise concerning the proper coordination of the Federal hospital facilities, with particular reference to (a) the use of existing facilities and (b) the construction of additional facilities

The Board acts upon matters relating to hospitalization in so far as they pertain to the Federal Government when such matters are referred to it either by the President, the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, the head of any Government agency, or the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs

FEDERAL BOARD OF SURVEYS AND MAPS

The Board of Surveys and Maps was constituted by Executive order of December 30, 1919, to coordinate the activities of the various map-making agencies of the Government. Amendatory Executive order of January 4, 1936, designates it as the Federal Board of Surveys and Maps, and extends its advisory powers to include independent establishments as well as executive departments. The various executive departments and independent establishments are requested to make full use of the Board as an advisory body and to furnish all available information and data called for by the Board. Meetings are held at stated intervals, to which representatives of the map-using public are invited for the purpose of conference and advice. A Map Information Office has been established under the Board in the Geological Survey for the purpose of collecting, classifying, and furnishing to the public information concerning all map, survey, and aerial photographic data available in the various Government agencies and elsewhere

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

The Federal Communications Commission was created by an act of Congress approved June 19, 1934. The Commission is composed of seven commissioners. The duties of the Commission have to do with the regulation of interstate and foreign commerce in communication by wire and radio. The Commission is assisted by a secretary of the whole Commission, a general counsel, a chief engineer, and a chief accountant. The Commission, when necessary, holds hearings on applications for facilities under its jurisdiction.

Upon enactment into law of the Communications Act, the Federal Radio Commission was abolished and its records and property transferred to the Federal Communications Commission. Also, all duties, powers, and functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission under the act of August 7, 1888 (25 Stat. 382), relating to operation of telegraph lines by railroad and telegraph companies granted Government aid in the construction of their lines, are hereby imposed upon and vested in the Commission. Provided, That such transfer of duties, powers, and functions shall not be construed to affect the duties, powers, functions, or jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission under, or to interfere with or prevent the enforcement of, the Interstate Commerce Act and all acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto. All duties, powers, and functions of the Postmaster General with respect to telegraph companies and telegraph lines under any existing provision of law are hereby imposed upon and vested in the Commission.

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation was organized under authority of the Banking Act of 1933, approved by the President on June 16, 1933 (Public, No. 66, 73d Cong.). This act was amended by Public, No. 362, approved June 16, 1934 (73d Cong.), by Public Resolution No. 38, approved June 28, 1935 (74th Cong.), by the Banking Act of 1935, approved August 23, 1935 (Public, No. 305, 74th Cong.), and by Public Resolution No. 83, approved April 21, 1936 (74th Cong.).

The management of the Corporation is vested in a board of directors of three members, two of whom are appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, the third member being the Comptroller of the Currency.

The capital stock of the Corporation, according to the requirements of law, is as follows: The Treasury of the United States has subscribed $150,000,000. Each Federal Reserve bank has subscribed to stock in an amount equal to one-half of the surplus of such bank on January 1, 1933, the total amount of such subscription being $139,299,556.99.

The chief function of the Corporation is to insure the deposits of all banks which are entitled to the benefits of insurance under the law, to the extent of $5,000 for each depositor. All national banks and all Federal Reserve member banks are insured under the law, and any bank located in the States of the United States and the District of Columbia which is not a member of the Federal Reserve System, may become insured upon application to and examination by the Corporation, and approval by the board of directors. The benefits of insurance are also extended to banks in Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The creation of an insurance reserve is provided for through annual assessment at the rate of one-twelfth of 1 percent upon the average deposits, less authorized deductions, of each insured bank.

A second function of the Corporation is to act as receiver for insured banks which fail. The Corporation is appointed receiver for all national banks which fail and may be appointed receiver for closed insured State banks if such appointment is tendered by the State banking authority and is permitted by State law. Upon the closing of an insured bank, the Corporation immediately assumes the insured deposit liability of the closed bank and makes available the funds needed to discharge such liability. For this purpose the Corporation may, if it finds that it is advisable, organize a new national bank. The claim of each insured depositor is paid upon assignment to the Corporation by him of all rights to dividends and recoveries on account, and to the extent of his insured deposit.

Further, the Corporation may make loans secured by assets of an open or closed insured bank, or may purchase such assets, or may guarantee any other insured bank against loss by reason of its assuming the liabilities of another open or closed insured bank, whenever, in the judgment of the board of directors, such action will reduce the risk or avert threatened loss to the Corporation and facilitate a merger or consolidation of an insured bank with another insured bank.

Of the 15,131 operating banks in the United States and possessions on June 30, 1939, deposits in 13,620 banks, including 49 mutual savings banks, were insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. As of that date 6,330 banks, members of the Federal Reserve System, had been automatically admitted to membership, and 7,241 nonmember banks, other than mutual savings banks, had made application and had been accepted for membership.

FEDERAL LOAN AGENCY

The Federal Loan Administrator, head of the Federal Loan Agency, supervises the administration, and is responsible for the coordination of the functions and activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Electric Home and Farm Authority, The RFC Mortgage Company, Disaster Loan Corporation, Federal National Mortgage Association, Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Home Owners' Loan Corporation, Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, Federal Housing Administration, and Export-Import Bank of Washington.

RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created by "An act to provide emergency financing facilities for financial institutions, to aid in financing agriculture, commerce, and industry, and for other purposes," approved January 22, 1932. This basic law, however, was amended, and the Corporation's powers were increased and the scope of its operations extended by subsequent legislation. The Corporation may perform all functions it is authorized to perform under law until the close of business June 30, 1941. The President, however, may authorize the Directors of the Corporation to suspend the exercise of any lending authority for such time or times as he may deem advisable.

ORGANIZATION

The Corporation was organized and began operations on February 2, 1932. Its management is vested in a board of directors consisting of five persons appointed by the President of the United States by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Corporation functions through a principal office at Washington and loan agencies established in cities throughout the United States. In addition, the Corporation has special representatives at Salt Lake City, Utah, and San Juan, P. R.

The Federal Reserve banks act as depositories, custodians, and fiscal agents for the Corporation. Since there is no Federal Reserve bank in Puerto Rico, the insular treasurer at San Juan acts as custodian.

The funds of the Corporation are kept on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States.

LOANS UNDER SECTION 5 OF THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION ACT, AS AMENDED

TO FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, STATE INSURANCE FUNDS, AND RAILROADS

Pursuant to the provisions of section 5 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, the Corporation is authorized to make loans, on full and adequate security and upon the terms and conditions stated in the law, to any bank, savings bank, trust company, building and loan association, insurance company, mortgage-loan company, credit union, Federal land bank, joint-stock land bank, Federal intermediate credit bank, agricultural credit corporation, livestock credit corporation, organized under the laws of any State, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or the United States, including loans secured by the assets of any bank, savings bank, or building and loan association that is closed, or in process of liquidation, to aid in the reorganization or liquidation thereof, upon application of the receiver or liquidating agent of such institution, any State insurance fund established or created by the laws of any State (including Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) for the purpose of paying or insuring payment of compensation to injured workmen and those disabled as a result of disease contracted in the course of their employment, or to their dependents, and any fund created by any State (including Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) for the purpose of insuring the repayment of deposits of public moneys of such State, or any of its political subdivisions, in banks or depositories qualified under the law of such State to receive such deposits.

Under the same section of law, as amended, the Corporation, with the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, including approval of the price to be paid, may, to aid in the financing, reorganization, consolidation, maintenance, or construction thereof, purchase for itself, or for account of a railroad obligated thereon, the obligations of railroads engaged in interstate commerce, including equipment-trust certificates, or guarantee the payment of the principal of, and/or interest on, such obligations, including equipment-trust certificates, or when, in the opinion of the Corporation, funds are not available on reasonable terms from private channels, make loans, upon full and adequate security, to such railroads or to receivers or trustees thereof for the aforesaid purposes. In the case of loans to or the purchase or guarantee of obligations, including equipment-trust certificates, of railroads not in receivership or trusteeship, the Interstate Commerce Commission shall, in connection with its approval thereof, also certify that such railroad, on the basis of present or prospective earnings, may reasonably be expected to meet its fixed charges, without a reduction thereof through judicial reorganization, except that such certificate shall not be required in case of such loans made for the maintenance of, or purchase of equipment for, such railroads. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, provides that in respect of loans or renewals or extensions of loans or purchases of obligations under section 5 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, to or of railroads, the Corporation may require as a condition of making any such loan or renewal or extension for a period longer than 5 years, or purchasing any such obligation maturing later than 5 years from the date of purchase by the Corporation, that such arrangements be made for the reduction or amortization of the indebtedness of the railroad, either in whole or in part, as may be approved by the Corporation after the prior approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

TO PARTIES TO MARKETING AGREEMENTS

Section 8b of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, approved May 12, 1933, as amended, authorized the Corporation to make loans under section 5 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, to parties to any marketing agreement entered into by the Secretary of Agriculture with processors, producers, associations of producers, and others engaged in the handling of any agricultural commodity or product thereof, only with respect to such handling, however, as is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or which directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate or foreign commerce in such commodity or product thereof for the purpose of carrying out any such agreement

TO THE FISHING INDUSTRY

Section 15 of the act of Congress approved June 19, 1934, authorizes the Corporation to make loans under section 5 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, to any person, association, or corporation organized under the laws of any State, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, or Puerto Rico, for the purpose of financing the production, storage, handling, packing, processing, carrying and/or orderly marketing of fish of American fisheries and/or products thereof

No loans or advances may be made under section 5 upon foreign securities or foreign acceptances as collateral or for the purpose of assisting in the carrying or liquidation of such foreign securities and foreign acceptances

Section 4 of the act approved June 10, 1933, provides that the Corporation shall not make, renew, or extend any loan under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, or under the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, (1) If at the time of making, renewing, or extending such loan any officer, director, or employee of the applicant is receiving compensation at a rate in excess of what appears reasonable to the Corporation, and (2) unless at such time the applicant agrees to the satisfaction of the Corporation not to increase the compensation of any of its officers, directors, or employees to any amount in excess of what appears reasonable to the Corporation while such loan is outstanding and unpaid

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR PREFERRED STOCK OF NATIONAL OR STATE BANKS OR TRUST COMPANIES, LOANS SECURED BY SUCH STOCK AS COLLATERAL, OR PURCHASES OF CAPITAL NOTES OR DEBENTURES OF STATE BANKS OR TRUST COMPANIES

Pursuant to the provisions of section 304 of the act approved March 9, 1933, as amended, the Corporation is authorized to subscribe for preferred stock, exempt from double liability, in any National or State bank or trust company, upon the request of the Secretary of the Treasury with the approval of the President The Corporation also is authorized to make loans secured by the preferred stock of National or State banks or trust companies as collateral, upon the request of the Secretary of the Treasury with the approval of the President

In any case in which a State bank or trust company is not permitted, under the laws of the State in which it is located, to issue preferred stock exempt from double liability, or if such laws permit such issue of preferred stock only by unanimous consent of stockholders, the Corporation is authorized to purchase the legally issued capital notes or debentures of such State bank or trust company

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR PREFERRED STOCK AND PURCHASES OF CAPITAL NOTES, ETC., OF INSURANCE COMPANIES, AND LOANS SECURED BY SUCH STOCK OR NOTES, ETC., AS COLLATERAL

Pursuant to the provisions of the act approved June 10, 1933, as amended, the Corporation is authorized, upon the request of the Secretary of the Treasury with the approval of the President, to subscribe for preferred stock of any class, exempt from assessment or additional liability, in any insurance company of any State of the United States which is in need of funds for capital purposes either in connection with the organization of such company or otherwise, or to make loans secured by such stock as collateral

In the event that any such insurance company shall be incorporated under the laws of any State which does not permit it to issue preferred stock exempt from assessment or additional liability, or if such laws permit such issue of preferred stock only by unanimous consent of stockholders, or upon notice of more than 20 days, or if the insurance company is a mutual organization without capital stock, the Corporation is authorized, for the purposes indicated above, to purchase the legally issued capital notes of such insurance company, or, if the company is a mutual organization without capital stock, such other form or forms of indebtedness as the laws of the State under which such company is organized permit, or to make loans secured by such notes or such other form or forms of indebtedness as collateral, which may be subordinated in whole or in part or to any degree to claims of other creditors

The Corporation may not subscribe for any such preferred stock or purchase any such capital notes or make loans upon such stock or notes of any applicant insurance company (1) If at the time of such subscription, purchase, or loan, any officer, director, or employee of the applicant is receiving total compensation, including any salary, fee, bonus, commission, or other payment, direct or indirect, in money or otherwise, for personal services, in a sum in excess of $17,500 per annum from the applicant and/or any of its affiliates, and (2) unless at such time the applicant agrees to the satisfaction of the Corporation not to increase the compensation of any of its officers, directors, or employees, except with the consent of the Corporation and in no event to an amount exceeding $17,500 per annum, so long as preferred stock or capital notes, etc., are held by the Corporation

The total amount of loans outstanding, preferred stock subscribed for, and capital notes and such other form or forms of indebtedness purchased and held by the Corporation pursuant to the aforesaid provisions of law relating to insurance companies may not exceed $75,000,000 at any one time

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR OR LOANS UPON NONASSESSABLE STOCK, PURCHASES OF CAPITAL NOTES OR DEBENTURES OF NATIONAL MORTGAGE ASSOCIATIONS, MORTGAGE LOAN COMPANIES, TRUST COMPANIES, SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS, AND OTHER SIMILAR FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

To assist in the establishment of a normal mortgage market, the Corporation, pursuant to section 5c of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, may, with the approval of the President, subscribe for or make loans upon non-assessable stock of any class of any national mortgage association organized under title III of the National Housing Act and of any mortgage loan company, trust company, savings and loan association, or similar financial institution now or hereafter incorporated under the laws of the United States, or of any State, or of the District of Columbia, the principal business of which institution is that of making loans upon mortgages, deeds of trust, or other instruments conveying, or constituting a lien upon, real estate or any interest therein. In any case in which, under the laws of its incorporation, such financial institution is not permitted to issue nonassessable stock, the Corporation may purchase the legally issued capital notes or debentures thereof

The total face amount of such loans outstanding, nonassessable stock subscribed for, and capital notes and debentures purchased and held by the Corporation may not exceed $100,000,000 at any one time

LOANS TO PUBLIC AGENCIES AND TO BUSINESS ENTERPRISES

For the purpose of maintaining and promoting the economic stability of the country or encouraging the employment of labor, the Corporation is authorized and empowered, pursuant to section 5d, Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, under such terms, conditions, and restrictions as the Corporation may determine, to make loans to, or contracts with, States, municipalities, and political subdivisions of States, with public agencies and instrumentalities of one or more States, municipalities, and political subdivisions of States, and with public corporations, boards, and commissions, to aid in financing projects authorized under Federal, State, or municipal law, such loans or contracts to be made through the purchase of their securities, or otherwise, and for such purpose the Corporation is authorized to bid for such securities. The Corporation is further authorized and empowered to purchase the securities and obligations of, and to make loans to, any business enterprise when capital or credit, at prevailing rates for the character of loan applied for, is not otherwise available. All such purchases of securities and obligations and all such loans shall be, in the opinion of the board of directors, of such sound value, or so secured, as reasonably to assure retirement or repayment, may be made or effected either directly or in cooperation with banks or other lending institutions through agreements to participate or by the purchase of participations, or otherwise, shall be made only when, in the opinion of the board of directors, the business enterprise is solvent, and shall be made under such terms, conditions, and restrictions as the Corporation may determine. In carrying out the provisions of this section, the Corporation may purchase securities and obligations and may make loans, with such maturities as the Corporation may determine, notwithstanding any other provision of law

LOANS TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF CERTAIN AGRICULTURAL IMPROVEMENT DISTRICTS, ETC., TO REDUCE AND REFINANCE OUTSTANDING INDEBTEDNESS, ETC

Section 36 of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended, authorizes the Corporation to make loans, not to exceed $125,000,000 in the aggregate, to or for the benefit of drainage districts, levee districts, levee and drainage districts, irrigation districts, and similar districts, mutual nonprofit companies and incorporated water users' associations duly organized under the laws of any State or Territory and to or for the benefit of political subdivisions of States and Territories which have purchased or propose to purchase or otherwise acquire projects or portions thereof devoted chiefly to the improvement of lands for agricultural purposes. Such loans shall be made for the following purposes:

1 To enable an applicant to reduce and refinance its outstanding indebtedness incurred in connection with its project,

2 To enable an applicant which has purchased or proposes to purchase or otherwise acquire projects or portions thereof devoted chiefly to the improvement of lands for agricultural purposes, to purchase, acquire, construct, or complete such a project or any part thereof or to purchase or acquire additional drainage, levee, or irrigation works, or property, rights, or appurtenances in connection therewith, and to repair, extend, or improve any such project or make such additions thereto as are consonant with or necessary or desirable for the proper functioning thereof or for the further assurance of the ability of the borrower to repay its loan. Such loans shall not permit additional or new land to be brought into production outside of the present boundaries of any established or reorganized irrigation district, and shall be subject, with certain exceptions, to the same terms and conditions as loans under section 5 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended.

LOANS UPON OR PURCHASE OF THE ASSETS OF CLOSED BANKS

Section 5e (a) of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, authorizes the Corporation to make loans upon or purchase the assets, or any portion thereof, of any bank, savings bank, or trust company, which has been closed on or after December 31, 1929, and prior to January 1, 1934, and the affairs of which have not been fully liquidated or wound up, upon such terms and conditions as the Corporation may by regulations prescribe. This section also makes provision for loans upon or purchase by the Corporation of the assets, or any portion thereof, of closed banks which have been trustee or are otherwise held for the benefit of depositors or depositors and others.

MINING LOANS

Pursuant to section 14 of the act approved June 19, 1934, as amended, the Corporation is authorized and empowered to make loans upon sufficient security to recognized and established corporations, individuals, and partnerships engaged in the business of mining, milling, or smelting ores. The Corporation is authorized and empowered also to make loans to corporations, individuals, and partnerships engaged in the development of a quartz ledge, or vein, or other ore body, or placer deposit, containing gold, silver, or tin, or gold and silver, when, in the opinion of the Corporation, there is sufficient reason to believe that, through the use of such loan in the development of a lode, ledge, or vein, or mineral deposit, or placer gravel deposit, there will be developed a sufficient quantity of ore, or placer deposits of a sufficient value to pay a profit upon mining operations. Not to exceed $20,000 shall be lent to any corporation, individual, or partnership, for such development purposes. A sum not to exceed $10,000,000 may be allocated or made available for such development loans.

LOANS TO MANAGING AGENCIES OF FARMERS' COOPERATIVE MINERAL RIGHTS POOLS

Pursuant to the provisions of section 13 of the act approved June 19, 1934, the Corporation is authorized to make loans upon full and adequate security, based on mineral acreage, to recognized and established incorporated managing agencies of farmers' cooperative mineral rights pools for the purpose of defraying the cost of organizing such pools.

LOANS TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF PUBLIC-SCHOOL DISTRICTS OR OTHER PUBLIC-SCHOOL AUTHORITIES

Pursuant to the provisions of section 1 of the act of Congress approved August 24, 1935, the Corporation is authorized to make loans, in an aggregate amount not exceeding $10,000,000, to or for the benefit of tax-supported public-school districts or other similar public-school authorities in charge of public schools organized pursuant to the laws of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia for the purpose of enabling any such district or authority which, or any State, municipality, or other public body which, is authorized to incur indebtedness for the benefit of public schools, to reduce and refinance outstanding indebtedness or obligations which have been incurred prior to August 24, 1935, for the purpose of financing the construction, operation, and/or maintenance of public-school facilities. Loans may also be made to enable applicants, to whom refinancing loans have been authorized, to make such repairs and necessary extensions or improvements to the public-school facilities on account of which the indebtedness refinanced was incurred as are necessary or desirable for the further assurance of the ability of the applicants to repay such refinancing loans.

LOANS FOR THE REPAIR OF DAMAGES CAUSED BY FLOODS OR OTHER CATASTROPHES

Pursuant to the provisions of the act approved April 13, 1934, as amended, the Corporation is authorized, through such existing agency or agencies as it may designate, to make loans, upon terms and conditions specified in the law, and not to exceed $50,000,000 in the aggregate, to corporations, partnerships, or individuals, municipalities or political subdivisions of States or of their public agencies, including public-school boards and public-school districts, and water, irrigation, sewer, drainage, and flood-control districts for the purpose of financing the repair, construction, reconstruction, or rehabilitation of structures or buildings, including such equipment, appliances, fixtures, machinery, and appurtenances as shall be deemed necessary or appropriate by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and for the purpose of financing the repair, construction, reconstruction, or rehabilitation of water, irrigation, gas, electric, sewer, drainage, flood-control, communication, or transportation systems, highways, and bridges damaged or destroyed by earthquake, conflagration, tornado, cyclone, hurricane, flood, or other catastrophe in the years 1935 or 1936, and for the purpose of financing the acquisition of structures, buildings, or property, real and personal, in replacement of structures, buildings, grooms, jetties, bulkheads, or property, real and personal, destroyed or rendered unfit for use by reason of the catastrophe, when such repair, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or acquisition is deemed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to be useful or necessary, said loans to be so secured as reasonably to assure repayment thereof.

LOANS FOR THE CARRYING AND ORDERLY MARKETING OF AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES AND LIVESTOCK

Under section 201 (d) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, the Corporation is authorized to make loans to bona fide institutions, organized under the laws of any State or of the United States and having resources adequate for their undertakings, for the purpose of enabling them to finance the carrying and orderly marketing of agricultural commodities and livestock produced in the United States. All such loans are required to be fully and adequately secured.

LOANS TO THE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE RURAL ELECTRIFICATION ADMINISTRATION

Section 3 (a) of the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, as amended, authorizes and directs the Corporation to make loans to the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, upon his request approved by the President, not exceeding in aggregate amount $50,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, and $100,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, with interest at 3 per centum per annum upon the security of the obligations of borrowers from the Administrator. No such loan shall be in an amount exceeding 85 per centum of the principal amount outstanding of the obligations constituting the security therefor. Such obligations incurred for the purpose of financing the construction and operation of generating plants, electrical transmission and distribution lines, or systems shall be fully amortized over a period not to exceed 25 years, and the maturity of such obligations incurred for the purpose of financing the wiring of premises and the acquisition and installation of electrical and plumbing appliances and equipment shall not exceed two-thirds of the assured life thereof and not more than 5 years.

SELF-LIQUIDATING LOANS UNDER SECTION 201 (A) OF THE EMERGENCY RELIEF AND CONSTRUCTION ACT OF 1932, AS AMENDED

The power of the Corporation to make new self-liquidating loans or contracts, etc., under section 201 (a) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, as amended, was terminated at the close of June 26, 1933, pursuant to the provisions of section 301 of the National Industrial Recovery Act, which created the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works. The functions of the Corporation in this field were superseded by the functions of that Administration. Section 301 of the National Industrial Recovery Act provides, however, that the Corporation may issue funds to a borrower under section 201 (a) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, as amended, prior to January 23, 1939, under the terms of any agreement or any commitment to bid upon or purchase bonds entered into with such borrower pursuant to an application approved prior to the date of termination of the power of the Corporation to approve applications under such section.

Section 301 of the National Industrial Recovery Act, as amended by the act approved June 19, 1934, provides that in connection with any loan or contract or any commitment to make a loan entered into by the Corporation prior to June 26, 1933, to aid in financing part or all of the construction cost of projects pursuant to the provisions of section 201 (a) (1) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, as amended, the Corporation may make such further loans and contracts, subject to all the terms and conditions set forth in the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, as amended, for the completion of any such project, or for improvements, additions, extensions, or equipment which are necessary or desirable for the proper functioning of any such project, or which will materially increase the assurance that the borrower will be able to repay the entire investment of the Corporation in such project, including such improvements, additions, extensions, or equipment.

Section 11 of the act approved January 31, 1935, provides that in all cases where the Corporation shall hold any bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any borrower under section 201 (a) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, whether heretofore or hereafter acquired, and such borrower shall be able and willing to substitute or cause to be substituted therefor any other bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, whether of the same or longer maturities or otherwise differing, which, in the judgment of the Corporation, are more desirable than those so held, the Corporation is authorized to accept such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, in exchange and substitution for such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness so held by it, upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon with such borrower at the time of, or in contemplation of, such exchange and substitution.

LOANS FOR THE EXPORTATION OF AGRICULTURAL OR OTHER PRODUCTS

Under section 5a of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, the Corporation is authorized, subject to specified limitations, to accept drafts and bills of exchange drawn upon it which grow out of transactions involving the exportation of agricultural or other products actually sold or transported for sale subsequent to the enactment of the law, and in process of shipment to buyers in foreign countries.

Under section 201 (c) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, the Corporation is authorized to make loans for the purpose of financing sales of surpluses of agricultural products in the markets of foreign countries in which such sales cannot be financed in the normal course of commerce, in order that such surpluses may not have a depressing effect upon current prices of such products, but it is stipulated that no such sales shall be financed by the Corporation if, in its judgment, such sales will affect adversely the world markets for such products, and that no such loan may be made to finance the sale in the markets of foreign countries of cotton owned by the Federal Farm Board or the Cotton Stabilization Corporation.

OTHER LOANS AND ADVANCES

LOANS TO RECEIVERS APPOINTED UNDER SECTION 29 OF THE FEDERAL FARM LOAN ACT, AS AMENDED, OR BY A UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Section 27 of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended, authorized the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to any receiver appointed pursuant to section 29 of the Federal Farm Loan Act, as amended, and to any receiver appointed by a district court of the United States for the purpose of paying taxes on farm real estate owned by the bank or securing the mortgages held by it, and such receivers are authorized to borrow from the Corporation with the approval of the Land Bank Commissioner

LOANS TO THE CORPORATION OF FOREIGN SECURITY HOLDERS

The Corporation of Foreign Bondholders Act, 1933, which is not to take effect until the President finds that such action is in the public interest and by proclamation so declares, creates a body corporate with the name "Corporation of Foreign Security Holders" for the purpose of protecting, conserving, and advancing the interests of the holders of foreign securities in default. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was authorized to lend not to exceed $75,000 for the use of the Corporation of Foreign Security Holders

PURCHASE OF MARKETABLE SECURITIES FROM THE FEDERAL EMERGENCY ADMINISTRATION OF PUBLIC WORKS

The Corporation is authorized, pursuant to the provisions of the Emergency Appropriation Act, fiscal year 1935, to purchase marketable securities, satisfactory to the Corporation, acquired or to be acquired by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works. The amount that the Corporation may have invested at any one time in such securities shall not exceed $400,000,000

PURCHASE OF DEBENTURES OR OBLIGATIONS OF THE FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

Section 5e (b) of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, authorizes the Corporation to purchase at par value such debentures or other obligations of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation as are authorized to be issued under subsection (c) of section 12B of the Federal Reserve Act, as amended, upon the request of the board of directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, whenever in the judgment of said board additional funds are required for insurance purposes. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation may not purchase or hold at any time said debentures or other obligations in excess of $250,000,000 par value

FUNDS OF THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION

CAPITAL STOCK

The capital stock of the Corporation was fixed by section 2 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act at $500,000,000, all of which was subscribed by the Secretary of the Treasury on behalf of the Government of the United States on February 2, 1932. The entire capital stock has been paid in by the Secretary of the Treasury and is held by the United States

ISSUE OF NOTES, DEBENTURES, BONDS, OR OTHER SUCH OBLIGATIONS

The Corporation is authorized to issue notes, debentures, bonds, or other such obligations. Such notes, debentures, bonds, or other such obligations issued by the Corporation are to mature not more than 5 years from their respective dates of issue, to be redeemable at the option of the Corporation before maturity in such manner as may be stipulated in such obligations, and to bear such rate or rates of interest as may be determined by the Corporation. Such obligations may mature subsequent to the period of succession of the Corporation. The Corporation, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, also may sell on a discount basis short-term obligations payable at maturity without interest. The law provides that the notes, debentures, bonds, or other such obligations of the Corporation shall be fully and unconditionally guaranteed both as to interest and principal by the United States and such guaranty shall be expressed on the face thereof. The Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, is authorized to purchase any obligations of the Corporation which may be issued pursuant to the provisions of the law, and may, at any time, sell any of the obligations of the Corporation acquired by him. He is further authorized, at the request of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to market for the Corporation its notes, debentures, bonds, and other such obligations, using therefor all the facilities of the Treasury Department authorized by law for the marketing of obligations of the United States. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act also provides that any and all notes, debentures, bonds, or other such obligations issued by the Corporation shall be exempt both as to principal and interest from all taxation (except surtaxes, estate, inheritance, and gift taxes) at any time imposed by the United States, by any Territory, dependency, or possession thereof, or by any State, county, municipality, or local taxing authority

REPORTS

QUARTERLY REPORTS

Section 15 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act provides that the Corporation shall make and publish a report quarterly of its operations to the Congress, stating the aggregate loans made to each of the classes of borrowers provided for and the number of borrowers by States (including the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) in each class. The law further provides that the statement shall show the assets and liabilities of the Corporation and the names and compensation of all persons employed by the Corporation whose compensation exceeds $400 per month.

MONTHLY REPORTS

Under section 201 (b) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, the Corporation is required to submit monthly to the President and to the Senate and the House of Representatives (or the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives, if those bodies are not in session) a report of its activities and expenditures under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act and under section 201 of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, together with a statement showing the names of the borrowers to whom loans and advances were made, and the amount and rate of interest involved in each case.

ELECTRIC HOME AND FARM AUTHORITY

Electric Home and Farm Authority (capitalization $850,000) is a credit agency incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia, August 1, 1935, to succeed Electric Home and Farm Authority, Inc. (a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, January 17, 1934, pursuant to Executive Order No. 6514, issued under authority of the act of June 16, 1933 (Public, No. 67, 73d Cong.)). The Delaware Corporation has been dissolved. By Executive Order No. 7139, dated August 12, 1935, Electric Home and Farm Authority was designated as an agency of the United States. Public, No. 484, Seventy-fourth Congress, approved March 31, 1936, continued the Electric Home and Farm Authority as an agency of the United States until February 1, 1937, Public, No. 2, Seventy-fifth Congress, approved January 26, 1937, continued its functions until June 30, 1939, and Public, No. 2, Seventy-sixth Congress, approved March 4, 1939, authorized the further continuance of Electric Home and Farm Authority as an agency of the United States until June 30, 1941, or such earlier date as may be fixed by the President by Executive order. Under the President's Reorganization Plan No. 1, the Authority was grouped in the Federal Loan Agency.

The purpose of the Authority as stated in its certificate of incorporation, as amended, is "to aid in the distribution, sale, and installation of electrical and gas apparatus, equipment, and appliances." The Authority accomplishes its purpose by financing the purchase of domestic electric and gas appliances and electrical wiring for homes and farms.

The property and business of the Authority is managed by a board of trustees. The administrative officers of the Authority are directly responsible to the Board of Trustees.

Electric Home and Farm Authority finances the retail purchase of domestic electric and gas equipment for customers of utilities which have agreed to bill and collect installment payments along with regular service bills. Credit is extended to the consumer through the purchase of conditional sale contracts and chattel mortgages from approved dealers, and notes from approved electrical contractors.

Three general types of equipment are financed: (1) Domestic and farm electric appliances, (2) domestic gas appliances, and (3) household and farm electric wiring. The specific types of appliances which the Authority finances are as follows:

Electric—Refrigerators, ranges, water heaters, water pumps, conversion oil burners, coal stokers, self-contained room coolers, milk coolers, cream separators, electric motors, milking machines, feed grinders, washers, ironers, portable space heaters, dishwashers, waste disposal units, attic ventilating fans, vacuum cleaners, and radios.

Gas —Refrigerators, ranges, water heaters, furnaces, conversion burners, and circulating gas heaters

Under present terms, purchasers are allowed up to 36 months to pay for most major appliances when purchased individually and 48 months when two or more major appliances are included on one contract. The maximum periods of financing on other equipment are as follows: Attic ventilating fans, portable electric space heaters, and circulating gas heaters, 18 months, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, dishwashers, feed grinders, and waste disposal units and electrical wiring installations, 24 months, and radios 12 months.

The minimum down payment on all equipment except electrical wiring, feed grinders, milking machines, attic ventilating fans, radios, portable electric space heaters, and circulating gas heaters is 5 percent of the cash retail price. A minimum down payment of 10 percent is required on the other equipment.

In order for manufacturers to have their appliances listed as eligible for financing by the Authority, they must show that the appliances are suitable as to quality, size, and price to meet the needs of families of average or low income.

The availability of EHFA financing services for any one or more of the three general types of equipment mentioned above in a particular area depends upon whether or not the electric or gas utility, rendering service in that area through a central distribution system, has entered into the necessary agreement or agreements with the Authority. Only utilities which are cooperating with the Authority in the financing of electric appliance sales are permitted to make arrangements for the use of the wiring financing plan.

THE RFC MORTGAGE COMPANY

Public Act No. 1 of the Seventy-fourth Congress authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the President, to "subscribe for or make loans upon the nonassessable stock of any class of any national mortgage association organized under title III of the National Housing Act and of any mortgage loan company, trust company, savings and loan association, or other similar financial institution * * *".

Pursuant to this authority the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has subscribed for $25,000,000 of the capital stock of The RFC Mortgage Company, which was organized under the laws of Maryland on March 14, 1935.

The general purpose of the company is to aid in the reestablishment of a normal market for sound mortgages on income-producing urban property, such as apartment houses, hotels, and business and office buildings, when credit is not otherwise available on reasonable terms and when the net income from the property, after payment of taxes, insurance, and operating costs, is sufficient to pay interest and the required amortization.

The principal office of the company is in Washington, D. C., and it operates in all the States and Territories of the United States. Its business is handled through agents whose offices are located in the various loan agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The activities of the company can be classified into the following major groups:

(1) When financing is necessary and cannot be obtained upon reasonable rates and terms, the company considers applications for loans, on a sound basis, secured by first mortgages on urban, income-producing properties, such as apartment houses, hotels, business and office buildings, if the net income from the property, after the payment of taxes, insurance, and operating expenses, is sufficient to pay interest charges and the required amortization of the loan. These loans are chiefly for refinancing and aiding in the reorganization of distressed real property.

(2) The company also gives consideration to applications for loans to finance new construction, provided there is an economic need for such construction, the mortgagor's investment in the completed project will be substantial in relation to the amount of the loan requested, and his resources and experience are sufficient to indicate that the property can be operated on a sound basis.

(3) The company also considers applications for loans to distressed holders of first mortgage real-estate bonds and certificates upon the security of their notes secured by such bonds and certificates, provided sufficient information is available to the company to enable it to determine that the income of the property securing the bonds or certificates is sufficient to warrant the loan. Loans will not be made to holders of such bonds or certificates who acquired them for speculative purposes.

(4) The company also purchases mortgages insured under section 203, title II of the National Housing Act, as amended, and title I, class 3 loans, provided such mortgages meet the eligibility requirements of the company.

DISASTER LOAN CORPORATION

The Disaster Loan Corporation was created by act of Congress approved February 11, 1937

Organization—The Corporation was organized February 15, 1937, and will have succession until dissolved by act of Congress. It is managed by officers and agents appointed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Board of Directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. It functions through a principal office at Washington and agents located in the loan agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Functions—The function of the Disaster Loan Corporation is to make, upon such terms and conditions and in such manner as it may prescribe, such loans as it may determine to be necessary or appropriate because of floods or other catastrophes in the years 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939, or 1940

FEDERAL NATIONAL MORTGAGE ASSOCIATION

The association was organized and established on February 10, 1938, pursuant to the provisions of Title III of the National Housing Act, as amended, under the name of The National Mortgage Association of Washington. Its name was subsequently changed to Federal National Mortgage Association. The association has a paid-in capital of $10,000,000 and a paid-in surplus of $1,000,000. Its capital stock is owned by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The association functions through a principal office in Washington, D. C., and agents located in the loan agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and is managed by a board of nine directors.

The principal functions of the association are

(1) The purchase at par and accrued interest of mortgages, other than farm mortgages, insured subsequent to January 1, 1937, by the Federal Housing Administrator under section 203 of the National Housing Act, as amended, which encumber small homes constructed subsequent to January 1, 1936, and otherwise meet the association's requirements. Such mortgages are purchased from institutions which have been approved as mortgagees by the Federal Housing Administrator (except institutions approved by the Administrator on the basis of their loan correspondent relationship with an approved mortgagee pursuant to the provisions of section 1, subsection 4 (c) (2) of said Administrator's rules), and which have a net worth satisfactory to the association, and

(2) To make loans, or to purchase loans, secured by first mortgages insured under section 207 of the National Housing Act, as amended. Applications for such loans, or applications to purchase such loans, must be submitted to the association prior to the beginning of the construction of the proposed housing project.

Pursuant to section 302 of Title III of the National Housing Act, as amended, each national mortgage association may have outstanding at any time notes, bonds, debentures, or other such obligations in an aggregate amount not to exceed

(1) 20 times the amount of its paid-up capital and surplus, and in no event to exceed (2) the current unpaid principal of insured mortgages held plus its cash and the amortized value of its investments in bonds or other obligations of the United States, or in bonds or other obligations guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States. The National Housing Act, as amended, further provides that any such notes, bonds, debentures, or other obligations shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation (except surtaxes, estate, inheritance, and gift taxes), now or hereafter imposed by the United States, by any Territory, dependency, or possession thereof, or by any State, county, municipality, or local taxing authority.

FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATION

The Federal Housing Administration was established by an act of Congress approved June 27, 1934. The National Housing Act has five titles: (I) Housing Renovation and Modernization, (II) Mortgage Insurance, (III) National Mortgage Associations, (IV) Insurance of Savings and Loan Accounts, (V) Miscellaneous, consisting chiefly of amendments to the Federal Home Loan Bank Act, the Farm Credit Act of 1933, the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, the Federal Reserve Act, and the Interstate Commerce Act.

There is no provision in the act for the lending or expenditure by the Federal Housing Administration of any Government funds except for administrative purposes, but only for the insurance of loans made by private lending institutions.

The Administrator has direct charge of administering titles I, II, and III of the act. Title IV is administered by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation under direction of a board of trustees consisting of the members of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Under the provisions of the act the President was authorized to create the Federal Housing Administration, all the powers of which shall be exercised by the Federal Housing Administrator, appointed for a term of 4 years by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Under title I, the Administrator is authorized to insure financial institutions against loss up to 10 percent of the total amount of insured loans made for the purpose of financing, alterations, repairs, and improvements upon real estate or for erection of new structures. The maximum amount of any such loan is $2,500. New structure loans are secured by mortgages and all loans must comply with certain requirements as to interest rate, maturity, and periodic payment. A premium of one-half of 1 percent is charged the lender on new residential structure loans and three-fourths of 1 percent on other Title I loans. The authority granted under this title expires July 1, 1941.

Under title II, the Administrator is authorized to insure mortgages given to secure loans on real estate made by private lending institutions properly approved by the Administrator as mortgagees. Mortgages submitted for insurance under section 203 of this title must be upon dwellings designed for not more than four families, must not exceed \$16,000 or 80 percent of the appraised value of the property, except that mortgages upon newly constructed single-family owner-occupied dwellings may be up to 90 percent of the appraised value, provided the amount of the mortgage does not exceed \$5,400, or may be up to 90 percent of the first \$6,000 of the appraised value and 80 percent of the balance of such value provided the amount of the mortgage does not exceed \$8,600. Mortgages insured under this section carry a maximum interest rate of $4\frac{1}{2}$ percent and provide for a mortgage insurance premium of one-half of 1 percent on reducing balances.

In addition to the insurance of mortgages on individual homes, provision is made under section 207 for the insurance of mortgages on apartment houses or groups of single or multifamily houses in amounts up to \$5,000,000. Such mortgages are limited to 80 percent of the estimated value of the property when proposed improvements are complete, but in no event may a mortgage insured under this section exceed the estimated cost of completed physical improvements. These mortgages carry a maximum of $4\frac{1}{2}$ -percent interest and an insurance premium of one-half of 1 percent on reducing balances. Strict regulation of the mortgagor is maintained by the Administrator in connection with mortgages insured under section 207, and the insurance may cover advances made during the progress of construction.

The aggregate amount of principal obligations of all mortgages insured under title II of the act and outstanding at any one time shall not exceed $3,000,000,000, except that with the approval of the President such aggregate amount may be increased to an amount not to exceed $4,000,000,000.

The Administrator does not lend the money on the mortgage but is authorized to insure the mortgage when presented by the mortgagee, which must be an institution approved by the Administrator.

Under title III, the Administrator is authorized to provide for the establishment of national mortgage associations, which may make real-estate loans accepted for insurance or insured under title II of the act, purchase, service, or sell any mortgages or partial interest therein which are insured under title II of the act, purchase, service, or sell uninsured first mortgages and such other liens as are commonly given under the laws of the State, District, or Territory in which the real estate is located, provided such mortgage does not exceed 60 percent of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage is purchased by the association. Each association shall have a capital stock of a par value of not less than $2,000,000, and no authorization to commence business shall be granted by the Administrator to any such association until he is satisfied that the capital stock has been subscribed for at not less than par and at least 25 percent paid in cash, or in Government securities, or in first mortgages, or such other first liens as described above. National mortgage associations are authorized to borrow money for the above purposes through the issuance of notes, bonds, debentures, or other such obligations in a ratio not to exceed 20 times the amount of their paid-up capital and surplus.

FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK BOARD

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board is an administrative and regulatory body created under the Federal Home Loan Bank Act, approved July 22, 1932, which act was amended by the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, approved June 13, 1933, by the National Housing Act, approved June 27, 1934, together with amendatory acts of Congress approved April 27, 1934, May 28, 1935, and August 11, 1939. Generally, its duties are to establish and regulate the 12 Federal home loan banks, to charter and regulate Federal savings and loan associations, to administer the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and to operate the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The unifying purpose of the agencies under the Board is to encourage savings, to provide or stimulate sound and economical home financing, and to protect home ownership.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board is composed of five members appointed by the President of the United States with the advice and consent of the Senate, the chairman being designated by the President. On July 1, 1939, Reorganization Plan No. 1 became effective, grouping the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation with certain other Government agencies under the newly created Federal Loan Agency. The expenses of the bank board are paid by assessments against the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK SYSTEM

The Federal Home-Loan Bank System was created by authority of the Federal Home Loan Bank Act, approved July 22, 1932, as amended. The System was established to provide a credit reserve for the thrift and home-financing institutions of the United States.

The 12 Federal home loan banks are located in Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Winston-Salem, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Des Moines, Little Rock, Topeka, Portland (Oreg.), and Los Angeles. Each bank has 12 directors, 4 appointed by the bank board to serve for 4 years, and 8 elected by the member institutions to serve for 2 years. Pursuant to the Federal Home Loan Bank Act, the bank board has divided all the member institutions into 3 classes—A, B, and C—which groups represent A, the large, B, the medium-sized, and C, the small-sized member institutions, the size to be determined according to the aggregate unpaid principal of the member's home mortgage loans. Each of these classes elects 2 of the 8 directors, who in order to qualify must be officers or directors of member institutions in the class selecting them. The remaining 2 directors are elected by all the member institutions without regard to classes.

The capital stock of the Federal home loan banks is subscribed by institutions which have been admitted into membership and also by the Secretary of the Treasury. The original stock subscription for each member institution is an amount equal to 1 percent of the aggregate of the unpaid principal of the subscriber's home mortgage loans, but not less than $500. The Secretary of the Treasury has subscribed for, and now owns, $124,741,000 of the stock of these banks. A Federal home loan bank may obtain other funds through deposits accepted from member institutions, deposits from other Federal home loan banks and from the United States and its instrumentalities, by discounting loans with other Federal home loan banks, and by borrowing money, including the issuance of bonds, debentures, and other obligations.

Any building and loan association, savings and loan association, cooperative bank, homestead association, insurance company, or savings bank is eligible to become a member of a Federal home loan bank if such institution is (1) duly organized under the laws of any State or of the United States, (2) is subject to inspection and regulation under the banking laws or under similar laws of the State or of the United States, and (3) makes such home mortgage loans as, in the judgment of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, are long-term loans (and, in the case of a savings bank, if, in the judgment of the bank board, its time deposits warrant its making such loans).

No institution is eligible to become a member of a Federal home loan bank if, in the judgment of the bank board, its financial condition is such that advances may not safely be made to such institutions, or the character of its management, or its home-financing policy is inconsistent with sound and economical home financing or the purposes of the Bank Act. The bank board passes upon admissions to membership and the removal or withdrawal of these institutions from the bank system The bank board may promulgate such rules, regulations, and orders as shall be necessary from time to time to carry out the purposes of the Federal Home Loan Bank Act

Federal home loan banks grant both short- and long-term loans to their member institutions The total amount of loans outstanding to any one member can at no time exceed 12 times the amount paid in by the member on its capital stock subscription in its bank The schedule of interest rates charged by the banks to members must be approved by the bank board The banks do not grant loans to individuals The Federal home loan banks also may make loans to non-member mortgagees approved under title II of the National Housing Act upon the security of mortgages insured under title II of that act, subject to regulations issued by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board

Each bank may issue bonds, debentures, or other obligations when permitted by the bank board Funds of this character are at present being raised through the sale of consolidated debentures Consolidated debentures, which are the joint and several obligations of all the banks, may be issued by the Federal Home Loan Board not in excess of five times the total paid-in capital of all the Federal home loan banks when no assets of any of these banks are pledged as security for any debt or subject to any lien When no consolidated debentures are outstanding, or in order to refund all outstanding consolidated debentures, the bank board may issue consolidated Federal home loan bank bonds which will be the joint and several obligations of all the banks

FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN SYSTEM

The Federal Savings and Loan System was provided for by section 5 of the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, approved June 13, 1933, as amended by an act of Congress approved April 27, 1934, and by an act of Congress approved May 28, 1935 Federal savings and loan associations are chartered by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to provide local mutual thrift institutions in which the public may invest its funds and may obtain sound and economical home financing

Federal savings and loan associations can be organized anywhere in the United States or its territories upon a petition by citizens for a charter, or by application of State-chartered members of the Federal home loan banks for permission to convert into Federal savings and loan associations The bank board, however, before it can grant a charter must find that the incorporators are of good character and are responsible, that there is a need for the particular institution in its community, that the institution will, in all probability, be useful and successful, and that its incorporation will not unduly damage properly conducted existing thrift and home-financing institutions Supervision of these institutions is exercised through the 12 Federal home loan banks in accordance with regulations promulgated by the bank board Each Federal savings and loan association upon its incorporation must become a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank System and it must obtain insurance of its investors' accounts by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation Such associations raise their capital only in the form of payments on share accounts They may not accept deposits from the public and may not issue certificates of indebtedness except for borrowed money, when authorized by regulations of the bank board

These Federal associations lend their funds primarily upon the security of amortized first mortgages on homes or combination home and business properties located within 50 miles of their home offices

HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION

Home Owners' Loan Corporation was created by the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, approved June 13, 1933 This original act has been amended by act of Congress approved April 27, 1934, by the National Housing Act, approved June 27, 1934, and by acts of Congress approved May 28, 1935, and August 11, 1939 The Corporation is under the direction of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board

The Corporation has a capital stock, fully paid for by the Secretary of the Treasury, totaling $200,000,000, and was authorized to issue bonds in an aggregate amount not to exceed $4,750,000,000 None of such bonds could have a maturity later than 1952

The general purpose of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation was to refinance existing home mortgages in distress by exchanging its bonds for such mortgages which were then rewritten by the Corporation Loans could be made only to those who were unable to procure needed financing through normal channels Loans were made on the security of dwellings for not more than four families valued at not more than $20,000, and occupied by the owners or held by them as then homesteads. The Corporation could lend up to 80 percent of the appraised value of each property, but in no case could lend more than $14,000. In accordance with the Home Owners' Loan Act, the Corporation terminated its lending activities on June 12, 1936.

In accordance with the original act of June 13, 1933, all loans of the Corporation were written for a term not to exceed 15 years. On August 11, 1939, the Home Owners' Loan Act was amended to permit the Corporation to extend its loans to a maximum of 25 years where it considers that the borrower's circumstances and the condition of the security justify such an extension.

On September 7, 1939, the Corporation made provision to accept, until further notice, interest at the rate of $4\frac{1}{2}$ percent per annum on all payments due on and after October 16, 1939, on the indebtedness of home owners to the Corporation arising from any loan, advance, or sale of property. On all purchase-money obligations taken on or after October 1, 1939, in connection with the sale of real property by the Corporation, interest is to be charged at the $4\frac{1}{2}$ -percent rate until otherwise directed by the board.

In addition, the Corporation is authorized to purchase obligations of the Federal home loan banks, shares of Federal savings and loan associations, and shares and other securities of other qualified applying institutions which are members of the Federal home loan banks or whose accounts are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The maximum amount the Corporation may expend for such purposes is a total of $300,000,000. An additional $100,000,000 of the Corporation's authorized bond issue has been used for the purchase of the entire capital stock of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN INSURANCE CORPORATION

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation was created by title IV of the National Housing Act, approved June 27, 1934. The original law was amended by an act of Congress approved May 28, 1935.

The Insurance Corporation was created to insure the safety of savings in institutions of the savings and loan type. It was placed under the direction of a board of trustees composed of the members of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. By law the capital of the Corporation, in the amount of $100,000,000, was obtained by sale of its stock to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Funds for reserves are obtained from premiums paid by insured institutions, earnings from investments, and admission fees paid by insured associations.

The Corporation insures repurchasable (withdrawable) share accounts, deposits and investment certificates only. Each insured investor is insured up to the value of his investment and credited earnings not in excess of $5,000. Each insured institution pays an annual premium charge of one-eighth of 1 percent of the total amount of all insured accounts plus any creditor obligations. Institutions now applying for insurance are required to pay an admission fee, in addition to the annual premium for insurance, based on the amount of the Corporation's reserves. When the reserve fund of the Corporation equals 5 percent of the total amount of the insured accounts and creditor obligations of all insured institutions, the regular premiums will be suspended unless and until the reserve fund falls below 5 percent.

Insurance may be terminated by the Insurance Corporation for violation by an insured institution of any provision of the National Housing Act applicable to insurance of accounts, or the regulations of, or agreements with, the Corporation, provided for in the law. Insurance of accounts can be voluntarily terminated by an insured institution upon adequate notice of its intention to the Corporation and to its members.

In the event an insured institution is taken over for liquidation by properly constituted authority, the Corporation is required to make available to the holders of insured accounts either a new insured account of equal amount in a going insured institution, or, at the option of the insured investor, not in excess of 10 percent of his account in cash and the remainder in non-interest-bearing debentures payable one-half within 1 year and the other half within 3 years from the date the insured institution was taken over for liquidation. The total amount of insurance payable to any one person, however, may not exceed $5,000. If any institution, which is taken over for liquidation, is a Federal savings and loan association, the Insurance Corporation must serve as receiver, and, in the event the insured institution is incorporated under the laws of any of the States, the services of the Insurance Corporation as receiver or liquidator are tendered to the parent State

In order to prevent a default in an insured institution or in order to restore an insured institution in default to normal operation as an insured institution, the Corporation is authorized, in its discretion, to make loans to, purchase the assets of, or make contributions to, the insured institution. The Insurance Corporation, however, in such cases may not contribute an amount in excess of the amount which it finds the actual liquidation of the insured institution would cost the Corporation

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK OF WASHINGTON

Export-Import Bank of Washington is a banking corporation organized under the laws of the District of Columbia pursuant to Executive order of the President of the United States, dated February 2, 1934. The capital stock is fixed at $75,000,000. Common capital stock in the amount of $1,000,000 is held by the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Commerce, and the individual members of the board of trustees for the use and benefit of the United States. Preferred capital stock in the amount of $74,000,000 is owned by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The affairs of the bank are managed by a board of 11 trustees, and the bank is authorized to continue as an agency of the United States until June 30, 1941, or such earlier date as may be fixed by the President by Executive order

The bank was established to aid in financing and to facilitate exports and imports and the exchange of commodities between the United States and any of its territories and insular possessions and any foreign country or the agencies or nationals thereof

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

STATUTORY HISTORY

Creation and authority—Under the Federal Water Power Act of June 10, 1920 (41 Stat 1063, 16 U S C 791-823), the Federal Power Commission was originally composed of the Secretaries of War, Interior, and Agriculture. It was reorganized on December 22, 1930, under the act of June 23, 1930 (46 Stat 797), with five full-time Commissioners appointed by the President. Its duties were enlarged under title II of the Public Utility Act of 1935 (49 Stat 803), approved August 26, 1935, to include jurisdiction, not only over water-power projects on streams over which Congress has jurisdiction under the commerce clause or upon public lands, as provided in the Federal Water Power Act, but also over interstate commerce in electric energy. The short title of the act was changed to "Federal Power Act"

WATER-POWER DEVELOPMENT

Purpose of original act—The Federal Water Power Act of 1920 represents a declared policy of the Congress to provide for the improvement of navigation and the development of water power on streams subject to Federal jurisdiction and on public lands by private and governmental agencies acting under licenses issued by the Commission. Licenses so issued are subject to conditions prescribed by the act to promote navigation and to conserve water-power resources in the public interest, and to aid in safeguarding consumers against exorbitant charges by licensees for generated power

Recapture of water-power projects—An important provision of the act relating to water-power projects reserves to the United States, under what is commonly called the recapture provision, the right to take over any licensed project at the expiration of the license period upon payment to the licensee of its net investment therein, not to exceed the then fair value of the project involved. To protect the recapture option and its incidental rights, as well as the rate-payers using energy produced by operation of the project, the statute requires the Commission to determine the actual legitimate original cost of projects constructed under license, additions thereto, and betterments thereof, and, in case of rights acquired prior to securing a license under authority antedating the act, to determine their fair value as of the date of license, or where no license has as yet been issued, as of the date of such determination. Provision is made for a reduction of the net investment and consequently of the recapture base (which is also the rate base under the statute when rates are determined by the Federal Power Commission) by the creation of amortization reserves accumulated in excess of a specified reasonable rate of return. In this connection the Commission also prescribes and enforces a system of accounts to be maintained by licensees. The right of the United States or any State or municipality to take over, maintain, and operate any project licensed under the act at any time by condemnation proceedings upon payment of just compensation is expressly reserved.

Limited authority over rates, service, and securities—Licensees which are interstate electric utility companies are subject to the provisions of part I as well as to the provisions of parts II and III of the Federal Power Act as to such interstate business. The Commission's authority over the rates, services, and security issues of all licensees and their customers or subsidiaries engaged in the public service is very limited under part I of the act. It may regulate the rates, services, and security issues of such licensees and their customers engaged in the public service when they are engaged in intrastate business only where the State involved has no duly constituted regulatory agency for the purpose.

Reservation of power sites—The Commission is authorized to determine whether the value of the lands of the United States reserved for power purposes will be injured or destroyed for purposes of power development by location, entry, or selection under the public-land laws, with reservation of power rights to the United States.

Investigation of value of power—The Commission may investigate the value of power from Government dams, and whether it may advantageously be used by the United States for its public purposes.

Annual charges fixed—Annual charges to be paid by licensees are fixed by the Commission for reimbursement of the cost of administration of the water-power provisions of the act, for recompensing the United States for the use of its lands and other property, and for the expropriation to the Government of excessive profits until the respective States shall make provision for preventing them or for their expropriation to themselves.

Charge for annual benefits determined—Where a licensee or other developer of power benefits directly from a headwater improvement of another licensee, a permittee, or of the United States, the Commission determines the proper share of the annual charges for interest, maintenance, and depreciation on such headwater improvement, which must be paid by the lower power developer benefited.

Investigation of power resources—The Commission is authorized to conduct general investigations of power resources and of the water-power industry and its relation to other industries and to interstate and foreign commerce, with power to cooperate with National and State agencies in its investigations, and to publish the results of its work in special and annual reports.

INTERSTATE TRANSMISSION OF ELECTRIC ENERGY

Purpose of Federal Power Act—The Federal Water Power Act of 1920 was amended by the Public Utility Act of 1935 to clarify certain sections of the act, and, in addition, certain jurisdiction was conferred upon the Federal Power Commission over the interstate transmission and over the interstate sale of electric energy.

The terms "public utility" and "electric utility," as herein used interchangeably, refer to companies engaged in such transmission or sale of electric energy, for ultimate distribution to the public.

Interconnection and coordination of facilities—The Commission is directed to divide the country into regional districts for the voluntary interconnection and coordination of electric facilities used for the generation, transmission, and sale of electric energy. It has the authority, under certain conditions, to order physical interconnection of the transmission facilities of electric utilities with the transmission facilities of any other person engaged in the transmission or sale of electric energy on application of any State commission, or of such person. In case of war in which the United States is engaged, or other emergency, as defined, the Commission may require, by order, temporary interconnections for the interchange of electric energy to meet the emergency and serve the public interest.

Transmission to foreign countries—The exportation of electric energy from the United States to a foreign country is prohibited except on authorization of the Commission.

Disposition of property, consolidation of facilities, purchase of securities—The Commission is given jurisdiction over sales, leases, or other dispositions by any electric utility of the whole of its facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, or of any part thereof of a value in excess of $50,000, over the merger or consolidation, directly or indirectly, of such facilities with those of any other person or corporation, and over the purchase, acquisition, or taking by such an electric utility of any security of any other electric utility.

Issuance of securities, assumption of liabilities—It also has jurisdiction over security issues and assumptions of liability by such electric utilities, when they are not organized and operating in a State under the laws of which their security issues are regulated by a State commission.

Rates and charges, schedules, suspension of new rates—Electric utilities are required to file with the Commission schedules and contracts showing rates and charges made for energy interchanged or sold for purposes of resale in interstate commerce. Such rates are required to be just and reasonable and no undue preference or advantage may be granted any person, or unreasonable difference made as between localities or classes of service. No change in such rates or charges so filed with the Commission may be made without 30 days' notice to the Commission and the public. A power to suspend such changes is vested in the Commission. Whenever the Commission, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, shall find that any rate, charge, or classification charged or observed by any public utility for transmission or sale subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, or any rule, regulation, practice, or contract affecting the same, is unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, the Commission shall determine the just and reasonable rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, practice, or contract to be thereafter observed and in force, and fix it by order. In cases where the Commission has no authority to fix rates, it may, upon its own motion or upon the request of any State commission, determine the cost of production or transmission of electric energy.

Uniform system of accounts, reports—The Commission is directed to prescribe for and require every public utility, and all agencies of the United States engaged in the generation and sale of electric energy for ultimate distribution to the public, to set up and maintain a uniform system of accounts and to file with the Commission such periodic or special reports as the Commission may prescribe. Under this provision, the Commission, on June 16, 1936, approved a "Uniform System of Accounts prescribed for public utilities and licensees subject to the provisions of the Federal Power Act," which supersedes the system of accounts prescribed for licensees under the Federal Water Power Act.

Ascertainment of cost of property—The Commission is empowered to investigate and ascertain the actual legitimate cost of the property of every public utility engaged in the transmission or sale of electrical energy in interstate commerce, the depreciation therein, and, when found necessary for rate-making purposes, other facts which bear on such cost or depreciation, and the fair value of such property.

Use of joint boards, cooperation with State commissions—The Commission is authorized to cooperate with State commissions and to hold joint hearings in connection with any matter with respect to which it is authorized to act, and to make available to State commissions such information and reports as may be of assistance to them in their regulation of electric utilities.

Officials dealing in securities, interlocking directorates—The act makes it unlawful for any officer or director of an electric utility subject to regulation of the Commission to receive for his benefit any profit on the negotiation, hypothecation, or sale of securities of such utility. It also prohibits the holding of the position of officer or director, at the same time, of more than one such electric utility, or of such an electric utility and a bank, trust company, banking association, or firm authorized by law to underwrite or participate in the marketing of securities of such a utility, or supplying electrical equipment to such a public utility, unless the holding of such positions has been authorized by order of the Commission.

GENERAL POWERS OF INVESTIGATION

In addition to the regulatory powers and duties above enumerated, the Commission is directed to conduct investigations regarding the generation, transmission, distribution, and sale of electric energy, however produced, throughout the United States and its possessions, whether or not otherwise subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, including the generation, transmission, distribution, and sale of electric energy by any agency, authority, or instrumentality of the United States or of any State or municipality or other political subdivision of a State. The Commission is required to collect, compile, and keep current information regarding the ownership, operation, management, and control of all facilities used for such generation, transmission, distribution, and sale of electric energy, the capacity and output thereof and the relationship between the two, the cost of generation, transmission, and distribution, the rates, charges, and contracts in respect of the sale of electric energy and its service to residential, rural, commercial, and industrial consumers and other purchasers by private and public agencies, and the relation of any or all such facts to the development of navigation, industry, commerce, and the national defense. The Commission must report to Congress the result of such investigations. It may provide for the publication of its reports and decisions in such form and manner as may be best adapted for public information and use, and is authorized to sell at reasonable prices copies of all maps, atlases, and reports as it may from time to time publish.

DUTIES IN CONNECTION WITH TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY

Under section 8 of an act approved August 31, 1935, amending the Tennessee Valley Authority Act, the Commission is directed to prescribe a system of accounts to be maintained by the Tennessee Valley Authority Board, the same to be similar to the system of accounts prescribed by the Commission for public utilities.

Under section 9 of the amended act a new section designated 15a is added to the Tennessee Valley Authority Act. It authorizes the Tennessee Valley Authority Corporation to issue bonds not to exceed in the aggregate $50,000,000 outstanding at any one time in order to obtain funds to carry out the provisions of section 7 of the amendatory act under which the Tennessee Valley Authority Board "is authorized to advise and cooperate with and assist, by extending credit for a period of not exceeding 5 years to States, counties, municipalities, and nonprofit organizations situated within transmission distance of any dam where such power is generated by the corporation, in acquiring, improving, and operating (a) existing distribution facilities and incidental works, including generating plants, and (b) interconnecting transmission lines, or in acquiring any interest in such facilities, incidental works, and lines." No bonds may be issued under section 15a for the performance of any proposed contract negotiated by the Tennessee Valley Authority Corporation under the authority of section 7 of the amendatory act until the proposed contract has been submitted to and approved by the Federal Power Commission.

By the act approved July 26, 1939 (Public, No. 224, 76th Cong., 1st sess.), the Tennessee Valley Authority Act of 1933, as amended, is amended by adding after section 15a two new sections, 15b and 15c.

Section 15b provides that no bonds shall be issued by the Corporation after the date of the enactment of that section under section 15 or section 15a.

Section 15c provides that with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury the Corporation is authorized to issue bonds not to exceed in the aggregate $61,500,000. Such bonds may be sold by the Corporation to obtain funds which may be used for the purposes set forth in the section. It also provides that none of the proceeds of the bonds shall be used for the performance of any proposed contract negotiated by the Corporation under the authority of section 12a of the act until the proposed contract shall have been submitted to and approved by the Federal Power Commission. When a proposed contract is submitted to the Commission it is to be given preference and in every way expedited.

To administer the larger duties imposed by the Federal Power Act, the Commission has reorganized its increased personnel in bureaus and divisions, and has established regional offices in five cities—New York, Atlanta, Chicago, Denver, and San Francisco.

The Commission also now compiles and publishes the monthly and periodical reports of the production of electricity for public use in the United States.

Under the act of August 20, 1937 (50 Stat. 731), the Commission is entrusted with certain duties in connection with the Bonneville Project on the Columbia River near Portland, Oreg. Pursuant to the terms of this act, the Commission has appointed its chief engineer as its representative on the advisory board with which the administrator of the project must consult relative to the disposal of electric energy generated at the project.

The Commission is required to allocate the costs of facilities at Bonneville and rate schedules are to be based upon such allocation. Schedules of rates and charges for electric energy, and modifications thereof, are to be prepared by the administrator and become effective upon confirmation and approval by the Commission. The accounts of the administrator in operating the Bonneville Project are subject to the accounting requirements of the Power Act.

Under the act of May 18, 1938 (52 Stat. 403), the Commission is entrusted with certain duties in connection with the Fort Peck Project located on the Missouri River near Fort Peck, Mont. The Commission's duties with respect to this project are similar to its duties with respect to the Bonneville Project.

FLOOD CONTROL ACT OF 1938

Under the Flood Control Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1215) the Secretary of War is directed to install penstocks or other similar facilities in Federal flood-control projects so as to make such projects capable of future use for power development, upon the recommendation of the Chief of Engineers and the Federal Power Commission. Pursuant to its duties under this act, the Commission is required to investigate the hydroelectric power potentialities of all authorized Federal flood-control dam and reservoir projects.

NATURAL GAS ACT

Under the Natural Gas Act (52 Stat. 821) the Federal Power Commission exercises regulatory powers over natural gas companies engaged in interstate commerce. All persons who own or operate any facilities used for the transportation of natural gas in interstate commerce or for the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale for ultimate public consumption, for domestic, commercial, industrial, or any other use, are subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

The exportation or importation of natural gas to or from the United States by any person, whether or not otherwise subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, is prohibited except upon the securing of an order of the Commission authorizing such exportation or importation.

The Commission has jurisdiction over all wholesale rates of natural gas companies as defined in the Natural Gas Act. All rates and schedules of such companies are required to be filed with the Commission and no change in any existing rate schedule can be made except after 30 days' notice to the Commission and the public. The Commission has authority to suspend any proposed change in a rate schedule unless it relates to charges for natural gas for resale for industrial use only. The statute imposes upon the Commission the duty of determining whether all existing wholesale rates are just, reasonable, and nondiscriminatory and empowers the Commission to conduct investigations as a basis for making such determinations and to hear and settle any complaints relating to the lawfulness of existing or proposed rates. The Commission has no power to order any increase in any rate contained in the currently effective schedule of a natural gas company on file with the Commission unless such increase is in accordance with a new schedule filed by such natural gas company.

The Commission is authorized to investigate and ascertain the actual legitimate cost of the property of every natural gas company and the depreciation therein and, if necessary for rate-making purposes, any other facts which bear upon a determination of a proper rate base. Upon its own motion or upon the request of a State commission, the Commission may investigate and determine the cost of producing or transporting natural gas by a natural gas company in cases where the Commission has no authority to establish a rate governing the transportation or sale of natural gas by such company.

Authority is delegated to the Commission to prescribe proper and adequate rates of depreciation and amortization of the several classes of property of each natural gas company used or useful in the production, transportation, or sale of natural gas. After hearing, the Commission may determine the adequacy or inadequacy of gas reserves and may determine the propriety and reasonableness of the inclusion in operating expenses, capital or surplus, of all delay rentals or other forms of rentals or compensation for unoperated lands and leases.

The Commission is empowered to prescribe a uniform system of accounts for natural gas companies. The Commission is authorized to cooperate with the State commissions and to assemble pertinent information in connection with State compacts dealing with the conservation, production, transportation, or distribution of natural gas. The Commission may also require the filing of annual and other periodic or special reports from natural gas companies.

The Commission is empowered to require any natural gas company, subject to its jurisdiction, to extend or improve its transportation facilities or to establish physical connections of its facilities with those of, and to sell gas to, any person or municipality engaged in local distribution of natural gas. No natural gas company can abandon any of its facilities or service which are subject to the Commission's jurisdiction without the prior approval of the Commission. The Commission is further authorized and empowered to issue certificates of public convenience and necessity to any natural gas company which proposes to construct or extend its facilities into a market already being served by another natural gas company.

PRESIDENTIAL PERMITS FOR CONNECTION OF PHYSICAL FACILITIES AT INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARIES

By Executive Order No. 8202, dated July 13, 1939, the Commission is authorized and requested to receive all applications for the construction, operation, maintenance, or connection, at the borders of the United States, of facilities for the transmission of electric energy between the United States and foreign countries, and for the exportation and importation of natural gas to or from foreign countries. After obtaining the recommendations of the Secretary of State and the Secretary of War thereon, the Commission is to submit each such application to the President with a recommendation as to whether the permit should be granted, and if so, upon what terms and conditions.

The Commission may prescribe such regulations as it may deem necessary or desirable for carrying out the provisions of the order.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The Federal Reserve System was established pursuant to authority contained in the act of Congress approved December 23, 1913, known as the Federal Reserve Act, the purposes of which, as stated in the preamble, are "To provide for the establishment of Federal Reserve banks, to furnish an elastic currency, to afford means of rediscounting commercial paper, to establish a more effective supervision of banking in the United States, and for other purposes." The System comprises the Board of Governors, which exercises supervisory functions, the Federal Open Market Committee, consisting of the members of the Board of Governors and five representatives of the Federal Reserve banks, which directs the System's open market operations, the 12 Federal Reserve banks situated in different sections of the United States, the Federal Advisory Council, which acts in an advisory capacity to the Board of Governors, and about 6,350 member banks, which include all national banks in the United States and such State banks and trust companies as have voluntarily applied to the Board of Governors for membership and have been admitted to the System.

The Federal Reserve banks are located in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas, and San Francisco. There are also in operation 24 branches and 1 agency of the Federal Reserve banks, all of which are located in other cities of the United States.

The capital stock of the Federal Reserve banks is entirely owned by the member banks and may not be transferred or hypothecated. Every national bank in existence in the United States at the time of the establishment of the Federal Reserve System was required to subscribe to the capital stock of the Federal Reserve bank of its district in an amount equal to 6 percent of the subscribing bank's paid-up capital and surplus. A like amount of Federal Reserve bank stock must be subscribed for by every national bank in the United States organized since that time and by every State bank or trust company (except mutual savings banks) upon becoming a member of the Federal Reserve System, and, when a member bank increases or decreases its capital or surplus, it is required to alter its holdings of Federal Reserve bank stock in the same proportion. A mutual savings bank which is admitted to membership in the Federal Reserve System must subscribe for Federal Reserve bank stock in an amount equal to six-tenths of 1 per centum of its total deposit liabilities, and thereafter such subscription must be adjusted semiannually on the same percentage basis. One-half of the subscription of each member bank must be fully paid and the remainder is subject to call by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, but call for payment of the remainder has not been made.

After all necessary expenses of a Federal Reserve bank have been paid or provided for, its stockholding member banks are entitled to receive an annual dividend of 6 percent on the paid-in capital stock, which dividend is cumulative. After these dividend claims have been fully met, the net earnings are paid into the surplus fund of the Federal Reserve bank. In case of liquidation or dissolution of a Federal Reserve bank, any surplus remaining after payment of all debts, dividends, and the par value of its capital stock becomes the property of the United States Government. Federal Reserve banks, including the capital stock and surplus therein and the income derived therefrom, are exempt from Federal, State, and local taxation, except taxes upon real estate.

The board of directors of each Federal Reserve bank is composed of nine members, equally divided into three classes, designated class A, class B, and class C. Directors of class A are representative of the stockholding member banks. Directors of class B must be actively engaged in their district in commerce, agriculture, or some other industrial pursuit, and may not be officers, directors, or employees of any bank. Class C directors may not be officers, directors, employees, or stockholders of any bank. The six class A and B directors are elected by the stockholding member banks, while the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System appoints the three class C directors. The term of office of each director is 3 years, so arranged that the term of one director of each class expires each year.

One of the class C directors appointed by the Board is designated as chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve bank and as Federal Reserve agent, and in the latter capacity he is required to maintain a local office of the Board on the premises of the Federal Reserve bank. Another class C director is appointed by the Board as deputy chairman.

Each Federal Reserve bank has as its chief executive officer a president appointed for a term of 5 years by its board of directors with the approval of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. There is also a first vice president appointed in the same manner and for the same term.

Federal Reserve banks are authorized, among other things, to discount for their member banks notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and bankers' acceptances of short maturities arising out of commercial, industrial, or agricultural transactions, and short-term paper secured by obligations of the United States, to make advances to their member banks upon their promissory notes for periods not exceeding 90 days upon the security of paper eligible for discount or purchase and for periods not exceeding 15 days upon the security of obligations of the United States and certain other securities, to make advances upon security satisfactory to the Federal Reserve banks to member banks for periods not exceeding 4 months at a rate of interest at least one-half of 1 percent higher than that applicable to discounts and advances of the kinds mentioned above, in certain exceptional circumstances and under certain prescribed conditions, to make advances to groups of member banks, under certain prescribed conditions, to grant credit accommodations to furnish working capital for established industrial or commercial businesses for periods not exceeding 5 years, either through the medium of financing institutions or, in exceptional circumstances, directly to such businesses, and to make commitments with respect to the granting of such accommodations, in unusual and exigent circumstances when authority has been granted by at least five members of the Board of Governors, to discount for individuals, partnerships, or corporations, under certain prescribed conditions, notes, drafts, and bills of exchange of the kinds and maturities made eligible for discount for member banks, to make advances to individuals, partnerships, or corporations upon their promissory notes secured by direct obligations of the United States for periods not exceeding 90 days, to purchase and sell in the open market bankers' acceptances and bills of exchange of the kinds and maturities eligible for discount, obligations of the United States, and certain other securities, to receive and hold on deposit the reserve balances of member banks, to issue Federal Reserve notes and Federal Reserve bank notes, to act as clearing houses and as collecting agents for their member banks, and under certain conditions for nonmember banks, in the collection of checks and other instruments, to act as depositaries and fiscal agents of the United States, and to exercise other banking functions specified in the Federal Reserve Act.

Federal Reserve notes are a first and paramount lien on all the assets of the Federal Reserve banks through which they are issued and are also obligations of the United States. They are issued against the security of gold certificates and of commercial and agricultural paper discounted or purchased by Federal Reserve banks, and, until June 30, 1941, when authorized by the Board of Governors, may also be secured by direct obligations of the United States. Every Federal Reserve bank is required to maintain reserves in gold certificates of not less than 40 percent against its Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation and is also required to maintain reserves in gold certificates or lawful money of not less than 35 percent against its deposits.

The Federal Reserve Act provides for the issuance of Federal Reserve bank notes by the Federal Reserve banks under certain circumstances. However, these notes are not now being issued by the Reserve banks and they have deposited with the United States Treasury funds sufficient to discharge their liability on the relatively small amount of such notes that has not returned from circulation.

Broad supervisory powers are vested in the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, which has its offices in Washington. The Board of Governors is composed of seven members appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. In selecting these seven members, the President is required to have due regard to a fair representation of the financial, agricultural, industrial, and commercial interests, and geographical divisions of the country. No two members may be from the same Federal Reserve district.

Among the more important duties of the Board of Governors is the review and determination of discount rates charged by the Federal Reserve banks on their discounts and advances. Each member of the Board of Governors is also a member of the Federal Open Market Committee, whose membership, in addition, includes five representatives of the Federal Reserve banks, each such representative being elected annually by the boards of directors of certain specified Federal Reserve banks. Open-market operations of the Federal Reserve banks are conducted under regulations adopted by the committee with a view to accommodating commerce and business and with regard to their bearing upon the general credit situation of the country, and no Federal Reserve bank may engage or decline to engage in open-market operations except in accordance with the direction of and regulations adopted by the committee.

In connection with its supervision of Federal Reserve banks the Board of Governors is also authorized to make examinations of such banks, to require statements and reports from such banks, to require the establishment or discontinuance of branches of such banks, to supervise the issue and retirement of Federal Reserve notes, and to exercise special supervision over all relationships and transactions of the Federal Reserve banks with foreign banks or bankers.

For the purpose of preventing the excessive use of credit for the purchase or carrying of securities, the Board of Governors is authorized to regulate the amount of credit that may be initially extended and subsequently maintained on any security (with certain exceptions) registered on a national securities exchange. Certain other powers have been conferred upon the Board which are likewise designed to enable it to prevent an undue diversion of funds into speculative operations.

The Board of Governors also passes on the admission of State banks and trust companies to membership in the Federal Reserve System and on the termination of membership of such banks, it has the power to examine member banks and affiliates of member banks, it receives condition reports from State member banks and their affiliates, it limits by regulation the rate of interest which may be paid by member banks on time and savings deposits, it is authorized, in its discretion, to issue voting permits to holding-company affiliates of member banks entitling them to vote the stock of such banks at any or all meetings of shareholders of the member bank, it may issue general regulations permitting interlocking relationships in certain circumstances between member banks and organizations dealing in securities or, under the Clayton Antitrust Act, between member banks and other banks, it has the power to remove officers and directors of a member bank for continued violations of law or unsafe or unsound practices in conducting the business of such bank, it may, in its discretion, suspend member banks from the use of the credit facilities of the Federal Reserve System, for making undue use of bank credit for speculative purposes or for any other purpose inconsistent with the maintenance of sound credit conditions, it may, within certain limitations and in order to prevent injurious credit expansion or contraction, change the requirements as to reserves to be maintained by member banks against deposits, it passes on applications of State member banks to establish out-of-town branches, it passes on applications of national banks for authority to exercise trust powers or to act in fiduciary capacities, it may grant authority to national banks to establish branches in foreign countries or dependencies or insular possessions of the United States, or to invest in the stock of banks or corporations engaged in international or foreign banking, and it supervises the organization and activities of corporations organized under Federal law to engage in international or foreign banking. Another function of the Board is the operation of a settlement fund, by which balances due to and from the various Federal Reserve banks arising out of their own transactions or transactions of their member banks or of the United States Government are settled in Washington through telegraphic transfer of funds without physical shipments of currency.

In exercising its supervisory functions over the Federal Reserve banks and member banks, the Board of Governors promulgates regulations, pursuant to authority granted by the law, governing certain of the above-mentioned activities of Federal Reserve banks and member banks. To meet its expenses and to pay the salaries of its members and its employees, the Board makes semiannual assessments upon the Federal Reserve banks in proportion to their capital stock and surplus. The Board keeps a complete record of all action taken by it and by the Federal Open Market Committee on any question of policy, and in the annual report which it makes to the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the information of Congress as required by law, it includes a full account of all such action and also a copy of the records required to be kept in that connection.

The Federal Advisory Council acts in an advisory capacity, conferring with the Board of Governors on general business conditions and making recommendations concerning matters within the Board's jurisdiction and the general affairs of the Federal Reserve System. The Council is composed of 12 members, 1 from each Federal Reserve district being selected annually by the board of directors of the Federal Reserve bank of the district. The Council is required to meet in Washington at least four times each year, and oftener if called by the Board of Governors.

FEDERAL SECURITY AGENCY

The Federal Security Agency was created by Executive order of the President, dated April 25, 1939, putting into effect the President's First Plan on Government Reorganization in accordance with the provisions of the Reorganization Act of 1939. The agencies grouped in the Federal Security Agency under the First Plan are the Social Security Board, the United States Employment Service, the Office of Education, the Public Health Service, the National Youth Administration, and the Civilian Conservation Corps. The Second Plan on Government Reorganization transferred to the Federal Security Agency for administration in the Office of Education, the Film and Radio Services of the National Emergency Council. It also transferred to the Federal Security Agency Government participation in the work of the American Printing House for the Blind.

The Federal Security Agency was established to carry out the purposes of the Reorganization Act of 1939 which were (1) To reduce expenditures, (2) to increase efficiency, (3) to consolidate agencies according to major purposes, (4) to reduce the number of agencies by consolidating those having similar functions and by abolishing such as may not be necessary, (5) to eliminate overlapping and duplication of effort. Grouped in the Federal Security Agency are those agencies of the Government, the major purposes of which are to promote social and economic security, educational opportunity, and the health of the citizens of the Nation.

The affairs of the Federal Security Agency are under the direction and supervision of the Federal Security Administrator. He is assisted by the assistant administrator, who acts as Administrator in his absence, and by a staff of administrative, special, and technical assistants who assist in the activities and correlation of the different units of the Agency, the functions of which are given below.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD

The Social Security Board was established to administer provisions of the Social Security Act relating to old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, unemployment compensation, and old-age (now old-age and survivors) insurance, and to study and make recommendations as to the most effective methods of providing economic security through social insurance, and as to related legislation and administrative policy. The Board receives its authority under the provisions of title VII of the Social Security Act (49 Stat 620), approved August 14, 1935. Various modifications of the act were provided in the Social Security Amendments of 1939 (Public, No 379, 76th Cong) approved August 10, 1939. Under the Reorganization Act of 1939 (Public, No 19, 76th Cong) and Reorganization Plan No I, the Social Security Board was made a part of the Federal Secu-urity Agency, and the functions of the United States Employment Service set up by the Wagner-Peyser Act (Public, No 30, 73rd Cong.) were consolidated with the unemployment compensation functions of the Board.

The Board is composed of three members—not more than two of whom may be of one political party—appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The President designates the chairman of the Board. Judicial and policy-making functions under the Social Security Act and the Wagner-Peyser Act are exercised by the Board, under the direction and supervision of the Federal Security Administrator, while administrative functions are vested in an Executive Director who is directly responsible to the Board. Bureaus and offices and a field service comprising regional, territorial, and field offices have been established by the Board to carry out its functions under the Social Security Act. Veterans placement and farm placement offices in the various States, and a public employment service for the District of Columbia, are maintained pursuant to the Wagner-Peyser Act. Operating bureaus are the Bureau of Old-age and Survivors Insurance, the Bureau of Public Assistance, and the Bureau of Employment Security. Service bureaus and offices are the Bureau of Accounts and Audits, the Bureau of Research and Statistics, the Informational Service, and the Office of the Actuary. The Office of Appeals Council provides means for review of old-age and survivors insurance claims.

OFFICE OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Within the Office of the Executive Director are centered the administrative and executive duties of the Board, and the Executive Director has general supervision and direction of the work of the several bureaus and offices, the immediate supervision and direction of the regional and territorial offices, and the coordination of Federal-State relations in the administration of the Social Security Act and the Wagner-Peyser Act.

The Office of the Executive Director is also responsible for servicing the Board and its bureaus and offices with respect to procurement of supplies and equipment, selecting quarters and allotting space, furnishing centralized stenographic and typing assistance, maintaining centralized files and records, preparing travel orders, itineraries, vouchers, and other business operations. It receives and distributes incoming mail, forwards outgoing mail and telegrams, and answers inquiries not requiring the special attention of other bureaus or offices of the Board. It conducts personnel training classes covering the basic substantive phases of the Board's work. The library of the Board is a part of this office.

BUREAU OF OLD-AGE AND SURVIVORS INSURANCE

The Federal old-age and survivors insurance system, established by title II of the Social Security Act as amended, provides the following types of monthly benefits payable by the Federal Government: Primary insurance benefits to aged (65 or over), retired wage earners, wife's insurance benefits to the aged wives of individuals receiving primary insurance benefits, child's insurance benefits to the dependent children (under 18) of individuals receiving primary insurance benefits and to the dependent children of deceased wage earners, widow's insurance benefits to the aged widows of wage earners, widow's current insurance benefits to widows who are caring for one or more children of a deceased wage earner, and parent's insurance benefits to the aged, dependent parents of deceased wage earners. In addition, lump-sum death payments are payable to certain survivors or to creditors on account of the burial of deceased wage earners. The purpose of this program is to give protection to industrial and commercial wage earners and their families against loss of income due to the old-age or premature death of the wage earner. This program is administered entirely by the Federal Government and should not be confused with old-age assistance or other social security programs in which the States participate in the administration.

The provisions of the original old-age insurance plan became effective January 1, 1937. By April, 1940, over 48 million social security account numbers had been issued and it is estimated that in the neighborhood of 40 million individuals had already received wages for employment covered by this plan. Benefits under the amended program began in January 1940. Benefits are based upon wages received in employment covered under the plan. The total of the monthly benefits based on one individual's wages will range from $10 to $85.

This title is administered by the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, which is the largest organization unit of the Social Security Board. This Bureau is responsible for the establishment and maintenance of individual accounts in which are recorded the amounts of reported wages. It is responsible for determining eligibility for benefits, for computing the amounts of benefits, and for making certifications to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment of benefits. The Bureau conducts such actuarial and administrative studies as are necessary to its functions of administering title II, it also supplies from its wage and claims records statistical data necessary to the Board in supervising the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security Act.

Since this is a federally administered program, contact with the public is maintained through field offices located in all parts of the United States. These offices furnish advice to wage earners and to employers as to their rights and obligations under the program, and furnish assistance in the preparation and presentation of claims under title II. The field organization brings the Federal old-age and survivors insurance plan close to the people who are affected by it, and thus helps to assure adequate, efficient, and economical operation of the plan.

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

This Bureau is concerned with the administration of grants to the States for old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind under the provisions of titles I, IV, and X of the Social Security Act.

The Bureau of Public Assistance, in cooperation with the Office of the General Counsel of the Federal Security Agency, analyzes State administrative plans for these types of aid and recommends such plans to the Board for approval if they conform to certain standards established by the act, relating to procedure, administration, and eligibility requirements. It also reviews amendments to approved plans, submitted by States in accordance with new developments in State programs, and recommends the amount of Federal grants-in-aid to be certified by the Board.

Title I authorizes grants-in-aid to States for assistance to needy aged individuals. States having approved old-age assistance plans receive from the Federal Government an amount equal to the sum expended by the States and their local governmental units for old-age assistance, up to a combined Federal-State total of $40 a month for each needy individual 65 years of age or over who is not an inmate of a public institution. In addition, the Federal Government grants to States an amount equal to 5 percent of the sum paid to the State for old-age assistance, which may be used by the State for administrative expenses or for old-age assistance or for both purposes.

Title IV provides for Federal grants to States having approved plans for aid to dependent children deprived of a parent's support and maintained in their own homes or in the homes of certain close relatives. These States receive an amount equal to one-half of the sums expended by them and their local governmental units under such plans, except that Federal funds may not be used for that part of payments in excess of $18 a month for the first child and $12 for each additional child in the same home.

Title X authorizes grants to States having approved plans for furnishing financial assistance to the needy blind. These grants equal one-half of the total expenditures for aid to the needy blind of the States and their local units, except that Federal funds may not be used for that part of individual monthly payments which exceeds $40. State payments to needy blind persons who are in public institutions are not matched from Federal funds. The Federal Government also grants to the States one-half the necessary costs of the administration of State plans for aid to the blind.

The Bureau of Public Assistance advises States concerning the preparation of State public-assistance plans and periodically reviews the operation of approved plans to insure continuing conformity to the provisions of the Social Security Act. It provides a technical consultative service to the States with regard to the administration of public assistance, including such matters as administrative organization, policies and procedures, fiscal operations, staff training, and the coordination of old-age assistance, aid to the blind, and aid to dependent children. The Bureau also serves as a clearing house for the exchange of public-assistance information and experience among the States.

BUREAU OF EMPLOYMENT SECURITY

Under Reorganization Plan No. I, authorized by the Reorganization Act of 1939, the functions of the United States Employment Service were consolidated with the unemployment compensation functions of the Social Security Board.

The combined functions are administered in the Social Security Board through the Bureau of Employment Security.

The Social Security Act, in title III, makes provision for Federal cooperation with States establishing systems of unemployment compensation. Grants for administration are authorized to be made to those States which have unemployment compensation laws approved by the Board under section 1603 of the Internal Revenue Code and which meet the conditions prescribed in title III. These requirements include making records available to the Railroad Retirement Board and affording reasonable cooperation with every agency of the United States charged with the administration of any unemployment insurance law. The Bureau is also responsible for determining that State laws have adequate provision for proper methods of administration necessary to insure prompt payment of benefits when due. The grants are designed to enable the States to meet the cost of proper and efficient administration of their unemployment compensation programs.

The Internal Revenue Code, in subchapter C of chapter 9, levies a Federal tax on employers of eight or more. The Social Security Board is authorized therein to approve State unemployment compensation laws which fulfill certain conditions and include provision for depositing, to the credit of the State, all contributions, upon collection, in the unemployment trust fund of the United States. Such approval will permit employers making contributions to State unemployment funds under approved State laws to obtain credit up to a maximum of 90 percent against the Federal tax. Within the same maximum limitations, employers may receive credit also with respect to reduced rates of contributions under State laws which permit such reductions under conditions which are found by the Social Security Board to comply with the provisions of section 1602 of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Bureau aids the States, on request, in the preparation of unemployment compensation laws, amendments thereto, and rules and regulations to implement such laws. After a State law is passed and submitted to the Board, the Bureau analyzes the new law to determine whether it meets the requirements of subchapter C of chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Prior to certifying grants under title III, the Board must find that the State law meets the conditions prescribed in that title. The board is required also, when it finds that in the administration of a State law there is a denial of benefits to a substantial number of persons or a failure to comply substantially with the provisions which are required to be included in the State law, to withhold grants until it is satisfied there is no longer such denial or failure to comply. The law provides for reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing prior to such determination.

Under the terms of the Wagner-Peyser Act and Reorganization Plan No. I, authorized by the Reorganization Act of 1939, the Social Security Board is directed to promote and develop a national system of employment offices for men, women, and juniors who are legally qualified to engage in gainful occupation, to maintain a veterans' service to be devoted to securing employment for veterans, to maintain a farm placement service, to maintain a public-employment service for the District of Columbia, to assist in establishing and maintaining systems of public-employment offices in the several States and political subdivisions thereof, to assist in coordinating the public-employment offices throughout the country and in increasing their usefulness by prescribing minimum standards of efficiency and promoting uniformity in their administrative and statistical procedure, to furnish and publish information as to opportunities for employment, and to maintain a system of clearing labor between the several States.

Under the Wagner-Peyser Act the Board also is directed to apportion among the several States amounts made available by Congress for the purpose of matching amounts made available by States and their local subdivisions for the maintenance of public employment offices as a part of a State-controlled system. Prior to certifying any amount for payment to a State, the Board is required to approve detailed State plans for carrying out the provisions of the Wagner-Peyser Act within the State. Payments made to States under the Wagner-Peyser Act for the maintenance of their public-employment systems are supplemented by amounts granted under title III of the Social Security Act for the purpose of financing additional services performed by public-employment offices in connection with the operations of the unemployment-compensation program.

The Bureau maintains a technical staff to advise with States and the State agencies on problems of organization and administration of State unemployment-compensation laws, including questions of general policy, claims procedure, deposit of funds, expenditure of funds, statistical reports, reports to public-works agencies, reciprocal agreements among States, and form of reports, as well as to carry out the functions outlined above and set forth in the Wagner-Peyser Act.

To aid the Board in performing the duties imposed upon it under section 702 of the Social Security Act, the Bureau staff assists in research and the formulation of recommendations as to the most effective method of providing economic insurance.

BUREAU OF ACCOUNTS AND AUDITS

The Bureau of Accounts and Audits maintains fund accounts covering the Board's appropriations, prepares budgetary data, and conducts an administrative audit of Board expenditures. This Bureau also conducts field audits pertaining to State public assistance, unemployment compensation and employment-service administration. It prepares for the Board vouchers covering grants for public assistance, unemployment-compensation, and employment-service administration, certifying the adequacy of appropriation balances, and, after approval by the Board, forwards vouchers and supporting documents to the Secretary of the Treasury. It advises the Board, the regional directors, and the Bureaus of Public Assistance and Employment Security as to the adequacy of State accounting and fiscal procedures to account for funds granted by the Board.

BUREAU OF RESEARCH AND STATISTICS

The Bureau of Research and Statistics compiles and analyzes statistical and other data regarding operations under the Social Security Act and the Wagner-Peyser Act, and collates such data with those available under other social-insurance programs. It conducts research concerning factors causing economic insecurity, the adequacy of existing social-security measures, and problems connected with the accommodation of the Federal and State social-security programs to different population groups and different needs, and provides analyses of proposals for development of these programs. It cooperates with the operating bureaus in carrying on special studies relating to public assistance, unemployment compensation, and employment-service administration in the States, and conducts long-range research in unemployment compensation and old-age and survivors insurance and their broad financial implications. It provides consultation service to State and local public-welfare agencies concerning statistical reports required by the Board and other statistical and research activities relating to public assistance, general relief, and allied programs. This Bureau is responsible for the Board's official monthly publication, the Social Security Bulletin, the Annual Report of the Board, and various other Board publications of a professional and technical character.

INFORMATIONAL SERVICE

The Informational Service is responsible for the dissemination of information as to the provisions of the Social Security Act and the Wagner-Peyser Act which are administered by the Board, and the public's rights, benefits, and responsibilities under these provisions. This program is conducted through publications of the Board, and through other channels of public information and education. The Informational Service advises the Board and its executive staff concerning matters of public information and public relations. It also advises and assists State agencies administering public assistance, unemployment compensation, and employment service legislation in the planning and execution of their informational programs.

OFFICE OF THE ACTUARY

The actuary of the Board is consultant and adviser to the Board with respect to technical actuarial analysis on a long-range basis of all data pertaining to population, employment, wages, and other subjects which are necessary for the Board in planning its operations under the Social Security Act and in considering proposals concerning the social-security program.

OFFICE OF APPEALS COUNCIL

The Office of Appeals Council provides a means for hearing and review with respect to claims for old-age and survivors' insurance under title II of the Social Security Act, as amended. This Office consists of the 3 members of the Council, 12 regional referees, and 1 consulting referee. The Office is independent of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, which makes the original determinations with respect to claims.

OTHER SERVICES

Legal services are provided to the Board by the Office of the General Counsel of the Federal Security Agency. These services include legal advice to the Board, the Executive Director, the directors of the operating bureaus, and the regional directors concerning proposed and enacted unemployment-compensation laws, public-assistance laws and plans, and all legal aspects of the old-age and survivors insurance program. The Office of the General Counsel cooperates with the Department of Justice in litigation involving the Social Security Act and with States in litigation involving State laws enacted to carry out the terms of the act. It also renders legal advice to the Board and to its bureaus and offices with respect to the legal aspects of methods proposed for providing social security.

Personnel services for the Board are provided by the Division of Personnel Supervision and Management of the Federal Security Agency.

REGIONAL OFFICES

The Social Security Board has established 12 regional offices for the purpose of maintaining close relationships with the cooperating States and of supervising the work of the representatives of the various bureaus and offices of the Board located within each regional area. Each regional director is a representative of the Board in his region and is responsible to the Executive Director for relations between the Board and the States within his region.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

The headquarters of the Public Health Service at Washington comprises eight divisions and the Chief Clerk's Office, the operations of which are coordinated and are under the immediate supervision of the Surgeon General, who makes an annual report to the Administrator, Federal Security Agency, on the activities of the Service.

The National Institute of Health is the research division of the Public Health Service, and conducts the scientific investigations of the Service. Through the Institute, the Department enforces the act of July 1, 1902, to regulate the sale of viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products, including arsphenamine. The National Cancer Institute, created by act of August 5, 1937, functions as one of the divisions of the National Institute of Health.

The Division of Foreign and Insular Quarantine and Immigration administers the quarantine laws of the United States concerned with the prevention of the introduction of human contagious or infectious diseases from foreign ports into the United States, together with the observation of the provisions of the Pan-American Sanitary Code and the International Sanitary Convention of Paris, 1926, International Sanitary Convention for Aerial Navigation, and supervises the medical examination of intending immigrants conducted at certain American consulates abroad and at ports of entry in the United States and its insular possessions.

The activities of the Division of Domestic Quarantine include the following: (1) Enforcement of the Interstate Quarantine Regulations, with special reference to the control of water supplies used on interstate carriers and the sanitation of shellfish shipped in interstate commerce, (2) assistance to State and local health authorities in the enforcement of State and local laws and regulations, (3) cooperation with the State health authorities in preventing the spread of epidemic diseases, (4) assistance to State health departments in the development and maintenance of adequate public-health services, including training of personnel as authorized under title VI of the Social Security Act, (5) cooperation with other establishments of the Federal Government in matters pertaining to public-health engineering and sanitation, (6) annual conference of State and Territorial health officers with the Surgeon General.

The Division of Sanitary Reports and Statistics collects and publishes information regarding the prevalence and geographic distribution of diseases dangerous to the public health in the United States and foreign countries. The section on public-health education cooperates with the State, local, and volunteer health agencies to extend health informational services throughout the United States.

Through the Division of Marine Hospitals and Relief, hospital and out-patient treatment is given at 26 marine hospitals and 125 other relief stations to legal beneficiaries who are chiefly seamen from American merchant vessels, Coast Guard personnel, patients of the Veterans' Administration, of the Employees' Compensation Commission, immigrants, and persons afflicted with leprosy. Physical examinations are made for the Civil Service Commission, shipping commissioners, and other Government agencies.

The Division of Personnel and Accounts attends to matters relating to personnel and the maintenance of personnel records, convenes boards for the examination or discipline of medical officers and other personnel, is responsible for all bookkeeping and accounting in connection with appropriations, and maintains and supervises property records.

The Division of Venereal Diseases was created by act of Congress in July 1918 (1) to study and investigate the cause, treatment, and prevention of venereal diseases, (2) to cooperate with State boards or departments of health for the prevention and control of such diseases within the States, and (3) to control and prevent the spread of these diseases in interstate traffic. The amendment of May 24, 1938, to this act authorizes the Public Health Service to make grants-in-aid to the States for the purpose of developing venereal-disease-control programs in health departments throughout the country. Clinical and laboratory investigations and field studies pertaining to the control of syphilis, gonorrhea, and other venereal diseases are conducted both independently and in cooperation with other agencies.

The Division of Mental Hygiene (formerly the Narcotics Division—name changed by act of June 14, 1930) is charged with the responsibility of administering the two hospitals for the treatment of drug addicts, conducting studies of the nature of drug addiction and the best methods of treatment and rehabilitation of addicts, making studies of the quantities of narcotic drugs necessary to supply the normal and emergency medicinal and scientific requirements of the United States, conducting studies of the causes, prevalence, and means for the prevention and treatment of mental and nervous diseases, and supervising and furnishing medical and psychiatric service in the Federal penal and correctional institutions under the control of the Department of Justice (act of May 13, 1930).

The Chief Clerk and Administrative Officer has supervision of clerical personnel, office quarters and space assignments, the Public Health Service library, official files and records, mail, supplies of stationery to headquarters and field service, printing and binding for entire service, and procurement of office equipment for headquarters.

UNITED STATES OFFICE OF EDUCATION

The Commissioner of Education has charge of the Office of Education, which was established by an act of Congress in 1867 "for the purpose of collecting such statistics and facts as shall show the condition and progress of education in the several States and Territories, and of diffusing such information respecting the organization and management of schools and school systems, and methods of teaching, as shall aid the people of the United States in the establishment and maintenance of efficient school systems, and otherwise promote the cause of education throughout the country." Additional duties have been placed upon the Office of Education in accordance with provisions in later acts of Congress and with executive regulations made under the same. Responsibilities are undertaken for all phases and all levels of education, from the beginning grades through the university, and relate to such major functions as are described below.

1. Administration, under the direction of the Federal Security Administrator, of laws of Congress. This responsibility includes (a) The supervision of expenditures of funds appropriated by Congress for land-grant colleges by the act of 1862 (first Morrill Act) donating lands for colleges of agriculture and the mechanic arts, the act of 1890 (second Morrill Act) for the further endowment of land-grant colleges, the Nelson amendment of 1907, still further endowing the land-grant colleges and the Bankhead-Jones Act of 1935 (sec 22) providing for the more complete endowment and support of land-grant colleges. The Federal Security Administrator is required annually to ascertain and to certify to the Secretary of the Treasury as to each State and Territory whether it is entitled to receive its share of the annual appropriations. To do this it is necessary to collect and compile for each institution information on expenditures and the purposes for which they were made. (b) The inspection of Howard University and the issuance of a report on the same. Acts of Congress require that the University be inspected by the Office of Education at least once each year and that an annual report making a full exhibit of the affairs of the University shall be pre-mented to Congress each year in the report of the Office of Education (c) The planning and supervision of educational programs in all Civilian Conservation Corps camps and the appointment of all educational directors for the camps (d) The administration of Federal vocational education laws

2 Educational research and investigation—(a) Studies of current problems in all phases and at all levels of education regularly carried on by specialists in various fields of education (b) Biennial surveys of education including both statistical and descriptive forms of information on the status of education in all fields (c) Surveys in definite phases of education authorized by special appropriations of Congress (d) Library research work as a regular function of the Office, by special authorization of Congress (e) Projects and demonstrations carried on by allotments made to the Federal Security Agency, Office of Education, from special funds appropriated by Congress

3 Field services—(a) Surveys of State and local school systems and of educational institutions (b) Cooperative studies with representatives of educational systems and organizations (c) Services on educational committees and through conference groups (d) Participation in programs of educational organizations (e) Advisory services to school officials (f) Advisory and informational services to other Government agencies

4 Library service—The library of more than a quarter million volumes, together with charts, maps, and other forms of materials on educational data, provides facilities for study to a large number who come to its reference rooms and to larger numbers who have books made available to them through a system of interlibrary loans

5 Publications and their distribution—The Office by means of its appropriation for printing publishes bulletins, pamphlets, and other forms of materials for distribution through a limited free stock and a sales stock. Carefully selected mailing lists are prepared for the free copies. The Office also publishes a monthly journal, School Life, covering educational practices and current problems.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education was created by act of Congress approved February 23, 1917 (Smith-Hughes Act). This act makes continuing appropriations to be expended in the States under State plans for the promotion of vocational education. For the fiscal year 1917-18 the amount appropriated was $1,660,000, and the appropriation increased each year until in 1925-26 it reached $7,167,000, which sum was provided annually thereafter. An act approved February 5, 1929 (George-Reed Act), authorized an additional appropriation of $250,000 for agriculture and $250,000 for home economics for the fiscal year 1930, and for each year thereafter, for 4 years, a sum exceeding by $250,000 the appropriation of the preceding year for the promotion of vocational education in each of these two fields. This act expired on June 30, 1934, but an act approved May 21, 1934 (George-Ellzey Act), authorized an appropriation of $3,084,603 for each of the fiscal years 1935, 1936, and 1937 for the further development of vocational education to be used in equal amounts for instruction in agricultural subjects, home economics subjects, and trade and industrial education subjects. The George-Ellzey Act expired June 30, 1937, but an act approved June 8, 1936 (George-Deen Act), authorized an appropriation of $14,483,000 for the further development of vocational education in the States and Territories, $12,175,000 of which is to be used in equal amounts for vocational education in agriculture, trade, and industry, and home economics, $1,254,000 for vocational education in the distributive occupations, and $1,054,000 for the training of teachers of distributive occupational subjects. The money appropriated under these acts is to be allotted to the States on the basis of rural, farm, nonfarm, urban, or total population as designated in the acts, for the promotion of vocational education in agriculture, trades and industries, home economics, and the distributive occupations, and for the preparation of teachers of vocational subjects. Utilization of allotments under the first three acts is authorized upon condition that for each dollar of Federal money expended the State or local community or both, shall expend at least an equal amount for the same purpose. Under the George-Deen Act, States and Territories participating in the grants are required to match only 50 percent of these grants for the first 5 years in which the act is operative or until June 30, 1942, this matching percentage being increased by 10 percent annually thereafter until it reaches 100 percent beginning July 1, 1946.

The duties imposed upon the Board by the National Vocational Education Act were of a twofold character. On the one hand, as representative of the Government the Federal Board cooperated with State boards for vocational education in promoting vocational education, and, on the other, as a research agency it was required to make, or cause to have made, studies, investigations, and reports to aid the States in developing their programs. As representative of the Government, it examined the plans submitted by the State boards, presenting in the case of each State the scheme of vocational education to be conducted by the State, and approved plans found to be in conformity with the provisions and purposes of the act. It ascertained annually whether the several States were using or were prepared to use the money received by them in accordance with the provisions of the statute and each year it certified to the Secretary of the Treasury the States which complied with the provisions of the act, together with the amount which each State was entitled to receive. It was expressly required to make studies, investigations, and reports dealing with occupational processes and educational requirements for workers and apprentices, and with problems of administration of vocational schools and of courses of instruction in vocational subjects, in the several fields of agricultural, trade and industrial, home economics, and commercial employment.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education was designated as the administrative agency, also, of the Civilian Vocational Rehabilitation Act, approved June 2, 1920. By this act the Federal Government agrees to cooperate with the States in rehabilitating and restoring to remunerative employment any persons disabled in industry or otherwise. Under this act the duties imposed upon the Federal Board include the making of rules and regulations appropriate for carrying out the purposes of the act, cooperation with the States in the promotion of vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons, examination of State plans and their approval, if in conformity with the provisions of the act, and cooperation in this work with public and private agencies. The Federal Board was required to ascertain annually whether the States are properly using Federal funds and to certify, on or before the 1st day of January of each year, to the Secretary of the Treasury those States which have accepted and complied with the provisions of the law, designating the amount of money which each State was entitled to receive. To aid the States, the Federal Board was authorized to make studies and investigations of the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons and their placement in suitable or gainful occupations. Acts authorizing continuation of appropriations for this purpose were approved June 5, 1924, June 9, 1930, June 30, 1932, June 6, 1936 (effective July 1, 1937), and August 14, 1935. The Social Security Act Amendments of 1939, approved August 10, 1939, authorizes increased appropriations to be paid to the States for vocational rehabilitation.

An act approved March 10, 1924, extended the benefits of the Vocational Education and Rehabilitation Acts to the Territory of Hawaii and authorized annual appropriations for this purpose. An amendment of August 14, 1939, through a provision of the Social Security Act, authorizes an additional allotment to Hawaii.

An act approved February 23, 1929, extended to the District of Columbia the program for rehabilitating disabled persons. This act provided that the Board should be the active operating agency in the District. An amending act approved April 17, 1937, authorized an increased appropriation for this work.

An act of March 3, 1931, extended the Vocational Education and Rehabilitation Acts to the island of Puerto Rico, and authorized annual appropriations for this purpose. An amendment of August 14, 1939, through a provision of the Social Security Act, provides that effective July 1, 1940, Puerto Rico shall share in the allotments of funds on the same basis as the States.

An act of June 20, 1936, authorized the operation of stands in Federal buildings by blind persons, to enlarge the economic opportunities of the blind, and for other purposes.

Under Executive order of June 10, 1933, the functions of the Federal Board for Vocational Education were transferred to the Department of the Interior. These functions were assigned to the Commissioner of Education on October 10, 1933, and established as the vocational division of the Office of Education. The Board now acts in an advisory capacity without compensation.

Civilian Conservation Corps camp education—On December 7, 1933, the President approved a plan for an educational program in the Civilian Conservation Corps camps. Under this plan, the Office of Education, acting in an advisory capacity to the War Department, is responsible for the selection and appointment of corps area, district, and camp educational advisers, and recommends to the Secretary of War the outlines of instruction, teaching procedures, and types of teaching material for use in the camps.

FILM SERVICE

The Film Service was transferred from the National Emergency Council to the United States Office of Education, effective July 1, 1939, in accordance with the Reorganization Act Plan No II. The Service is an outgrowth of the Documentary Films Section of the Farm Security Administration. It is designed to coordinate the production, distribution, and exhibition of motion pictures, to effect economies in government educational motion-picture production, and to raise the general quality of such films.

The Film Service provides consultative facilities for government agencies, educational institutions, private business, trade associations and commercial film producers who may have problems of motion-picture production, distribution, or use.

RADIO DIVISION

The Radio Division (transferred from the National Emergency Council on July 1, 1939) acts as a liaison between all broadcasting companies and Federal agencies and officials. It acts also in an advisory capacity to the radio divisions of other Federal agencies. Part of its routine is the presentation, through the State offices of the Office of Government Reports, of weekly local broadcasts, in which field representatives of various departments and agencies explain their functions and describe their field operations. The Division also arranges broadcasts by electrical transcription over local stations, in which the Washington heads of Federal departments and agencies describe the general functions and operations of their offices.

NATIONAL YOUTH ADMINISTRATION

The National Youth Administration was established on June 26, 1935, within the Works Progress Administration, through Executive Order No 7086. Continued by subsequent Relief Appropriations Acts, it was separated from the Works Progress Administration on July 1, 1939, through Reorganization Plan No I, and placed in the Federal Security Agency. The National Youth Administration is currently operating under the provisions of the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1939. Its major activities fall in three categories—a work program for needy unemployed young people between the ages of 18 and 24, inclusive, who are no longer in regular attendance at school, a student aid program to enable needy young people between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, to continue their education in schools, colleges, and graduate schools, and a program of guidance and placement to assist young people in finding regular employment.

CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS

The Civilian Conservation Corps, a unit of the Federal Security Agency, is an organization for the employment and training of youth and the advancement of work programs for the conservation and development of natural resources such as timber and topsoil. It was authorized by Public, No 5, Seventy-third Congress, and launched by Executive Order No 6101, dated April 5, 1933. This Executive order named Robert Fechner Director of the Civilian Conservation Corps and directed the Secretaries of War, Interior, Agriculture, and Labor to cooperate in launching and operating the new youth-conservation program. The act of June 28, 1937 (Public, No 163, 75th Cong) extended the life of the Corps until midnight, June 30, 1940. This act, in turn, was amended August 7, 1939, to continue the authorized life of the Corps through June 30, 1943.

On July 1, 1939, the C C C, which had previously operated as an independent government agency, became a part of the Federal Security Agency, created by the President under the Reorganization Act of 1939.

The general program and objectives of the C C C have continued unchanged since its establishment. The purpose of the Civilian Conservation Corps is to provide employment, as well as vocational training, for youthful citizens of the United States who are unemployed and in need of employment, and to a limited extent for war veterans and Indians, through the performance of useful public work in connection with the conservation and development of the natural resources of the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Following enactment of the act of June 28, 1937, extending the life of the Civilian Conservation Corps, President Roosevelt issued Executive Orders Nos 7677-A, dated July 26, 1937, and 7717, dated September 29, 1937, to provide for the continued cooperation in the administration of the C C C of existing Federal departments Under these Executive orders the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs were requested to cooperate with the Director of the Civilian Conservation Corps in carrying out the purposes of the act The Director is assisted by officers of these departments and by a staff of administrative, special and technical assistants

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

The Federal Trade Commission was created by an act of Congress approved September 26, 1914, in which the Commission's powers and duties were defined. The Commission is an independent agency, with its five members appointed for a term of 7 years each by the President of the United States with the approval of the Senate No more than three members may be of one political party

Further powers are conferred upon this Commission by "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes," approved October 15, 1914 (Clayton Act), by Public, 692, Seventy-fourth Congress, approved June 19, 1936, amending section 2 of said act of October 15, 1914, by "An act to promote export trade, and for other purposes," approved April 10, 1918, known as the export trade act (Webb-Pomerene law), and by "An act to amend the act creating the Federal Trade Commission, to define its powers and duties, and for other purposes," approved March 21, 1938, known as the Federal Trade Commission Act (Public, 447, 75th Cong, 3rd sess)

FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURE UNDER THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION ACT

Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act declares that "unfair methods of competition in commerce, and unfair or deceptive acts or practices in commerce, are hereby declared unlawful" and empowers and directs the Commission to prevent "persons, partnerships, or corporations, except banks, common carriers subject to the acts to regulate commerce, air carriers and foreign air carriers subject to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, and persons, partnerships, or corporations subject to the Packers' and Stockyard Act, 1921, except as provided in section 406 (b) of said act, from using unfair methods of competition in commerce and unfair or deceptive acts or practices in commerce"

Whenever the Commission shall have reason to believe that any such person, partnership, or corporation has been or is using any unfair method of competition in commerce or any unfair or deceptive act or practice in commerce, and if it shall appear to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be to the interest of the public, it shall issue and serve upon such person, partnership, or corporation a complaint stating its charges in that respect Provision is made for hearings and the taking of testimony If the Commission shall then be of the opinion that the method of competition or the act or practice in question is prohibited by this act, it shall issue and cause to be served upon the person or organization against whom complaint is made its findings or fact and an order to cease and desist from such unfair method of competition or such unfair or deceptive act or practice

Provision is made for petition to a circuit court of appeals of the United States, within any circuit where the method of competition or the act or practice in question was used or where such person, partnership, or corporation resides or carries on business, within 60 days from the date of the service of such order to modify or set aside such order of the Commission Upon such petition the court has power to affirm, modify, or set aside such order, and to enforce the same to the extent that such order is affirmed An order of the Commission to cease and desist becomes final upon the expiration of the time allowed for filing a petition for review, if no such petition has been duly filed within such time, and, in case petition for review has been duly filed within the time allowed, the order of the Commission becomes final when the time for filing petition for certiorari has expired after such order has been affirmed or modified by a circuit court of appeals and no such petition has been filed, or, if certiorari has been granted, at such time as the decision has been affirmed by the Supreme Court

A letter to the Commission stating the employment of unfair practices by some concern is sufficient to institute the Commission's consideration of a proceeding If the letter clearly discloses that nothing is charged within the jurisdiction of the Commission, it is filed without further action If it appears, however, that there may have been such a violation of law, the matter is settled, after further investigation, by stipulation and agreement with the concern named in the letter, or by the issuance of a formal complaint followed by a formal trial of the charges, as required by the facts of the particular case and by the public interest, or by dismissal of the charges

Stipulations setting forth the unfair or deceptive practices used by the individual or concern named and including therein agreements to discontinue their use voluntarily are permitted as a privilege and not a right, and are entered into in the Commission's discretion and in the public interest, where such interest does not require a formal action. All such stipulations are a part of the public records of the Commission and digests thereof are published. It is the policy of the Commission not to thus dispose of matters involving intent to defraud or mislead, false advertisement of food, drugs, devices, or cosmetics which may be injurious to health, suppression or restraint of competition through conspiracy or monopolistic practices, violations of the Clayton Act, or where the Commission is of the opinion that such procedure will not be effective in preventing continued use of the unlawful method, act, or practice

A formal proceeding, instituted by a formal complaint and followed by the taking of testimony, filing of briefs, and oral argument, is terminated by the entry of a formal order to cease and desist or by order dismissing or closing the case. Such a proceeding is prosecuted in the name of the Commission by the chief counsel's division, and testimony and evidence in such proceeding are proffered before a member of the trial examiner's division, who is charged with passing upon the testimony and evidence and with other details incident to the trial of the case.

Investigation in the preliminary stages is the function of the chief examiner's office

Procedure and internal organization of the Commission, and methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices condemned by the Commission under section 5, are set forth in detail in its annual report

OTHER SECTIONS OF THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION ACT

Under section 6, the Federal Trade Commission derives its authority for making general investigations. It is provided that the Commission shall have power to gather and compile information concerning, and to investigate from time to time the organization, business conduct, practices, and management of any corporation engaged in commerce, excepting banks, and common carriers subject to the act to regulate commerce, and that it may require reports and answers to specific questions in the compilation of such information.

Under these powers, the Commission has conducted many economic inquiries, chiefly at the request of the President, the Senate, or the House, to whom reports have been made, and has gathered and published for the use of the Congress, the executive departments, and the public, a great deal of information regarding many of the essential industries of the country. The Commission also makes investigations on its own initiative under these powers, as in the instances of inquiries into the subjects of resale price maintenance and the price bases used by manufacturers and distributors in quoting and selling articles and commodities.

The Commission also has power under section 6 to investigate alleged violations of the antitrust acts by any corporation, upon the direction of the President or Congress, and, at the request of the Attorney General, to make such investigations and recommendations for changes in the corporation's methods so as to conform to the law.

Inquiries under way include

An investigation of broad scope into the extent and development of resale price maintenance, as legalized by State statutes and made use of by corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and of (1) the effects thereof on price and quality and on different aspects of the productive and distributive processes, and of (2) practices employed in obtaining the support of industry and the retail and wholesale trades for resale price maintenance, and practices employed in the practical establishment of resale price maintenance,

Accounting methods and practices current in industry, with particular respect to the subject of cost accounting and its significance in complying with various provisions of the Robinson-Patman Act and with those of similar State statutes, and with the numerous selling below cost prohibitions of some twenty-seven States, and

Participation in the investigations and studies of the Temporary National Economic Committee

The Commission is also empowered under section 6 to investigate the manner in which final decrees that have been entered in suits to restrain violations have been carried out, either upon its own initiative or at the request of the Attorney General, to whom it must report in the matter, to make such reports public, to investigate from time to time trade conditions in and with foreign countries where associations, combinations, or practices of manufacturers, merchants, or traders, or other conditions may affect the foreign trade of the United States, and to make public from time to time such portions of the information obtained by it as it shall deem expedient in the public interest, except trade secrets and names of customers.

Section 7 of the Federal Trade Commission Act provides that in any suit in equity brought by or under the direction of the Attorney General, as provided in the antitrust acts, the court may refer said suit to the Commission, as a master in chancery, to ascertain and report an appropriate form of decree therein.

Other sections of the act give to the Commission authorization for such investigations and the compilation of data, with provisions for procedure under the act, and penalties prescribed for refusal of persons, partnerships, or corporations to furnish such material or to comply with orders of the Commission to testify, produce evidence, or file reports, as required.

FUNCTIONS OF THE COMMISSION BOTH LEGAL AND ECONOMIC

It will be seen that under the Federal Trade Commission Act the functions of the Commission are both legal and economic. The legal functions include prevention of unfair competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices and of certain violations of the Clayton Act. Investigatory functions include economic studies of domestic industry and interstate and foreign commerce.

DUTIES OF THE COMMISSION UNDER THE CLAYTON ANTITRUST ACT

The Commission is given jurisdiction over violations of sections 2, 3, 7, and 8 of the Clayton Act. Section 2 has been amended to read as follows:

Section 2 (a) That it shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, either directly or indirectly, to discriminate in price between different purchasers of commodities of like grade and quality, where either or any of the purchases involved in such discrimination are in commerce, where such commodities are sold for use, consumption, or resale within the United States or any Territory thereof or the District of Columbia or any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States, and where the effect of such discrimination may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination, or with customers of either of them. Provided, That nothing herein contained shall prevent differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered. Provided, however, That the Federal Trade Commission may, after due investigation and hearing to all interested parties, fix and establish quantity limits, and revise the same as it finds necessary, as to particular commodities or classes of commodities, where it finds that available purchasers in greater quantities are so few as to render differentials on account thereof unjustly discriminatory or promotive of monopoly in any line of commerce, and the foregoing shall then not be construed to permit differentials based on differences in quantities greater than those so fixed and established. And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall prevent persons engaged in selling goods, wares, or merchandise in commerce from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade. And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall prevent price changes from time to time where in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, obsolescence of seasonal goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned.

(b) Upon proof being made, at any hearing on a complaint under this section, that there has been discrimination in price or services or facilities furnished, the burden of rebutting the prima facie case thus made by showing justification shall be upon the person charged with a violation of this section, and unless justification shall be affirmatively shown, the Commission is authorized to issue an order terminating the discrimination. Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall prevent a seller rebutting the prima facie case thus made by showing that his lower price or the furnishing of services or facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor

(c) That it shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to pay or grant, or to receive or accept, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, except for services rendered in connection with the sale or purchase of goods, wares, or merchandise, either to the other party to such transaction or to an agent, representative, or other intermediary therein where such intermediary is acting in fact for or in behalf, or is subject to the direct or indirect control, of any party to such transaction other than the person by whom such compensation is so granted or paid

(d) That it shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce to pay or contract for the payment of anything of value to or for the benefit of a customer of such person in the course of such commerce as compensation or in consideration for any services or facilities furnished by or through such customer in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of any products or commodities manufactured, sold, or offered for sale by such persons, unless such payment or consideration is available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products or commodities

(e) That it shall be unlawful for any person to discriminate in favor of one purchaser against another purchaser or purchasers of a commodity bought for resale, with or without processing, by contracting to furnish or furnishing, or by contributing to the furnishing of, any services or facilities connected with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of such commodity so purchased upon terms not accorded to all purchasers on proportionally equal terms

(f) That it shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, knowingly to induce or receive a discrimination in price which is prohibited by this section

Section 3 prohibits, in certain cases, so-called tying contracts, or contracts whereby, as a condition of sale or lease, the seller or lessor exacts from the purchaser or lessee an agreement that he shall not use or deal in the goods or other commodities of a competitor of the lessor or seller, where the effect of such agreement may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce

Section 7 prohibits acquisition by one corporation of the share capital of another corporation engaged in commerce, or acquisition by one corporation of the share capital of two or more corporations engaged in commerce, where the effect, in either case, may be to substantially lessen competition between the acquiring and acquired companies, or to restrain commerce or tend to create a monopoly

Section 8 prohibits so-called interlocking directorates in cases where one person shall at the same time be a director in any two or more corporations (any one of which has capital, surplus, and undivided profits aggregating more than $1,000,000) engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, other than banks, banking associations, trust companies, and common carriers subject to the act to regulate commerce, if such corporations are or have been competitors, so that the elimination of competition by agreement between them would constitute a violation of any of the provisions of any of the antitrust laws

Procedure under the Clayton Act is, with some exceptions, identical with that formerly prescribed under the Federal Trade Commission Act, prior to its amendment by the act of March 21, 1938

AND ADDITIONAL SECTIONS ADDED TO SAID ACT BY THE AMENDING ACT OF MARCH 21, 1938

Section 1 of the Federal Trade Commission Act as approved September 26, 1914, was amended March 21, 1938, by a proviso to the effect "that upon the expiration of his term of office a Commissioner shall continue to serve until his successor shall have been appointed and shall be qualified"

Section 4 of the original act, which is the section having to do with definitions, was amended by broadening and clarifying the definitions of "corporation," "documentary evidence," "acts to regulate commerce," and "antitrust acts"

Section 5 was amended by declaring unfair or deceptive acts or practices in commerce unlawful, by making a cease and desist order of the Commission final

60 days after the date of service of such order, unless an appeal from such order is taken to a circuit court of appeals before that time praying that the order of the Commission be set aside, by provisions definitely fixing the time when orders from which appeals have been taken shall become final, and by providing that "any person, partnership, or corporation who violates an order of the Commission to cease and desist after it has become final, and while such order is in effect, shall forfeit and pay to the United States a civil penalty of not more than $5,000 for each violation, which shall accrue to the United States and may be recovered by a civil action brought by the United States."

The amending act of March 21, 1938, added sections 12 to 18, inclusive, to said act.

Section 12 makes unlawful the dissemination or the causing of the dissemination of any false advertisement "by United States mails, or in commerce by any means, for the purpose of inducing, or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of food, drugs, devices, or cosmetics, or by any means, for the purpose of inducing, or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase in commerce of any food, drugs, devices, or cosmetics." It also provides that the dissemination or the causing of the dissemination of any such false advertisement shall be an unfair or deceptive act in commerce within the meaning of section 5.

Section 13 authorizes the Commission to apply to any district court of the United States or in the United States Court of any territory for a temporary injunction to enjoin the dissemination or the causing of the dissemination of any false advertisement of food, drugs, devices, or cosmetics whenever it has reason to believe that such injunction, pending final action upon a complaint issued by the Commission under section 5, would be to the interest of the public.

Section 14 provides that any person, partnership, or corporation violating any provision of section 12 (a) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment if the use of the commodity so advertised may be injurious to health because of results from such use under the conditions prescribed in the advertisement thereof, or under such conditions as are customary or usual, or if such violation is with intent to defraud or mislead, doubles the penalties for a second conviction, provides that meat and meat food products, duly inspected in accordance with the Meat Inspection Act, shall be conclusively presumed not injurious to health at the time the same leave official "establishments," and provides exemptions from the provisions of the said section to publishers, radio broadcast licensees, or agencies or mediums for the dissemination of advertising except the manufacturer, packer, distributor, or seller of the commodity to which the false advertisements relate, unless such persons refuse to furnish the Commission with the name and post office address of the manufacturer, packer, etc., residing in the United States, causing the dissemination of such advertisement.

Section 15 defines the term "false advertisement" and also defines "food," "drug," "devices," and "cosmetics."

Section 16 provides that whenever the Commission has reason to believe that any person, partnership, or corporation is liable to the penalty under section 14 or under subsection (f) of section 5, it shall certify the facts to the Attorney General, whose duty it shall be to cause appropriate proceedings to be brought for the enforcement of the provisions of such section or subsection.

Section 17 contains the usual separability clause, while section 18 provides that the act may be cited as the "Federal Trade Commission Act." The amending act, after adding sections 12 to 18, inclusive, as above set forth, is then concluded by section 5 (a) and (b), which respectively provide that in case of an order to cease and desist served by the Commission on or before the date of the enactment of the act the 60-day period referred to in section 5 (c) of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended, shall begin on the date of the enactment of this act (March 21, 1938), and that section 14 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (containing the criminal penalty provisions) shall take effect on the expiration of 60 days after the date of the enactment of this act (effective date May 20, 1938).

TRADE PRACTICE CONFERENCES

The trade practice conference is a procedure of the Commission having for its purpose the establishment of fair trade practice rules for the government of trade and industry. Rules set up under this procedure provide for elimination or prevention of various unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices or other illegal trade practices. There may also be included in the rules provisions for otherwise fostering and promoting fair competitive conditions and ethical standards of business conduct in harmony with the public interest

Such trade practice conference work of the Commission was instituted in 1919. By 1926 the work had grown to such importance that the Commission established what is now known as the Division of Trade Practice Conferences.

The procedure constitutes one of the several means for carrying out the Commission's function of keeping trade and industry free from harmful practices proscribed by the statutes which the Commission administers.

Rules established for an industry under the trade practice conference procedure are classified into two groups. In group I are placed all rules which proscribe practices that are illegal as constituting unfair methods of competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices or that are otherwise objectionable under laws administered by the Commission. A greater part of the rules fall into this group, and the Commission has jurisdiction to prevent the use in commerce of the illegal trade practices proscribed therein regardless of whether the offender has signed or agreed to abide by the rules. In group II are placed rules for the establishment of practices which the industry deems desirable and which are not contrary to the public interest. Infraction of rules of this class are not illegal per se. Compliance with such group II rules is obtained mainly through agreement and voluntary cooperation among the industry members.

FALSE AND MISLEADING ADVERTISING CASES

For the purpose of effecting a more direct and expeditious method of handling certain cases involving false and misleading advertising which may seem to be violative of the provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act as amended, the Commission, on October 18, 1938, established a Radio and Periodical Division.

Advertisers, publishers, broadcasting stations, and advertising agents in such cases generally are accorded the privilege of dealing directly with the Director of this Division with a view to reaching an agreement for negotiating a stipulation that will dispose of the issues involved, and obviate the necessity for the preparation and service of formal complaint.

By this procedure the advertisers are afforded an opportunity informally to present for consideration such evidence relating to the advertising claims questioned by the Commission as they may care to submit, with a view to determining whether or not a revision of their advertising is required, and to stipulate the discontinuance of any representations which, after a consideration of all the evidence, are determined to be false or misleading. In most cases the results obtained by this procedure are as effective as those that could be accomplished by the issuance of cease and desist orders, and long delays and litigation, expensive both to the advertisers and the Government, are avoided.

FEDERAL WORKS AGENCY

The Federal Works Agency was created by the first plan for Government reorganization submitted to Congress by the President on April 25, 1939, under authority of the Reorganization Act of 1939, and began to function as an agency of the Federal Government on July 1, 1939.

Five organizations, previously operating either as independent establishments or as parts of departments, were brought together under FWA. These organizations were The Work Projects Administration (WPA), formerly the Works Progress Administration (with the exception of the National Youth Administration), the Public Works Administration (PWA), formerly the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, the Public Roads Administration (PRA), formerly the Bureau of Public Roads in the Department of Agriculture, the United States Housing Authority (USHA), formerly in the Interior Department, and the Public Buildings Administration (PBA), in which was combined the Branch of Public Buildings, Procurement Division, Treasury Department, and the Branch of Buildings Management, National Park Service, Interior Department. Four of the administrations are headed by Commissioners. The United States Housing Authority is headed by an Administrator.

All of the agencies grouped in the Federal Works Agency deal with public works not incidental to the regular work of other Government departments, and all except the Public Buildings Administration administer Federal grants or loans to State and local governments or other agencies for construction purposes. All deal with construction practices and standards.

The purpose of consolidating these five units in the Federal Works Agency was To reduce expenditures, to increase efficiency, to consolidate agencies according to major purposes, to reduce the number of agencies by consolidating those having similar functions, and to eliminate overlapping and duplication of effort in the Government

WORK PROJECTS ADMINISTRATION

The Work Projects Administration was created by Presidential Executive order, May 6, 1935, under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935, approved April 8, 1935 (Public Res No 11, 74th Cong, "An act to provide relief, work relief, and to increase employment by providing for useful projects * * *"), as the Works Progress Administration Under the President's first plan on Government reorganization submitted to Congress on April 25, 1939, under the terms of the Reorganization Act of 1939, the Works Progress Administration was incorporated in the Federal Works Agency under the name of Work Projects Administration

PUBLIC WORKS ADMINISTRATION

The Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works was created under the act of Congress approved June 16, 1933 (Public, No 67, 73d Cong), and was extended until June 30, 1937, by the act of Congress approved April 8, 1935 (Public Res 11, 74th Cong) Its life was further extended until July 1, 1939, by the Public Works Administration Extension Act of 1937 (Public Res 47, 75th Cong), approved June 29, 1937, and to June 30, 1941, by the Public Works Administration Appropriation Act of 1938 (Public Res 122, 75th Cong), approved June 21, 1938 The Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works was made part of the Federal Works Agency, under the shorter name of Public Works Administration, by Reorganization Plan No I transmitted by the President to the Congress on April 25, 1939, pursuant to the provisions of the Reorganization Act of 1939 (Public, No 19, 76th Cong), approved April 3, 1939

The present functions of the Public Works Administration may be summarized as follows

(1) To make allotments to finance Federal projects, (2) to make loans or grants, or both, to non-Federal public bodies to aid in financing the construction of useful public works, and (3) to construct and lease projects, with or without the privilege of purchase, to public bodies

PUBLIC ROADS ADMINISTRATION

The Public Roads Administration is the principal road-building agency of the Federal Government It administers Federal funds authorized to aid the States in improving the Federal-aid system and its extensions through cities, secondary roads, and elimination of hazards at grade crossings It cooperates with other agencies in improving roads in national forests, national parks, and in other Federal areas In order that funds may be properly expended it conducts research into highway design, construction, and economics

PUBLIC BUILDINGS ADMINISTRATION

The Public Buildings Administration was established as a part of the Federal Works Agency under the provisions of Reorganization Plan No I, Section 303, pursuant to the provisions of the Reorganization Act of 1939, approved April 3, 1939 Prior to July 1, 1939, the component parts of the Public Buildings Administration operated as units of the Procurement Division in the Treasury Department and of the National Park Service in the Department of the Interior Under the first Reorganization plan the Public Buildings Branch of the Procurement Division, the Branch of Buildings Management of the National Park Service (except its functions relating to monuments and memorials), and the functions of the National Park Service in the District of Columbia in connection with the general assignment of space, the selection of sites for public buildings, and the determination of the priority in which the construction or enlargement of public buildings shall be undertaken, were consolidated in the Public Buildings Administration of the Federal Works Agency under the Commissioner of Public Buildings

The Public Buildings Administration is responsible for the administrative, technical, and clerical functions incident to the design, construction, maintenance, and repair of Federal buildings

The work of the Administration is directed by the Commissioner of Public Buildings. Operating directly under the Commissioner and responsible for the detailed technical, clerical, and administrative functions are

Office of the Buildings Manager — Operates, maintains, and protects all buildings under the jurisdiction of the Administration for such purposes, determines the need of and arranges for the repair and preservation of buildings, including leased properties, operated by the Administration in the District of Columbia, performs all moving operations of Government agencies into, out of, or within buildings operated, maintained, and protected by the Administration

Office of the Fiscal Manager — Collects and prepares for submission to the Bureau of the Budget and the Congress data and estimates for the construction and repair of Federal buildings and for the general administrative expenses of the Administration, acquires land for public building sites, acts on a joint committee with representatives of the Post Office Department in the selection of sites for public buildings outside the District of Columbia, determines the sufficiency and applicability of appropriated funds in connection with contracts and changes thereof and for other purposes, effects final settlement of contracts, administers leasing and sale of surplus real estate, maintains an inventory of Government-owned real estate

Office of the Office Manager — Duplicates specifications and drawings for construction and repair work, advertises for bids, forwards bidding material to prospective bidders and others interested and opens and distributes bids when received, procures and distributes office supplies, supervises (1) mail and files of Public Buildings Administration, (2) all duplicating work including mimeograph, multilith, blueprinting and photography, (3) information service, (4) relief and telegraph rooms, (5) clearance of furniture purchases for all constituent units of the Federal Works Agency, including transfer of furniture between units

Office of Planning and Space Control — Collects preplanning data for use in the determination of building projects within and outside the District of Columbia, determines the assignment of space in new and existing building throughout the country, administers rental and lease contracts, administers the acquisition of space on rental basis for all Federal activities in the District of Columbia, and for the collective housing of Federal agencies in single buildings outside the District of Columbia

Office of the Supervising Architect — Prepares preliminary sketches and estimates leading to the establishment of a program of Federal building construction, responsible for the architectural and engineering design, the development of tentative drawings, cabinet sketches, working drawings and specifications for all projects authorized under the various Federal building programs, and for the sculptural and mural decoration of the buildings under the supervision of the Section of Fine Arts

Office of the Supervising Engineer — Prepares and forwards contract documents for execution, controls dates of issuance of notices to proceed, manages contracts and supervises contractors' operations for the construction, reconstruction, extension, and remodeling of public buildings under jurisdiction of the Administration, except those operated by it in the District of Columbia, makes site surveys, collaborates with other offices of the Administration as necessary or desirable

FEDERAL FIRE COUNCIL

The Federal Fire Council was organized in April 1930 by collective action of Government departments and establishments and established by Executive Order No 7397 of June 20, 1936, as an official advisory agency in matters relating to the protection of Federal employees and property from fire. By Executive Order No 8194 of July 6, 1939, it was placed under the jurisdiction of the Federal Works Agency

The council is authorized to develop standards, procedures, and forms, and, on request, to conduct surveys or such other investigations as may be necessary to determine what measures should be taken to safeguard life and property from the hazards of fire, including review of plans for new construction. The council is also authorized to make such independent studies of Federal buildings and property as it may deem desirable from the standpoint of fire protection, and to maintain a record of fire losses on Government property

The membership of the council consists of such officers or employees of the various departments and establishments of the Federal Government and of the District of Columbia as are designated by the respective heads thereof. These are organized into standing committees concerned with matters such as fire-hazard surveys, requirements for fire-protection equipment, establishment of fire-loss prevention procedures and organizations within Government establishments, development of inspection forms, manuals, and fire-resistance standards for new construction, protection of records, and fire-loss statistics.

Reports of surveys and other committee actions are submitted for adoption at periodic meetings of the council. Reports and recommendations involving matters of general policy are subject to the approval of the governing body. These reports and other informative material are distributed to the membership, to the heads of bureaus and establishments, and to other interested Federal, State, and city officials. A manual covering the general subject of fire-loss prevention has been issued together with a fire report and self-inspection forms, the latter for use within departments and establishments in connection with inspections.

UNITED STATES HOUSING AUTHORITY

The United States Housing Authority was created by the United States Housing Act of 1937. Originally in the Department of the Interior, the USHA was transferred to the Federal Works Agency on July 1, 1939, under the President's First Plan of Government Reorganization.

The United States Housing Authority makes loans to local public housing authorities to finance not more than 90 percent of the cost of low-rent housing projects, the balance of the capital cost being obtained by the local authorities through the sale of their obligations to purchasers other than the USHA. The loans of the USHA are repayable with interest over a period not in excess of 60 years.

It also provides technical assistance and advice on its established standards of construction in that part of the housing field which cannot be reached economically by private enterprise.

Although the housing projects are owned, operated, and remain under the entire control of local public agencies from initiation to management, the United States Housing Authority makes annual contributions to the local authorities to help maintain rents at levels which families in the lowest income groups can afford to pay.

FOREIGN-TRADE ZONES BOARD

The Foreign-Trade Zones Board was created by an act of Congress approved June 18 1934. The Board is composed of the Secretary of Commerce, chairman, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of War.

Its duties are (1), after careful analysis of applications and investigations, to issue permits to public and private corporations for the privilege of establishing, operating, and maintaining foreign-trade zones in ports of entry of the United States for the purpose of expediting and encouraging foreign commerce, and (2) to administer the law governing the operation of such zones.

Within the foreign-trade zone, which is a segregated, enclosed, and policed area, commodities are substantially free from usual customs regulations, and a considerable degree of freedom is allowed in the handling of such goods within the zone, as, for example, repacking, resorting, mixing, and other types of manipulation, it should be noted that exhibiting and manufacturing are not permitted within the zone.

On January 30, 1936, the Board issued a grant to the municipality of New York permitting the establishment and operation of a foreign-trade zone at Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y. This zone was placed in operation on February 1, 1937, and comprises a water area of approximately 66 acres, including 18 acres occupied by five piers, and an adjacent upland of about 26 acres, a total of approximately 92 acres. It is maintained within a land and water barrier with a total length of about 8 375 lineal feet and constantly policed by United States customs guards.

On September 22, 1937, the Alabama State Docks Commission was authorized to establish and operate a foreign-trade zone at Mobile, Ala. This zone which was opened on July 21, 1938, was voluntarily closed shortly thereafter and the grant canceled by the Board.

Applications for permits to establish and operate foreign-trade zones in several other ports of entry are now pending before the Board.

GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE

The Comptroller General of the United States is charged by law with the settlement and adjustment, independently of the executive departments, of all claims and demands whatever by the Government of the United States or against it, and all accounts whatever in which the Government of the United States is concerned, either as debtor or creditor, and is vested with all powers and duties previously conferred or imposed by law upon the former Comptroller of the Treasury and the six Auditors of the Treasury Department, also with the duty of keeping the personal ledger accounts of disbursing and collecting officers, of reporting to Congress delinquency in rendering accounts, and of certifying balances, which are final and conclusive, upon the executive branch of the Government. He may provide for payment of accounts or claims adjusted and settled in the General Accounting Office through disbursing officers of the several departments and establishments instead of by warrant, and prescribes the forms, systems, and procedure for administrative appropriation and fund accounting in the several departments and establishments, and for the administrative examination of fiscal officers' accounts and claims, reporting to Congress upon the adequacy and efficiency of such administrative examination. He appoints and removes attorneys and other employees in the General Accounting Office, they performing such duties as may be assigned to them by him, all official acts performed by them, when specially designated therefor by the Comptroller General, having the same force and effect as though performed by the Comptroller General in person. He makes such rules and regulations as may be necessary for carrying on the work of the General Accounting Office, including those for the admission of attorneys to practice before it, and furnishes, under the seal of said Office for use as evidence, copies of records from books and proceedings thereof in accordance with sections 882 and 886 of the Revised Statutes.

Upon the application of disbursing officers, the head of any executive department or other independent establishment not under any of the executive departments, the Comptroller General is required to render his advance decision upon any question involving a payment to be made by them or under them, which decision when rendered governs in the settlement of the account involving the payment inquired about. He reviews, on his own motion, any settled account when in the interest of the United States to do so. He superintends the recovery of all debts finally certified by audited settlements to be due the United States exclusive of those arising under the Postal Service, and the preservation of all accounts, with their vouchers, etc., which have been finally adjusted, and countersigns all warrants authorized by law to be signed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

It is also the duty of the Comptroller General to investigate at the seat of government or elsewhere all matters relating to the receipt, disbursement, and application of public funds and to make recommendations to the President, when requested by him, and to Congress concerning legislation necessary to facilitate the prompt and accurate rendition and settlement of accounts, and concerning such other matters as he may deem advisable in regard to the receipt, disbursement, and application of public funds and economy or efficiency in public expenditures. He makes investigations for Congress as to revenue, appropriations, and expenditures, furnishing assistants from his office to Congress for that purpose, and specially reports to Congress every expenditure or contract made by any department or establishment in any year in violation of law. He also reports to Congress upon the adequacy and effectiveness of departmental inspection of the offices and accounts of fiscal officers, and, in accordance with law, has access to and examines any books, documents, papers, or records, except those pertaining to certain funds for purposes of intercourse or treaty with foreign nations, of all departments and establishments, for the purpose of securing from time to time information regarding the powers, duties, activities, organization, financial transactions, and methods of business of their respective offices. It is also his duty to furnish to the Bureau of the Budget such information relating to expenditures and accounting as it may request from time to time.

INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY COMMISSION, UNITED STATES, ALASKA, AND CANADA

The International Boundary Commission, United States, Alaska, and Canada, was created under the provisions of the several boundary treaties between the United States and Great Britain, for the purpose of defining, marking, and maintaining the demarcation of the international boundary line between the United States and Canada and between Alaska and Canada, as follows

1 Southeastern Alaska, or the boundary between Alaska and British Columbia Length, 893 miles

Article VI of the convention between the United States and Great Britain, providing for the settlement of questions between the two countries with respect to the boundary line between the Territory of Alaska and the British possessions in North America, signed at Washington, January 24, 1903, stipulated that when the high contracting parties shall have received the decision of the tribunal upon the questions submitted as provided in the foregoing articles, which decision shall be final and binding upon all parties, they will at once appoint, each on its own behalf, one or more scientific experts, who shall with all convenient speed proceed to lay down the boundary line in conformity with such decision

2 The boundary between Alaska and Canada, along the one hundred and forty-first meridian Length, 647 miles

The convention between the United States and Great Britain, signed at Washington, April 21, 1906, provided for the surveying and marking out upon the ground of the one hundred and forty-first meridian of west longitude where said meridian forms the boundary line between Alaska and the British possessions of North America The convention stipulated that each Government shall appoint one commissioner, with whom may be associated such surveyors, astronomers, and other assistants as each Government may elect, who shall locate the boundary line, erect the necessary boundary marks, make the necessary surveys, and file duplicate records with their respective Governments

3 The United States and Canada boundary from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, with the exception of the St Lawrence River and Great Lakes Length, 2,697 miles

Articles I, II, III, V, VI, VII, and VIII, of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain, entitled "Canadian International Boundary," signed at Washington, April 11, 1908, stipulated that each of the high contracting parties shall appoint without delay an expert geographer or surveyor as Commissioner, and the Commissioners so appointed shall jointly execute the necessary surveys, repair existing boundary marks, erect additional boundary marks, and lay down the boundary line in accordance with the existing treaties upon quadruplicate sets of accurate modern charts, prepared or adopted by them for that purpose, and that said charts so marked shall be filed with each Government, and said Commissioners shall also prepare, in duplicate, and file with each Government a joint report or reports, describing in detail the course of the boundary so marked by them, and the character and location of the several monuments and boundary marks and ranges marking it

4 Article IV of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain in respect to Canada, signed at Washington, February 24, 1925, which provides for the maintenance of an effective boundary line between the United States and the Dominion of Canada and between Alaska and the Dominion of Canada, authorizes and directs the Commissioners appointed under the provisions of the treaty of April 11, 1908, to inspect the various portions of the boundary line between the United States and the Dominion of Canada and between Alaska and the Dominion of Canada at such times as they shall deem necessary, to repair all damaged monuments and buoys, to relocate and rebuild monuments which have been destroyed, to keep the boundary vistas open, to move boundary monuments to new sites and establish such additional monuments and buoys as they shall deem desirable, to maintain at all times an effective boundary line between the United States and the Dominion of Canada and between Alaska and the Dominion of Canada as defined by the present treaty and treaties heretofore concluded or hereafter to be concluded, and to determine the location of any point of the boundary line which may become necessary in the settlement of any question that may arise between the two Governments

INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY COMMISSION, UNITED STATES AND MEXICO

The International Boundary Commission, United States and Mexico, was created pursuant to the provisions of the treaty concluded March 1, 1889, with exclusive jurisdiction to examine and decide all differences or questions arising on that portion of the frontier between the United States of America and the United

Mexican States where for a distance of 1,210 miles the Rio Grande, and for a distance of 20 miles the Colorado River form the boundary line as originally established under the treaties of 1848 and 1853, and further regulated by the treaties of 1884, 1905, and 1933, growing out of changes in the beds of, or works constructed in, these rivers, or any other cause affecting the boundary line. Matters pertaining to the practical location and monumentation of the overland boundary of 675 miles between El Paso, Tex., and the Pacific Ocean, as well as questions for investigation and report touching flood-control measures and other engineering problems along the international boundary, are also submitted to the Joint Commission upon concurrence between the respective Governments through an exchange of notes. The Commission is empowered to suspend the construction of works of any character along the Rio Grande and Colorado Rivers that contravene existing treaties, erect and maintain monuments along the water boundary, make necessary surveys of changes brought by force of current in both rivers caused by avulsion, accretion, or erosion, mark and eliminate bancos caused by such changes, survey, place, and maintain monuments on all international bridges between the two countries. The Commission is authorized to call for papers of information relative to boundary matters from either country, hold meetings at any point questions may arise, summon witnesses and take testimony. If both Commissioners agree to a decision, their judgment shall be binding on both Governments, unless one of them shall disapprove it within 1 month from the date it shall have been pronounced. By the provisions of the treaty of 1933 the Commission was charged with the direction and inspection of the construction, and with the subsequent maintenance of the Rio Grande Rectification Project in the El Paso-Juarez Valley.

The United States section of the Commission was by the act approved June 30, 1932 (Public, No. 212, 72d Cong.), charged with the exercise and performance of the powers, duties, and functions of the American section, International Water Commission, United States and Mexico, which was abolished by the terms of such act effective July 1, 1932. In addition to the development and analysis of general data pertaining to the extent of beneficial use of international waters, there are operated by the United States section of the Commission, over some 1,500 miles of the Rio Grande, its tributaries and diversions, 54 stream-gaging stations embracing the measurement of the run-off from over 55,000 square miles of the drainage area of the Rio Grande within the United States between Fort Quitman, Tex., and the Gulf of Mexico, and nearly one-half of the pertinent drainage area in Mexico between those points. Congressional concurrence in the development of these international data is found in the provisions of the act approved August 19, 1935 (Public, No. 286, 74th Cong.).

Statutory provision is also made by this act for the conduct by the American Commissioner of technical and other investigations relating to the defining, demarcation, fencing, or monumentation of the land and water boundary, and the construction of fences, monuments, and other demarcation of the boundary line as well as sewer and water systems and other enumerated structures crossing the international border. The act further embraces statutory authority and administrative provisions for the construction, operation, and maintenance of treaty and other boundary projects.

INTERNATIONAL JOINT COMMISSION, THE

The International Joint Commission was created by the treaty between the United States and Great Britain signed January 11, 1909, the object of which is "to prevent disputes regarding the use of boundary waters and to settle all questions which are now pending between the United States and the Dominion of Canada involving the rights, obligations, or interests of either in relation to the other or to the inhabitants of the other, along their common frontier, and to make provision for the adjustment and settlement of all such questions as may hereafter arise."

The Commission consists of six members, three appointed by the President of the United States and three appointed by His Majesty on recommendation of the Government of Canada. It was organized in 1911, adopted rules of procedure, and established permanent offices in Washington and Ottawa. It has jurisdiction over all cases involving the use or obstruction or diversion of boundary waters between the United States and Canada, of waters flowing from boundary waters, and of waters at a lower level than the boundary in rivers flowing across the boundary.

Under article IX of the treaty the International Joint Commission also is constituted an investigatory body for the purpose of examining into and reporting upon any questions or matters of difference arising along the common frontier that shall be referred to it from time to time whenever either the Government of the United States or the Government of Canada shall request that such questions or matters of difference be so referred.

Under article X of the treaty any questions or matters of difference arising between the high contracting parties involving the rights, obligations, or interests of the United States or of the Dominion of Canada, either in relation to each other or to their respective inhabitants, may be referred for decision to the International Joint Commission, it being understood that on the part of the United States such action will be by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and on the part of Great Britain with the consent of the Government of Canada.

Under article VI of the treaty the Commission is charged with the measurement and apportionment from time to time of the waters of the St. Mary and Milk Rivers and their tributaries, these rivers lying partly in Montana and partly in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and being largely used for irrigation purposes in both countries.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

The original act to regulate commerce, approved February 4, 1887, provided for a commission consisting of five members. By various amendatory and supplementary enactments the powers of the Commission have been increased and the scope of the regulating statute materially widened. Among the more important of these enactments are the acts of March 2, 1889, the Elkins Act, approved February 19, 1903, the Hepburn Act, approved June 29, 1906, the Mann-Elkins Act of June 18, 1910, the acts of August 24, 1912, and May 29 and August 9, 1917, the Transportation Act, 1920, the Emergency Railroad Transportation Act, 1933, and the Motor Carrier Act, 1935. The number of commissioners was increased under the act of June 29, 1906, to 7 members, under the act of August 9, 1917, to 9 members, and under the Transportation Act, 1920, to 11 members.

The Commission appoints a secretary (who is its general administrative and executive officer), an assistant secretary, a chief counsel, and such attorneys, examiners, special agents, and clerks as are necessary to the proper performance of its duties.

The Motor Carrier Act, 1935, was added to the Interstate Commerce Act as part II thereof and will be separately described later.

The Interstate Commerce Act, part I, applies to all common carriers engaged in the transportation of oil or other commodities, except water, and except natural or artificial gas, by means of pipe lines, or partly by pipe lines and partly by railroad, or partly by pipe lines and partly by water, from one State, Territory, or District of the United States to any other State, Territory, or District of the United States, or to any foreign country, and to common carriers engaged in interstate transportation of passengers or property wholly by railroad (or partly by railroad and partly by water when both are used under a common control, management, or arrangement for a continuous carriage or shipment), also to express companies and sleeping-car companies, to bridges, ferries, car floats and lighters, and all terminal and transportation facilities used or necessary in the interstate transportation of persons or property.

The Interstate Commerce Act requires all rates to be just and reasonable and prohibits unjust discrimination and undue or unreasonable preference or advantage in transportation rates or facilities. The act provides that whenever in any investigation, including one instituted upon petition of the carriers concerned, there shall be brought in issue any rate, fare, charge, classification, regulation, or practice made or imposed by any State authority, the authorities of the State or States interested must be notified of the hearings in such cases, and the Commission may confer and hold joint hearings with the authorities of the interested States. If, after hearing, the Commission finds such rate, fare, charge, classification, regulation, or practice causes undue or unreasonable advantage, preference, or prejudice as between persons or localities in intrastate commerce on the one hand and interstate or foreign commerce on the other hand, or any undue, unreasonable, or unjust discrimination against interstate or foreign commerce which is forbidden, it is authorized to prescribe the rate, fare, or charge, or the maximum or minimum, or maximum and minimum, thereafter to be charged, and the classification, regulation, or practice thereafter to be observed, in such manner as, in its judgment, will remove such advantage, preference, prejudice, or discrimination

The act prohibits the charging of a higher rate for a shorter than for a longer haul over the same line in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer haul, or the charging of any greater compensation as a through rate than the aggregate of the intermediate rates subject to the act. It is provided, however, that the Commission may, in special cases, after investigation, authorize carriers to charge less for longer than for shorter distances, and from time to time prescribe the extent to which such carriers may be relieved, subject, however, to the further proviso that in so doing the Commission shall not permit the establishment of any charge to or from the more distant point that is not reasonably compensatory, or authorize a circuitous rail line, because of such circuitry, to meet the charges of a more direct line to or from competitive points, and to maintain higher charges to or from an intermediate point on its line where the length of the haul on the petitioning line is not longer than that of the direct line between the competitive points, or authorize any such relief because of merely potential water competition not actually in existence

The Commission is authorized to require carriers to establish through routes and joint rates, and it may act summarily in itself establishing, temporarily, through routes when, in its opinion, shortage of equipment, congestion of traffic, or other emergency exists. The act requires that divisions of joint rates shall be just, reasonable, and equitable, and authorizes the Commission, upon complaint or upon its own initiative, after hearing, to prescribe the just, reasonable, and equitable divisions of such rates, and it may require readjustment of such divisions if it finds they have been unjust, unreasonable, or inequitable in the past, and if the joint rates, the divisions of which are in issue, were themselves prescribed pursuant to a finding or order of the Commission. The Commission is also authorized to require carriers subject to the act to construct switch connections with lateral branch lines of railroads and private sidetracks. The act forbids the construction of new, and the abandonment of old, lines of railroad without Commission approval, excepting "spur, industrial, team, switching, or sidetracks, located or to be located wholly within one State." The act provides that where two or more through routes and through rates shall have been established shippers shall have the right to designate in writing via which of such through routes the property shall be transported to destination. The act gives the Commission authority over the routing of traffic after it arrives at the terminus or a junction point of a carrier and is to be there delivered to another carrier in cases where routing instructions have not been given by the shipper. Where diversion of routed freight occurs which is not in compliance with an order, rule, or regulation of the Commission, the carrier or carriers so diverting the traffic are jointly and severally liable to the carrier deprived of its right to participate in the haul of the property

The act authorizes the Commission, under certain circumstances, upon such terms and conditions and subject to such rules and regulations as it may think just and reasonable, to permit the pooling of freights of different and competing railroads, and the divisions of the aggregate or net proceeds of the earnings of such railroads. It requires the Commission to prepare and adopt, as soon as practicable, a plan for the consolidation of railway properties of the continental United States into a limited number of systems

It permits the carriers, with Commission approval, to merge as well as consolidate their properties, or any part thereof, and to purchase, lease, or contract to operate the properties, or any part thereof, of other carriers, or acquire stock control of other carriers, a noncarrier corporation may acquire stock control of one or more carriers, and when so authorized by the Commission such noncarrier corporations are to be considered and treated as carriers subject to the act for the purposes of its provisions relating to reports, accounts, and issuance of securities. The act authorizes a consolidation of four express companies, and relieves carriers, when permission is so granted, from the restraints of the antitrust laws so far as may be necessary to effect such consolidations

The Commission has jurisdiction, upon complaint or in a proceeding instituted upon its own initiative, and after full hearing, to determine and prescribe reasonable rates, regulations, and practices, including minimum, and maximum and minimum, rates, and also minimum, and maximum and minimum, proportional rates to and from ports, except that such minimum power does not apply to water carriers not controlled by rail carriers, and to award reparation to injured shippers

The transportation act also provides that actions at law by carriers to recover their charges shall be begun within 3 years from the time the cause of action accrues and not thereafter, and that complaints seeking reparation shall be instituted within 2 years from the time the cause of action accrues, except that if on or before expiration of the 2-year period of limitation in subdivision (b) or of the 3-year period of limitation in subdivision (c) a carrier subject to this act begins action under subdivision (a) for recovery of charges in respect of the same transportation service or, without beginning action, collects charges in respect of that service said period of limitation shall be extended to include 90 days from the time such action is begun or such charges are collected by the carrier. The act also provides that a cause of action against the carrier shall be deemed to accrue upon delivery or tender of delivery by the carrier of the property involved. The Commission may also require carriers to cease and desist from unjust discrimination or undue or unreasonable preferences. By the Transportation Act of 1920 the statute was amended to provide that an order of the Commission shall continue in force until its further order, or for a specified period of time, according as shall be prescribed in the order, unless modified or set aside by the Commission, or set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Carriers are required to publish and file rates, rules, and regulations applying to interstate traffic and are prohibited from engaging in interstate transportation unless such rates, rules, and regulations are published and filed. Severe penalties are provided in the statute for failure to observe the rates and regulations as shown in the published tariffs.

By the act of May 29, 1917, as amended on February 28, 1920, the Commission is given extensive jurisdiction over the use, control, supply, movement, distribution, exchange, interchange, and return of locomotives, cars, and other vehicles, including special types of equipment and the supply of trains.

The Commission may inquire into the management of the business of all common carriers subject to the provisions of the act, and may prescribe the accounts, records, and memoranda which shall be kept by the carriers, which shall be open to examination by the Commission through its authorized agents or examiners. Carriers are required to file annual reports with the Commission and such other reports as the Commission may from time to time require. By the amendment of February 28, 1920, the Commission was directed to prescribe, for carriers subject to the act, the classes of property for which depreciation charges may be included in operating expenses and the percentages of depreciation chargeable for each such class of property, with authority to modify such classes and percentages so prescribed when deemed necessary.

By the act of June 18, 1910 (Mann-Elkins law), the jurisdiction of the Commission was increased as to through routes and joint rates, freight classification, switch connections, long and short hauls, filing or rejection of rate schedules, investigations on own motion, determining reasonable rates, suspension of proposed rates, and other matters. By the act of March 4, 1927, the maximum period during which the Commission may suspend the operation of proposed schedules is fixed at not more than 7 months, and it is provided that if the proceeding upon suspension is not concluded within that time the proposed schedule shall go into effect at the end of such period, but that the Commission may require the carriers to keep account in detail of all amounts received by reason of increases in such rates and charges and, if the decision of the Commission be adverse, require the carrier or carriers to refund with interest such portions of such increased rates or charges as by its decision shall be found not justified.

By act approved August 24, 1912 (sec. 11), a new paragraph was added to section 5 of the act to regulate commerce by which it is made unlawful after July 1, 1914, for any common carrier subject to the act to regulate commerce to own, lease, operate, control, or have any interest in any competing carrier by water. Jurisdiction is conferred upon the Commission to determine questions of fact as to competition, after full hearing, on the application of any railroad company or other carrier and to extend beyond July 1, 1914, the time during which such ownership or operation of vessels plying elsewhere than through the Panama Canal may continue, when it is found to be in the interest of the public and of advantage to the convenience and commerce of the people, and such extension will neither exclude, prevent, nor reduce competition on the route by water.

At the same time section 6 of the act was amended by adding a new paragraph conferring upon the Commission jurisdiction over transportation of property from point to point in the United States by rail and water, whether through the Panama Canal or otherwise, and not entirely within the limits of a single State, this jurisdiction, under certain conditions, including power to establish physical connection between lines of the rail carrier and the dock of the water carrier by directing the rail carrier to make such connection, to establish through routes and maximum joint rates over such rail and water lines, and to determine the conditions thereof, and to determine to what traffic and in connection with what vessels, and upon what terms and conditions such rates shall apply, and to require rail carriers entering into through routing arrangements with any water carrier to extend the privileges of such arrangements to other water carriers.

By the act approved March 1, 1913, as amended by act approved June 7, 1922, amending the act to regulate commerce, the Commission is directed to investigate, ascertain, and report the value of all property owned or used by every common carrier subject to the provisions of the act.

Section 19 (a) was amended on June 16, 1933, by the Emergency Railroad Transportation Act, which provides that the Commission shall keep informed of current changes in the property, its condition, use, the investment therein, its cost and values, and related matters, in order to enable it to revise and correct its basic valuations and underlying data as needed.

The act approved March 4, 1915, which became effective June 2, 1915, as amended August 9, 1916, makes common carriers liable for all loss, damage, or injury to property caused by them, and forbids, with certain exceptions, limitations of liability. As amended February 28, 1920, it is provided that where the loss, damage, or injury occurs while the property is in the custody of a carrier by water, the liability of such carrier shall be determined by and under the laws and regulations applicable to transportation by water, and that the liability of the initial carrier shall be the same as that of such carrier by water, except in connection with shipments to foreign destinations by water carriers whose vessels are registered under the laws of the United States, in which case it is made the duty of the carrier by railroad to deliver such shipments to the vessel as a part of its undertaking as a common carrier, but it is provided in this connection that the rail carrier shall not be liable after its delivery to the vessel.

It is further provided that the 2-year period for the institution of suits against carriers for loss, damage, or injury shall be computed from the day when notice is given by the carrier to the claimant that the carrier has disallowed the claim or any part thereof.

The act approved April 23, 1930, modifies the requirements of this section as to notice and filing of claims.

The act as amended February 28, 1920, prohibits a carrier from issuing securities or from assuming obligations or liabilities as lessor, lessee, guarantor, indorser, surety, or otherwise, in respect of the securities of others from and after 120 days after the provision takes effect, except after having been authorized by the Commission so to do, prescribes the conditions under which the Commission may grant authorities to the carriers, the form and contents of applications which shall be made to the Commission for such purposes, provides for the giving of notice by the Commission of such applications to the Governor of each State in which the applicant carrier operates, for hearings by the Commission in respect of such applications, that carriers may issue certificates and assume obligations or liabilities without obtaining authority other than that of the Commission, and for the issuance by the carrier without the consent of the Commission of short-term notes in limited amounts, reports of which are, however, required to be filed with the Commission. It is further provided that nothing in the act shall be construed to imply any guaranty or obligation as to such securities on the part of the United States. The act also provides for a right of action in favor of investors or purchasers in good faith and without notice of securities which, if not legally issued, are void, and for penalties against directors, officers, attorneys, or agents of carriers who knowingly assent to or concur in the issuance of securities, etc., contrary to the provisions of the Commission's orders or grants of authority.

By the act approved August 18, 1922, the Commission is required to direct, after notice and hearing, each carrier by rail, subject to this act, to issue at such offices as may be prescribed by the Commission interchangeable mileage or scrip coupon tickets. The Commission may in its discretion except from the provisions of this amendatory act, either in whole or in part, any carrier where the particular circumstances shown to the Commission shall justify such exemption to be made.

The amended act further provides for the issuance of through export bills of lading by every common carrier by water in foreign commerce, to the point of destination, that such bills of lading shall name separately the charges to be paid for railway transportation, water transportation, and port charges, if any, not included in the rail or water transportation charges, and that the Commission shall, in such manner as will preserve for the carrier by water the protection of limited liability provided by law, make rules and regulations and prescribe the form of such through bills of lading, it provides that the issuance of such through bills of lading shall not be held to constitute "an arrangement for continuous carriage or shipment" within the meaning of this act.

An act approved February 28, 1933, amends section 17 so as to authorize the Commission to assign certain of its duties to an individual Commissioner or to a board composed of employees.

An act approved March 3, 1933, as amended by an act approved August 27, 1935, amends the Bankruptcy Act by providing for proceedings for the reorganization of railroads, which proceedings may be instituted either by a petition of a railroad, filed in the appropriate Federal court, stating that the carrier is "insolvent or unable to meet its debts as they mature and that it desires to effect a reorganization," or by the filing of a similar petition, after Commission approval, by the creditors of a railroad whose claim aggregates not less than 5 percent of its indebtedness. Many duties are imposed upon the Commission by these amendatory acts, including the approval, after hearing of plans of reorganization, the regulation of protective committees, the ratification of the selection of trustees, and the fixing of maximum allowances, expenses, and attorneys' fees for the trustees, their counsel, or organization managers, or others entitled thereto.

By amendment of June 22, 1938, the bankruptcy law was further amended to provide that any commission created by any law of the United States or of any State having regulatory jurisdiction over a public-utility corporation should have submitted to it a plan approved and given opportunity to suggest amendments or offer objections to the plan, and after approval of the plan such corporation shall comply with the provisions of the plan and orders relative thereto, including procuring of authorization, approval, or consent of such commissions.

The Emergency Railroad Transportation Act, 1933, provides for the termination of proceedings for recapture of excess income, and substitutes a new rule of rate making, under which the Commission is required to give due consideration to the effect of rates on the movement of traffic, to the need in the public interest of adequate and efficient railroad transportation service at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service, and to the need of revenues sufficient to enable carriers under honest, economical, and efficient management to provide such service.

By an act approved May 29, 1928, and under amendments of June 16, 1934, and August 29, 1935, any person, firm, or corporation engaged in conducting a common-carrier service upon the Mississippi and Warrior Rivers or tributaries thereof, and the Columbia, Snake, Sacramento, San Joaquin, and Savannah Rivers may apply to and obtain from the Commission a certificate of public convenience and necessity, providing for such service. Thereupon the Commission may, by order, direct all connecting common carriers to join with such water carrier in through routes and joint rates. In such order, the Commission is to fix the reasonable minimum differentials between all-rail rates and joint rates in connection with the water service, which are to apply until changed by order of the Commission. If the carriers involved are unable to agree upon equitable divisions of the joint differential rates, the Commission is authorized to determine the reasonable divisions thereof.

By the Civil Aeronautics Act, approved June 23, 1938, the Commission's jurisdiction over air transportation was transferred to the Civil Aeronautics Authority, except that orders made by the Commission in proceedings instituted before it, either prior or subsequent to said June 23, are to be controlled by the act of June 12, 1934, as amended by act of August 14, 1935, until changed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Under said act of June 23, 1938, the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the Interstate Commerce Commission are required to direct their respective chairmen to designate, from time to time, a like number of members of each to act as a joint board to consider and pass upon matters relating to through service and joint rates, fares, or charges of air carriers and other carriers, in accordance with power conferred upon said Authority by the Civil Aeronautics Act.

Section 22 (1) was amended June 27, 1934, to provide that nothing in the law should prevent giving reduced rates for transportation of commodities, to be specified by the Commission, with the object of improving Nation-wide housing standards and providing employment and stimulating industry.

By an act approved July 5, 1937, section 22 of said part I was further amended to authorize a carrier to transport a totally blind person accompanied by a guide or seeing-eye dog or other guide dog specially trained and educated for that purpose at the usual and ordinary fare charged to one person.

By an act approved August 25, 1937, section 22 of said part I was so amended as to authorize carriers subject to said part to accord reduced rates for the transportation of property to or from any section of the country with the object of providing relief in case of earthquake, flood, fire, famine, drought, epidemic, pestilence, or other calamitous visitation or disaster, if such reduced rates have first been authorized by order of the Commission.

By act of April 26, 1937, the Bituminous Coal Act authorizes complaints to the Interstate Commerce Commission as to rates, tariffs, charges, practices, relating to transportation of coal.

By section 201 (a) of the act of February 16, 1938, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to institute and prosecute before the Commission complaints concerning charges, etc., pertaining to the transportation of farm products, and when like complaints are filed by parties other than the Secretary the Commission is required to give him notice concerning the fact and accord him an opportunity to be heard in the premises.

Under the Motor Carrier Act, 1935 (part II of the Interstate Commerce Act), as amended June 29, 1938, the Commission is charged with the duty of regulating common carriers by motor vehicle, contract carriers by motor vehicle, private carriers of property by motor vehicle, and transportation brokers, who engage in interstate or foreign commerce. The regulation of private carriers of property by motor vehicle is confined to reasonable requirements to promote safety of operation, including qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees and standards of equipment, to be established by the Commission if need therefor is found.

Authority from the Commission to do business is required in the form of certificates of public convenience and necessity for common carriers, permits for contract carriers, and licenses for transportation brokers. Such certificates, permits, and licenses may be suspended, revoked, or changed by the Commission after notice and hearing for willful violation of the act or of any lawful order, rule, or regulation of the Commission, or of any term, condition, or limitation of any such certificate, permit, or license.

Consolidations, mergers, leases, and operating agreements of such carriers require prior approval of the Commission, to be granted if it finds consistency with the public interest in respect thereto. Issuance of securities by any such carrier likewise requires approval of the Commission, if the value of the securities to be issued together with the value of the securities outstanding exceed $500,000, except that this provision does not apply to the issuance of notes of a maturity of 2 years or less and aggregating not more than $100,000.

Common carriers are required to establish just and reasonable rates and fares, and to file tariffs thereof with the Commission. The authority of the Commission over rates is not that of initiation in the first instance, but of regulation. It may suspend a rate, and after hearing, and upon proper findings, may prescribe a lawful rate. It also has jurisdiction over divisions of rates and fares as between joint carriers and other related matters. The Commission is directed in determining the justness of any rate to take into consideration the elements of the inherent advantages of motor transportation, the effect of rates upon traffic movement by motor carriers, the need in the public interest of adequate and efficient transportation service by such carriers, at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service, and the need of sufficient revenues to enable such carriers to provide such service under honest, economical, and efficient management. The Commission may not consider goodwill, earning power, or certificate value in rate determination.

Common carriers of passengers are required to establish through routes and joint rates with other such carriers, and, if they choose, may make such arrangements with common carriers by rail or water. In the case of common carriers of property by motor, the establishment of joint rates and through routes is optional with the carriers.

Contract carriers must file schedules or, in the discretion of the Commission, their transportation contracts, showing their minimum charges, below which they are directed not to go, either directly or indirectly. If the Commission finds after hearing that any charge made by a contract carrier contravenes the policy of the act, it may prescribe a minimum charge in an amount found necessary or desirable in the public interest and to promote that policy.

All motor carriers must comply with the rules and regulations of the Commission concerning security for public protection. This may take the form of insurance, surety bonds, qualifications as a self-insurer, or some other form of security insuring against injury or death resulting from negligent operation or for loss or damage to property of others. Cargo insurance, or its equivalent, may be required of common carriers of property in the discretion of the Commission.

The Commission may require annual, periodical, or special reports from motor carriers, and the submission of true copies of traffic contracts between any such carrier and any other carrier. It may prescribe the forms of accounts, records, and memoranda of such carriers, and has the right of inspection of such records and of the premises of such carriers. The provisions of part I apply to receipts and bills of lading of such carriers.

As to common carriers by motor vehicle, the Commission, in addition to the general powers above mentioned, may establish reasonable requirements with respect to continuous and adequate service, transportation of baggage and express, uniform systems of accounts, records and reports, preservation of records, qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees, and safety of operation and equipment.

As to contract carriers, the Commission may also establish reasonable requirements with respect to uniform systems of accounts, records and reports, preservation of records, qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees, and safety of operation and equipment.

The Commission, by rules and regulations, may require the display of identification plates upon each motor vehicle operated by such carriers.

An investigation by the Commission is authorized of the need for Federal regulation of the sizes and weights of motor vehicles and combinations of motor vehicles.

RELATED ACTS AFFECTING INTERSTATE COMMERCE

Elkins Act—The act of February 19, 1903, commonly called the Elkins law, prohibits rebating, allows proceedings in the courts by injunction to restrain departures from published rates, and provides that cases prosecuted under the direction of the Attorney General in the name of the Commission shall be included within the expediting act of February 11, 1903.

District Court Jurisdiction Act—The Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Act approved October 22, 1913, provided that the Commerce Court should be abolished from and after December 31, 1913, and that the jurisdiction theretofore vested in the Commerce Court under act approved June 18, 1910, be transferred to and vested in the several district courts of the United States.

Expediting Act—The act of February 11, 1903, provides that suits in equity brought under the act to regulate commerce wherein the United States is complainant may be expedited and given precedence over other suits, and that appeals from the circuit court (district court) lie only to the Supreme Court.

Clayton Antitrust Act—Jurisdiction is conferred upon the Commission to enforce certain provisions of the act approved October 15, 1914, to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, insofar as such provisions relate to carriers subject to the act to regulate commerce. The act prohibits, with certain exceptions, carriers from discriminating between purchasers in sales of commodities, and from making leases or sales of commodities and from acquiring stock or capital of other corporations engaging in commerce tending to substantially lessen competition or create a monopoly, makes it a felony for a president or other specified officers to misappropriate a carrier's funds, and, as amended by act approved January 12, 1918, provides that, effective January 1, 1919, no carrier shall have dealings in securities or supplies, or contract for construction or maintenance to the amount of more than $50,000, in the aggregate in any one year, with another corporation or organization when, by reason of common officers or otherwise, there exists a community of interest between the carrier and such other corporation or organization, except as a result of free competitive bidding under regulations to be prescribed by the Commission. The Commission is further authorized to investigate violations of the act by carriers and to require the guilty parties to cease therefrom, and its findings of fact in such investigations shall be conclusive when supported by testimony.

Railway Mail Service Pay Act—The act making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department, approved July 28, 1916, empowers the Commission to fix and determine fair and reasonable rates and compensation for the transportation of mail matter by railway common carriers and services connected therewith, prescribing the method by weight or space, or both, or otherwise.

The act making appropriations for the services of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, empowers the Commission to fix and determine fair and reasonable rates and compensation for the transportation of mail matter by urban and interurban electric railway common carriers

Standard Time Act—By the act approved March 19, 1918, the Commission is authorized to fix the limits of the standard time zones established for the continental United States and Alaska, having due regard, in doing so, to the convenience of commerce and the junction and division points of common carriers whose movements are to be governed by the standard time of the zones so fixed

Safety Appliance Acts—The act of March 2, 1893, known as the Safety Appliance Act, provides that railroad cars used in interstate commerce must be equipped with automatic couplers, and drawbars of a standard height for freight cars, and have grabirons or handholds in the ends and sides of each car, and that locomotive engines used in moving interstate traffic shall be equipped with a power driving-wheel brake and appliances for operating the train-brake system. The act directs the Commission to lodge with the proper district attorneys information of such violations as may come to its knowledge. The act of March 2, 1903, amended this act so as to make its provisions apply to Territories and the District of Columbia, to all cases when couplers of whatever design are brought together, and to all locomotives, cars, and other equipment of any railroad engaged in interstate traffic, except logging cars and cars used upon street railways, and provides for a minimum number of air-braked cars in trains

By act of April 14, 1910, the safety appliance acts were supplemented so as to require railroads to equip their cars with sill steps, hand brakes, ladders, running boards, and roof handholds, and the Commission was authorized to designate the number, dimensions, location, and manner of application of appliances

Accident Reports Act—By act of May 6, 1910, the prior accident reports law was repealed and a new statute enacted requiring carriers to make full reports of all accidents to the Commission and increasing the scope of the Commission's authority in making investigations of all accidents resulting to persons or the property of the carrier

Hours of Service Act—The act of March 4, 1907, makes it the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the provisions of the act wherein it is made unlawful to require or permit employees engaged in or connected with the movement of trains to be on duty more than a specified number of hours in any 24

Ash Pan Act—The act of May 30, 1908, makes it the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the provisions of the act wherein it is provided that after a certain date no locomotive shall be used in moving interstate or foreign traffic, etc., not equipped with an ash pan which can be emptied without requiring a man to go under such locomotive. Penalties are provided for violations of this act

Transportation of Explosives Act—The act of May 30, 1908, as amended by act approved March 4, 1921, directs the Interstate Commerce Commission to make regulations for the safe transportation of explosives by common carriers engaged in interstate commerce. Penalties are provided for violations of such regulations

Locomotive and Boiler Inspection Acts—The act of February 17, 1911, confers jurisdiction upon the Commission to enforce certain provisions compelling railroad companies to equip their locomotives with safe and suitable boilers and appurtenances thereto

By amendatory acts approved March 4, 1915, June 7, 1924, and June 27, 1930, the powers of the Commission to inspect and to prescribe standards of safety for locomotive boilers and appurtenances thereto was extended to include "all parts and appurtenances of the locomotive and tender"

Block signal and automatic train-control safety devices—The Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Act approved October 22, 1913, contained an appropriation of $25,000 to enable the Commission to investigate and test block signals and appliances for the automatic control of railway trains and appliances or systems intended to promote the safety of railway operation, including experimental tests of such systems and appliances as shall be furnished in completed shape to the Commission for investigation and test, free of cost to the Government, in accordance with the provisions of joint resolution approved June 30, 1916, and Sundry Civil Appropriation Act approved May 27, 1908. Provision was made in the Sundry Civil Appropriation Acts approved August 1, 1914, March 3, 1915, July 1, 1916, June 12, 1917, and July 1, 1918, for continuing the investigation and testing of these systems and appliances

By an act approved August 26, 1937, section 26 of part I of the Interstate Commerce Act was so amended as to authorize the Commission to require any carrier by railroad subject to that part (including any terminal or station company), and any receiver or any other individual or body, when in the possession of the business of a carrier subject to the section, to install the block signal system, interlocking, automatic similar appliances, methods and systems intended to promote the safety of railroad operation, which comply with specifications and requirements prescribed by the Commission, upon the whole or any part of its railroad, and thereafter to make such changes in the requirements, and in requirements concerning pertinent reports and records of the carriers as the Commission might find necessary.

Railroad Retirement Act—Thus act, approved August 29, 1935, as amended by the act of June 24, 1937, creates a Railroad Retirement Board of three members, and it directs the Commission, upon request of the Board or upon complaint of any party interested, to determine after hearing whether any line of railroad operated by electric power, is in fact a street, interurban, or suburban electric railway, exempt from the terms of the act.

Railroad Labor Act—By act approved June 21, 1934, a National Railroad Adjustment Board and a National Mediation Board, to provide for the prompt disposition of disputes between carriers and their employees, is provided for, and by the terms of the act, the Commission is directed, upon request of the Board or upon complaint of any interested party, to determine after hearing whether any line of railroad operated by electric power is a street, interurban, or suburban electric railway, exempt from the provisions of the act.

By an act approved June 14, 1937, the act of February 22, 1935, was so amended as to continue until June 30, 1939, the prohibition against making shipments of petroleum and its products in interstate or foreign commerce, produced in violation of State law.

By the Carriers Taxing Act, approved June 29, 1937, which provides for the payment of excise taxes by certain carriers and the payment of income taxes by the carriers' employees, but does not apply to either street, suburban, or interurban electric railways, unless such railways are operated as parts of general steam-railroad systems of transportation, the Interstate Commerce Commission is authorized and directed, upon request of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, or upon complaint of any party interested, to determine, after hearing, whether any line operated by electric power falls within the terms of said exception.

Under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act, approved June 25, 1938, the Commission is required to determine after hearing whether any line operated by electric power falls within the terms of the exemption proviso included in section 1 (a) of that act, when requested to do so by the Railroad Retirement Board or in a complaint filed by an interested party.

MARITIME COMMISSION, UNITED STATES

The United States Maritime Commission was created by the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, approved June 29, 1936 (49 Stat 1985), which is entitled "An act to further the development and maintenance of an adequate and well-balanced American merchant marine, to promote the commerce of the United States, to aid in the national defense, to repeal certain former legislation, and for other purposes." The Commission is an independent establishment of the executive branch of the Government, charged with the determination and administration of certain governmental financial aids to private citizens for the construction and operation of vessels in the commerce of the United States. It also exercises other business functions. In addition to its business functions, the Commission possesses regulatory powers over common carriers in the foreign and interstate water-borne commerce of the United States similar to the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission over land carriers.

The act directs that the Commission shall be composed of five members, appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. The chairman is designated by the President. The Commission may elect one of its members as vice chairman and is authorized to appoint and fix the salaries of a secretary, a general counsel, and other officials and employees.

The terms of office of the Commissioners first appointed are fixed at 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 years, but their successors are to be appointed for terms of 6 years. Three Commissioners were appointed and took office on September 26, 1936. A full Commission was appointed and took office on April 16, 1937.

By the terms of the act, the United States Shipping Board Merchant Fleet Corporation was dissolved and all its records, books, papers, and property were taken over by the Commission. Likewise, all money, notes, bonds, mortgages, contracts, lands, vessels, terminals, property, and interests of every kind, owned by the United States and controlled by the Department of Commerce as the successor to the powers and functions of the former Shipping Board, were transferred to the Commission by the act.

Ocean mail contracts made by the Postmaster General were terminated effective June 30, 1937. The holder of any such contract was authorized to file an application with the Commission to adjust and settle all the rights of the parties under the contract, subject to appeal by the Attorney General.

Under the act the Commission, as successor to the powers and functions originally vested in the United States Shipping Board and later transferred by Executive Order No. 6166, issued on June 10, 1933, to the Department of Commerce, possesses all the powers and functions delegated in the Shipping Act, 1916, as amended, the Merchant Marine Act, 1920, as amended, and the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933, as amended.

The Commission's powers have been extended or clarified by acts of Congress on several occasions since enactment of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936. The principal amendatory acts were those of June 23, 1938 (Public, No. 705, 75th Cong., 3d sess.), and August 4, 1939 (Public, No. 259, 76th Cong., 1st sess.). Other recent amendments were the acts of June 6, 1939, and August 7, 1939 (Public, Nos. 116 and 328, 76th Cong., 1st sess.).

The duties of the Commission include the investigation and determination of the ocean services, routes, and lines from points in the United States to foreign markets essential for the development and maintenance of the foreign commerce of the United States and the determination of what additions and replacements of the American merchant marine are required to create an adequate and well-balanced merchant fleet to provide shipping service on all routes essential for the flow of the foreign commerce of the United States, the vessels to be so designed as to be capable of serving as naval or military auxiliaries in time of war or national emergency, and investigation of other maritime problems arising under the act.

To aid a citizen of the United States in the construction of a new vessel to be used on a service, route, or line in the foreign commerce of the United States determined to be essential, the Commission is empowered to have the vessel constructed in a shipyard in the United States, to pay such construction cost, and to sell the vessel to the applicant for an amount equal to the estimated cost of the construction of the vessel if it were constructed in a foreign shipyard. The plans and specifications are required to be approved by the Secretary of the Navy, the Commission being directed to cooperate with the Navy Department as to national-defense needs and the adaptation of the merchant fleet to national-defense requirements. The difference between the cost of constructing the vessel in the United States and the estimated cost of constructing the vessel in a foreign shipyard is termed a construction-differential subsidy, but in no case may such subsidy exceed 50 percent of the cost of the vessel. The applicant is required to pay 25 percent of the price at which a vessel is sold to the applicant, and the balance, payable in 20 years at 3½ percent interest per annum, must be secured by a first preferred mortgage upon the vessel.

Aid may be extended to any citizen of the United States in the construction of a new vessel to be operated in the foreign or domestic trade (excepting vessels engaged solely in the transportation of property on inland rivers and canals exclusively), in cases where no construction-differential subsidy is to be allowed, although the Commission is authorized to pay the cost of any national-defense features incorporated in such new vessels. The applicant is required, in case the vessel has a gross tonnage of 3,500 or more tons and a speed of 16 knots or more, to pay not less than 12½ per centum of the cost of the vessel, and in case of a vessel of less tonnage or less speed, not less than 25 per centum of the cost of the vessel, and the balance, payable in 20 years at 3½-percent interest per annum, must be secured by a first-preferred mortgage and otherwise as the Commission may direct.

If it is found that the national policy declared in the act and the building program contemplated by the act cannot be realized within a reasonable time, after approval by the President, the Commission may have new vessels constructed and old ones reconditioned. Vessels transferred to the Commission and being operated in foreign commerce may be temporarily operated by the Commission for its account by private operators. All vessels transferred to or otherwise acquired by the Commission may be chartered or sold. Charters under the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, are restricted to bareboat charters.

The Commission is empowered to grant an operating-differential subsidy to aid a citizen of the United States in the operation of a vessel to be used in an essential service, route, or line in the foreign commerce of the United States. The operating-differential subsidy, which is intended to place the proposed operations of such vessels on a parity with those of foreign competitors, is the excess of the cost of items of operating expense in which it is found the applicant is at a substantial disadvantage in competition with foreign vessels over the estimated cost of the same items of expense if the vessel were operated under registry of a foreign country whose vessels are substantial competitors of the vessels covered by the contract. Certain reserve funds are required to be set up by the vessel operators, and no operating-differential subsidy may be paid for coastwise or intercoastal vessel operations.

The Commission is authorized (under the 1939 amendments to the act) to acquire any obsolete vessel or vessels not less than 17 years old, which have been owned by citizens of the United States for at least 3 years prior to the date of such acquisition, in exchange for credit on the purchase of a new vessel or vessels from the Commission or on a new vessel or vessels constructed in a domestic shipyard and documented under the laws of the United States. The allowance is to be the fair and reasonable value of the old vessel as determined by the Commission after consideration of the scrap value, the depreciated value, and the market value for operation.

During a national emergency proclaimed by the President, or whenever the President proclaims that the security of the national defense makes it advisable, the Commission may terminate charters on vessels owned by the Commission, and may requisition any vessel or other watercraft owned by citizens of the United States, or under construction in the United States, subject to provisions for the payment of just compensation. Vessels or property acquired by the Commission under the power of requisition may, upon approval by the President, be transferred to other Government departments or agencies.

The Commission regulates the sales to aliens, and the transfer to foreign registry, of vessels owned in whole or in part by citizens of the United States and documented under the laws of the United States.

The 1938 amendments added a new title to the act which provides for a Federal ship mortgage insurance fund to be administered by the Commission. Under authority conferred by this new title the Commission may, upon application of a mortgagee, insure mortgages on all types of passenger and cargo vessels, tugs, towboats, barges, dredges, and fishing vessels owned by citizens of the United States. To be eligible for such insurance the mortgage must be to secure a new loan or advance to aid in the construction, reconstruction, or reconditioning of a craft and the amount of the mortgage insured may not exceed 75 percent of the cost of such new construction, reconstruction, or reconditioning. The premium charge for the mortgage insurance is fixed by the Commission but shall not be less than one-half of 1 percent per annum nor more than 1 percent per annum of the amount of the mortgage obligation outstanding at any time. The premium charge is to be paid by the mortgagee.

The Commission is directed to investigate employment and wage conditions in ocean shipping and to incorporate in contracts for operating-differential subsidies minimum-manning scales, minimum-wage scales, and reasonable working conditions for all officers and crews employed on vessels receiving an operating differential subsidy. All licensed officers of vessels documented under the laws of the United States must be citizens of the United States, and the act contains provisions in respect to the citizenship of members of crews of subsidized vessels. Citizenship requirements of officers and crews are enforced by the Secretary of Commerce.

The Commission is authorized, through the United States Maritime Service, a voluntary organization established under the 1938 amendments, to provide for the training of American citizens to serve as licensed and unlicensed personnel on American merchant marine vessels. The Commission is authorized to provide for the training of cadets on Government-owned and subsidized vessels and on other vessels and in shipyards, plants, and industrial and educational organizations, both governmental and private. The Commission also prescribes, conducts and supervises extension and correspondence courses for the benefit of the merchant marine personnel and of cadets, upon application for such training.

The regulatory powers possessed by the Commission extend to all common carriers by water engaged in interstate and foreign commerce of the United States and to all persons carrying on the business of forwarding or furnishing wharfage, dock, warehouse, or other terminal facilities in connection with common carriers by water. These powers are principally in relation to rates, fares, charges, regulations, and practices. Carriers in interstate commerce subject to the Commission's jurisdiction are required to file their maximum rates, fares, and charges with the Commission, and after Commission approval thereof, to keep such rates, fares, and charges open to public inspection. The Commission possesses quasi-judicial authority to receive and determine complaints of shippers, passengers, and others alleging unreasonableness or unjust discrimination by common carriers by water and others subject to its regulatory authority and the method for the enforcement of orders of the Commission, including orders directing the payment of money in reparation for violation of statutory provisions, is prescribed in the Shipping Acts. An important regulatory power vested in the Commission is the approval, disapproval, or modification of agreements entered into between common carriers by water respecting cooperative working arrangements. The Commission's approval of such agreements, commonly referred to as conference agreements, excepts the parties thereto from the operation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act, Wilson Tariff Act, Clayton Act, and supplementary acts and amendments directed at monopolies in restraint of trade.

MARITIME LABOR BOARD

The Maritime Labor Board was created by Title X of the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, as amended on June 23, 1938, by Public, No. 705, Seventy-fifth Congress, third session. The Board is composed of three members.

The principal duties of the Board are to encourage maritime employers and their employees to make and maintain written collective agreements, to settle disputes in order to avoid interruptions to transportation in water-borne commerce, to secure compliance with the statutory requirement that every maritime employer shall file with the Maritime Labor Board a copy of each contract with any group of its employees in effect on such date, covering rates of pay, hours of employment, rules, and working conditions, to prepare for submittal to the President and to the Congress by March 1, 1940, a comprehensive plan for the establishment of a permanent Federal policy for the amicable adjustment of all disputes between maritime employers and employees and for the stabilization of maritime labor relations, as far as may be, to secure through its mediatory efforts agreement between maritime employers and employees upon the plan it is required to submit.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR AERONAUTICS

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics was established by act of Congress approved March 3, 1915, and the membership increased from 12 to 15 by act approved March 2, 1929 (U. S. C., title 50, sec. 151). Its membership is appointed by the President and consists of two representatives each of the War and Navy Departments from the offices in charge of military and naval aeronautics, two representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Authority (Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938), one representative each of the Smithsonian Institution, the United States Weather Bureau, and the National Bureau of Standards, together with six additional persons who are "acquainted with the needs of aeronautical science, either civil or military, or skilled in aeronautical engineering or its allied sciences." All the members serve as such without compensation.

The law provides that the Committee shall "supervise and direct the scientific study of the problems of flight, with a view to their practical solution," * * * and also "direct and conduct research and experiment in aeronautics."

Under rules and regulations formulated by the Committee and approved by the President, technical subcommittees, organized along lines similar to the main Committee, and with members serving as such without compensation, prepare programs of fundamental research in aeronautics. In order that research programs may be of maximum value, provision is made to keep the subcommittees informed as to aeronautical researches conducted by the more progressive foreign nations.

The Office of Aeronautical Intelligence was established in the early part of 1918 as an integral branch of the Committee's activities. It serves as the depository and distributing agency for the scientific and technical data on aeronautics comprising the results of fundamental committee researches and also the scientific and technical information collected by the Committee from governmental and private agencies in this country and abroad. A technical assistant in Europe, with headquarters at the American Embassy in Paris, visits governmental and private agencies in Europe to collect not merely results of researches but also first-hand information as to researches proposed and in progress.

Briefly, the general functions of this Committee may be stated as follows:

- 1 Coordinate the research needs of aviation, civil and military
- 2 Prevent duplication in the field of aeronautical research
- 3 Conduct under unified control of Committee in major Government laboratories fundamental aeronautical research, including
 - (a) Confidential researches for the Army and Navy on which they rely for supremacy of American military aviation
 - (b) Fundamental researches to increase safety and economy of operation of aircraft, military and civil
- 4 Advise the War and Navy Departments, Civil Aeronautics Authority, and the aviation industry as to the latest research information
- 5 Consider merits of aeronautical inventions submitted by the public to any agency of the Government
- 6 On request of the President, the Congress, or any executive department to advise upon any special problem in aeronautics which may be referred to it

The Committee conducts at Langley Field, Va., a well-equipped aeronautical research laboratory known as the Langley Memorial Aeronautical Laboratory, comprising 17 structures and a research staff of 600 employees. There, under ideal conditions, are combined facilities for laboratory investigations and for researches on aircraft in flight. The aeronautical research facilities at this laboratory are being supplemented by a second major research station, at Moffett Field, Calif., authorized by act approved August 9, 1939.

With the research needs of military and of civil aviation coordinated through the Coordinator of Research and the subcommittees, on which all interested agencies of the Government are represented, and with the cordial and active cooperation of the War and Navy Departments, of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, of the aircraft industry, and of educational institutions, the Committee is able to discharge its responsibilities for the systematic and efficient prosecution of fundamental scientific research in aeronautics and for supplying the research needs of both military and civil aviation without overlapping or duplication of effort.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES, THE

The National Archives of the United States was created by the National Archives Act (48 Stat. 1122-1124), and the duties and responsibilities of the Archivist are prescribed by said act, as amended, and by the Federal Register Act (49 Stat. 500-503) as amended by the act of August 5, 1939 (Public, No. 295, 76th Cong.), and by the act of July 18, 1939 (Pub. Res. No. 30, 76th Cong.).

These acts impose eight major objectives upon The National Archives: (1) The concentration and preservation in the National Archives Building of all archives of the Government of the United States of such administrative value or historical interest that they must be preserved over a long period of years, or permanently, in accordance with the regulation adopted by the National Archives Council defining the classes of material which shall be transferred to the National Archives Building, (2) the administration of such archives so as to facilitate their use in the business of the Government and in the service of scholarship, (3) the acceptance from non-Government sources, storage, and preservation of motion-picture films and sound recordings pertaining to and illustrative of the history of the United States, and the maintenance of a projecting room for showing such films and reproducing such sound recordings for historical purposes and study, (4) the examination, appraisal, and reporting to Congress of lists of papers, documents, etc., among the archives and records of the Government which appear to have no permanent value or historical interest, and which, with the concurrence of the Government agency concerned and the approval of the National Archives Council, subject to the approval of the Congress, shall be destroyed or otherwise effectively disposed of, (5) the preservation of all proclamations, orders, rules, regulations, etc., issued by Federal agencies and the publication in the Federal Register of all those having general applicability and legal effect, (6) the codification of all Presidential proclamations, Executive orders, etc., which have been issued or promulgated prior to July 1, 1938, and on the same date every fifth year thereafter, and which are still in force and effect and relied upon by the issuing agency as authority for or invoked or used by it in the discharge of any of its functions or activities, and when authorized to do so by the President, the preparation for such codification for publication in special editions of the Federal Register, (7) the submitting to Congress of the recommendations of the National Historical Publications Commission, created by the National Archives Act, with the Archivist as chairman, and charged with the duty of making "plans, estimates, and recommendations for such historical works and collections of sources as seem appropriate for publication and/or otherwise recording at the public expense * * *", and (8) the administration of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library.

To enable the Archivist to attain these major objectives, the National Archives Act gives him "full power to inspect personally or by deputy the records of any agency of the United States Government whatsoever and wheresoever located," and places under his charge and superintendence "All archives or records belonging to the Government of the United States (legislative, executive, judicial, and other)," which shall be approved by the National Archives Council for transfer to the National Archives Building, and said act, as amended, requires him to perform the following duties and functions

(1) To appoint all persons to be employed in The National Archives in accordance with civil-service laws and the Classification Act of 1923, as amended

(2) To inspect and appraise, personally or by deputy, the archives of any agency of the United States Government, whatsoever and wheresoever located

(3) To requisition for transfer to, and to store and preserve in, the National Archives Building all archives and records approved for such transfer by the National Archives Council

(4) To make regulations for the arrangement, custody, use, and withdrawal of materials deposited with The National Archives

(5) To exercise immediate custody over and control of the National Archives Building and such other buildings, grounds, and equipment as may hereafter become a part of The National Archives (except as otherwise provided by law), and their contents

(6) To serve as Chairman of the National Historical Publications Commission in making plans, estimates, and recommendations for such historical works and collections of sources as seem appropriate for publication and/or otherwise recording at public expense

(7) To serve as a member of the National Archives Council which is charged with the duty of defining what classes of material shall be transferred from the several agencies of the Government to the National Archives Building, and to make regulations governing such transfer

(8) To provide for the acceptance, storage, and preservation of motion-picture films and sound recordings pertaining to and illustrative of the history of the United States and to maintain a projecting room for showing such films and reproducing such sound recordings for historical purposes and study

(9) To make reports to Congress regarding the disposal of papers and other documents among the archives and records of the Government which appear to have no permanent value or historical interest

(10) To direct the expenditure of all appropriations for the maintenance of the National Archives Building, for the administration of the collections and other expenses of The National Archives, and for the work of the National Historical Publications Commission

(11) To provide for the making or reproduction and furnishing of authenticated or unauthenticated copies of any of the documentary, photographic, or other archives or records in his custody that are not exempt from examination as confidential or protected by subsisting copyright

The Federal Register Act, as amended, requires the Archivist to perform the following duties and functions

(12) To establish and direct the work of a division of The National Archives charged with the custody and, together with the Public Printer, with the prompt and uniform printing and distribution of the documents required or authorized to be published in the Federal Register

(13) To provide for the permanent filing and for public inspection of all such documents

(14) To provide for the preparation of such documents for printing, the furnishing of copies thereof to the Public Printer for publication, and the indexing of the contents of the daily issues of the Federal Register

(15) To supervise and coordinate the form, style, arrangement, and indexing of the codification of all documents which have been issued or promulgated prior to July 1, 1938, and on the same date every fifth year thereafter, and which are still in force and effect and relied upon by the issuing agency as authority for, or invoked or used by it in the discharge of any of its functions or activities, and when authorized to do so by the President to prepare such codification for publication in special editions of the Federal Register

(16) To serve as chairman of the permanent Administrative Committee established by the Federal Register Act, which is charged with the duty of prescribing, with the President's approval, regulations for carrying out the provisions of the act

(17) To direct the expenditure of all appropriations for the maintenance of the Division of the Federal Register

The Franklin D. Roosevelt Library Act requires the Archivist to perform the following duties and functions

(18) To serve as ex officio member and chairman of the board of trustees of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library

(19) To disburse funds held in trust by the board of trustees in the purchase of equipment, in the preparation and publications of guides, inventories, calendars, and textual reproductions of material in the said Library, and in the purchase of historical material for such Library

(20) To have the immediate custody and control of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library and such other buildings, grounds, and equipment as may, from time to time, become a part thereof and their contents (except as the same is vested by law in the Commissioner of Public Buildings)

(21) To appoint and prescribe the duties of such officers and employees as may be necessary for the execution of the functions vested in him by law

(22) To prescribe regulations governing the custody, arrangement, protection, and use of material acquired by the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library

(23) To make to Congress, at the beginning of each regular session, a report for the preceding fiscal year as to the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, such report to include a detailed statement of all accessions, disposition of historical material, and receipts and expenditures on account of the said Library

NATIONAL HISTORICAL PUBLICATIONS COMMISSION

The National Historical Publications Commission was created by the act which established The National Archives (48 Stat 1122-1124)

The duties of the National Historical Publications Commission are to make plans, estimates, and recommendations for such historical works and collections of sources as seem appropriate for publication and/or otherwise recording at the public expense, it being provided by the act that the preparation and publication of annual and special reports on the archives and records of the Government, guides, inventory lists, catalogs, and other instruments facilitating the use of the collections shall have precedence over detailed calendars and textual reproductions. The act requires that the Commission shall meet at least once a year and that the members thereof shall serve without compensation except repayment of expenses actually incurred in attending meetings of the Commission

NATIONAL ARCHIVES COUNCIL

The National Archives Council was established by the act which created The National Archives (48 Stat 1122-1124)

The act creating the National Archives Council provides that the Council shall define the classes of material which shall be transferred to the National Archives Building and establish regulations governing such transfer, and shall have power to advise the Archivist in respect to regulations governing the disposition and use of the archives and records transferred to his custody

NATIONAL CAPITAL PARK AND PLANNING COMMISSION

The National Capital Park Commission was created by the act approved June 6, 1924 (Public, No 202, 68th Cong), for the purpose of preserving the flow of water in Rock Creek, preventing the pollution of Rock Creek and the Potomac and Anacostia Rivers, preserving forests and natural scenery in and about Washington, and to provide for the comprehensive, systematic, and continuous development of the park, parkway, and playground system of the National Capital. The Director of National Park Service is executive officer of the Commission.

The Commission was authorized and directed to acquire such lands as in its judgment shall be necessary and desirable in the District of Columbia, and (by agreement with Maryland and Virginia authorities) adjacent areas in Maryland and Virginia, for suitable development of the National Capital park, parkway, and playground system.

By act of April 30, 1926, the name of the Commission was changed to the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. The same officials named in the former act were retained as ex officio members and the President was authorized to add "four eminent citizens well qualified and experienced in city planning, one of whom shall be a bona fide resident of the District of Columbia," to be appointed, after the original appointments, for the term of 6 years, to serve without compensation. The new Commission retained all the powers of the Park Commission and was given further important advisory powers. It was charged with the duty of preparing, developing, and maintaining a comprehensive, consistent, and coordinated plan for the National Capital and its environs, which plan shall include recommendations to the proper executive authorities as to traffic and transportation, plats and subdivisions, highways, parks, and parkways, school and library sites, playgrounds, drainage, sewer, and water supply, housing, building, and zoning regulations, public and private buildings, bridges and water fronts, commerce and industry, and other proper elements of city and regional planning. Paragraph (c) transfers to this Commission the power previously vested in the highway commission, namely, the approval or revision of the recommendations of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia for changes in the existing highway plan. Paragraph (d) vested the new commission with all the powers of the original National Capital Park Commission.

By act of May 29, 1930, establishing the George Washington Memorial Parkway and for other purposes, a regional park system for Washington and its environs was approved, including a basis for cooperation with the States of Maryland and Virginia and authorizing an advance of funds to the District of Columbia for use by the Commission in accelerating park purchases within the District.

NATIONAL MEDIATION BOARD

The National Mediation Board was organized under the provisions of Public Act No. 442, Seventy-third Congress, approved June 21, 1934, entitled "An act to provide for the prompt disposition of disputes between carriers and their employees, and for other purposes," known as "the Railway Labor Act." It is an independent agency in the executive branch of the Government and is composed of three members appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board annually designates a member to act as chairman and maintains its principal office in the District of Columbia, but it may meet at any other place.

The Railway Labor Act applies to express companies, sleeping-car companies, and carriers by railroad subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, provides that such carriers, their officers, agents, and employees shall exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements concerning rates of pay, rules, and working conditions, and to settle all disputes, whether arising out of the application of such agreements or otherwise. All disputes between a carrier and its employees shall be considered, and, if possible, decided with all expedition, in conference between representatives designated and authorized so to confer, respectively, by the carriers and by the employees thereof interested in the dispute.

The Railway Labor Act also applies to every common carrier by air engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, and every carrier by air transporting mail for or under contract with the United States Government, and every air pilot or other person who performs any work as an employee or subordinate official of such carrier or carriers, subject to its or their continuing authority to supervise and direct the manner of rendition of his service.

The act also provides that representatives for the purpose of the act shall be designated by the respective parties. The Mediation Board investigates and certifies disputes arising among a carrier's employees as to who are the representatives designated and authorized in accordance with the requirements of the act The Board may take a secret ballot of the employees involved or utilize any other appropriate method of ascertaining the names of the representatives

The act established the National Railroad Adjustment Board, composed of 36 members, 18 of whom are selected by the carriers and 18 by such labor organizations as have been or may be organized in accordance with section 2 of the act The Adjustment Board, located at Chicago, Ill., was created to handle disputes growing out of grievances or out of the interpretation or application of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules, or working conditions The Adjustment Board is divided into four divisions, as outlined in section 3 (h) of the act

The parties, or either party, to a dispute may invoke the services of the National Mediation Board in any of the following cases (a) A dispute covering changes in rates of pay, rules, or working conditions not adjusted by the parties in conference, (b) any other dispute not referable to the National Railroad Adjustment Board and not adjusted in conference between the parties or where conferences are refused

The Mediation Board may proffer its services in case any labor emergency is found by it to exist at any time

When mediation services are requested or proffered the Board is authorized to put itself promptly in communication with the parties to the controversy and use its best efforts by mediation to bring the parties to agreement When unsuccessful in bringing about an adjustment through mediation the Board shall at once endeavor to induce the parties to submit the controversy to arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the act The failure or refusal of either party to submit a controversy to arbitration shall not be construed as a violation of any legal obligation imposed upon such party by the terms of the Railway Labor Act or otherwise

When an agreement to arbitrate has been filed with the Mediation Board a board of arbitration shall be chosen in the following manner

The representatives of the carrier or carriers and of the employees shall each name one arbitrator (or two if the agreement to arbitrate so designates), the arbitrators thus chosen shall select the remaining arbitrator or arbitrators On failure of the arbitrators named by the parties to agree on the remaining arbitrators during a period stipulated in the act, it shall be the duty of the Mediation Board to name such remaining arbitrator or arbitrators

The agreement to arbitrate shall be in writing and shall stipulate, among other things, that the respective parties to the award will each faithfully execute the same Copies of arbitration awards shall be furnished to the respective parties to the controversy, to the clerk's office of the district court of the United States for the district wherein the controversy arose or the arbitration is entered into, to the Mediation Board, and to the Interstate Commerce Commission

If a dispute between a carrier and its employees is not adjusted under the foregoing provisions of the act and should, in the judgment of the Mediation Board, threaten substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive any section of the country of essential transportation service, the Mediation Board shall notify the President, who may thereupon in his discretion create a board to investigate and report respecting such dispute The act also provides that after the creation of such board no change in the conditions out of which the dispute arose shall be made by either party to the controversy during a period of 60 days

The Mediation Board makes an annual report to Congress of its activities and of the activities of each of the four divisions of the National Railroad Adjustment Board

PAN AMERICAN SANITARY BUREAU

(Formerly International Sanitary Bureau)

The Pan American Sanitary Bureau is the central coordinating sanitary agency as well as the general collection and distribution center of sanitary information of the American Republics It was created by the Second International Conference of American Republics (1901-2), organized by the First Pan American Sanitary Conference (1902), and reorganized by the Sixth Pan American Sanitary Conference (1920) Its functions and duties are fixed by the Pan American Sanitary Code (1924) and modified and amplified by the various international sanitary and other conferences of the American Republics The Bureau is concerned in maintaining and improving the health of all the people of the 21 American Republics and in preventing the international spread of communicable diseases It acts as a consulting office for the national directors of health of the American Republics, prepares the programs and publishes the proceedings of the Pan American Sanitary Conferences and the Conferences of the National Directors of Health, and carries out epidemiological and other scientific studies and investigations It also publishes in four languages a monthly Pan American Sanitary Bulletin, weekly reports on disease prevalence, and a series of other publications on sanitary subjects The Bureau is governed by a council elected at each Pan American Sanitary Conference Its executive officer is a director, also chairman of the board, who is elected at the same conferences The necessary personnel, including an assistant director, editor, traveling representatives, epidemiologists, experts, translators, and clerks, is assigned or employed by the director to attend to the various duties imposed on the Bureau by the Pan American Sanitary Code and the Pan American Sanitary Conferences The Bureau is supported by a fund contributed by all the American Republics in proportion to their populations Address all correspondence to the Director, Pan American Sanitary Bureau, Washington, D C

PAN AMERICAN UNION

(Formerly International Bureau of American Republics)

The Pan American Union is the official international organization of the 21 Republics of the Western Hemisphere It was established with a view to developing closer cooperation between the nations of America, the fostering of inter-American commerce, the strengthening of intellectual and cultural ties, and the interchange of information on all problems affecting the welfare of the nations of this continent It is supported through their joint contributions, each nation annually paying that part of the budget of expenses which its population bears to the total population of all the Republics Its general control is vested in a governing board made up of the diplomatic representatives in Washington of all the Latin-American Governments and the Secretary of State of the United States Its executive officers are a director general and an assistant director, elected by the board They in turn are assisted by a trained staff of editors, statisticians, compilers, trade experts, translators, librarians, and clerks It is strictly international in its scope, purpose, and control, and each nation has equal authority in its administration Its activities and facilities include the following Publication in English, Spanish, Portuguese, with separate editions, of an illustrated monthly bulletin, which is the record of the progress of all the Republics, publication of handbooks, descriptive pamphlets, commercial statements, maps, and special reports relating to each country, correspondence covering all phases of pan-American activities, distribution of every variety of information helpful in the promotion of pan-American commerce, acquaintance, cooperation, and solidarity of interests It also sets the date and prepares the programs for the International Conferences of the American States, known as the Pan American Conferences, and is custodian of their archives Its library, known as the Columbus Memorial Library, contains 100,000 volumes, including the official publications, documents, and laws of all the Republics, together with a large collection of maps The Union also possesses a collection of more than 25,000 photographs, lantern slides, and negatives Its reading room has upon its tables the representative magazines and newspapers of Latin America Both are open to the public for consultation and study It occupies and owns buildings and grounds facing Seventeenth Street, between Constitution Avenue and C Street, overlooking Potomac Park on the south and the White House Park on the east These buildings and grounds, representing an outlay of $1,100,000, of which Mr Andrew Carnegie contributed $850,000 and the American Republics $250,000, are dedicated forever to the use of the Pan American Union as an international organization The Pan American Union was founded in 1890, under the name of the International Bureau of American Republics, in accordance with the action of the First Pan American Conference, held in Washington in 1889-90 and presided over by James G Blaine, then Secretary of State It was reorganized in 1907 by action of the Third Pan American Conference, held in Rio de Janeiro in 1906, and upon the initiative of Elihu Root, then Secretary of State At the fourth conference, held at Buenos Aires in 1910, its name was changed from the International Bureau of American Republics to the Pan American Union The fifth conference, held at Santiago, Chile, in 1923, the sixth conference, which met at Habana, Cuba, in 1928, the seventh conference, held at Montevideo, Uruguay, in 1933, and the eighth conference, held at Lima, Peru, in 1938, considerably enlarged the functions of the Pan American Union. All communications should be addressed to the Director General, Pan American Union, Washington, D. C.

RAILROAD RETIREMENT BOARD, THE

Creation, authority, and purpose—The Railroad Retirement Board was established by the Railroad Retirement Act of 1935 (49 Stat. 967), approved August 29, 1935, which, as amended by part I of the act of June 24, 1937 (50 Stat. 307), is cited as the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937. Additional responsibility is derived from the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act (52 Stat. 1094), approved June 25, 1938, as amended by the act approved June 20, 1939 (Public, No. 141, 76th Cong.). Under the authority of these acts, the Board administers two related social insurance systems—one for the payment of annuities to aged or disabled railroad employees or benefits with respect to their deaths in certain cases, and pensions to former railroad pensioners, and the other for the payment of unemployment insurance benefits to railroad employees who become unemployed. The retirement and unemployment insurance acts cover employees of any carrier by railroad, express company, or sleeping-car company, subject to part I of the Interstate Commerce Act (with the exception of certain electric lines), and companies owned or controlled by or under common control with one or more of them and performing any service (except trucking or casual) in connection with the transportation of passengers or property by railroad, employees of associations, bureaus, and agencies controlled and maintained by carrier or carrier subsidiary employers and engaged in the performance of services in connection with or incidental to transportation by railroad, and employees of railway labor organizations national in scope and organized in accordance with the Railway Labor Act, their State and national legislative committees, their insurance departments, and, under certain circumstances, their local lodges and divisions, and employee representatives.

Organization—The Board is composed of three members appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate—one upon recommendation of representatives of employees, one upon recommendation of representatives of carriers, and one, the chairman, without designated recommendations.

The Board is organized so as to integrate the duties imposed by the retirement and insurance acts. The administrative organization is divided into two branches, the staff branch in which are centered the service functions, and the operations branch. The chairman serves ex officio as chief executive officer and, as such, is responsible for the proper performance, in conformity with the policies and the rules of the Board, of all the functions and the exercise of all powers residing in the Board, except such as are reserved by the Board. The heads of the bureaus in the staff branch report, and are administratively responsible, directly to the chief executive officer. The staff branch embraces four bureaus: General Control, Law, Research and Information, and Audits and Investigations.

The director of unemployment insurance is also the coordinator of operations. Under the administrative direction of the chief executive officer, he is responsible for the supervision and direction of the operations branch. Included in this branch are the Bureau of Employment and Claims, the Bureau of Wage and Service Records, and the Bureau of Administrative Services. The functions of the Bureau of Employment and Claims in Washington are divided between three divisions—Retirement Claims, Clearance and Coordination, and Employment Service. Claims for annuities and death benefits under the Railroad Retirement Acts are adjudicated in the Division of Retirement Claims. The Division of Clearance and Coordination is the coordinating center of the nation-wide system for servicing the Unemployment Insurance Act, the primary operations of which, including the adjudication of claims and their certification for payment, are placed in twelve regional offices. An auxiliary administrative service is performed, under contract and for an agreed compensation, by covered employers who designate certain of their employees to receive unemployment insurance claims and registrations and forward them through a higher placed employee to the appropriate regional office of the Board. The Division of Employment Service is developing and will operate a plan for the placement of railroad employees who become unemployed.

Annuitants—To receive an annuity, an individual who is otherwise qualified must either (1) be 65 or more years of age or (2) have completed 30 years of creditable service and be totally and permanently disabled for regular employment for hire, or (3) be 60 years of age and either (a) have completed 30 years of creditable service or (b) if he has less than 30 years of creditable service, be totally and permanently disabled for regular employment for hire (under either (a) or (b), however, the monthly annuity is less than would be payable at age 65 by $\frac{1}{180}$ for each calendar month that the individual is under age 65 at the time his annuity begins to accrue). The amounts of the monthly annuities are computed by multiplying the number of "years of service" by the sum of the following percentages of the average monthly compensation: 2 percent of the first \$50, $1\frac{1}{2}$ percent of the next \$100, and 1 percent of the next \$150. In computing the average monthly compensation, no part of any month's compensation in excess of \$300 is recognized. The average monthly compensation used for years of creditable service prior to 1937 is the average earned by an individual in the calendar months included in his years of service in the years 1924-31 (except when in the judgment of the Board the service during 1924-31 is insufficient to constitute a fair and equitable basis). All service subsequent to December 31, 1936, is included and if the total number of years of such service is less than 30, then, for individuals who were on August 29, 1935, in the active service of, or in an employment relation to, an employer under the act, or who were on that date employee representatives, the years of service prior to January 1, 1937, may be included but not so as to make the total years of service exceed 30.

Provision is also made for minimum annuities to individuals who are employees under the act at age 65 and who have 20 years of service. The minimum annuity based on average compensation of $50 or more, is $40 a month, if the monthly compensation is less than $50, the annuity is 80 percent of such compensation except that if such 80 percent is less than $20, the annuity is $20 or the same amount as the monthly compensation, whichever is less. The act also provides that in no case shall the value of the annuity be less than the value of the additional old-age benefit that would be received were the individual's services as an employee after December 31, 1936, included in the term "employment" in title II of the Social Security Act.

Annuities are payable on the first of each month for each preceding month, but an annuity does not accrue for the calendar month in which an annuitant dies.

Joint and survivor annuities—Under certain prescribed conditions a joint and survivor annuity may be elected instead of a single-life annuity. A joint and survivor annuity involves a reduced annuity to the annuitant during life and, after the death of the annuitant, a survivor annuity to the surviving spouse during life. The amounts of the two annuities are such that their combined actuarial value is the same as the actuarial value of the single-life annuity that would otherwise be payable. An election of a joint and survivor annuity, once made, is irrevocable, except that it may become inoperative under certain circumstances, including the death of the employee or the spouse before the annuity begins to accrue. A survivor annuity accrues from the first day of the month in which the employee-annuitant dies.

Death benefits—Provision is made for the payment of death benefits under certain conditions to designated survivors, or to the legal representatives of the deceased, with respect to the death of individuals who were employees after December 31, 1936. The amount payable as death benefit is an amount equal to 4 percent of the total compensation of the deceased earned as an employee (excluding earnings in excess of $300 in any one calendar month) after December 31, 1936, less the amount of annuities paid or accrued to the employee or to a surviving spouse, or to both.

Pensions—Section 6 of the act provides that beginning July 1, 1937, each individual then on the pension or gratuity roll of an employer by reason of his employment, who was also on such roll on March 1, 1937, shall be paid on July 1, 1937, and on the first day of each calendar month thereafter, a pension at the same rate as the pension or gratuity granted to him by the employer without diminution by reason of any general reduction or readjustment made subsequent to December 31, 1930, but such pension shall not exceed $120 a month. Persons on such pension rolls who were, on July 1, 1937, eligible for annuities, were not entitled to receive pensions after the pension payments due on October 1, 1937, but may receive annuities upon filing applications.

Source of annuities, pensions, and death benefits—The act created an account in the Treasury of the United States known as the Railroad Retirement Account and authorized the appropriation to the account in each fiscal year of an amount actuarially determined by the Board to be sufficient as a premium to provide for the payment of all annuities, pensions, and death benefits under the Railroad Retirement Acts of 1935 and 1937. That part of the premium which is not immediately required for the payment of annuities, pensions, and death benefits is invested in obligations of or guaranteed by the United States to bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum.

The Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 (50 Stat. 435), approved June 29, 1937, levies an income tax on the covered employees and an excise tax on the covered employers, with respect to so much of the compensation paid by employers to employees as is not in excess of $300 for any calendar month. The rate of tax on employees, as well as that on employers, started at 2½ percent in 1937 and is to increase by ¼ percent every 3 years until it reaches the maximum of 3¾ percent, effective beginning in 1949. The taxes are collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and are paid into the Treasury of the United States as internal-revenue collections.

THE RAILROAD RETIREMENT ACT OF 1935

The claims of individuals (and the claims of spouses and next of kin of such individuals) who relinquished their rights to return to service and became eligible for annuities before the enactment of the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 are adjudicated under the act of 1935, however, individuals who did not become eligible before June 24, 1937, for annuities under the act of 1935 (whether they relinquished rights before or after June 24, 1937), but who would have been eligible under the act of 1937 if that act had been in force from and after August 29, 1935, may receive annuities under the act of 1937, but their annuities may not begin before June 24, 1937. The death benefit under the 1935 act is a monthly payment for 12 months, each payment being equal to one-half the annuity which an individual was receiving or was entitled to receive at the time of his death. The benefit is payable to the widow or widower or, if there be neither, to the dependent next of kin, payments begin with the month in which death occurred.

RAILROAD UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT

General—The act became effective on July 1, 1939, with respect to the payment of benefits and the collection of contributions. Exclusive provision is made for the payment of unemployment benefits as a result of employment covered by the act. However, the Board may enter into reciprocal agreements with State agencies for the payment of benefits to individuals who perform services covered by either or both the Federal and the respective State acts. Benefits payable are based on earnings (excluding compensation in excess of $300 in any calendar month) in covered employment in the appropriate base year—the calendar year the end of which preceded the beginning of the benefit year by at least 6 months but not more than 18 months. A benefit year is the 12-month period which begins with the first day of the first half-month (a) with respect to which benefits are first payable to an unemployed individual or (b) with respect to which benefits are first payable after the end of his last preceding benefit year. Benefits are payable for days of unemployment in excess of seven in half-months of 15 consecutive days. A day of unemployment is a day during which an individual is not disqualified, is able to work and is available for work, and, with respect to which, no remuneration for any employment is payable to him, and he has registered as required by regulations prescribed by the Board.

Qualifications—To be eligible for benefits, an individual must (1) have earned at least $150 from covered employment in the calendar year which will be his base year, and (2) have served within 6 months preceding the beginning of his benefit year a waiting period of one-half month in which he had at least 8 days of unemployment for which unemployment benefits were not paid under State or Federal law.

Disqualifications—Days of unemployment within the meaning of the act do not include any day in any period with respect to which annuities, pensions, or retirement benefits have been paid or are payable under any act of Congress, or unemployment benefits which have been paid or are being paid under any Federal or State law other than this act. Individuals are disqualified for varying numbers of days for several reasons including among others leaving suitable work voluntarily, or refusing to accept suitable work offered, both without good cause, and knowingly making or aiding in making a fraudulent claim for benefits

Benefits—The daily benefit rate is scaled from $1 75 to $3 according to the amount of total compensation from covered employment in a base year. Benefits are payable with respect to a half-month for days of unemployment therein in excess of seven, so that the maximum benefits for any half-month vary from eight times $1 75 to eight times $3 or $14 to $24. The maximum amount of benefits payable in a benefit year is eighty times the daily benefit rate, or from $140 to $240.

Columns I and II of the following table show, respectively, the several compensation ranges in the base year and the resulting daily benefit rates, as set out in the act. Columns III and IV show, respectively, the maximum benefits payable with respect to a half-month and a benefit year.

Total compensation in base year I	Daily benefit rate II	Maximum benefits payable in—
		Half month III	Benefit year IV
$150 to $199 99	$1 75	$14	$140
$200 to $474 99	2 00	16	160
$475 to $749 99	2 25	18	180
$750 to $1,024 99	2 50	20	200
$1,025 to $1,299 99	2 75	22	220
$1,300 and over	3 00	24	240

Source of benefits and administrative expenses—To support the unemployment insurance system, the act levies a contribution on covered employers equal to 3 percent of the compensation not in excess of $300 a month payable to each employee, which is collected by the Railroad Retirement Board. Ninety percent of the proceeds is credited, for the payment of benefits, to a special account designated as the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Account, maintained in the Unemployment Trust Fund established by section 904 of the Social Security Act. The remaining 10 percent is deposited, to meet the expenses of administering the act, in a special fund designated as the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Administration Fund.

The Railroad Unemployment Insurance Account also is credited with amounts transferred directly or indirectly from State unemployment funds. These amounts consist of (a) a share of the balance in the State pooled funds as of June 30, 1939, equal to the ratio of contributions from employers and employees covered by the act to total contributions collected and credited to such fund as of that date, (b) balances in reserve accounts of covered employers as of June 30, 1939, and (c) all contributions from covered employers and employees collected in the second half of 1939. Similarly, the railroad unemployment insurance administration fund is credited with the amounts collected or collectible by the Treasury under title IX of the Social Security Act from covered employers with respect to the calendar years 1936, 1937, 1938, and the first half of 1939, less certain amounts.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

Creation and authority—The Securities and Exchange Commission was created under its organic act, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Public, No. 291, 73d Cong.), approved June 6, 1934, for the purpose of administering that act and the Securities Act of 1933, which was previously administered by the Federal Trade Commission. The scope of the duties and powers of the Commission was enlarged through the passage of subsequent legislative enactments, namely, the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Public, No. 333, 74th Cong.), approved August 26, 1935, chapter X of the bankruptcy act, as amended by the Chandler Act (Public, No. 696, 75th Cong.), approved June 22, 1938, the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 (Public, No. 253, 76th Cong.), approved August 3, 1939.

Functions of the Commission—The functions of the Commission generally embrace the following four categories: Supervision of registration of security issues, qualification of trust indentures covering particular types of security issues, and suppression of fraudulent practices in the sale of securities under the Securities Act of 1933 and the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, supervision and regulation of transactions and trading in outstanding securities, both on the stock exchanges and the over-the-counter markets, as provided by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, regulation of public utility holding companies as provided in the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and preparation and submission to the courts of advisory reports on plans of reorganization, and participation as a party in corporate reorganizations under chapter X of the bankruptcy act, as amended

Objectives of the Securities Act of 1933—The Securities Act of 1933 is designed to compel full and fair disclosure to investors of material facts regarding securities publicly offered and sold in interstate commerce or through the mails. Its provisions are also designed to prevent fraud in the sale of securities. Issuers of securities to be publicly offered and sold in interstate commerce are required to file registration statements with the Commission. These registration statements are required to contain specified information, including financial statements, certain exhibits, and the form of prospectus proposed to be used in selling the securities. These registration statements are available for public inspection.

Objectives of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934—The Securities Exchange Act of 1934 is designed to eliminate manipulation and other abuses in the securities markets, to make available currently to the investing public sufficient information regarding the affairs and financial condition of the corporations whose securities are traded in the securities markets to enable the investor to act intelligently in making or retaining his investments and in exercising his rights as a security holder, and to prevent the diversion into security transactions of a disproportionate amount of the Nation's credit resources.

Objectives of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935—The Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 is designed to eliminate abuses and to provide a greater degree of protection for investors and consumers in the field of public utility holding company finance and operation. In addition to requiring full and fair disclosure of financial transactions, the act provides for Commission supervision of security transactions by holding companies and subsidiaries, supervision of acquisitions of securities, utility assets, and other interests by holding companies and their subsidiaries, and supervision of dividend payments, solicitation of proxies, intercompany loans, and the making of service, sales, and construction contracts. The act also calls for simplification of uneconomic holding company structures.

Objectives of the provisions of chapter X of the bankruptcy act, as amended, relating to the Securities and Exchange Commission—Chapter X of the bankruptcy act, as amended, which chapter supersedes section 77B of that act, affords the appropriate machinery for the reorganization of corporations (other than railroads) in the Federal courts under the bankruptcy act. The Commission's duties under the chapter are, first, at the request or with the approval of the court, to act as a participant in proceedings thereunder in order to provide independent, expert assistance on matters arising in such proceedings. Second, the Commission is empowered to prepare, for the benefit of the courts and investors, advisory reports on plans of reorganization submitted in such proceedings.

Objectives of the Trust Indenture Act of 1939—Briefly, the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, which adds a new title (title III) to the act of May 27, 1933, as amended, (title I of which is the Securities Act of 1933), requires that bonds, notes, debentures, and similar securities publicly offered for sale, sold, or delivered after sale through the mails or in interstate commerce, except as specifically exempted by the act, be issued under an indenture which meets the requirements of the act and has been duly qualified with the Commission. The provisions of those two acts are so integrated that registration pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 of such securities to be issued under a trust indenture shall not be permitted to become effective unless the indenture conforms to the specific statutory requirements expressed in the Trust Indenture Act of 1939. The indenture is automatically "qualified" when registration becomes effective as to the securities themselves.

Information available to the public—Information contained in registration statements, prospectuses, applications, reports, and other public documents, filed pursuant to the provisions of the acts administered by the Commission is available for inspection in the public reference room of the Washington office of the Commission. Photocopies of such public information may be procured from the Washington office only at nominal rates. Public reference rooms are also maintained in the New York and Chicago regional offices, where a great deal of information relating to securities registered on exchanges is available for examination by the public

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, THE

The Smithsonian Institution was created by act of Congress in 1846, under the terms of the will of James Smithson, an Englishman, who in 1826 bequeathed his fortune to the United States to found, at Washington, under the name of the "Smithsonian Institution," an establishment for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." The Institution is legally an establishment, having as its members the President of the United States, the Vice President, the Chief Justice, and the President's Cabinet. It is governed by a Board of Regents, consisting of the Vice President, the Chief Justice, three Members of the United States Senate, three Members of the House of Representatives, and six citizens of the United States appointed by joint resolution of Congress. The Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution is its executive officer and the director of its activities.

The "increase of knowledge" the Institution accomplishes through researches in many branches of science and through scientific exploration in all parts of the world. Much of the research is now conducted in the laboratories and offices of the several bureaus listed below that originated from the early work of the Institution and are administered by it.

The "diffusion of knowledge" is carried on through several series of publications based on its researches and collections, through its museum and art gallery exhibits, and through an extensive correspondence.

Through the Hodgkins fund, the income of $100,000 of which is for the increase and diffusion of knowledge in regard to the nature and properties of atmospheric air in connection with the welfare of man, grants have been made, publications issued, and medals and prizes awarded.

The library of the Smithsonian Institution (of which the Smithsonian Deposit in the Library of Congress and the libraries of the United States National Museum and the Bureau of American Ethnology are the chief units) consists mainly of scientific publications, including especially the reports, proceedings, and transactions of the learned societies and institutions of the world, and numbers over 860,000 volumes, pamphlets, and charts.

GOVERNMENT BUREAUS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM

The United States National Museum is the depository of the national collections. It is especially rich in the natural science of America, including zoology, entomology, botany, geology, paleontology, archaeology, ethnology, and physical anthropology, and has extensive series relating to the arts and industries, the fine arts, and history. The great study series in the various fields of natural science form the basis for fundamental researches in pure science upon which the structure of applied science is built. The collections in the field of history comprise art, antiquarian, military, naval, numismatic, and philatelic materials, and include many historic objects relating to the period of the World War. The arts and industries collections consist of objects relating to engineering, textiles, graphic arts, and medicine, and include raw materials, processes of manufacture, and finished products. The aircraft display includes among others historic airplanes of Langley, Wright, and Curtiss, Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," and Wiley Post's "Winnie Mae."

NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART

The National Gallery of Art is a bureau of the Smithsonian Institution created by joint resolution of Congress approved March 24, 1937, as a result of Andrew W. Mellon's gift to the Nation of his art collection and a monumental gallery building to be constructed therefor. The above act accepting Mr. Mellon's gift provided that the art collections already in possession of the Smithsonian Institution and theretofore designated the National Gallery of Art should thereafter be known as the National Collection of Fine Arts.

The National Gallery of Art is administered for the Smithsonian Institution, in which title is vested, by a board of trustees (nine in number).

Briefly, the collection which Mr Mellon had been over 40 years in bringing together consists of some of the best examples of the work of the great masters of the Italian, Flemish, Dutch, Spanish, and English schools. The important Dreyfus collection of Renaissance sculpture was obtained by Mr Mellon as well as large bronzes by Sansovino and Giovanni da Bologna. He also acquired a number of portraits by distinguished American painters, such as Gilbert Stuart, Copley, West, Sully, and others.

On July 14, 1939, a further important gift to the National Gallery of Art was announced, that of the Samuel H. Kress collection of Italian paintings and sculpture, including 375 paintings and 18 pieces of sculpture. Thus the Gallery will have some 600 pieces of the world's finest works of art when it is opened to the public. Almost all of the important painters of the Italian school, from the middle of the thirteenth through the eighteenth centuries, are represented in the Kress collection.

The National Gallery building, designed by the late John Russell Pope, is now under construction on the site on the north side of the Mall between Fourth and Seventh Streets, as provided in the joint resolution mentioned above, and it is planned that the building will be completed and occupied during 1940.

NATIONAL COLLECTION OF FINE ARTS

The National Collection of Fine Arts is the depository for those portions of the national collections now in the custody of the Smithsonian Institution, relating to the fine arts, including principally paintings and sculpture. It contains among other exhibits the George P. Marsh collection of etchings, engravings, and books on art, the Harriet Lane Johnston collection, including a number of portraits by British masters, the Ralph Cross Johnson collection of paintings by Italian, French, English, Flemish, and Dutch masters, the William T. Evans collection of paintings by contemporary American artists, and the gift of Mr John Gellatly, of New York, made in June 1929, of his notable art collection, containing more than 150 pictures by eminent American and foreign artists, large collections of glass, jewels, oriental specimens, antique furniture, and other valuable and interesting material. By the terms of the gift, the collection was brought to Washington on April 30, 1933. A considerable addition was made by Mr Gellatly in August 1930 to his original gift.

The Freer Gallery of Art is contained in a separate building provided by the late Charles L. Freer, of Detroit, especially designed and constructed to house the notable collection also presented by him. This comprises numerous paintings, etchings, etc., by Whistler, Tryon, Dewing, Thayer, and other American artists, and extensive examples of Japanese and Chinese art. This collection is to the art and archeology of the Far East what the Cairo Museum is to that of Egypt.

BUREAU OF AMERICAN ETHNOLOGY

The Bureau of American Ethnology is engaged in the collection and publication of information relating to the American Indians and the natives of Hawaii.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE SERVICE

The International Exchange Service is the agency of the United States Government for the exchange of scientific, literary, and governmental publications with foreign governments, institutions, and investigators. It receives and dispatches about 700,000 pounds of printed matter annually.

NATIONAL ZOOLOGICAL PARK

The National Zoological Park has an area of 175 acres, and is located in the Rock Creek Valley, 2 miles north of the center of Washington. Its collection comprises about 3,000 animals.

ASTROPHYSICAL OBSERVATORY

The Astrophysical Observatory investigates solar radiation and other solar phenomena. The work of this observatory is carried on partly in Washington, D. C., and partly at stations on Mount Wilson and Table Mountain, in California, Mount Montezuma, near Calama, Chile, and Burro Mountain near Tyrone, N. Mex.

DIVISION OF RADIATION AND ORGANISMS

(Supported by Smithsonian private funds)

The Division of Radiation and Organisms was established during the year 1929 for the purpose of making scientific investigations relating to the effect of radiation on the growth and life of plants and animals

TARIFF COMMISSION, UNITED STATES

The Tariff Commission is an independent establishment of the Government created by the provisions of title VII of the Revenue Act of September 8, 1916

The creation of the Tariff Commission was prompted by a realization of the need of a bipartisan organization to supply the President, the Congress, interested committees in both Houses of Congress, and the public with factual information on which to base tariff and trade policies of the United States, and to act, wherever needed, in an advisory capacity, particularly in technical matters relating to tariff legislation. The Tariff Acts of 1922 and 1930 reenacted provisions similar to those in the Organic Act, and thus continue the Commission's primary function which is to act as a fact-finding agency. These two tariff acts assigned additional duties to the Commission, notably under the so-called flexible tariff provisions constituting section 315 of the act of 1922 and section 336 of the act of 1930. The Trade Agreements Act approved June 12, 1934, provides that before a trade agreement is concluded the President shall seek information and advice thereon from the Tariff Commission

MEMBERSHIP AND ORGANIZATION

The membership consists of six commissioners appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate. These appointments are for 6 years, one term expiring each year. No more than three members may be of one political party. The principal office is in Washington and an office is also maintained in the custom house at the port of New York. The Commission has a seal which is judicially noticed. The staff consists of the secretary, who is appointed by the Commission, a planning and reviewing committee, economists, commodity and technical experts, accountants, and a clerical force

GENERAL FUNCTIONS

General powers and duties (sec 332)—The powers conferred upon the Commission under section 332 of the Tariff Act of 1930, and the duties imposed thereunder are as follows

(1) To investigate the administration and fiscal and industrial effects of the customs laws of the United States and in general the operation of such laws, including their relation to the Federal revenues and the industries and labor of the country, the relations between rates of duty on raw materials and on finished or partly finished products, the effects of ad valorem and specific duties and of compound specific and ad valorem duties and questions relating to the arrangement of the schedules of the tariff act and the classifications of the articles under the schedules

(2) To investigate the tariff relations between the United States and foreign countries, commercial treaties, preferential provisions, economic alliances, the effect of export bounties and preferential transportation rates, and organizations and arrangements in Europe similar to the Paris Economy Pact

(3) To investigate the volume of importations compared with domestic production and consumption and conditions, causes, and effects of competition between foreign industries and those of the United States including dumping and costs of production

(4) To ascertain, whenever practicable, conversion costs and costs of production in the United States and in the principal producing centers of the United States, to ascertain similar costs in foreign countries for comparison with costs obtained in the United States whenever in the opinion of the Commission foreign costs are necessary and can be reasonably obtained, and to ascertain other data affecting competition between domestic and imported articles in the principal markets of the United States

domestic production, to obtain samples of such articles when deemed advisable, to ascertain the import costs of such foreign articles and to ascertain the selling prices of such domestic articles in the principal growing, producing, or manufacturing centers of the United States

SPECIAL FUNCTIONS

Sections 336, 337, and 338 of the tariff act approved June 17, 1930, contain special provisions for the modification of existing duties and for the imposition of special duties or orders of exclusion from entry by Presidential proclamation under specified conditions, within stated limitations, and in accordance with the legislative principles defined in those sections, all such Executive actions require previous investigation by the Tariff Commission

Tariff adjustments (sec 336)—Section 336 provides that the Commission, under such reasonable procedure, rules, and regulations as it may deem necessary, shall investigate the differences in the cost of production of any domestic article and of any like or similar foreign article in the principal competing country and shall report to the President the results of such investigation and its findings with respect to such differences. If the Commission finds that the duties fixed by the statute do not equalize the differences in costs as ascertained by its investigation, it shall specify in its report such increase or decrease, not exceeding 50 percent, of the statutory rate (including any necessary change in classification) as the investigation may show to be necessary to equalize such differences. If the Commission shall find, however, that a 50-percent increase in an ad valorem rate of duty will not equalize the ascertained differences, it shall so state in its report to the President and shall specify therein such ad valorem rate based upon the American selling price, as elsewhere defined in the act, of the domestic article as the investigation may show to be necessary to equalize such difference, no such rate, however, may exceed the statutory rate nor may any such rate be decreased by more than 50 percent. Any specified increase or decrease of a rate or change in valuation so reported by the Commission, if approved and proclaimed by the President, shall take effect commencing 30 days after such proclamation. The section prescribes the elements to be taken into consideration in ascertaining such differences in costs of production, prohibits the transfer of an article from the dutiable list to the free list or from the free list to the dutiable list, and provides for the modification or termination of any increase or decrease so proclaimed.

The Commission is required to hold hearings in the course of its investigations under section 336, to give reasonable public notice thereof and to afford reasonable opportunity for parties interested to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard at such hearings.

Unfair practices in import trade (sec 337)—The Commission is authorized under section 337 to investigate unfair methods of competition and unfair acts in the importation of articles into the United States, or in their sale after importation. When the findings and recommendations of the Commission, upon its investigation, justify the President in doing so, he is authorized to exclude such articles from entry into the United States, the exclusion to remain in effect until otherwise ordered by the President. The testimony in every investigation under the provisions of this section is required to be reduced to writing, and with the findings of the Commission constitutes the official record in each case. A copy of the findings is required to be sent to the importer or consignee of the articles affected thereby and shall be conclusive, subject only to rehearing by consent of the Commission or to appeal on questions of law only to the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, whose judgment shall be final.

Discrimination against United States trade (sec 338)—Under the provisions of section 338 the Commission is required to ascertain and at all times to be informed whether any foreign country discriminates against the commerce of the United States, in any one of several ways specified in the section. The Commission is required to report to the President with its recommendations any such discriminations which it may find to exist, and the President is authorized to specify and declare upon articles wholly or in part the growth or product of any such discriminating country such new and additional duties as will offset such burdens, or he may exclude from importation articles from such country. Such new or additional duties, may, however, not exceed 50 percent ad valorem.

The Trade Agreements Act—Section 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended June 12, 1934, assigned new work to the Tariff Commission by naming it a source of information and advice for the President in conducting reciprocal trade negotiations. The special function of the Commission with respect to such negotiations is to supply facts regarding possible concessions by the United States. In cooperation with the Department of State and other agencies of the Government, it also analyzes data on all commodities under consideration, and appraises the effect of import quotas, exchange controls, preferential tariffs, and other trade restrictions of foreign countries as they relate to these negotiations. In practice, the Commission has found that its regular organization for the collection of tariff information can be utilized for the numerous phases of trade-agreement work.

The Commission is represented on various interdepartmental committees concerned with the reciprocal trade agreements program.

Import control section of Agricultural Adjustment Act—Section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, as amended (49 Stat 773, sec 31, 49 Stat 1152, sec 5, 50 Stat 246, sec 1, act of Jan 25, 1940, Public, No 406, 76th Cong), authorizes the President to direct the Tariff Commission to make an investigation when he has reason to believe that articles are being imported into the United States under such conditions and in sufficient quantities to render ineffective, or to interfere materially with, a program of benefits to agriculture under several laws and he has authority on the basis of its report to limit the imports of the article if found necessary.

Cooperation with other governmental agencies—The Tariff Commission is engaged constantly in cooperative tasks for other governmental departments and agencies, especially in dealing with foreign trade and general economic and tariff problems.

VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

The Veterans' Administration was authorized to be established as an independent agency under the direction of the President, by Public, No 536, Seventy-first Congress, approved July 3, 1930, which further authorized the President by Executive order to consolidate and coordinate under a single control all Government agencies having to do with the administration of laws relating to the relief of and other benefits provided by law for former members of the military and naval forces. By Executive order of July 21, 1930, there was established the Veterans' Administration and consolidated therein the Bureau of Pensions (previously under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior), the United States Veterans' Bureau, and the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, the latter now known as the National Homes Service.

The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is charged with the control, direction, and management of all agencies and activities comprising the Veterans' Administration, and all final decisions or orders of any agency of the Veterans' Administration are, on appeal, subject to review by him. The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is also chairman of the Federal Board of Hospitalization, which board is advisory to the President in all matters having to do with the need for, the location of, and expenditures on account of increased Government facilities for the hospitalization and domiciliary care of all veterans of the United States.

The Veterans' Administration is responsible for extending relief to veterans and dependents of deceased veterans of all wars, and soldiers and dependents of deceased soldiers who served in the Military and Naval Establishments of the United States during peacetime, provided for by the various acts of Congress. These laws include, in addition to pensions, benefits in the form of Government insurance, military and naval insurance, adjusted compensation, emergency officers' retirement pay for veterans of the World War, and hospital and domiciliary care for veterans of all wars.

Regional offices, or combined regional offices and hospitals and/or homes, are located in each State, with the exception of Delaware, to facilitate the granting of benefits provided for veterans. The Veterans' Administration maintains and operates 85 facilities providing hospitalization or domiciliary care for all veterans admitted thereto.

RULES GOVERNING PRESS GALLERIES

1 Persons desiring admission to the Press Galleries of Congress shall make application to the Speaker, as required by rule XXXV of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Rules of the Senate, as required by rule IV for the regulation of the Senate Wing of the Capitol, and shall state in writing the names of all newspapers or publications or news associations by which they are employed, and what other occupation or employment they may have, if any, and they shall further declare that they are not engaged in the prosecution of claims pending before Congress or the departments, and will not become so engaged while allowed admission to the galleries, that they are not employed in any legislative or executive department of the Government, or by any foreign Government or any representative thereof, and that they are not employed, directly or indirectly, by any stock exchange, board of trade, or other organization, or member thereof, or brokerage house, or broker, engaged in the buying and selling of any security or commodity or by any person or corporation having legislation before Congress, and will not become so engaged while retaining membership in the galleries. Holders of visitor's cards who may be allowed temporary admission to the galleries must conform to the restrictions of this rule.

2 The applications required by the above rule shall be authenticated in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the standing committee of correspondents who shall see that the occupation of the galleries is confined to bona fide correspondents of reputable standing in their business, who represent daily newspapers or newspaper associations requiring telegraphic service, and it shall be the duty of the standing committee at their discretion, to report violation of the privileges of the galleries to the Speaker, or to the Senate Committee on Rules, and pending action thereon the offending correspondent may be suspended.

3 Persons engaged in other occupations whose chief attention is not given to newspaper correspondence or to newspaper associations requiring telegraphic service shall not be entitled to admission to the Press Galleries, and the Press List in the CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTORY shall be a list only of persons whose chief attention is given to telegraphic correspondence for daily newspapers or newspaper associations requiring telegraphic service.

5 The Press Galleries shall be under the control of the standing committee of correspondents, subject to the approval and supervision of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Senate Committee on Rules.

RULES GOVERNING RADIO CORRESPONDENTS' GALLERIES

1 Persons desiring admission to the Radio Galleries of Congress shall make application to the Speaker, as required by rule XXXV of the House of Representatives, as amended, and to the Committee on Rules of the Senate, as required by rule IV, as amended, for the regulation of the Senate wing of the Capitol. Applicants shall state in writing the names of all radio stations, systems, or news-gathering organizations by which they are employed and what other occupation or employment they may have, if any. The applicant shall further declare that he is not engaged in the prosecution of claims or the promotion of legislation pending before Congress, the Departments, or the independent agencies, and that he will not become so employed without resigning from the galleries. The applicant shall further declare that he is not engaged in any legislative or executive department or independent agency of the Government, or by any foreign government or representative thereof. The applicant shall further state that he receives, directly or indirectly, no remuneration from, nor is engaged in any lobby activities for, nor furnishes any special information to, any organization, individual, or group of individuals for the influencing of prices on any commodity or stock exchange, nor will do so during the time he retains membership in the galleries. Holders of visitors' cards who may be allowed temporary admission to the galleries must conform to all the restrictions of this paragraph.

2 It shall be prerequisite to membership that the radio station, system, or news-gathering agency which the applicant represents shall certify in writing to the Radio Correspondents' Association that the applicant conforms to the regulations of paragraph 1.

3 The applications required by rule 1 shall be authenticated in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the executive committee of the Radio Correspondents' Association, who shall see that the occupation of the galleries is confined to bona fide news gatherers and/or reporters of reputable standing in their business who represent radio stations, systems, or news-gathering agencies engaged primarily in serving radio stations or systems. It shall be the duty of the executive committee of the Radio Correspondents' Association to report, at their discretion, violation of the privileges of the galleries to the Speaker or to the Senate Committee on Rules, and, pending action thereon, the offending individual may be suspended.

4 Persons engaged in other occupations, whose chief attention is not given to the gathering or reporting of news for radio stations, systems, or news-gathering agencies primarily serving radio stations or systems, shall not be entitled to admission to the Radio Gallery. The Radio Correspondents' List in the CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTORY shall be a list only of persons whose chief attention is given to the gathering and reporting of news for radio stations and systems engaged in the daily dissemination of news, and of representatives of news-gathering agencies engaged in the daily service of news to such radio stations or systems.

5 Members of the families of correspondents are not entitled to the privileges of the galleries.

6 The radio galleries shall be under the control of the executive committee of the Radio Correspondents' Association, subject to the approval and supervision of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Senate Committee on Rules.
